"POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA."

This is one of Poole's best books and is really necessary to every collector of Canadian stamps. It is very handsomely printed and fully illustrated. 25c

STAMP DIMENSIONS.

In 1870 in this country a ½d postage stamp was decided upon, and the Postmaster-General turned out a stamp of a size just half of the up-to-then accepted standard size 1d postage stamps. Then a subsequent Postmaster-General issued a five shilling stamp. On the Newtonian principle this ought to have been one hundred and twenty times the size of the halfpenny stamp. Lord Derby, who was then Prime Minister, would have refused to have approved of the monster, giving as his reason that he felt perfectly sure Her Majesty would not look at even an essay for such a thing. Had a postal of the size suggested been issued, some of the then current fiscals would have had to be increased in superficial area to about that of Trafalgar Square. After that the application of Newtonian methods in the matter of postage stamps where their size is concerned crumpled up as a principle. Any stamp was just as heavy as a lump of wood or as long as a piece of string, said authority, and that was the long and short of the whole business.

To my mind the Postmaster-General of 1870 was right. The decrease in size of the halfpenny stamp was wisely decided upon. The principle of the official acceptance of size as indication of value was sound. India is wise in issuing larger stamps for the values over one rupee, and might well adopt a smaller size for the quarter and half annas values. The Postal Union throws away a most valuable department aid to service efficiency when disregarding the significance that might be made to lie in a properly worked-out meaning to be attached to size.

These remarks are occasioned by the appearance of another batch of large-sized postage stamps from Barbados, and (to a less degree) by the issue of a long series of Revenue stamps, consisting of postals overprinted in fancy colours with many defective stops and other "errors." The hitherto almost clean domain of imperial philatelic fiscaldom has thus been besmirched by Barbados, not because her postals are being adapted to fiscal purposes (England did that legitimately only a few months ago), but because of needless errors, etc., in the overprintings.

In 1903 Antigua brought out a 1d stamp of abnormal size. I, for one, had decided to collect all the Empire issues of the new reign. Antigua broke the uniformity of the general idea of Empire stamps, and so dropped out of my plan of action. There was no need whatever for that abnormality. Its size was significant of nothing but bad taste, disregard of philatelic conventions, and waste of paper, pigments, and album space.

But for Antiguas causing me to alter my good intention to collect all Empire issues from the beginning of Edwardian Philately I might by now have acquired them all. She created a rift in the lute, which widened until all the music went.

We all know Barbados' record since 1897. There is no occasion to talk about Barbados. After a while a collector wanting Barbados stamps would be wise to buy them only by the slice.

As for Antigua she is reported as being about to discontinue the issue of large stamps. Having eaten the husks and done the mischief, we ought, I suppose, now to trot out the fatted calf, and present it with compliments to a repentant Antigua.—London Philatelist.

THE LAST OF THE "WHITE BACKS."

In recording the arrival of the new 25c stamp of Mauritius, on surface-coloured paper, we referred to it as the "last of the 'white backs'." We are reminded by H. A. Withers that the 3d Malta on the provisional paper has yet to make its appearance, and that this is now the only one of the famous "white backs" on the overdue list. "Specimen" copies of the 3d value in the Georgian series for Malta, on the surface-coloured paper, were distributed so long ago as the autumn of 1913, so one may almost be pardoned for "giving it up as a bad job." It is certainly curious that the 3d of the Edwardian series, on ordinary Crown C A paper, is still in use, and it is evident that there must have been enormous stocks of the value in question.—Stamp Collecting.

BOSTON, April 17, 1917.

To hold the attention of 30 men for an hour and a half with a single issue of the stamps of the United States would seem to be almost impossible, yet that is what Mr. Van Dyk MacBride accomplished this evening. Those who were present were treated to one of the most interesting exhibitions which the Society has ever had in its room. The collection was a wonderful one, both in its material and its arrangement and the talk which Mr. MacBride gave, (he insisted it was not a lecture) showed great research, and interest in his topic, and was bright and snappy from the beginning to the end. There is probably not a more difficult set of stamps in the catalogue in which one could specialize, yet he has succeeded in getting together a wealth of material, arranged on original lines, with sufficient variety to hold the constant attention of his audience.

Among the interesting things shown were essays, plate proofs, in trial and adopted colors, papers of various kinds, stitch watermarks, grilles of different sizes, split, double, quadruple and one with five, perforation varieties, cancellations in red, brown, blue, green, orange, etc., postmarks, covers showing the different rates for postage in this country and abroad, etc., all of which were mounted in a logical sequence and when Mr. MacBride finished his talk, the books were handed around and those present had the opportunity of looking them over at their leisure. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. MacBride, and Pres. Brown in calling for this vote remarked that the entertainment committee would have to work very hard to provide another exhibition which would equal the one which had been given this evening.

The applications of Mr. Franklin S. Billings, proposed by Mr. W. S. Barker and of Mr. Fred G. Floyd, proposed by the Secretary, were read and posted, to be voted upon at the next meeting.

It is proposed to have a lantern lecture at the May meeting with a special invitation to the younger stamp collectors around Boston.

POST-BELLUM RELATIONS.

Editorial in London Philatelist.

(We reprint this article from the "London Philatelist" in order that our readers may get an insight into the situation confronting the British mind in connection with philately and "enemy" issues. It is evident that the sweeping Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., declaration sets too high the standard for future ethics in the British stamp trade. The publishers "announce their intention in the future not to catalog new stamps now current of the German Empire after the war."—ED.)

In war, both in the fields of action and home interests, it is eminently advisable to take long views. The terrible struggle must finish before any very long period—we hope this year—when the nations will all draw breath and take stock of their relative positions. The questions of the future relationships that are to exist between the two warring sections of Europe will involve the greatest problems—both financial, political and social. As regards the former, each opponent nation will endeavour to build up its income regardless of the shrinkage thereof caused to its enemy. In the long run there will be modifications and a modus vivendi.

As regard political matters, there will be evolutions and upheavals, and it may be that no great part of the twentieth century will have passed before the passing of autocracies.

With respect to social matters, in which we broadly include science, art, music, hygiene and all forms of civilized intercourse, there must be a softening down of the asperities and vindictiveness of war fury. The genius of Shakespeare, Koch, Marconi, Edison or Mendelssohn cannot fortunately be blotted out by war, and "all that is best in the worst of us" will again help to operate for the general good and enjoyment of mankind.

These several influences will naturally affect the microcosm of our own philatelic realm. As regards the political aspect, the evolution of new nations of the revolution in old ones will but ultimately add to the historical interest of Philately. As regards the two remaining points, the social, i. e. philatelic, and financial position, these two are so absolutely interwoven that they must be considered together.

The postal issues of the enemy states, notably those of Germany, have been—and no doubt are still—held in vast quantities in Great Britain, France, Italy, the United States and elsewhere. The stamps included in this section comprise a very important part of the general European issues. The post-war stamps stand on a different footing, but it is futile to deny that the fine old issues of half a century back are as absolutely dissevered from modern Prusso-German ruthlessness as is the genius of Beethoven or Goethe. There can be no reason, at a future date, for ignoring either the one or the other. There are, however, obvious difficulties to the continuance of such collections if we are to have "nothing German" and not to trade in any fashion with our present enemies—but time will show how far this is practicable.

On the other hand, the very possible disposal of large and valuable collections of these stamps now in the hands of collectors among the Allies has to be considered. Such sales would probably be effected with neutral countries, whence the stamps would doubtless percolate to enemy countries, where their own issues will probably be collected with even greater fervour than before. In this event it seems to us premature and unadvisable to decry or depreciate the value of these issues. They have been legitimately acquired in past years, and if they are "slumped" by adverse action in the allied countries, it is the enemy who will benefit by acquiring them at a value far below their own assessment. If another big European or general collection was offered to the stamp trade, the old German, Austrian and other enemy issues might represent thousands of pounds. If dealers on our side decline to offer a just value for the stamps of the hostile camp the collection would doubtless go to the neutral markets from whence the allied countries' issues would flow back to ourselves. It is not to be expected that in the reverse case the German vendors would depreciate their value, and a first issue of Roumania or a Post Office Mauritius would probably be assessed at the highest figure that the wily Teuton could wring from us. It seems to us, therefore, that it is wiser for us all to take long views in the philatelic as well as in the political sphere, and not to anticipate the solutions that are so frequently affected by the lapse of time and the opportunity for reflection.

The action taken by Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., as elsewhere recorded, has brought this question to the fore, and while it has evoked every feeling of sympathy and admiration of the patriotism underlying the pronouncement, it is felt in many quarters that it is one of the many very difficult problems arising from this fearful struggle, and that it is incapable of final solution until the world has in some degree recovered its sanity at the conclusion of the war.

OREGON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

The stamp collectors of Oregon at an enthusiastic meeting held recently at the Central Library, Portland, organized the Oregon Philatelic Society. A. G. Brinckerhoff was the temporary president. A committee of three consisting of Robert G. Dieck, Edwin Caswell and E. A. Southwick, was appointed to prepare a constitution for consideration at the next meeting, at which permanent officers will be elected. Sixteen collectors were present.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER VI.

The 1887 Provisional.

In 1887 the first provisional stamp for the Danish West Indies made its appearance. According to Mr. Hanciau this was "announced by a circular of the 12th May" and, presumably it was placed on sale on that day. This temporary stamp consists of the 7 cents stamp of 1874 overprinted "1 CENT" in black, and the surcharge is said to have been ordered by the Postmaster at St. Thomas owing to the stock of ordinary 1 cent stamps at his office having been purchased by one of the principal firms of merchants in the island for prepaying the postage on their monthly circular.

Information regarding this variety is particularly scanty for there appear to be no published records of the number issued or with regard to the methods adopted in its production.

It is recorded with double surcharge—a variety of some scarcity— with the "1" omitted, with most of the upper half of the "1" broken off, and with period after "CENT". We have also seen a copy with a distinct accent above the "E" of "CENT". The philatelic merit of these minor varieties is, however, open to question. The variety with numeral omitted may be due to nothing more than misplacement of the surcharge while the others, unless proved to be "constant" varieties during at least one period of the process of overprinting are more in the nature of curiosities than errors.

CHAPTER VII.

The 1895 Provisional.

On May 18th, 1895, another provisional stamp was issued—a number of the then current 50 cents stamps being reduced in value to 10 cents by means of a surcharge. There seems to have been no shortage of 10 cents stamps, and the real reason for the issue of this provisional was simply a desire to reduce the too plentiful stock of 50 cents stamps which had accumulated. The surcharge consisted of "10—CENTS—1895" in three lines in black, and as the 50 cents of both the early and late printings were on hand, this surcharge may be found on the stamps on thin semi-transparent paper as well as on those printed on thicker paper.

This surcharge was, we believe, applied to half sheets (five horizontal rows of ten stamps) at a time, and the following minor varieties occur in the setting:

(a) Small thin "9" in "1895"
(b) Narrow "5" in "1895"
(c) Large top to "5" in "1895"
(d) Long straight top to "5" in "1895"
(e) The top portion of the "1" of "10", including the serif, has been broken off, making it shorter and flat topped.

It was at one time reported that specimens with inverted surcharge were in existence. The earliest mention I can find of these "errors" appears in the Monthly Journal for July, 1895, viz.:—

"A correspondent in the West Indies tells us that a number of sheets (possibly as much as $1,000 worth) were surcharged upside-down, it is supposed in error, and that to prevent loss to the Government (perhaps also to prevent the loss of this interesting variety to philately) the patriotic—and perhaps philatelic—printer offered to purchase the lot, which offer was accepted. This philanthropist is now willing to retail these errors at $1 apiece; there is nothing like turning one's own mistakes to good account, but we are glad to learn that there is no demand for these curiosities even out there! The story is both interesting and instructive."

Writing some months later, another correspondent stated there never were any varieties with inverted surcharge, and in view of the fact that such an error is not known in any of the specialised collections now existing it seems hardly probable that such a variety ever existed.

A variety of somewhat slight philatelic interest was caused by a few half sheets having the overprint so misplaced that the top row of stamps were without the date "1895" and the other four rows showed the date above the value.

Another variety of doubtful authenticity was recorded in the Monthly Journal for June, 1903, viz:—

"A correspondent at St. Croix tells us that he has met with a used specimen of an error of the provisional 10c of 1895, namely, the 1c surcharged instead of the 50c. He adds that he was told that only one sheet was thus overprinted, in error.

Whether such a variety exists or not, we cannot say positively but we have certainly not been able to trace its existence on more than hearsay evidence. We agree with Mr. Hanciau that "such a mistake could not have occurred without a certain amount of intention," and "it is more likely that a sheet of the 1-cent was employed for a trial impression, to judge of the appearance of the overprint," so that "the error would thus be an essay if it exists at all."

CHAPTER VIII.

The New Perforation.

In 1896 the Government Printing Office at Copenhagen installed a new perforating machine, having a gauge of 12½x13, instead of the 14x13½ gauge of the old machine. The only stamp for the Danish West Indies printed in that year was the 5 cents, and this, of course, had the new perforation. According to Mr. Hanciau, this variety was issued in October, 1896. In January, 1898, new supplies of the 1 and 3 cents values were received at St. Thomas, and these also shewed the 12½x13 perforation. The only other denominations of the 1873 type found with this perforation are the 10 cents and 4 cents, which were issued in March and September, 1901, respectively.

These stamps have the same watermark as those of the preceding issue of similar type, and as the same plates were used, the variety of the 3 cents with prominent flaw is found, as well as the period between the "T" and "S" of "CENTS" on the 10 cents.

CHAPTER IX.

The "Arms" Design.

In 1899 the Government of the Danish West Indies received a special request from the Universal Postal Union at Berne to issue its 1 and 5 cents denominations in green and blue respectively in accordance with the regulations of the Union. This request was at once complied with, and at the same time the change of colors took place it was decided to adopt the same design as Denmark was then using for its corresponding values.

This design shows the Arms of Denmark—three Lions passant, in a shield surmounted by a Royal Crown—enclosed within an oval band inscribed "DANSK VESTINDIEN" (Danish West Indies) above, and "POSTFRIM," followed by the value in "CENTS," below. The oval band is broken at the sides by large circles, upon which the required numerals of value appear. In each of the corners small numerals, set diagonally, are shown, and the design is completed by a single-line rectangular frame with fancy ornamentation in the spandrels. The size of the complete design is 17x21 mm.

The original die was engraved by Mr. Ch. Danielsen, and this bore no numerals, either in the oval band, the circles or the corners, these details being added to the secondary dies used in the actual manufacture of the plates. The stamps were surface printed on the usual Crown watermarked paper, and they show the 12½x13 perforation. The actual date of issue of the 1 and 5 cents, which were the first denominations prepared in this type, is uncertain. The 1 cent was chronicled in June, 1900, and the 5 cents in the following month, so that they were probably on sale in May and June of that year, respectively.

The only other values issued in this type, the 2 and 8 cents, did not appear until some time later—June, 1903, to be exact—but though it disturbs chronological sequence slightly, they are more conveniently classified with the 1 and 5 cents than treated as a separate issue.

NEW HAVEN VISITS HARTFORD.

The Collectors' Club of Hartford, Ct., at its meeting, April 23, had as guests a large delegation from the New Haven Stamp Club. The visitors came up in automobiles and were received at the club rooms in The Virginia Inn. With them were collectors from Bridgeport, Milford and elsewhere. Some superb local collections were shown, followed by a luncheon, at which a number of the visitors made brief addresses. President Sanborn of the New Haven Club was especially cordial in his appreciation. One speaker advocated the formation of a state club.

PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

STANLEY GIBBONS, 1917.

We are in receipt of the 26th edition of the above work, commonly known as "Part Two." In nearly all respects it is similar to its predecessor which was published about the middle of 1915. The new-comer contains 30 more pages of new matter, apart from advertisements, than the previous edition; but Egypt is taken out. The "Introduction" makes interesting reading. The price of the catalogue is now fixed at 4/6, postage extra, in place of 2/6 before the war, which is almost entirely caused by the great rise in the price of paper. Binding is also increased by nearly 50 per cent.

Referring to "France and French Colonies," the "Introduction" states that "the stamps of our brave Allies are in great and well-deserved demand, and owing to the exhaustion of stock many hundreds of quotations have had to be very much advanced."

On the other hand, in referring to "Germany and Her States," we read the following:—"This group of stamps is quite under a cloud. Very few collectors or Britishers in general want anything 'made in Germany,' and we have largely reduced our prices in order to get rid of this portion of our stock, which we do not wish to replace."

A perusal of the pages of the catalogue 322 to 357 will show, however, that, in a large majority of instances, these reductions only apply to the higher priced stamps, principally unused; the cheaper kind being mostly left as they were; while the price of several of the lately issued German Colonies are omitted altogether.

Possibly the demand for the stamps of the German Empire is at present very much below normal, but are collectors warranted in tabooing the stamps of the German Empire which were issued before the war? While we yield to no one in our loyalty to the British Throne and the cause of the Allies, still there seems a danger that some collectors will outrun their wisdom and let politics interfere with philately to a greater extent than should be the case. We should not be at all surprised to find, after the war, that the collection of the stamps of the German Empire—at any rate up to the period preceding August 4th, 1914—is removed from the domain of politics altogether, and while Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., have a perfect right to make whatever announcements they please, it is for collectors themselves to collect whatsoever stamps they feel interested in, and, so long as the stamps have been issued legitimately, we see no reason why they should be viewed politically.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

WAR POSTAL MEASURE.

WASHINGTON, April 7, 1917.
ORDER No. 211.

Ordered that, during the continuance of hostilities between the United States and Germany, no letters, packages, or other mail matter originating within the United States or its possessions and destined for Germany, or addressed to any post office, port, or other place within the jurisdiction of Germany, or to any person residing within the jurisdiction of Germany, shall be dispatched from the United States to their said destination; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the seizure or detention of any foreign closed transit mails for Germany originating in other foreign countries or originating in Germany and destined for any other foreign country (not her colony or dependency) while in transit over territory of the United States, which closed mails should be returned by the United States exchange office first receiving them to the country whence received, accompanied by a Bulletin of Verification, stating that the United States can not act as intermediary for the forwarding of such mails.

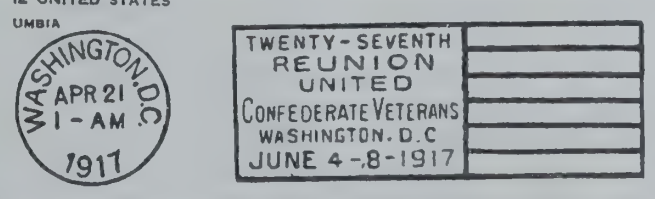
That for the purpose of executing this order postmasters at post offices of the United States and its possessions are hereby instructed to send to the Division of Dead Letters, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., for return to the senders or other appropriate disposal, all mail matter prohibited dispatch as above indicated.

This order is hereby made to include all mail matter destined for Germany now remaining in the United States and its possessions, and that which may be mailed or received hereafter.

Postmasters will cause due notice of the foregoing to be taken at their offices and until otherwise instructed refuse to accept for mailing any mail matter destined for delivery in Germany.

In view of the fact that under existing conditions mail for Austria, Hungary, Luxembourg, Bulgaria and Turkey requires transit through Germany, to which country mail service from the United States is now suspended, mail for those countries will be treated, until otherwise ordered, in the manner herein prescribed for mail destined for Germany; but mail from those countries received in the United States will be dispatched to destination.

A. S. BURLESON,
Postmaster General.



Suspension Of Money-Order Business With The German Empire.

WASHINGTON, April 6, 1917.
ORDER No. 212.

In consequence of the state of war now existing, the suspension of the exchange of postal money orders between the United States and the German Empire is hereby directed.

Postmasters at all international money order offices will govern themselves accordingly. On and after this date they should refuse to issue orders on post offices in the German Empire or any of its colonies or dependencies. They should also decline to pay orders drawn upon them by German offices on or after the 6th day of April.

A. S. BURLESON,
Postmaster General.

CANCELLATION DIE AROUSES RESENTMENT.

According to the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, the Grand Army men of that city are very much opposed to the use of the cancellation shown above, announcing the reunion of the Confederate veterans in Washington in June. We quote from the Bulletin the following:—

"The law specifies that a special die for Federal, municipal or State affairs, held without profit, may be used to cancel letters, but only by an act of Congress. Senator Penrose, it is said, failed during an investigation to find any authority in law for the use of this die. Postmaster M. O. Chance, at Washington, also is at a loss to account for the use of this die."

THIS ADVERTISEMENT SHOULD PRODUCE RESULTS—because it actually offers the best kind of stock for a small dealer or trader at a price that assures a very satisfactory profit.

We have discontinued our approval department and rather than re-assemble the stamps offer $100 catalog value for $15 or $50 for $8.

We do not except anything, but include every single stamp set aside for our approval department. At this price we cannot pick and choose, you must take them as they come; lots may or may not contain duplicates, each lot will contain a wide variety anyway. Every single stamp is not only in fine condition, but the bulk of the stock was net stuff—impossible to pick up in wholesale quantities. It made our heart ache to put some of the stamps in at this discount, but they all went in just the same. Everything ready assembled, in parcels of $50 and $100 catalog value.

YOUR MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED IF NOT SATISFIED.

Registration 10 cents extra.

EDITORIAL.

Official—Elsewhere in this number we expect to publish Order No. 211 by the postmaster general, defining the treatment of mail originating in this country and destined for Germany. The discontinuance of postal relations between two countries has its historical aspects, and for purposes of record we reprint the order.

Increase—The newspaper despatches, telling of the proposed increase of the single letter rate by one cent, as favored by the post office department, attracted the attention of collectors. A Washington correspondent had intimated to us that among the forms that war taxation would take, in all probability, was the imposition of a cent tax on each letter, irrespective of weight. The postmaster-general may make recommendations of this kind. but he is not authorized to change the rates in any way, Congress alone having this prerogative. We may reasonably expect the co-operation of the post office department in collecting war funds.

Well—A collector who was very anxious to get a fine copy of a certain stamp bid something over catalogue on it in an auction sale, in which the stamp was described as "superb." When the bidder saw that he paid the full amount of his bid for the stamp in question he did not wince. He would be satisfied if the stamp was up to the catalogue description. It was.

Gone—The death of Mr. M. P. Castle, as reported in our issue of the 21st ultimo, removes, as has been said, a link between the first and last generations of collectors. When Mr. Castle retired from business in 1892, he took a trip around the world, and America was in the itinerary. We remember having met Mr. Castle and his companions in that year, and we were impressed with Mr. Castle's unusually keen interest in stamps.

Another—A new five cent stamped envelope has been issued, which is described as "the No. 8 stamped envelope, 4⅛ by 9½ inches, in 5-cent denomination. This envelope is intended especially for mailing abroad papers of sizes and shapes not adapted to the small No. 3 and No. 5 5-cent envelopes. It will be issued in either white or amber paper and of 'high-back' pattern only, at the following prices:

No. 8 5-cent stamped envelope with printed return-card, $52.72 per 1000; $26.36 per 500.

No. 8 5-cent stamped envelope without return card, $52.28 per 1000; $26.14 per 500.

The value of other quantities will be fixed by multiplying the quantity by $ .05272 for printed envelopes and by $ .05228 for unprinted, and adding the odd fraction of a cent. For example, the exact value of 25 No. 8 5-cent unprinted envelopes at $ .05228 each is $1.307, and the selling price is $1.31."

Centennial—We acknowledge our obligations to Mr. George B. Sloane, New York City, who writes: "I noticed in the issue of April 21st, 1917, an editorial referring to the special postmarks employed in advertising exhibitions, etc., and that you do not recollect having seen one for the Centennial at Philadelphia in 1876. For your satisfaction and guidance, I take pleasure in submitting herewith, a cover bearing a three cent green, showing the postmark, 'Centennial, Phila'da, Pa.' It is of the type generally in use at that period and is the only one that I have ever seen. This postmark is probably the forerunner of its class and I should be interested in knowing whether there is anything earlier." This postmark catches our eye, and it is our opinion that it is the first official special postmark of the kind. It antedated the advertising postmark applied to letters mailed on the famous trans-continental train that bore a theatrical troupe from New York to San Francisco in 1877 (was it?). We say, official, advisedly in this connection, as, so early as the year 1864, an impression in true postmark form was applied to letters mailed in the post office of the Great Central Fair of the U. S. Sanitary Commission, which was so successfully held at Philadelphia in the summer of 1864. It may be added that Mr. Sloane's envelope is embellished on the reverse side with a large cut of the commodious building, "Ohio Headquarters Philadelphia."

Slick—From Mr. George Ward Linn, Columbus, Ohio, we have received an old circular whose context shows that the poor postmasters of a half-century or more ago were the objects of blandishments that almost were irresistible. Here is a business proposition copied from the circular that might have been one of the choice originations of Sam Slick,—a Yankee notion that the P. O. D. would loudly veto in this day: "POST OFFICE BUSINESS. Providence, R. I., November 24th, 1860—, Post Master. Dear Sir: We now have on hand, and are constantly making letters, circulars, etc., to be transported through the mail, and are desirous of pre-paying the postage on the same in watches, jewelry and other salable property, at a good discount from ordinary wholesale rates. Besides obtaining goods at surprisingly low prices, in a trade of this kind, you obtain a commission of sixty per cent. from the department, which additional profit reduces the prices of goods received from us to comparatively nothing! It is obvious, and needs no figuring on your part, that if you have any market for the wares that we wish to exchange, that an enormous profit of at least six or eight hundred per cent. can be realised, besides the advantage obtained in increasing the business of your office, entitling you to a marking and rating stamp with change of dates, also printed way bills, wrapping paper, twine, etc., besides the satisfaction that an enterprising postal agent must feel in doing a good business at his office. We certainly regard this proposition as worthy of your careful consideration, and it is hoped that you will not be so inconsiderate of your own interest as to throw this letter aside without giving it such. Should the matter strike you favorably, will you please address or call on us personally—which latter would be preferable—Jerome A. Salisbury, at 32 Weybosset Street, or Gaius W. Hubbard, Jr., at 16 Pine Street, Providence, R. I., before December 1st, 1860, and after January 3rd, 1861, at 65 and 67 Nassau Street, New York City. We await your immediate reply. Salisbury, Hubbard & Co."

More.—A reader, Mr. J. H. Massey, Bolton, Conn., is kind enough to give us a lift. He writes: "Referring to the editorial in the issue of April 21st, 1917, you will find two more authors who have evidently been bitten by the bug at some time, in the Saturday Evening Post for the same date, as follows: In 'Astor Place' by Ferdinand Reyher, this occurs: 'She talked. (Most remarkable thing for a she.) You could hear the ukulele breathe in its native lair, and see the tango untangle itself on the pampas of Argentina, while she danced with the governors of Jamaica, Bermuda, San Salvador and other colorful postage stamp and tourist points southeast, etc. In 'The Town Mouse' by Nalbro Bartley, the Mouse gives the following: 'What a handsome lad you must have been—given to wing collars and double breasted bright serges; riding a velocipede and smoking pale deadly weeds; and collecting postage stamps, etc.' As the Post has some general circulation, you very likely saw the same yourself."

Help.—A dealer, just before he passed away from the effects of the shock, ordered his heirs to notify us that he had found the old-fashioned collector who expected to pay full catalogue for the stamps he bought from him.

A BEACON LIGHT IN PHILATELY.

By Julian T. Baber.

Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News continues to come regularly to our desk and no philatelic paper is more welcome than this veteran sheet which has braved the storms of many winters in keeping informed that clientele which forms the most important party of American philately. Mekeel's is the beacon light in American philately. That it is here to stay is and has been manifested by its sticking qualities and under the leadership of Willard O. Wylie and Charles E. Severn, it should weather the gales for many more years, and the Collectors' Journal will always be one of its warmest supporters.—Collectors' Journal.

S. P. A. MINNEAPOLIS CONVENTION.

One of the features of the S. P. A. convention at the Twin Cities next August will be an evening devoted entirely to swapping, selling, displaying stamps, or in other words a stamp "bourse." Those planning to attend should bear this in mind and bring along their collections for exhibition as well as their swapping material.

In the entertainment line there will be trips to the lake resorts near both cities and sightseeing trips. The annual banquet will in all probability be held at one of the summer lake resorts of St. Paul.

Edited by MILTON P. LYONS, JR.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address Milton P. Lyons, Jr., 1631 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—We note from Scott's Circular in regard to the re-issued $2.00 and $5.00 stamps that "New plates have been made from the dies for the 1902 issue. The plates each have 200 subjects, are without imprint, and numbered 8015 for the $2.00 and 8016 for the $5.00. The stamps are printed on unwatermarked paper and perforated 10."

The 7c, 8c and 10c, as well as the 2c postage due, have now appeared on unwatermarked paper with 11 perforation.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—The 3c orange, combined postage and war tax stamp, was issued April 16th. The design is the same as that for the lower denominations of the current series.—HARRY E. HUBER.

CHILE.—There has been some uncertainty about the method of printing the new issue of stamps that has been gradually appearing since 1915. It has been stated that the stamps are lithographed, typographed and "locally printed by a new process." The 1c, 2c and 4c stamps certainly appear to be lithographed. Most collectors probably will be puzzled to decide whether the frames of the bi-colored stamps, 10c to 40c, are lithographed or typographed. We recently examined a quantity of the stamps, including sheets and blocks, and think we found sufficient evidence to state that the 5c is printed from a line engraved plate; the stamps in one color are typographed, while the bi-colored ones have the heads engraved and the frames typographed. The evidence in support of these statements will be found on viewing the stamps from the back. The 5c shows many depressed lines where the paper has been forced into the sunken lines of the engraved plate. The low vlaues often show the outline of the stamps raised. This is caused by the cliches being forced into the paper in printing. Such an effect could not be produced in lithography. The bi-colored stamps show evidence of the two styles of printing. The heads of the higher values seem to be the same as those of the 1911-13 issues and usually show signs of wear and retouching, especially in the lines of the background.—Scott's Circular.

The current 5c stamp comes in distinct shades of grey-blue and slate-blue, copies of which have been shown us by Herman Focke.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Herman Focke has shown us copies of the 2c olive green and black surcharged "1917."

The ½c and 1c are in use with the 1916 surcharge and the other values are still current with the 1915 surcharge, while the 1 peso orange and black has apparently not been issued to date.

FRANCE.—Offices in China.—The 6 cent on 15 centimes French China, with the large surcharge Scott's No. 864c, has just been issued here. Scott's numbers 864f and 864h have not yet appeared here, and as nobody here has ever seen them, except possibly copies bought in France, I don't believe they are out, yet.—THEODORE SIDDALL.

GUATEMALA.—Hermann Focke submits copy of the Commemorative stamp chronicled in the last number of MEKEEL'S.

MALTA.—At last we have the 5s value in the King George series, for a copy of which we are indebted to our Malta correspondent, Mr. Louis Carabott, who states that it was issued on the afternoon of March 21. It is of the same size and design as the 2s value, the colours being similar to that in the King Edward series, except that the green is slightly paler.

1917. March 21. Head of King George V. Surface-printed by Messrs. de la Rue & Co., London. Thick wove paper. Chalk surfaced. Wmk. Mult. Crown CA. Perf. 14.

5s green and red on yellow.

—Stamp Collecting.

MEXICO.—The above mentioned also reports receipt of the 1c and 5c values of the present issue, previously chronicled, and the 10c blue perforated 12 instead of the percé en ligne, rouletting formerly in use.

NETHERLANDS.—According to J. N. Morse the following new postal cards have been placed in use, they exist both with and without the divided face, as in the case of the 2½c green on pale green of the 1908 issue.

Postal Cards.

2c yellow brown on white, numeral.
2c green on pale green, Queen.
3c green on pale green, Queen, perforated.

NORTH BORNEO.—In May, 1916, gospel was given forth that owing to the loss of a shipment of the 2, 4 and 10 cent values, by the sinking of S. S. Persia, a very limited number of the 3, 6 and 12 cent stamps had been locally surcharged 2, 4 and 10 cents respectively, to make good for immediate use. Though originally this was accepted as positive in every particular, the light of later incidents has occasioned some scepticism as to whether a consignment really was on board the S. S. Persia. Furthermore, it is wondered if the term locally surcharged might in actuality possibly be defined to an overprinting made in London.

When sought for opinion, a prominent philatelic philistine, who happens to know something more of this State besides its stamps, expressed doubt as to such type as used for the surcharges having existed in North Borneo. Whether this is so or not a supply of the three surcharged stamps was for some purpose in North Borneo. The several local correspondents to whom we wrote direct were unable to purchase any but the ordinary unsurcharged values. Was the issue, whatever its merits, really placed, even for a few hours, in bona-fide open sale to the public? If so, at which office was it so placed, and why was stock not accessible at all offices? Therein lies the riddle, the conjecture and, we venture to suggest, the condemnation.

Last October the floodtide started to sweep in. On a certain day, whilst we happened to be paying one of our informal visits to a well-known City dealer, in walked an official straight from North Borneo with a large package, the contents of which were unfolded with an astonishing tale. There stood the surcharges in tens, twenties and thirties, etc., undivided in rows and blocks on large sides of envelopes, all nicely postmarked!!! What puzzled us was that while the wild men of Borneo, in the persons of our correspondents, were unable to obtain these surcharged stamps, here was a tame man of North Borneo proudly exhibiting the coveted goods.

Those were all the used we have seen, but a little time afterwards we had notices of unused lots in varying quantities, the largest approximating 1,000 sets of this extraordinary so-called very limited issue. No wonder the would-be local purchasers found it difficult to acquire. Prices varied—the highest ran out at 5s the set of three. Being ourselves perhaps over-modest, and knowing a little ancient history of this happy land, we have preferred to leave well alone until there is more satisfactory evidence as to the facts of the issue and the numbers printed.

The celebrated "Charity Fairy Tale," bound in imitation gift half calf, with bevelled profiteering edges, issued last year, which brought the North Borneo Company for their lauded gift a profit of near about £150 on the outlay of a few shillings' worth of paper, will be remembered.

Apparently the title-page for this latest "Romance de Surcharges" is not yet inscribed. To whom is it dedicated? Faith, Hope or Charity? The last issue was to Charity. May we assume the present is to Hope?—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News.

These stamps were chronicled in our issue of February 24.

ROUMANIA.—In addition to the 5 bani relief stamp, described in our previous reference to this country, we now have to chronicle two further values in the same type, four leu stamps in a new design and two postage due labels in an entirely new guise. The stamps in the same type as that previously described are:—

2 lei, grey-brown.
5 lei, red-brown.
50 lei, yellow-orange.

The new postage dues have the usual inscription, with the denomination in an uncoloured circle almost completely enclosed by the word "ROMANIA", at top, and a curved laurel wreath, the base of which is in the centre of the stamp. The values are:—

5 bani, brown on green.
10 bani, red on green.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. J. Schmidt, C. M. Breder, Donovan Banzett, Wm. H. Wilkerson, Jr., W. E. Egbert, M. D., and Philip A. Livingston.

—We are advised of the death of Wm. J. Parker of Trenton, N. J., who passed away on February 9. He was a specialist in envelope collecting.

—Wm. F. Palmer sends us an English cancellation:—F:S. W:I in two lines in a circular shaped design. Information is desired as to what this cancellation stands for.

—During the Civil War, the postmaster at Lexington, Virginia, was one Thomas Plunkett, whose daughter, the last member of his family, has just died at an advanced age. A short time ago a desk or bureau belonging to this daughter was sold, and there was found in it after the purchase a large number of unused Confederate postage stamps, constituting, it is supposed, a part of the stock of the postoffice left on hand at the close of the War. Three varieties were represented. The small ten cent blue was in the majority. Of these there were many fine double sheets, of two hundred stamps each, bearing the imprint of Keatinge & Ball, Columbia, S. C., plate numbers 2 and 3. There were also a large number of the twenty cent green, including two full sheets of two hundred stamps each. Of the two cent carmine there were about five hundred.

—We have already indicated our intention to protect the interests of our subscribers as regards mixture advertising. We shall accept no cheap foreign or U. S. mixtures, and such high class mixture advertising as we accept must be inserted with a money back guarantee. For the present we shall accept mixtures of South and Central America, pending our decision as to the exclusion even of this class of mixtures.

—You should use our leaflet, "The Charm of Stamp Collecting", in your correspondence. It is excellent for missionary work and presents stamp collecting in its most favorable light. We pay half the cost of production and offer the leaflet at 50c per hundred postpaid. Collector or dealer can use these to advantage.

PHILATELY—THE LADIES' POINT OF VIEW.

BY E. G. CAMPBELL.

Philately, Philately? The ladies' point of view?
Why yes; we women love the cult, O! man, as much as you,
The brilliant rainbow page adore,
The little emblems ponder o'er,
And ferret out their fairy lore,
Each tiny type a clue
To mystery new.

Philately, Philately! when I,—a girl at school—
First dedicated copybook to "perforate and roul",
(For lack of album never seen)
I wondered at each pictured Queen—
Each blue and brown and grey and green—
And red and mauve and gule
Wee postal jewel.

Philately—ah yes: your gems appeal to woman's soul,
The artist-trained, the poet-born, within your ranks enrol;
Mid beast and bird of heraldry—
Mid tiny landscape, group, and sea—
Mid leaf and blossom revels she,
And stamp collector's role;
Entrancing goal!

—Stamp Collector.

SOME RECENT STAMPS.

By ROMNEY GIBBONS.

A perusal of the English philatelic press during the last twelve months has brought two points very prominently to my attention. Firstly, the enormous number of new issues, directly or indirectly due to the Great War; and secondly, the almost total absence of criticism or comment which the appearance of these issues evokes.

Time was when the philatelic press was justly proud of its independence, and was wont to wax critical of any issue whose bona fides were in any way suspicious. I can recall the reception which was afforded to such issues as the Schweizer Renecke provisionals of South Africa, the Cretan Revolutionary labels, and the Charity stamps of Roumania, to name only a few cases amongst many others, whose appearance was greeted with a display of healthy criticism.

"Other times, other manners." It is from the dealers that one looks now for the denunciation of speculative issues, while with few exceptions the press hesitates to express an opinion, and instead of being a guidance is more of a stumbling block to the unwary collector.

It is true that in The London Philatelist, where, if anywhere, one looks for clear-cut judgment, the words "speculative stamps will be considered on their merits," appear month by month at the head of their New Issue column, but I am very much afraid that this precept is more honoured in the breach than in the observance.

It is surely obvious that the cataloguing of such issues and publication of lengthy articles dealing with them is purely a form of advertisement. A demand is created, and the speculator is enabled to unload his supply at a high premium.

I have before me a little book by Mr. Fred. J. Melville on the "War Stamps of Salonika and Long Island," which rather aptly illustrates the foregoing remarks, but before dealing with this I may perhaps be allowed to make a few comments on one or two other classes of War Stamps.

Remembering the proverb, "Charity covereth a multitude of sins," I shall pass lightly over the numerous Red Cross issues of the Allies. There can indeed be no objection to an unlimited issue of Red Cross stamps, which in fact are bought largely by the general public, and so act as recruiting sergeants to philately.

But limited issues of a couple of thousand or so should be rightly considered as "suspect." The profit accruing to the Red Cross is practically negligible, hardly sufficient, I should think, to pay the printer's bill, whilst the speculators' profits per cent. are enough to take one's breath away, and would not be despised even by shipping companies.

The circumstances connected with the North Borneo Red Cross issue are fortunately unique in the annals of philately and I shall therefore say no more about them.

Another class of War Stamps which seem suspicious are the numerous "War Tax" issues emanating from the West Indies, Canada, etc. Seeing that the use of these stamps is not, I believe, compulsory, and that the tax may be prepaid with ordinary stamps, it may well be asked: What good object do they serve? The overprints themselves appear too often vague and unsatisfactory, as in the example from British Honduras, where presumably the Censor thought any further references to the "War" were inadvisable. In favour of these issues it may be said that they are mostly cheap and easily secured, and so comparatively harmless—a plea that can certainly not be advanced in favour of the "War Stamps of Salonika and Long Island." Mr. Melville, who comes forward as historian of these issues, says in his Introductory that he considers these stamps "speculative" and "unnecessary." Such being the case, I may honestly ask him his reasons for compiling this history, and so assisting the gentry who have speculated in these stamps to unload them on the public at a fabulous profit. This is, I believe, Mr. Melville's first essay as an historian of war issues, and I would ask him why he has selected these particular examples to commence with?

There is in the account of the Long Island issue a wealth of picturesque detail given, but most of it does not seem to me particularly relevant. I have sought in vain for particulars of the civilian population for whom these stamps were required. Who were they? What were they? I have always understood that letters from officers and men on active service were carried free, and I do not think that any local authority would have power to alter this regulation. What was the procedure at Long Island before and after the issue of these stamps? Why were the Turks so very offensive? I would suggest that, having had a brand new Postal Service made for them, they naturally felt rather aggrieved at not being allowed to use it, for I am quite sure that the authorities were at the greatest pains to prevent our enemies trading in such valuable pieces of property, even though their intrinsic worth was only one penny.

There are several illustrations of entires in this volume that deserve a word or two. Several bear anguished appeals to the censor or recipient to "please open carefully with a knife!" On the whole though, used copies appear to be scarce, which is not surprising, seeing that one collection purchased recently by Messrs. Stanley Gibbons was, according to their advertisement, "rich in blocks and entire sheets"—in spite of the small number issued.

In conclusion, I must express my conviction that the collection of labels such as these is straying rather a long way from "Philately." A collection of stamps is illustrative of postal evolution, and so may be looked upon as a more or less valuable adjunct to history, but a collection of Long Island labels is, in my opinion, illustrative only of the simplicity and credulity of mankind.—*Aust. PARMELEE'S PEN PICTURE.

In a recent number of the Omaha Herald, our Omaha dealer, Frank S. Parmelee, is exploited pictorially in a way to make the judicious smile. The paper is running an illustrated series wherein those prominent cits of Omaha who have hobbies are held up to laughter. The artist shows "Parmelee and his stamps" in unconventional pose; and then comes the joyous verse:

HORRIBLE HOBBIES HEREABOUTS.

Frank Parmelee—Gasoline, Gunpowder and Postage Stamps.

As big as the recent First National Bank
And rolling along like the Britishers' tank,
You'd think that Frank Parmelee ought to enjoy
A bout with a baby rhinoceros boy,
Or maybe a "strafe" with a spherical safe,
Or some other plaything to tickle a waif
Of three hundred pounds—but the fortune he lamps
Is largely expended on old postage stamps!

On old postage stamps he has lavished affection
And boasts a good deal of his monster collection—
Which sounds much the same had he boasted the crops
Of kites he has gathered—or marbles and tops,
For Frank is a kid with a fever to bid
As much for a "watermark" now as he did
When barter was made with the treasures of youth
Instead of the dirty old dollar, forsooth!

But since he has come into manhood's estate
Our hero has wandered, as sad to relate,
Branching out into stunts of a deadlier sort,
Including the automobile as a sport,
And feats that he's done with his old scattergun
Are famous—he's author of many a run
That yet is remembered in trapshooter's camps.
But still Mister Parmelee sticks to his stamps!

AUST. COMLTH. "ONE PENNY."

This article, by Mr. E. D. E. van Weenen in the Aust. Philatelist, deals exclusively with the 1d value of the King George type of the Commonwealth series; it is the most exhaustive contribution yet written on this subject, and should be read by all. After alluding to the fact that there has been a certain amount of confusion in the matter, owing to contrary statements in various articles, Mr. van Weenen remarks that the ultra-specialist—i.e. the one who studies the minute variations of a stamp, and who can afford to collect both types of the 1d in sheets, will find in them plenty of interest to recoup him for his outlay, especially the "Harrison" stamp, which did not emanate from the Federal Stamp Printing Office. As is now well known, Mr. T. S. Harrison, the Federal Bank-note Printer, cut the dies of the first Commonwealth 1d himself, and to him also was entrusted the work of bringing out the stamps, including printing, gumming and perforating. They were even issued from his office. Mr. Harrison has the reputation of being a first-class engraver—few to rival him in Australia—but beyond the engraving and preparation of the plates, the rest of the work should have been left to Mr. J. B. Cooke, the Federal Stamp Printer, who had both the knowledge and machinery needed for the production of the stamp as it ought to have been issued and not as it was. With this assertion all leading philatelists agree. In fact, the production of the Harrison stamp savoured almost of a scandal. Mr. Harrison printed them on an unwatermarked paper, which was against the regulation, and incurred the needless expense of a new perforating machine, although Mr. Cooke offered to relieve him of this part of the work. Even the gumming of the sheets—done by hand—by means (as we understand) of a large paint brush, was done by Mr. Harrison, or his assistants, sooner than let Mr. Cooke do it. To say the least of it, this action was decidedly childish. The unfortunate part of the affair was that the Postmaster-General knew little or nothing of the proper production of a stamp, and had no sympathy for the much-enduring stamp collector. But, since the introduction of stamps in Australia, we do not know of one Postmaster-General that took any interest in stamp collecting.

Varied have been the opinions on the first "one penny" Commonwealth stamp, but on the whole it has not been a favourable one. From an artistic point of view it certainly leaves much to be desired. While there can be no objection to encouraging local talent, the general opinion of advanced collectors was that the Postmaster-General should have invited the designs from English and American artists also. Had this been done, and provided the Postmaster-General had been of an artistic mind, or left the selection to, say, three philatelic artists, it is likely we would have seen a stamp that would have given an all-round satisfaction. Even after the design had been accepted, the preparation of the steel plates should have been given to one of the noted firms either in England or the United States, where the best steel engravers in the world are to be found. We certainly would have got a much better result. As mentioned, the printing, &c., should also have been left to the Federal Stamp Printing Office, and Mr. Cooke would have used a watermarked paper. To show that there has been cause to grumble, Mr. van Weenen instances the unevenness of the four plates used to print the first supply of stamps therefrom, the design on Plate I not having been impressed sufficiently deep, which made the colour a distinctive paler shade than the others.

There is one point in connexion with the Harrison printings that Mr. van Weenen has not been able to satisfactorily clear up. It is known that the sheets of stamps from the second printing are three-sixteenths of an inch longer and nine-sixteenths of an inch narrower than that of the first printing. The question arises: "Were there two sets of plates made?" Yet this is hardly tenable, as the repetiton of Plate I in the lighter colour would not have occurred. Possibly, but not authenticated officially, there may have been two original dies; or, a further alternative, some chemical change may have set in one of the two sets of copper plates. Mr. Harrison, like the Postmaster-General, had no sympathy for the collector, and would not worry himself if one of the dies or plates was slightly different in measurements from the first one made.

"As regards the re-drawn design (we quote from the A. P.) collectors know, no doubt, that to the firm of Perkins, Bacon & Co., London, was given the order to prepare steel plates. Whether the alteration in the design was ordered by the Postal Department out here or whether the firm considered it necessary themselves, I do not know. They, however, only made the plates, which are of solid steel, but hardened by a process for surface-printing, which is their own trade secret. Beyond proofs from the plate, no other printing was done by them, and they were sent, on arrival in Melbourne, direct to the Federal Stamp Printing Office. We can find fault with the re-drawn design also but as it has already received a plethora of condemnation from all classes, it is not worth while to further 'pile on the agony.' Mr. Cooke has done his best with an unsatisfactory job. Perkins, Bacon & Co.'s artist should have made the lines of the emu and kangaroo sharper in the design. as in some of the printings in the deep carmine shade it is difficult to trace their outline."

Where, however—speaking now on behalf of other collectors—the author of these notes is not as one with Mr. Cooke is in the paper he employed. It was of too poor a quality for the production of a good stamp. A better quality and this kept up even throughout, would have enhanced the appearance of the design. By using the papers he did, we got too many varieties—an abomination to the specialist with a slender purse. The writer mentions the word "papers" because we have had several during the various printings. There have also been many shades of colour, but this is to some extent excusable, especially now that good printing inks are difficult to obtain. It is a most difficult thing for a printer to watch the mechanics at every step of their work, but, although we have had the watermark reversed and inverted these accidents have only cropped up occasionally. Mr. Cooke, says the author, is doing his best—in the interest of collectors—to prevent anything outside of the normal going out of his establishment. A useful Reference List of types and varieties is appended to Mr. van Weenen's important contribution.—Stamp Collectors' Quarterly.

U. S. 10 CENT 1851-57 ISSUES.

By STEVENSON.

My excuse for the present article is that supplies of back numbers of the journal containing my early notes are used up and demand for information on this interesting stamp still continues. Also the information given in previous numbers was somewhat scattered in several numbers and mixed with other notes to some extent. There is little to add at the present time.

Before going to the stamps themselves, it is necessary to have firmly fixed in mind a few absolutely fundamental facts. They are simple but should be memorized by the student.

A first plate, No. 1, was made for this stamp in time to begin issue of imperforates about May 4, 1855 (Luff). This one plate furnished all the imperforates in this value. It also furnished all the perforates until the second plate was made and put into use. The perforates are a little more numerous than the imperforates from this plate.

A second plate, No. 2, was made late in 1857 or early in 1858, the latter being the more probable from the data now available; dated specimens, etc.

In 1874, the Continental Bank Note Co. made a third plate from which to produce the "specimens for sale to collectors," generally miscalled "reprints."

The reprint plate shows a complete

Headquarters for Stamps of the United States and Its Colonies

I just purchased a fine collection of U. S. stamps, including many early blocks of the general issues as well as Department stamps. Send me your want list.

My 1917 Price List is Free.

H. F. COLMAN,
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

design which differs little, if any, from that adopted in 1855. The cut shows this design quite well, together with the names of parts that I have adopted.

Each of the issued-stamp plates, No. 1 and No. 2, had 200 designs in panels of 100 each. Not one of these 400 designs is complete.

Among these 400 designs we find some fixed differences which occur regularly in design after design, and which are characteristic of differing periods in the history of the changing design. These fixed differences are our main study. After definitely identifying them, we can list them in their apparent chronological order and assign type rank to those that seem to require it.

Fortunately for us, the principal differences to be found are clear-cut and definite. Our foundation is readily laid and the work easy, if we have the specimens necessary for study.

Plate No. I.

All specimens from plate No. 1 differ from all specimens from plate No. 2 in one marked particular. In the first, the side ornaments are always complete. In plate No. 2, the left side ornaments are always incomplete. There are other characteristic differences but this is sufficient for general use. No one can well be mistaken on this point when examining stamps.

Sorting out those stamps that come from plate No. 1, we can thus study them separately to see what they show. Having accumulated a sufficient number of them, we find that (except for the recut ones) we have three different designs no more and no less. Every specimen from this plate, No. 1, is of one of these three designs and the differences are pronounced.

One of these designs appears as about one in twenty of all stamps from this plate. Attempts at reconstruction of the part of the plate from which they are printed show that they occur at the bottom row of ten in the left pane of the sheet and apparently from that row only. These I class as Type 1.

Description. The top line, the top ornaments, and the tops of the X ovals are always incomplete. (The top line generally shows very faintly under a good glass.) The bottom of the left shell is broken off. The bottom line is present but defective from definite flaws. The bottom of the right shell is present but similarly defective from definite flaws.

Note carefully that these ten designs are absolutely identical. Their common shortage does not come from transfer errors, but definitely and clearly from the design being thus incomplete in the roller relief used in transferring these ten designs to the plate. The design as printed in the stamps is an exact reproduction of that particular roller relief design.

All of the other 190 designs of plate No. 1 are alike in one particular. All are still further short some of the design at the bottom. These further shortages are also not due to faulty transfer work, but reproduce exactly the roller relief designs from which they came to the plate. Among this class of 190 are two distinctly different designs, which come from use of two distinctly different reliefs. I call all these 190 designs Type II, and the two different relief designs in this general type, Type II-A and Type II-B.

Descriptions. Type II. The bottom of each shell and the center part of the bottom line are cut away from the design on the roller relief, the shortages being much alike in the two sub-types.

Type II-B. The outer line of the left shell stops lower down than in II-A, and about on the level of the bottom of the N of TEN. The top line, top ornaments, and tops of the X ovals are incomplete, (somewhat more so than in Type I).

Note carefully that of these 190 designs about one-half are of each subtype of Type II. Each specimen of Type II-A is identical in the typical differences. Each specimen of Type II-B is identical in the typical differences. The old theory that the shortages on this plate could all be accounted for as transfer errors is without foundation in fact and is not held by any competent student to-day. It can be forgotten.

I place the two Types of this plate in the order given because it seems impossible that they could have been entered in the other order. The ten of Type I must have been entered before the 190 of Type II. In this order we can believe the shortages in Type II are from an effort at removing the damaged effects in Type I. The other order is beyond the bounds of reason.

So far as seen (except in one instance) the sub-types of the Type II normally occur in alternate rows. Study makes it evident that the two reliefs from which they come were present on the roller as a unit and that the two were transferred to the plate at one placing. The position dots in Type II seem to always come at the top left corner of II-A. These two differences are of type rank but are distinctly subordinate to the general Type II, and I so class and designate them. They are not in any sense individual differences pertaining to one design, or to a few of the designs of the plate at irregular locations. They recut regularly for cause stated.

A few double transfers are to be noted, but they are very minor and affect generally the tops only of the letters of U. S. POSTAGE. Distinct doubling of other lines is not apparent.

The marked varieties of this plate are the recuttings. These are not, as in plate No. 1 of the 1c, due to a general overhauling and retouching of plate designs after a period of use in an unrecut condition, but were made to the designs before the plate was put into service. The reason why they recut these few and did not recut others is still a question. They probably tried it on a few to improve the general effect and found that the results would not pay for the work of extending it to all. If this is the fact, they were quite right. The recutting does not improve the designs or the general effects.

To date, I have identified nine of the designs within Tvpe II as recut. Some of the differences are minute and only seen by direct comparison. Five differences are easily followed from description only. These I list as distinct varieties. Collectors will have no trouble with these except to find specimens of them. They, naturally, are quite uncommon, and some are truly rarities among our stamps. Here is the list:

II-A-1. Top line recut. Two different designs.

II-A-2. Bottom line recut. Three different designs.

II-B-1. Top line recut. One only.

II-B-2. Top line and tops of X ovals recut. Two designs.

II-B-3. Top line and bottom line both recut. One only.

In those of Type II-A, the minor differences are readily identified by the position dots alone. In II-B-2, direct comparisons are required to distinguish between the two designs.

It is probable that on the pane that shows the row of Type I at the bottom, the top row, coming also from a single relief, is of one of the sub-types of Type II throughout, making apparently 100 of one sub-type and 90 of the other. In one case seen, in vertical strip, a Type II-A at the top is followed by another Type II-A below it and therefore probably from that part of the plate. Otherwise, the sub-types occur normally in horizontal rows and alternate in vertical rows. The exceptions to this seem to be the recuttings, which, so far as seen, occur in rows of designs that are otherwise of the opposite sub-type; as, a recut of II-A in row with normals of II-B.

This plate was evidently made with a view to perforating the stamps printed from it. The intervals are about as wide each way as was permittted by the size of the plate, and the horizontal intervals are increased by the absences of parts of the designs at the sides.

As was the case with the 1c plates just before this 10c plate, and just following it, and with plate No. 2 of the 5c made about the same time, it is highly probable that a six relief roller was used for plate No. 2 of the 10c. I here mean a roller showing six reliefs as a unit, separated on the roller by intervals such that when the roller was applied to the plate and a complete transfer made of the six reliefs at the one placing, the designs would be at the proper and desired intervals on the plate. It is probable that some of the absences of parts on the plate come from removals of parts from the roller reliefs and we may sometime be able to identify the six different relief designs. It is, however, possible that some of the absences are due to plate erasure, that is, to removal, on the plate, of parts once transferred to it. This would, and probably does, complicate study of the details. Only reconstruction of a large part of this plate, or study of a number of large blocks can settle this question.

All from this plate I call Type III. None can be confused with either of the previous types from the first plate. All are short some of their left ornaments. Most are short similarly at the right side as well. A few show complete side ornaments at right. These few I class as Type III-A. The others I call Type III-B. The difference is more curious than important at present and collectors can well ignore it unless a specimen of III-A is readily located. The difference is not of the class of the sub-types of Type II, until we can say definitely that it identifies a particular roller relief. — Collectors' Journal.

EDITORIAL.

Startling—This is sensational news and such are the thrilling possibilities of it that for the moment we are speechless. Here, indeed, are the bare words uttered by A. M. Dockery, third assistant postmaster general, at Washington, on May 2nd, 1917, under the heading, "Misprinted 2-Cent Stamps," that need no garnishment of exclamatory adjectives to get a hearing: "1. Postmasters and others connected with the postal service are notified that a quantity of 2-cent postage stamps have been inadvertently produced from printing plates of the 5-cent denomination, and some of these stamps were issued to postmasters before the error was detected. 2. The stamps are red but bear the numeral '5' instead of '2.' 3. The misprinted stamps will be found in sheets of 2-cent stamps bearing the number 7942 in the margin. Not all sheets numbered 7942 contain misprinted stamps but some of these sheets have one and the other sheets have two. Postmasters and stamp clerks who discover any of the misprinted 2-cent stamps in stock will withdraw them from sale, and postmasters will send them to the third assistant postmaster general for redemption at 2 cents each, the rate at which they have been issued. The misprinted stamps have all been issued by the department to postmasters since March 6, 1917. 4. Misprinted 2-cent stamps presented at post offices by the public will be redeemed at 2 cents each and sent to the Department."

Argument—The foregoing is a real error, one open and above-board and as such will take front rank in interest in our stamps. It will transcend in fascination all errors of inverted center, color variations in U. S. envelopes, "sepcimen," etc., because it is so pronounced and let us say wholesome, from the philatelic viewpoint. The acclaim that was given the pseudo error, five cent, 1890, color of the four cent, at the time of its acceptance by many collectors was tame in comparison with that which will greet this error. Our panegyric applies in full force only if it is found that the error is wholly above reproach but at this moment we shall not look with coldly speculative eye upon the origin of this error. We can imagine that the skeptic upon learning that there is but one in some instances and two cliches of the 5-cent in others in the sheets of 7942 would ask sharply how it happened so. We cannot pretend to be able to explain how the transfer roll could have included the one or two examples of the five cent subjects but that there will be some explanation that will be accepted is very likely.

Found—A collector was showing his album to his neighbor's wife and when she saw the set of Executive set, she said excitedly, pointing to the two cent stamp, "We have a stamp like that on an envelope that we kept with an invitation in it, ever since we left Washington." The collector did not get excited but said that he would like to see the stamp. "All right, I know just where it is," she said; and when she returned she handed the envelope to the collector, saying, "I am not so sure now but I think that is the stamp." It was.

Sundry—A curious surcharge is shown by Mr. John E. Lord. On the Nicaragua, 1906-08, 10c on 3c violet, the normal surcharge reads: "Vale 10c," with the c reversed, although it comes with the c normal as well but on the variety, the overprint is just turned around: "c01 elaV," with c reversed. A second cover with the "Centennial" Philadelphia postmark, Oct. 17, 12 M., has been sent for inspection by Mr. Laurence B. Mason, Cranford, New Jersey. The thirty cent, current type, U. S., has been issued on unwatermarked paper with perforation 11; evidently, the thirty cent will not be available with 10 perforation. The 3, 9, 11, 12, 15, 20, 50 and $1 also have been distributed unwatermarked, perforated 11.

High—We are enabled to give particulars about the use of the high value "wines" revenue stamps, $20, $40, $50 and $100, which were recently described for the first time in the WEEKLY. The revenue stamps, $20 to $100, inclusive, are two inches wide by three and three-sixteenths high and the $100 bears the legend, "Stamp for Wines, $100. U. S. Internal Revenue Stamp for Wines, $100. Series of 1916. 615. Act of Sept. 8, 1916." Color green. There is a complementary blank of the same size as the stamp attached to the stamp at the right; and the following is the wording in the tablet: "This space is for affixing additional stamps after cancellation. Affix stamps after cancellation by pasting the top part to this space and overlapping them." The stamp and blank are to be separated from a stub which requires the usual statistics as to whom the stamp was sold, etc., with a line for "Value of minor stamps affixed to this stamp," and "Total value of this built-up stamp," respectively. The "615" on the stamp is the serial number. These high denomination stamps are somewhat remarkable in the respect that their value may be "built up" but from our study of the uses to which these stamps may be put, we say that it is practically impossible for used copies of the stamps to reach the hands of collectors. It must be that the $100, for instance, would be for freight shipment of tank cars and for the removal of goods in bond but in one instance, the stamp would be attached to the bill of lading which the government pre-empts and the other, the gauger would retain the stamp. It is to be added that the face value of each sheet is $400; consequently, there are four of the $100 to the sheet; eight of the $50; ten of the $40 and twenty of the $20.

Knowing—A reader says that recently he received a letter from a book dealer in Brattleboro, Vermont, offering him several volumes that he did not want and in writing to that effect he said that if he had been offered a Brattleboro stamp, the reply would have been different. Whereupon the Brattleboro bookman replied that the stamp was worth "thirteen hundred dollars" but that he would sell him a fac-simile copy for twenty-five cents. The price for the genuine stamp is a bit high but no one may object to the price of the imitation. We suppose that the imitation Brattleboro on the cover is a standard seller in Brattleboro.

Disruption—The following order issued from Washington is given as supplementary to the one heretofore published, by whose terms the passage of mail to the countries at war with us was interdicted: "Referring to Order No. 211, dated April 7, 1917, printed in the issue of the Daily Bulletin of that date, that mail for Germany, Austria, Hungary, Luxemburg, Bulgaria and Turkey shall not be dispatched from the United States, postmasters are hereby informed that because of the disruption of mail service to those countries inquiries can not be made concerning mail dispatched prior to that date, and postmasters should, therefore, return to patrons any such inquiries received, with this information."

5c U. S. IN RED.

Reference is made editorially to a notable error that has just occurred in the Bureau of Engraving. In some manner one or more cliches of the 5c were inserted in the 2c plate 7942, resulting in the 5c stamp appearing in carmine. Our attention was first called to this error by W. P. Colman, who states that the total issue is given at 15,000 but definite information is as yet lacking.

We are also indebted to Herbert W. Mason and Wm. T. Kimball for copies of the official circular sent out from the office of the Third Assistant Postmaster General. The department circular is headlined "Misprinted Two Cent Stamp" a rather unique way of calling attention to what is really a misprinted five cent stamp. The circular follows:—

(1) Postmasters and others connected with the postal service are notified that a quantity of 2-cent postage stamps have been inadvertently produced from printing plates of the 5-cent denomination, and some of these stamps were issued to postmasters before the error was detected.

(2) The stamps are red, but bear the numeral "5" instead of "2."

(3) The misprinted stamps will be found in sheets of 2-cent stamps bearing the number 7942 in the margin. Not all sheets numbered 7942 contain misprinted stamps, but some of these sheets have one and other sheets have two. Postmasters and stamp clerks who discover any of the misprinted 2-cent stamps in stock will withdraw them from sale, and postmasters will send them to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Stamps, with a statement of the quantity, for redemption at 2 cents each, the rate at which they have been issued. The misprinted stamps have all been issued by the Department to postmasters since March 6, 1917.

(4) Misprinted 2-cent stamps presented at post offices by the public will be redeemed at 2 cents each and sent to the Department.

The circular is dated May 2 and postmasters have been thoroughly canvassed for a return of the errors. Notwithstanding this, there will without doubt be a considerable number of this interesting error come upon the market. The Department is very obliging in its willingness to redeem at 2c each such copies of the error as may be returned.

Later—One of the 5 cent stamps on sheet 7942 is in the lower right pane stamp 18, that is the 8th stamp in the second row.—WM. T. KIMBALL

A B. P. S. BOYS' NIGHT.

Tuesday evening, May 15, in Room 322 Tremont Building, Boston, C. A. Howes, president of the A. P. S., will deliver a lecture on "Columbus as Shown on our Postage Stamps" illustrated by pictures. In addition there will be an informal auction, a stamp bourse and some other interesting features. The committee on entertainment desires that all our young readers within the Boston district consider this their evening, and the WEEKLY is glad to give the widest possible publicity to this notice. It will be a boys' night with no age limit in either direction.

MANAGING EDITOR IN PROVIDENCE.

Next Tuesday evening, May 15, the managing editor of the WEEKLY will attend the meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society to be held in the Narragansett Hotel, Providence. The meeting will be called for 7.30 in order that Mr. Wylie may return to Boston that evening. He will take for the subject of his talk "Philatelic Oddities" and accompany the same with an exhibit.

A JUST COMPLAINT.

(The following burst of indignation reaches us with a change of advertising copy for this week's paper. Our dealer friend did not ask to have it used in the WEEKLY but we take the liberty of printing it with the hope that it may bear fruit. The remittance referred to was a bum 8c stamp that looked as if it had seen service in a dozen wars. It was sent by an adult who omitted to enclose any postage with the order. With an experience of seven years' dealing we can truly say that we fully sympathize with the complaint voiced in this communication.—ED.)

"May I have a word? I have often thought it would be of benefit to all concerned should the WEEKLY maintain standing in the paper somewhere a short list of instructions to readers who order from ads—such as enclosing postage on small orders, giving full address each time they write, and generally to use common sense. It is obviously impossible for us, and doubtless many other dealers also, to conduct a business at a profit when orders are received daily for one stamp offered at 2, 3 or 4c, and only 2, 3 or 4c in stamps sent in payment. Readers ought to be brought to realize this.

I am enclosing herewith an order (with enclosure) received yesterday. We get 'em right along. This is evidently from a grown person. If 'twere a kid, one could find excuses, but what on earth does an adult, thinking human being expect we are to do with a postage stamp such as that enclosed? We have filled the order—as we always do under such conditions—and charged ourselves with a complete loss and postage and stationery and time to boot.

I am not asking you to act as an arbitrator in this particular case—it is closed, but your readers should be informed in some way for the benefit of all. Such transactions as this leave a bad taste with the dealer and he is very apt not to do his very best for the customer in the first or future sales."

MR. CASTLE'S AUSTRALIANS.

The late Mr. Castle's gift, just before his lamented passing away, of some valuable Australian stamps will be a lasting memorial to that great philatelist. We sincerely trust that the Committee will see to it that the stamps are not dispersed, but sold as one lot at the forthcoming sale, and that their disposal will be the means of benefiting the Red Cross Society to a very considerable extent. The sale of the "Castle" Collection of Australian Stamps to Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., for £10,000, caused a great sensation in 1894, which was reflected eleven years later in the second sale for £5,750. The Royal Society's departed President commenced to form his first collection of Australians in 1872, since when he had mainly devoted himself to the issues of New South Wales, New Zealand, Queensland, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria, Western Australia, Fiji, New Caledonia, Tonga, Samoa, and—what bathos!—Labuan and Borneo. Envelopes, cards, and wrappers, as well as adhesives, were collected with avidity in the early days. The collection sold in 1905 was contained in twenty-one "Oriel" albums, and comprised no less than 366 Sydney Views (25 unused and 341 used), 39 Laureated, and a host of other wonderful items.—Stamp Collecting.

HUDSON COUNTY STAMP CLUB.

On April 27 the Hudson County Stamp Club, an enterprising branch of the N. P. S., held a banquet with forty present. Among the guests were distinguished members of other branches. Jos. Froelke served as toastmaster and among the other speakers was C. R. Goetz, vice-president of the N. P. S. A musical program was rendered and there was a stamp auction.

We are grateful to all the contestants for the interest manifested and the names of quite a few new subscribers have been added to our list. The final standing is as follows:—

THE BLUFF.

"The late General Funston," said a magazine editor, "hated a bluffer. Bluffers, he claimed, always gave themselves away.

"He often told a story about a bluffer who applied for a vacancy as tutor to a broker's son.

"The broker was an enthusiastic stamp collector, and he thought he might perhaps put the tutor to work cataloguing his stamps, so he asked the man:

"'One last question. Are you acquainted with philately?'

"The tutor smiled.

"'My goodness, yes,' he said. 'I speak it like a native, sir.'"

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by Milton P. Lyons, Jr.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address Milton P. Lyons, Jr., 1631 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

United States.—S. T. Danforth submits a copy of the Lincoln postcard of 1911 with the information that it has been re-issued and is again on sale.

British Honduras.—The 3d stamp has been issued in orange "Postage—Revenue", on plain paper, plate No. 2, copy of which has been submitted by J. A. Galbraith.

China.—(German Offices)—The German post offices in China closed on the day the German consulates were closed, breaking off all relations between China and Germany. It is quite unlikely that the German post offices will ever reopen, as at the close of the war it is expected that all the foreign offices in China will be closed; and the German authorities evidently do not expect to reopen at the old stand, for they burned their entire stock of stamps on hand in their office here. The used stamps are already rising in price, and disappearing from the market.—Theodore Siddall.

French Cameroons.—A fresh printing of these stamps (surcharged on Middle Congo), has now been made, differing from the first printing by being on chalk-surfaced paper. We have secured sufficient of the values which were missing from our earlier consignment to complete the distribution, except the 4c, which is still unobtainable.—Whitfield King's List.

Gilbert & Ellice Islands.—According to Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, the 1d is now appearing in a bright scarlet shade, from plate 5.

There are marked differences in the shades of color in the several earlier printings made from plates 1 and 2.

1d pale rose-carmine, plate 1.
1d red, plate 2.

The 2nd printing from plate 1 in pale rose-carmine appears to be much the scarcer.

Jamaica.—The ½d with the 8-point Roman overprint appeared the middle of April, thus completing the WAR STAMP series. A 240 setting has been used, divided into four panes of 60, as for the 1½d. The no period error, which appeared on the 11th stamp of the first pane for the 1½d has been corrected for the ½d, but shows up on the 45th stamp of the same pane. Pane 2 shows several stamps in the 5th and 6th rows, with type from the previous 6-point Roman setting, which varieties have also been noted for the 1½d and 3d.—Harry E. Huber.

Through courtesy of J. A. Galbraith we have seen specimens of the latest War Stamp, 1½d, overprinted "WAR STAMP" in two lines similar to preceding issue but in heavier type.

Liberia.—We have received a surprise packet from this place in the shape of a very small quantity of the issue of 1880, overprinted with date "1916" and new values, 3c on 6c, 5c on 12c, and 10c on 24c. Only 39 each of the 3c and 10c, and about 100 of the 5c were received, all of which are badly centred. The issue was a small one, and it is very uncertain if we shall receive any more. We have also received a limited number of the 1c on 2c, and 2c on 5c stamps, both ordinary and official, every row of ten stamps showing as many different varieties, some of them having double or inverted surcharges.—Whitfield King's List.

Panama.—The color of the current 2c stamps has been changed from carmine and black to scarlet and black as we note from a copy submitted by Hermann Focke.

Salvador.—From copies received from Hermann Focke we note that Salvador has again experienced a shortage of stamps and in order to overcome same, has made use of the Official stamps of the 1915 issue (overprinted 1915 and OFICIAL, diagonally impressed) by obliterating the surcharge "OFICIAL" with a heavy bar in black. These stamps, although containing the inscription "Franqueo Oficial" in the body of the design, are used for ordinary postage: we have seen the 2c and 5c so used, and presume other values exist.

Trinidad & Tobago.—We note from Ewen's Weekly Stamp News that the 2½d value is now appearing in a deep blue shade as compared with the original printing in ultramarine. The gumming is heavier in appearance and the watermark does not show through at the back of the stamps so transparently. These were apparently first placed on sale on Sept. 30th last.

From the same source we note "Advice is to hand from Port-of-Spain that

"Stamps of Cook Islands" PRICE 15c
BY B. W. H. POOLE
A comprehensive handbook, well written, finely illustrated and typographically a handsome production.
Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., Beverly, Mass.

a sheet of the ½d OFFICIAL stamp (type III) has been discovered with the overprint double. Our correspondent remarks that as these stamps were only overprinted in small quantities as required, and supplies are generally carefully examined, it is not unlikely that such an error will again accidentally pass unnoticed.

TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS.—War Tax Postage.—In a later printing from the War Tax plate, made about the end of January, again a mistake occurred with the first sheet run off. This probably happened in a similar manner as with the first sheet in the original first overprinting, by omission of lay-mark for vertical register as between the left and right hand divisions of sixty in the sheet of 120 1d stamps. The error in this instance occurs through the sheet in the second operation having been laid on with the margin inwards to the edge of the plate, with the result that the overprint came on the left side margin and the first five vertical rows, leaving the 6th row without overprint. This is shown to have been afterwards completed by a patched third operation made from the right side of the plate.

In this later overprinting the plate has in certain positions either become clogged with extraneous grit or is showing worse for wear by hard use, and the following varieties b to f occur, regularly throughout:

a. Error. Overprint on margin, etc.
b. Thin "R" with stop centred between "AR".
c. Solid top "R" with lower bar stroke.
d. "R" with double bar stroke.
e. "TA" joined at top.
f. Straight right side "X".

WM. C. STONE.

Springfield, Mass.

Yesterday I received my 50c unwatermarked perf. 10 and in placing it in my stamp album beside my $1.00 stamp I note that the two do not seem to be the same size. I measured them and find that the $1.00 stamp is wider and shorter than the 50c stamp, which is the same size as the balance of the issue. I then turned over to the perf. 10 $1.00 watermarked and found it of the same size as all the other stamps of the set. I wonder if other collectors have noted this difference in size. It measures 19 m's by 21½ m's and the rest of the set and the $1.00 stamp of the watermarked measure 18½ m's by 22 m's.

Can you offer an explanation for the difference in size in your WEEKLY some time?

Respectfully,
W. O. THIEDE.

The next regular meeting of the Society will be called to order at 7.45 p. m. on Tuesday, May 15. The applications of Messrs. F. S. Billings and F. G. Floyd will be voted upon. There will be the usual half-hour auction sale after the business meeting.

The entertainment for the evening will consist of a lecture upon the life of Christopher Columbus and will be illustrated with lantern slides made from postage stamps which depict incidents in the life of the great discoverer. This is primarily a lecture written expressly for the entertainment of the young collectors, so that if you have any friends among the boys, try to have them attend.

There will be the usual informal dinner at 6 o'clock.

BRITISH WATERMARKS.

By LIEUT.-COL. A. S. BATES, D.S.O.

THE HERALDIC EMBLEMS.

"British Isles" states on the above subject, that they are "so disposed that "a rose was in each of the upper cor-"ners, and the shamrock [on the left] "and thistle [on the right] in the two "lower corners of the space to be subse-"quently occupied by a stamp."

Diagram "I", in the same work also shews the full sheet, with the watermark as described in the text.

The latest "Stanley Gibbons" catalogue also illustrates it in the same way.

I have a piece of paper with this watermark, being a complete row of frames with the full margin shewing the words "Postage Stamps" in script type reading up the left, down on the right, and across the sheet underneath the bottom of the frame.

There is no possible doubt but that on this piece of paper the Shamrock is on the right and the Thistle on the left "in the two lower corners of the space to be subsequently occupied by a stamp."

I have unused specimens as follows, shewing the watermark as I suggest it is:—

3d, plates 2, 3, 4 and 5.
6d, plates 1 (inv.), 3, 4, 5 and 6.
9d, plates 4 and 5.
1s, plates 1 (inv.), 3, 4 and 5.

THE LARGE GARTER.

"British Isles," both in the text and in Diagram "H", shews the above watermarks, as having the buckle of the Garter on the right.

I have two pieces of paper, one a complete pane of 60 Garters, and the other (thick glazed) with 30 Garters, both shewing sufficient margin-legend to ensure the sheet being looked at correctly.

In each case the buckle of the Garter is on the left.

I suggest that in both these cases the published illustrations are in need of correction.

[We have known for some time that the Heraldic Emblems had been incorrectly described and illustrated; but it is news to us that the Large Garter was also wrong—we thank Lieut.-Col. Bates for pointing out the error.

What about the Small and Medium Garters—are they, too, incorrectly illustrated?

The above mistakes are obviously due to the habit of looking at a watermark from the back of the stamp, which gives (or should give) it in a reversed position?—Ed.]—British Philatelist.

"POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA."

This is one of Poole's best books and is really necessary to every collector of Canadian stamps. It is very handsomely printed and fully illustrated. 25c

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—C. A. Spaythe, Kansas City, Mo., has a collection of dated copies of the U. S. 3c 1851 issue. He now has 320 different dates of that year.—R. L. WARD.

—We have received the 1917 Year Book of the Lynn Philatelic Society. It contains the constitution and by-laws of the society, with a list of its thirty-two members. There is also a calendar for 1917 entertainment, a history of the society and a contributed article by W. C. Emory on "Kamehameha III of Hawaii."

—J. E. Dennett favors us with a copy of the June People's Magazine, containing a stamp sketch, "The Lilac Normanna." It has been submitted to Mr. Severn for an editorial diagnosis.

—The Austin (Tex.) Stamp Collectors' Club will hold an auction sale and exhibition at its club room June 3. Local collectors are invited to attend.

—Collectors in and around Malden, Mass., have formed the Malden Philatelic Society and an application has been made to the N. P. S. for a charter as a branch society. Nearby collectors are invited to communicate with the secretary, E. J. Begien, 84 Bowers Av.

—In a newsy letter R. L. Ward asks us whether we have noted the different shades and minor errors in the Honduras 1915-16 issue. We pass this question on to the specialist in the stamps of this country.

—Eustace B. Power of the Stanley Gibbons, Inc., N. Y. City, is a very busy man these days. He is connected with the harbor patrol service and is in the office only on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Mr. Power believes in doing his part in the country's service even at this early stage of hostilities.

—L. J. Flerlage of Norwood, O., accompanied by Mrs. Flerlage, were recent visitors at our Boston office.

—What are you doing to boost stamp collecting and increase the value of your holdings? Our little leaflet, The Charm of Stamp Collecting, is just the thing to enclose in a letter to that skeptical friend who looks upon stamp collecting possibly as beneath his dignity. The leaflet is neatly printed and collecting is treated from three standpoints in a bright and lively manner. Fifty for 25c, at this office.

—The annual convention of the A. P. S. is slated for Alexandria Bay, N. Y., the third week in August.

—A. F. Simionescu informs us that his claim against Glicksberg, Brooklyn, N. Y., has been settled. Robert Crawford, 230 Leon St., Syracuse, N. Y., can get no returns from A. B. Cleveland, Holyoke, Mass., Leroy Watson, Toledo, O. and Wm. Mougar, Batavia, O.

—We have a few illustrations left of the New York 5c 1845 plate shown in the WEEKLY some months ago. The location of each of the fifty stamps is indicated and the means of identification pointed out in explanatory text. We are indebted to E. R. Jacobs for this study and the few remaining copies we have on hand will be sold at 10c each.

—The Syracuse (N. Y.) Herald for May 6 contained an editorial "3c Postage Probable." It was written by J. B. Howe, who will be remembered as an ardent philatelist of a few years back. It is evident that he has not yet given up his interest in philately.

—J. J. Prendergast sends us some clippings from ancient numbers of the WEEKLY which he considers worth a second perusal. We are obliged to Mr. Prendergast for his courtesy.

—We commend the enterprise of the Indianapolis Collectors' Club which has recently issued a year book containing the By-laws and membership list of this progressive body. This club, organized so recently as October, 1916, boasts of a membership of 41, all of whom, with a few exceptions, live in Indianapolis. This record is one that shines.

—Up to the time of going to press we have given full credit to those who have sent in information concerning the 5c red error. We mention this as some may feel that we have neglected giving credit where credit is due.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from I. B. Robinson.

—J. R. Nichols, 1707 Nelson Ave., N. Y. City, would like the address of Adam V. Collier, who lives somewhere in or near N. Y. City.

AMERICAN ON HARD PAPER.

The article on American hard paper by Mr. H. L. Wiley in a recent number of the WEEKLY and the comment thereon, and also the later letter and comment upon the same subject are very interesting. So far Mr. Hassler seems to have been the first one to note this paper. I do not think Mr. Wiley claims to have discovered it. And he most certainly is not the first to have written upon the subject since in May, 1916, there was an article on this paper in the Collectors' Journal by Mr. Wm. L. Stevenson, in which its characteristics were pretty fully described. Mr. Wiley may not have read this. I do not know. Anyway the point is that he did not discover the paper nor was he the first to write it up. A number of people seem to have discovered stamps with the American imprint on hard paper but Mr. Stevenson was the first to study the paper so that it could be recognized without the imprint, and to give the result of his study to the world.

ARGUMENTS BASED UPON FACTS!

THE MARQUETTE SECTIONAL UNITED STATES ALBUM

LEADS THEM ALL!

First:—Because, it is the only American Sectional Loose Leaf Album that is correct in principal.
Second:—Because, it has spaces laid out in an artistic manner, properly classified with one issue to the page, including spaces for shades.
Third:—Because, it is the only album that has spaces for imperforate pairs, and Government part perf. coils.
Fourth:—Because, the leaf is of convenient size, (9x7½), best quality ledger bond, and the prices are by far the lowest.
Fifth:—Because, the page opposite the squares is arranged in catalogue and handbook style, making it the most comprehensive U. S. Album in existence.

"COMPARISON" OUR BEST SALESMAN.

Mr. Otto F. Henker, writes on April 25th:—
"The Marquette Album, I bought of you, certainly is a very fine book, and appreciate very much having one like it in my possession. The information one can obtain from it, in regard to the large number of Secret Marks of the early issues, I think is more explicit than in Scott's Catalogue."

U. S. 10 CENT 1851-57 ISSUES.

By STEVENSON.

Plate No. 2.

This plate was evidently made with a view to perforating the stamps printed from it. The intervals are about as wide each way as was permittted by the size of the plate, and the horizontal intervals are increased by the absences of parts of the designs at the sides.

As was the case with the 1c plates just before this 10c plate, and just following it, and with plate No. 2 of the 5c made about the same time, it is highly probable that a six relief roller was used for plate No. 2 of the 10c. I here mean a roller showing six reliefs as a unit, separated on the roller by intervals such that when the roller was applied to the plate and a complete transfer made of the six reliefs at the one placing, the designs would be at the proper and desired intervals on the plate. It is probable that some of the absences of parts on the plate come from removals of parts from the roller reliefs and we may sometime be able to identify the six different relief designs. It is, however, possible that some of the absences are due to plate erasure, that is, to removal, on the plate, of parts once transferred to it. This would, and probably does, complicate study of the details. Only reconstruction of a large part of this plate, or study of a number of large blocks can settle this question.

All from this plate I call Type III. None can be confused with either of the previous types from the first plate. All are short some of their left ornaments. Most are short similarly at the right side as well. A few show complete side ornaments at right. These few I class as Type III-A. The others I call Type III-B. The difference is more curious than important at present and collectors can well ignore it unless a specimen of III-A is readily located. The difference is not of the class of the sub-types of Type II, until we can say definitely that it identifies a particular roller relief.

Types III-A and III-B.

Few individual differences of importance are found on this plate. The one marked double transfer of the entire value is found as No. 2R47. It is one of the nicest examples in any of our stamps and an especially fine subject for study of double transfers generally.

It is easily picked from among others of Type III by the very apparent extra "blackness" of the lower label. The doubling was not of sufficient displacement to double the label, but it cuts down the faces of the letters of TEN CENTS materially and the label is also wider than normal. This gives the lower part of the design a considerably greater inked area and the effect is marked. The bottom of the right shell is double but here a glass is needed in examining the fine lines. The bottom line is clearly doubled, the extra lines running a little upward to the left and into the lower label. The general doubling can be followed readily well up into the scarf of the picture.

Probably the most important thing for collectors to note in connection with this plate is that imperforate singles of Type III are worthless, so far as seen or noted. These used to be listed in the catalogue as Type II imperforate. No student of the period considers this possible now-a-days.

Here is the situation: Mr. Luff states in his book that the first delivery of perforates was made on February 24, 1857. This is very possibly official and exact. It certainly is not far wrong. This does not mean, however, that all deliveries after that date were of perforated sheets of stamps. This was a new process and the situation was doubtless very similar to that in the revenues of 1862-63. It took some time to organize and to procure sufficient machinery to perforate the entire product as required for issue.

In the case of our postage stamps, they doubtless perforated all that they could and issued imperforate such other supplies as were demanded. After a while they became able to perforate all issued sheets. This intermediate period probably covered several months, possibly up to, say, July 1, 1857. After that period we should expect to find no traces of imperforate issues.

The plate of Type III, plate No. 2, was made long after complete perforation began. No imperforate pairs of plate number strips we needed but have dozens of lists still that need these imperfs. in plate blocks of six.

My 1917 Price List is Free.

H. F. COLMAN,
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Type III have been discovered. Many perforate singles have existed from which it was possible to trim the perforations leaving respectable margins and thus supply the demand caused by the sad error of the catalogue in its earlier listing as Type II imperforate. The fakers, naturally, did the work, as is always the case, and many good perforates were thus ruined. They did overlook a few perforate singles with abnormal margins and such are of distinct interest. They are less common than formerly.

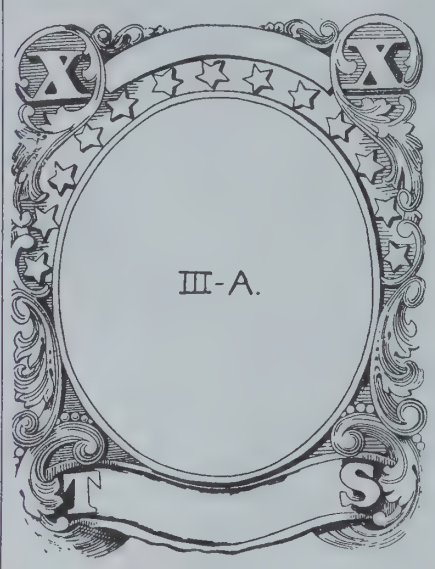

PLATE 2 TYPE III-A.

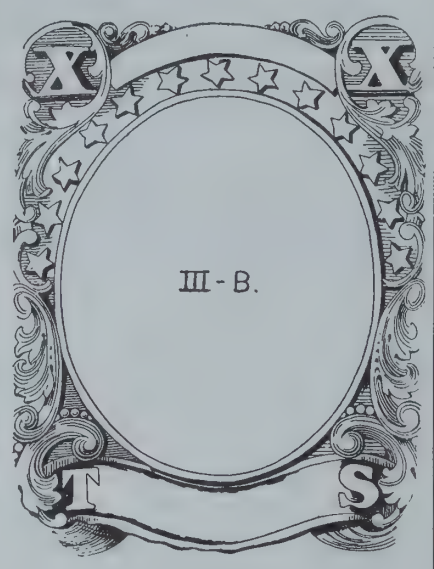

PLATE 2 TYPE III-B.

A complete solution of all the problems connected with this stamp may never be had. It rests on the location of further data and on continued study of the details.

The first problem that faces us is this: Before they made plate No. 1 they were under contract to produce a certain stamp of the value of 10c. The design was doubtless approved by the department and it was this approved design the contract called for, not simply any old design the contractors wished to furnish. They certainly intended to produce this design. The very first ten plate designs made by them are not of this design, but are incomplete, and incomplete in such manner that no student can doubt that the shortage at the bottom is due to damage of some kind. Parts of the design are definitely broken away, not cut or trimmed away. Such damage as is shown could occur only in the roller design in relief. It could not occur in the design as existing in recess in the die. (In the die, the partitions between lines of the design would be broken rather than the lines themselves by such an accident.)

After transferring those ten designs, they were still under contract to produce the complete design. Their solution, as shown by their next efforts, was to further shorten the design by deliberately cutting off the bottoms of the designs from the two reliefs as a unit on a roller for Type II, and high enough upon the design to include just those defective parts. Why did they not return to the die and produce a complete roller design with which to complete the plate. We do not know as yet, but this fact, or these facts, distinctly point to a similarly (not identically) damaged original die. This is not as yet proved and may not be, but the question should be held in mind by all students and a solution attempted. Study the bottoms in plate No. 2, also the designs of the reprint plate, and also all existing die proofs, etc. The answer may be quite apparent if we get the needed data together in one place.

Note that I am satisfied that the reprint plate does not come DIRECT from the original die. This much is clearly proved. I would tell about this evidence here except that few will care to follow it. I will be glad to assist any student toward the answer. Think this over. Is not a mental solution of this problem of more interest and of more philatelic importance than chemical analysis of fly-specks in the 3c or other values?

The other fundamental problem has been suggested. It is the determination as to whether a six-relief roller in use accounts for most, if not all, of the regularly recurring differences of Type III.

Reconstruction of sufficient of plate No. 1 to locate the recuttings may not be possible but should be attempted. It will be less easy to do such work than in the 3c or the 1c on account of the few individual differences found. Position dots, margins, etc., will assist as usual. If any one has any data on this, please do not conceal it.

In general, collectors will find this one of our most interesting stamps. It is also a fine start toward study of other stamps. The prime differences are very clearly defined and readily understood and all the types and sub-types can be located by the average collector except Type I which is, naturally, quite a rarity. It is becoming more so as collectors and dealers wake up to the very simple facts.

The recuts have never been less than rare and a slight increase in the demand for them will make it nearly impossible to buy them at any price.

Much might be said about cancellations, etc., but such things seem to me to concern the whole issue period rather than any one stamp of the period. Also it is advisable to delay attempting to get a final writeup of this stamp till we have solved all the problems connected with it. I will be glad to assist collectors and students in their work with a view to letting some one some day attempt something more pretentious than this effort of mine.—Collectors' Journal.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—P. G. Howard sends us a Peoria, Ill., postal cancellation. It advertises an "International Dry Farming Congress and Exposition" to be held the week of September 17.

—We have had several U. S. postcards with "Passed by Censor" markings sent us, emanating from U. S. warships. It is very evident that no mail matter is now leaving these vessels without undergoing censorship.

—T. J. Eppes sends us a new advertising cancellation. It comes from Seattle and consists of four lines as follows: — "Ranier — National Park — Opens—June 15".

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. M. Breder, Israel Prager, E. F. Walters and Clarendon Bangs.

—Reference was recently made to a British cancellation "F. S.—W. I." in a circle and we asked its meaning. D. D. Berolzheimer writes us as follows concerning this matter: "I do not know the significance of the letters 'F. S.—W. I.' The whole postmark however indicates that the publisher has obtained a permit to send his periodical out of England. Private persons are not permitted to send second class mail nor even newspapers abroad but can order them sent by the publisher."

—J. M. Bartels of New York entertained the members and friends of the New Haven Philatelic Society, May 5, with a very interesting talk and also exhibited his fine collection of Danish West Indies and the Philippine Islands. The New Haven members were recently entertained in Hartford by the Collectors' Club of that city. Several fine collections were shown followed by a fine spread after which speeches were made by members from both clubs. The members from the New Haven Society made the trip by automobile but the Hartford Club does not know that it was 5 A. M. the next morning before New Haven was reached. Bad roads was the cause for the long time out on the return trip.—WILLIAM F. BISHOP.

—As a sample of what can be done in a U. S. "War Stamp", Charles S. Thompson of Los Angeles, Cal., submits a strip of three of the 1c green with overprint WAR STAMP in two lines in carmine. We quote from Mr. Thompson's letter:—

"Enclosed herewith are copies of my new war stamps one of which I place on every letter I write, in addition to the 2c postage. I don't know what the post office people will say to this, but I have written to the P. M. General and the President, advocating an additional postage rate, and enclosed copies of my surcharges. The printer in our little shop was shy on type, so he had to use caps from three different fonts in order to surcharge a block of ten, 2x5."

—The Junior Philatelic Society of England now has 226 names on its list of members serving with the army and navy. Sixteen of its members have been killed in action or drowned at sea. A "blue book" containing full particulars of the society will be sent free. Apply to Ralph Wedmore, Sec., 54 Park Road, Dulwich, London.

—The Cincinnati Philatelic Society will hold an auction sale for the benefit of the Red Cross movement May 22 at 8 P. M. Contributions of stamps have been requested and collectors in and around Cincinnati are urged to attend. Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month at the Union Central Building.

—The Nysted Stamp Co. is with us again and the manager of the company, Mr. Soelberg, promises to use space regularly. Another new advertiser who will be with us continuously is Wm. Lloyd of New Orleans.

—It will be remembered that past years have seen in the WEEKLY adlets signed "E. Lufberry, Wallingford, Ct." John Endres sends us a lengthy clipping from the Chicago Daily News telling the story of Gervais Raoul Lufberry, a son of our whilom advertiser, who is considered one of the star American flyers on the French battlelines. We wish that we had the space to print the entire story.

$25 OFFERED FOR THE 5c ERROR.

(The following clipping from the Philadelphia Ledger was sent us by Benj. Cadbury. We edit the same to the extent of leaving out the name of the dealer. We have no doubt but that any one of our patrons would be willing to venture $25 for this stamp. At this writing not one has been reported to us as having been located.—Ed.)

Stop! Read! And watch your next letter from your beloved, or otherwise. Look—the stamp in the corner may be valuable. It may be red as usual, but it may have a figure five in the corner instead of two. If so, the collectors will pay well for it.

A local dealer in postage stamps announced last night that he would pay $25 for the first of these irregularities brought to him.

A mistake was made in the engraving department of the postoffice in Washington. The two-cent stamps are made in sheets of 400 each. Through some slip, three of the plates were made from the five cent dies.

The mistake was discovered some time ago, and postoffices have been notified to return all stamps from plate No. 7942, which is the erroneous one. However, it is thought that some of the rare and valuable stamps may have crept into circulation.

WILCOX, SMITH & CO., IN TROUBLE.

The firm of Wilcox, Smith & Co., located in Dunedin, New Zealand, has been a patron of the American philatelic press, though fortunately the WEEKLY has not been used as a medium for publicity. The Australian Stamp Journal brings us the particulars of two court prosecutions in which William Lawrence Hooper, the proprietor of this company, has been the center of interest. In one of the cases Hooper was accused of fraudently using upon a postal packet a postage stamp which had previously been used. He was convicted and fined $250. In the other case he was charged with importing enemy stamps, found guilty, and fined $125.

WHEN YOU RENEW YOUR SUB.

When you renew your subscription to the WEEKLY make it a point to order some of the many books we have issued and which are of tremendous value to the collector. You will find these books advertised week by week in our paper.

We have a few copies left of the illustrated 5c 1845 New York plate. All of the fifty stamps are indicated and the means of identification pointed out in explanatory text. Price 10c each.

Our neat leaflet "The Charm of Stamp Collecting," is a good bit of publicity. Fifty for 25c at this office. Help increase the value of your holdings by making new collectors. You need not write a word—let the leaflet talk.

EDITORIAL.

Error—Our attention was called to the error of the five cent red by a number of friends, to whom we return thanks, even though in this instance we had the earliest possible notification of the existence of the error. None of our readers has conveyed to us the grateful tidings that he has been the Prince Fortunatus who has found one of the errors. Next week, we hope to have particulars of the accident whereby the error was created.

Soon—We shall make no attempt to analyze the provisions of the tentative war revenue bill in its revenue stamp possibilities. It is enough to know that stamps will be called actively into service in the collecting of the vast tolls imposed by the nation. We may wait until the revenue war taxes have been approved finally before making further observations; and it is certain that the information will be forthcoming in the newspaper press before it appears in this paper.

Another—Now comes a third example of the special "centennial" postmark used at the great Philadelphia exhibition in 1876. Mr. A. E. Owens, Montclair, New Jersey, has sent for inspection a particularly inviting specimen of the postmark on cover as the stamp on the envelope is the three cent Treasury department and the return imprint is: "United States Commission, Fish and Fisheries," in two lines.

Fiction—The first returns were received from Henry McConnell, Mackinaw City, Michigan, who wrote: "Have you read the 'Lilac Normanna' in People's magazine for June? 'The true stamp collector has neither soul nor conscience where stamps are concerned, and the acquisition of a rare specimen is worth more to him than rubies, or the throne of a far country.' Now lay back your ears and howl, rise up and smite this author and hand him what he deserves. After more than fifty years of stamp collecting, I can say that while I would not call him a liar, I will say that he uses the truth with penurious frugality." The story is an unadulterated stamp tale that is the product of a practiced writer, it is to be seen, who, while not possessing that complete understanding of stamps is not without some philatelic sense. There are voids in the brisk recital that the experienced philatelist will notice and an uncertain touch or two betrays that the author, clever as he is, does not live exactly in the philatelic precinct. His name, by the way, is Lyon Mearson. We congratulate him upon regarding philately as the harbor of moving plots.

Sacred—We have before us a copy of the first postage stamp album ever published which has been loaned us for examination by Mr. F. v. W-Wysow. One does not need to be an antiquarian at heart to find oneself responding to the sentiment exhaled by this venerable book. The first stamp album published by Justin Lallier, of undying philatelic fame, was the one that antedated all other albums. It appeared with the following frontispiece: "Postage-Stamp Album. Illustrated with Maps by Justin Lallier. Paris, Published by A. Lenegre, 35, R. Bonaparte. 1862." On the following page is this Advertisement: "In offering young amateurs an Album expressly intended to contain the Postage-Stamps of their collections, we flatter ourselves that we shall be rendering them an acceptable service. In the necessary division of the numerous states which have adopted this mode of prepaying letters, we have followed the usual geographical order, as at once the most rational and the most convenient for research (EUROPE—ASIA—AFRICA—AMERICA—OCEANICA). The complete list of all the postage stamps in the world not being yet known we have not been able, much as we wished it, to give the compartments made to receive the stamps, the peculiar forms of each. Perhaps we may some day be able to supply this deficiency, and to make other improvements in the Postage-Stamp Album. We say nothing about the price of stamps, as it varies according to the greater or less rarity of the particular specimens which amateurs may require to complete their collections. We have added to the Postage-Stamp Album two maps (one a Planisphere, the other a map of the Germanic-Confederation on account of the great number of small states, principalities, duchies, free towns, etc., composing it). These maps not only facilitate the classification but also embellish the Album which we hope to see favourably received by the Public. Several blank pages, intended to receive any new stamps that may be issued, are added after each of the five parts into which the work is divided. Paris, August, 1862. Justin Lallier." The earliest published work on philately was printed in December, 1861, even though the date is given as 1862 in the imprimatur; this was Alfred Potiquet's "Catalogue des timbres-poste," of forty-three pages and cover. However, in this connection it must be observed that so early as September, 1861, Berger-Levrault had issued his twelve page list of stamps, produced by autographic lithography, but this list was a sort of personal record of the stamps in the compiler's collection.

Reflections—This first edition of Lallier's Postage Stamp Album was the production of a lithographing company at 15 rue Rousselet, Paris, and was bound in two styles and sold at most reasonable prices. One edition was in French and the other in English and it is to be said that the popularity of the Lallier album in Great Britain was enduring. The style of binding of the album under notice, is full leather with clasp; and there is the embellishment of two maps, and on the "planisphere" there are some interesting appellations; for instance, north of the United States, "New Britain" is found and Alaska is Russian America or Kanaistzes, while the "Frozen Ocean" and New Holland or Australia are to be noticed. In the countries represented in the album are "Owhyhee (Kingdom)" with the subheadings, "Honolulu (Sandwich Islands) (Under the Protectorate of the United States);" Luzon, for Philippine Islands, New Granada for Colombian Republic; and so on. There is so much that is curious in the light of the present in the album, that several columns more would be required for an adequate presentation of the quaintness and charm. Here, we wish to say that the plan of the album is practically that which is in use today. Illustrations of the stamps are about the only improvement lacking in the first stamp album printed, when contrasted with the printed album of the present. The name of the country is followed by that of the ruler in many instances; and then a textual description of the stamps with dates of issue is found while on the opposite leaf are the "compartments" for the stamps with their colors indicated in the squares. We may add that in the table of the number of stamps issued in Europe the total number is 633, including envelopes, of course, and Spain with 64 emissions leads all the rest.

Here—In this country, the first album published was by D. Appleton & Company. New York City in 1863, a comparatively short time after that of Lallier appeared in Paris. This "Album for Postage and other Stamps, American and Foreign" was a pretentious publication, replete with maps and statistical information; and it certainly reflected creditably upon its publishers.

U. S. VIRGIN ISLANDS.

(In the current "Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly" Percy C. Bishop makes the following comment on the U. S. purchase of the Danish West Indies. Quite naturally the English press feels that it was a diplomatic move upon the part of our country in acquiring these islands before hostilities were opened with Germany.—ED.)

According to some of the press correspondents, it has been decided to name Uncle Sam's newly acquired possessions, the Virgin Islands, which, of course is their true title and style. But as part of the Virgin group is the property of Great Britain, there is likely to be confusion, unless some distinguishing addition to the name is adopted. A friend suggests to me that the islands be divided into the Wise and Foolish Virgins, and points out that the United States, as one of the world's greatest oil-countries, could with some justice lay claim to the Wise section! This of course is not Philately. What is Philately is the fact that a new colony is being added to the great Republic of the West, and that there will probably be a further boom in Danish West Indies stamps.

The purchase of the islands, by the way, was only completed a few days prior to President Wilson's definite declaration of war against Germany. It seems probable that there was a certain amount of speeding-up at the finish, in order that the transaction should rank as one between neutral and neutral. A deal of this character between Denmark and an avowedly belligerent nation would be seized upon by the Germans as a breach of Danish neutrality!

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER X.

The Provisional Issue of January, 1902.

Owing to a revision of the postal rates, which was to come into force on January 1st, 1902, 2 and 8 cents stamps were required, and pending the receipt of regular supplies of these denominations from Denmark, preparations were made in December, 1901, for the production of provisionals for temporary use. The then current 3 and 10 cents were overprinted "2 (8)—CENTS—1902" in three lines in black in somewhat similar type to that used for the provisional 10 cents stamp of 1895. There are quite a number of interesting minor varieties and errors in this issue. The surcharge was set in a form sufficiently large to overprint an entire sheet of 100 stamps at one operation, and the same setting was used in the production of both denominations with the necessary alteration of the numeral of value.

In the first setting the 26th stamp in each sheet of the 2 cents shows a narrower "2" for the value.

In the date for both values the 85th stamp on each sheet shows the ball of the "2" broken off, and several stamps in the upper part of the sheet show the figures "1" and "9" slightly more widely spaced than normal.

Eight stamps in each sheet of both denominations show a straight-footed "2" in the date. The positions on the sheet of these varieties are numbers 13, 16, 18, 58, 66, 71, 84 and 93.

On the 65th stamp the figure "9" of the date appears to be either an inverted "6" or of a different fount. The surcharge is, as we have already stated, normally in black, but at least one sheet was issued with the overprint in green. This was, probably, a proof sheet, but it was undoubtedly placed on sale in the usual manner. The minor varieties found on the stamp with black surcharge may, of course, also be found on the one with overprint in green.

The overprinting first took place in December, 1901, and the printer set up the date as "1901" and printed a few sheets with this date to submit to the postal authorities. As the new 2c rate did not come into force until January 1st, 1902, orders were at once given that the date must be changed to "1902." But as these sheets, overprinted "1901," were on charge in the accounts, they were sold and the stamps used.

In March, 1902, a further lot of the 2 cents stamps were required and a second overprinting took place from a new setting of the type. In this setting there are two types of the numeral "9" in the date — wide and narrow — which are about equally divided. In addition the following occur:—

Broken figure "2" in date. No. 81.
Small or broken "N" in "CENTS". No. 88.

At the time this second overprinting took place a few sheets of the 3 cents with the old 14x13½ perforation were found in stock and these were also overprinted and show the same minor varieties of the surcharge.

In addition to the surcharge varieties detailed above the plate flaws described previously may be found, that is a flaw to the left of the Crown on the 3 cents, and a period between the letters "TS" of "CENTS" on the 10 cents.

CHAPTER XI.

The Provisional Issue of May, 1902.

Owing to some delay in the manufacture of the regular 2 and 8 cents stamps and the urgent need for a new stock of these denominations, supplies of these values were made in Copenhagen by surcharging some of the then current 3 and 10 cents stamps of the Danish West Indies. The overprints are on the same plan as those produced locally and have the new value and date in three lines. The type used is larger, however, and in the case of the word "Cents" only the first letter is a capital. It is probable the surcharges were applied to whole sheets of 100 stamps at a time, but whether the setting consisted entirely of printer's type, as in the case of the local productions, or consisted of electrotypes reproduced from type we cannot say. There appear to be no minor varieties in the surcharge, but the flaw to the left of the crown on the 3 cents and the varieties with period between the letters "TS" of "CENTS" may be looked for.

CHAPTER XII.

Split Provisionals.

The supply of surcharged 2 cents described above was entirely exhausted early in February, 1903, and as the permanent stamps of this value were expected by every mail as a temporary expedient it was officially decreed that the then current 4 cents stamps might be cut in halves diagonally and the pieces used as 2 cents stamps. The official notice authorising these splits and indicating the manner of their use follows:—

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

For the time being, the post offices in St. Croix will admit the use of 4 cents postage stamps cut in half diagonally for the prepayment of postage, say in those cases where the amount of postage is covered by the payment of two cents or less.

The correspondence thus prepaid should be handed in over the counter, and not dropped in a letter-box.

The use of postage stamps thus cut will be disallowed as soon as 2 cent stamps have been received, about which publication will be issued.

GOVERNMENT, St. Croix, 10th Feb. 1903.
P. G. V.

LIMPRICHT."

A similar notice was issued at St. Thomas on February 20th. While these split provisionals were undoubtedly officially authorised, most of the cut stamps seem to have been made to meet philatelic demands.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

"I like your paper first-rate but it seems to me that you are catering to the big fellows who use considerable advertising space. Do you consider this a good business policy?"

From another quarter:

"Why do you give so much publicity to the advantages of dealing in stamps? Scattered through your columns are scores of advertisements representing only a small investment of capital. Should these small dealers be encouraged?"

Here you have two views and it only goes to show how diverse is public opinion.

Edited by MILTON P. LYONS, JR.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address Milton P. Lyons, Jr., 1631 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—A. Atlas Leve sends us a curious official envelope. Originally it was a postal savings envelope and it shows the regulation 2c carmine stamp. It was then overprinted "Post Office Department—Washington—Official Business" in three lines, with the regular penalty inscription over the stamp. This was not sufficient so a rubber stamp was applied "Department of Agriculture—Division of Publications—Washington—Official Business" in four lines in red and to cap the climax is the "Confederate" cancellation.

We gave last week the full particulars of the appearance of the current 5c stamp in red and herewith express our thanks to those subscribers who have manifested an interest in our chronicle of the same.

ARABIA.—A new value, ⅛ piastre, deep yellow, has been added to the stamps issued by authority of the King of Hedjaz, official advice, together with specimens, having been received by the London Philatelist. The design consists of a central label bearing the Arabic words "Mecca el Mokarrama" (Holy Mecca). Upper inscription, "Barid Hejazi" (Hejas Post); lower inscription, "Thumn Qersh" (eighth of a piastre): The central ornament of the design is based on a fragment of a Qoran design from the tomb of Sultan el Churi, sixteenth century. The Arabesque ornament forming the background of the design is taken from the stone carving on the sides of the entrance arch to the Wakfs Ministry in Cairo. This new denomination was issued February 5. It is rouletted, as with the latest arrivals of the ¼, ½ and 1 piastre values.—Stamp Collecting.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—We note from Le Collectionneur de Timbre-Poste, that the commemorative issue became obsolete on Dec. 31st, 1916, and that they have received proofs of a new series to replace this set. The corner ornaments of the commemorative issue have again been employed in the succeeding set. The portrait of San Martin replaces that of Laprida and the dates "1816-1916" are replaced by the values expressed in letters, centavos and pesos. The stamps will be lithographed and the following colors and values will be used.

1917 New Series.
1c orange.
2c red-brown.
3c greenish yellow.
4c claret.
5c vermilion.
10c gray green.

It is to be presumed that higher values will naturally be made use of in this set.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—We extract the following from Ewen's Weekly Stamp News. "WAR TAX postage, 2nd issue. In the panes of 60 the third stamp of the 2nd row shows the "A" of "WAR" smaller than the other impressions. This occurs regularly throughout.

It appears that the variety existed similarly in the first issue with violet network overprint, but was not so readily noticeable. This demonstrates that the same setting or stereo plate was used for overprinting both issues.

War Tax Postage.
Aug., 1916, 1st issue.
Error. Small "a" in "WaR".
1c green, with violet network.
March, 1917, 2nd issue.
Error. Small "a" in "WaR".
1c yellow green."

CHINA.—The following cards have been issued, according to Alfred Smith & Sons Monthly Circular. The same apparently correspond with the issue of 1915.

Post Card.
1 cent, yellow green on cream.
1 + 1 cent, yellow green on cream.

CHINESE TURKESTAN.—The above named journal also reports the Chinese cards, both single and reply, of the 1 and 4c values, with overprint for this territory.

ITALY.—One sheet of four hundred of the 20c Postage Due escaped the perforating machine, says the Echo, and was distributed imperf. Blocks of four are being sold for 15fr or thereabouts.

A variety has been discovered in the recently superseded 20 on 15c provisional—the numerals "20" having failed to print.—Stamp Collecting.

JAMAICA.—J. A. Galbraith submits copies of the ½d and 3d 'War Stamps" with surcharge in two lines in heavy type, these with the 1½d, chronicled in our last issue, complete the set.

JAPAN.—The Postage Stamp quotes as follows from a Japanese journal:—

"The actual number of the new postage stamps issued in commemoration of the formal proclamation of the Crown Prince Hirohito as the heir-apparent to the throne of Japan has not been made public by the Department of Communications, but the following figures taken from various sources seem to be fairly accurate: 1½ sen stamps, 3,000,000; 3 sen stamps, 2,000,000; and 10 sen stamps, 50,000.

It will be seen from these figures that there were plenty of the two lower values but only a very limited number of the 10 sen, as already mentioned in our last number. It is now also clear that the number of the latter stamp distributed to various post offices throughout the Empire was very small, as will be seen from the figures given below which, however, must be taken as approximate only:

Tokyo, 5,000; Osaka, Kobe and Yokohama—say, 1,500 each; Kyoto and Nagoya—say, 1,000 each; and smaller cities in proportion. Korea 10,000, of which about 1,500 went to Seoul alone.

Smaller post offices in Tokyo and other cities had to be content with only 5 to 10 copies of this denomination, and they were sold out as soon as the counter was opened to the public, so that collectors who were unable to go to the post offices very early in the morning could not get any 10 sen stamps at all. It was therefore quite natural that the market price of this stamp should go up to ten times its face value on the very day of issue. Since that time the price has been rising steadily, and it is now offered at from Y. 1.50 to 2.00 for unused and Y. 1.00 for used copies."

EAST AFRICA PROTECTORATE.—According to Stamp Collecting this protectorate formerly German territory is to have a set of stamps, the current series of East Africa and Uganda to be overprinted G. E. A. All values of the set will be surcharged. Stamp Collecting expresses its astonishment at the nature of the surcharge, intimating that G must stand for German, "an extraordinary moral concession that must surprise the whole world."

LUFF ON OAXACA.

(The compliment paid us by John N. Luff in the following clipping from Scott's "Circular" is greatly appreciated. It gives our publication credit where apparently it is deserved and our handbook on the stamps of Oaxaca should be in the library of every stamp collector. This additional word by Mr. Luff can be easily added to our handsomely illustrated booklet which is sold for the small sum of ten cents.—Ed.)

I am the owner of one of the most complete and extensive collections existing of the stamps of Oaxaca. It includes about sixty entire sheets. The collection was started with the idea that it presented an unworked field for study. About the time I was ready to publish the result of my studies Mr. Enfield's articles appeared in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and left very little to be said. There is, however, one thing connected with these stamps about which practically nothing has been said and which is of sufficient interest to merit some further discussion. I refer to the perforation, Mr. Enfield says, "The perforation is 12 until near the last of the early impressions when the twelve machine was broken and a ten machine was put in use for a short time." I cannot quite agree with this conclusion for I find the 12 perforation from the earliest to the latest printings and I very seldom find the ten or any other gauge alone but usually in combination with the twelve, showing the latter was not replaced by other gauges but supplemented by them. The explanation is very simple. The makers of the stamps used a single-line machine, perforating 12 and usually showing one to three missing pins near one end of the row. To help out with the work they did some of the perforating with a sewing machine, usually equipped with a broken pointed needle. The sewing machine perf. was usually applied to the horizontal rows, seldom to the vertical and still more rarely in both directions on the same sheet. The machine was generally adjusted to perforate 10 or 11 holes in two centimetres but gauges are found ranging from 8½ to 14. Sometimes two or more gauges are found on a sheet and I have one freak sheet in which several stamps in a vertical row show a different gauge for each stamp 10, 13, 12½, 12, 11 in one row and 11, 13, 14, 12 in the next, the rest of the sheet being perforated 10 by 11. Very often three sheets were perforated at the same time. I have sheets in which the horizontal perforation breaks at the middle of the sheet, showing the two halves to have been perforated by different operations. I even have sheets on which defective work of the single-line machine has been made good by the use of the sewing machine along the side of a single stamp. Needless to say a row occasionally escapes any perforation but this occurs much less often than might be expected with such primitive methods in use.

NOTES ON WINE STAMPS.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

All the 1914 issue of Wines & Cordials, with the exception of a few 20c and 24c values, have been sold, and the new issue is being used exclusively. Of the first issue, the 1½c seems to be impossible to obtain, and should be a very good stamp in used condition. The 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 8c, and 24c are exceedingly scarce, most of the vintners and retailers having made use of large blocks of the 1c value, in connection with tens, twenties, forties, and the $2 value, to pay their taxes.

The $2 having been issued without gum, and imperforate, most used copies are in deplorable condition, as the revenue officers make no attempt to cut them from the sheet—they just tear them!

The ½c value on revenue paper doesn't circulate very much; in fact, most values used here were on postage paper. The range in tint is extremely noticeable. In fact, there must have been at least three different printings made before the stamps were in use for two months. The first tint was the sickly, faded apple-green that is familiar to revenue collectors. The second was a much deeper, more decided green, while the third, which I have seen in the 1c and 6c values only, on revenue paper, is a smutty tint which defies accurate nomenclature.

Somewhere on one of the plates of the 8c value is a cliché with a deep scar on it, which breaks the left ornament in the upper corner. I have seen several copies of this oddity.

On account of the rough way that casks, hogsheads, and other tanglefoot tanks are handled, most copies of wine stamps get into a collector's hands in sadly scarified and mutilated condition. When uncut, not torn, nor otherwise maimed, they are generally badly stained with lees of wine. As this contains tartaric acid, it is not particularly good for the color of stamps already poorly printed. To remove as much of the accumulated filth as possible, wine stamps should be soaked in hot water, to which has been added a little castile or other mild soap. They should then be thoroughly rinsed, after which soaking in very hot 95% alcohol will make them as clean as they will ever be.

The $2 on revenue paper is evidently very scarce, particularly in the used condition. The revenue office in Los Angeles had none of this value, except on postage paper.

There are some odd values in the 1916 series, which comes entirely without gum. The 7½c value does not seem to be popular with vintners, and likely will be scarce used. The 4c is being used in large numbers. The preferred way of using pairs seems to be to take them vertically; very few pairs have been seen of the horizontal variety. The roulette of the new issue is widely spaced, and the paper is tough, so that the stamps do not separate easily. This results in much profanity, and many torn stamps. Another custom just coming into vogue is the tacking of pieces of screen wire over the stamps, after which the wire is pounded into the philatelic specimen, making a paper waffle of it.

Two large blocks of the 4c value which came into my hands recently, contained 25 and 50 copies, respectively. The first was one-half, the second an entire sheet. The plate contains 100 impressions, with guide-lines between the fifth and sixth rows, both vertical and horizontal, but the sheets are cut only along the horizontal guide. Along the vertical guide they are rouletted, but someone is likely to find that this row of roulettes will be missed occasionally making a row of part-perfs vertically.

The 12c denomination is printed in an entirely different green from that of the other values. It is much lighter and brighter, and extremely noticeable. The $1.44 value is being used on cases of sparkling wines only, and is likely to be scarce. All high values are practically impossible to obtain.

THIRD WAR FUND SALE.

By Fred. J. Melville.

For the last of the special auction sales arranged by the National Philatelic War Fund an excellent attendance of collectors and dealers was present in Caxton Hall, Westminster, London, April 16.

The doyen of the philatelic auctioneers, Walter Bull, started the sale. In a few preliminary remarks he alluded to the great loss the philatelic world sustained by the death of M. P. Castle, president of the Fund. He also referred to the absence, through illness of L. L. R. Hausburg, the chief secretary of the Fund.

In all 1,600 separate gifts have been donated to the Fund since its inauguration, inclusive of stamps, philatelic literature and cash.

The sale on April 16 comprised about 400 lots, which realised the splendid sum of £1,180, bringing the total achieved by the Fund to approximately £6,500.

Among the lots offered was one non-philatelic item, which has, however, a claim to the interest of the collector. It was a Kandjar, a peculiar type of Indian dagger, with a short broad blade which opens, scissors-wise, when thrust into the body. It is the Kandjar that figures on the stamps of the Indian Feudatory State of Alwar. This sold for £5.5s.

The last lot was the ivory hammer used by all the auctioneers, who took part in the sale, namely, Walter Bull, W. Hadlow, D. Glendining and E. G. Harmer. The hammer was acquired by Mr. Harmer for £5.5s.

There were a few lots of philatelic literature included in the sale, but it is difficult to understand for what purpose some of the lots were included. A few recent and loose numbers of the Postage Stamp ("1914-15 incomplete") were offered as one priceless lot, and sold for 5s! Three unbound volumes of Gibbons' Stamp Weekly fetched 2s, and the lot described as "three stamp catalogues" fetched as many shillings as there were catalogues! But it was scarcely worth taking up the time selling lots of this kind; the whole of the philatelic literature realised a total only of £7.5s.

THE PARIS COMMUNE POSTS.

By G. A. Higlett.

There is probably no single year in the philatelic history of any country possessing such great general interest as the year 1871 in connexion with the stamps of France.

The opening of the year witnessed the horrors of the siege of Paris, with its great population being slowly starved by the rigorous blockade of the investing German army to compel its surrender. The postal services were still being carried on in the capital, the "Siege of Paris" stamps were being produced and issued, and the balloon post and return pigeon post were working. Outside the capital the post offices in the parts of France under German control were being worked by the invaders to their own advantage, and the so-called Alsace-Lorraine stamps were in use; while, in the other parts of France under French control, the lithographed stamps produced at Bordeaux were being used.

Towards the end of January came the armistice and the surrender of the starved-out capital, followed for a short time in February by the remarkable dual control of the postal services in those parts of France still in German possession, with postage rates payable to both the Germans and the French.

Then, in March, came the fearful outbreak of the Commune in Paris, with its rule of the city posts and its printings and issues of stamps.

Following the German evacuation, there came a most interesting period, especially in the use of provisional postmarks, &c., while things were being generally straightened out after the war, and before the losses of material were made good again. One finds even a small use of German stamps officially authorized, use of the Alsace-Lorraine stamps in combination with French stamps, &c.

Then came the preparation of new values with the head of Liberty, but, while these were being got ready, we have the feature of the Republic printing and issuing stamps of the old Empire type, both laureated and non-laureated.

On September 1, the increase of rates led to the exhaustion of stocks of certain values, and the provisional use of bisected stamps was permitted. Altogether, the whole year teems with philatelic interest, and the stamps of France for 1871 present a great field for collection and study, unequalled for both variety and interest by those of any other year of any other country.

One of the most interesting and least generally known portions of this period is that pertaining to the working of the postal services of Paris by the Commune Government from the end of March till towards the end of May. Anyone taking the ordinary catalogues as a guide to collecting will find no mention therein of this subject, and a short sketch of just a few of its numerous features may be of interest and help to attract attention to this period of French philatelic history, which appears to be so little known outside of France.

On March 18, 1871, there broke out the great rebellion of the Commune against the newly established Republican Government. The capital passed into the hands of the Communists, and the regular Government took up its headquarters at Versailles. The Communal Government proceeded to take charge of the postal services, and on March 30, the Director-General of Posts stole away to Versailles, taking with him all he could of the materials, plates, stamps, and postal staff, and the newly appointed Communist Director-General took possession.

At first the Commune had no stamps, and letters received merely a "postage paid" mark. Steps were taken to produce stamps of a new design, when a large stock of 10 centimes laureated stamps was discovered, which was issued at once for use. Then plates were discovered of the old Republican issues of 1849-1852, and with great difficulty a supply of paper was procured and smuggled into Paris, and printings were made. There is a Commune printing of the 20 centimes stamp which may be distinguished at once by its different paper.

When you reach families where Daddy has the habit of handing out $3.00 for the young folks' favorite magazine, the dealer can count on Johnny getting a generous fund of stamp money from Daddy.

St. Nicholas, 353 4th Ave., N. Y. City

The Commune postal authorities were able to carry on the postal services within the city but, directly their postmen or vans ventured outside they were seized by the regular Government as rebels as there was war to the knife between the two parties. The Commune issued proclamations denouncing the Versailles Government for imprisoning their postmen and impounding the mails.

This state of things could not continue long as the large population of the capital was thus cut off from communication with the outside world. To meet the needs of the case, there sprang up a number of private letter-carrying agencies, for taking correspondence into and out of Paris, which were officially recognized by decrees of the Commune and were informally permitted by the Versailles Government. At first, these private agencies made heavy charges, but competitors came into existence, and soon there were about a dozen of them, and their charges fell to a uniform rate of:

5 centimes for printed matter;
10 centimes for ordinary letters;
50 centimes for registered packets.

These were the agency fees payable, in addition to ordinary postage.

One of these agencies was formed by M. Lorin, who, as a railway employee, had to go twice daily between his home at St. Denis and the city, and M. Arthur Maury, the well known postage stamp dealer of Paris. A sketch of the work of their agency will give a good idea of how the posts of Paris were being worked in this thrilling time.

M. Maury introduced a series of stamps or labels for use on letters passing through his agency but because of the great difficulty of getting them engraved and printed it was not until the beginning of May that they came into use.

For outward letters from Paris to the provinces or abroad there were three labels—5c green, 10c violet, and 50c rose. The upper part of the label, bearing the amount of the agency fee, was gummed and separated from the lower part by rouletting. Letters left at the Paris agency bore the ordinary postage stamps and this gummed part of the label was added, denoting payment of the agency fee. M. Lorin took the letters out to St. Denis and posted them there, whence they went on to their destinations.

Letters coming to Paris from the provinces or abroad appear to have been dealt with in two ways. If it was desired that the letter be delivered free to the receiver, the sender had to enclose it in another envelope, addressed to St. Denis, along with two stamps of France of 10 centimes each, or their equivalent in current foreign stamps. M. Lorin brought the letters in to Paris. The agency office fixed the necessary postage stamps and they were then posted at the Branch Office C, in the Ninth Arrondissement, where they received the obliterating postmark "C.IX". They were then duly delivered by the Communal postmen.

But it would appear that most letters were merely addressed to M. Lorin at St. Denis, with the subsidiary address of the receiver in Paris added below. Then the agency put on the postage and agency stamps and dealt with them in the same way, and the 20 centimes was collected as a tax from the receiver.

These agency labels for inward letters were of different design from those for outward use, but printed in the same colours, and affixed in their entirety to the envelope.

The cover in my possession, possesses certain features of special interest. It is dated at Amsterdam on May 23, 1871, when desperate fighting was taking place in the streets of Paris, and on which day the Versailles Government regained possession of the chief Post Office. It is known that the Lorin agency worked on May 24, which was almost certainly, the last day of its operations, so it may be assumed that this letter was one of those that entered Paris on the last day on which this service was used, if it was not actually the last day on which any of the Commune post offices were working, as the Government troops were gradually getting possession of the city, and the Commune only remained in possession of parts, while terrible slaughter was taking place wherever the two parties were in touch with one another. The obliteration is "C.IX." on this fine relic of a most interesting historical period.

This one example should be enough to show the great interest attaching to the study of the working of the posts of the Paris Commune. Seeing that these agencies worked with official permission, and carried out postal functions which the regular Government was quite unable to perform, the status of these agency labels alone is better than that of many others which are included in stamp collections; while the combination of stamps on an entire makes it rank high both for philatelic value and general interest, and the whole piece presents a mute, but eloquent appeal for the collection and preservation of stamps on entires in all cases where any particular interest attaches thereto.

Collectors are warned that both reprints and forgeries of these labels exist.—Stamp Collectors' Quarterly.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

HARD AND SOFT PAPERS.

By L. C. HASSLER.

The American Bank Note Company used the plates of both its predecessors. It is doubtful, therefore, if the quality of paper used in printing the stamps of 1873-81 will always determine if they are the product of the Continental Bank Note Company or of the American Bank Note Company, even though the imprint is on the stamp, because we find the Continental Bank Note Company's imprint on stamps printed on soft paper and the American Bank Note Company's imprint on stamps printed on hard paper, news of which was printed in the editorial column of the WEEKLY in the issue of February 21st, 1914.

Mr. Luff in his article on "The Postage Stamps of the United States" (A. J. of Ph.) says:

"A few months before the consolidation with the American Bank Note Company the Continental Bank Note Company began to use a thick, soft, porous paper very similar to if not the same as that used after the consolidation."

Since the Continental Bank Note Company began to use a thick, soft, porous paper, very similar to if not the same as that which was used before it was merged into the American Bank Note Company, only a few months before the merger February 4th, 1879 (and, so far as I am able to learn, the 7c, 12c and 24c stamps had long been retired before the consolidation) it is amazing that—with so many collectors specializing in, and experts studying the stamps of the United States—after these stamps were supposed to have been retired almost forty years ago, a 7c (Stanton) should be discovered at this late day printed from a Continental Bank Note Company's plate on thick, soft, porous paper.

The discovery mentioned above, therefore, leaves the matter in an unsettled condition. We must bear in mind that, even though the Continental Bank Note Company's imprint is found on a stamp printed on thick, soft, porous paper, it is not conclusive evidence that it is the product of that Company, because, as previously stated, the American Bank Note Company used the plates of both its predecessors. However, this is additional, although not conclusive, evidence to verify Mr. Luff's statement that the Continental Bank Note Company used thick, soft, porous paper and such must be accepted as a fact until evidence can be produced that the American Bank Note Company printed some 7c stamps on thick, soft, porous paper. Because this company used the plates of its predecessor this is possible but hardly probable. However, not until someone will find a 7c (Stanton) printed on thick, soft, porous paper, postmarked prior to Feb. 4th, 1879, will it be possible to definitely state that it is the product of the Continental Bank Note Company. That evidence will solve the problem.

Quite a few collectors have become prominent specialists within the last two decades and want to add for the benefit of the many philatelists who have joined our ranks during the past twenty years that the different stamps printed from the plates of the National, Continental and American Bank Note Companies were not listed separately until 1896, thirteen years after the first contract with the Continental. Scott's catalogue of that year was the first to list and price the various printings. The 10c brown (Jefferson) supposed to have been printed by the American Bank Note Company on soft paper from a National plate, was discontinued after having been listed for five years—until 1901. This stamp is not rare—see if the copy in your collection is on hard paper.

The last chapter on the stamps of the United States has not been written, and, no doubt, many more will follow if the true philatelist can get the material from which he can make his researches. There are golden opportunities offered the observing collector who will apply himself, living near the prominent philatelic centers where he can examine the stamps which are offered for sale at auction and who can "browse" around the stamp shops in the large cities.

While unable to embrace these advantages, I have been able, nevertheless, in my limited sphere, to discover the 3c Continental on soft paper, the 3c American on hard paper and the 7c (Stanton) Continental on soft paper.

The stamps of this issue will give the true philatelist a very interesting field in which to find recreation—and profit.

The novice of today may be the expert of tomorrow if he will study his stamps.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

Mr. Farnham served two years in the United States Marine Corps over twenty years ago.

—We have been shown by Mr. E. C. Dodd a letter addressed to Liverpool that was carried on the Laconia. The Laconia was sunk and the letter rescued, with others, and forwarded to its destination. On the envelopes is the marking: "Damaged by Sea Water" and the label, "Found Open (or Torn) and Officially Secured."

—Here are a few prices realized on extra fine used copies at the Stehlin Sale held by J. M. Bartels Co., New York, May 8, 9 and 11th:—

—We have been favored by D. C. Alexander with a curious specimen of the current 2c envelope. It shows three diagonal lines of white running from right to left across the head and bust of Washington. The lines are spaced evenly and the variety is distinct enough to be easily noticeable.

—To T. J. Eppes we are indebted for a Bahamas postmark cancellation advertising the tourist season December to April.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Maitland Milliken and E. G. Gregg.

—The Collectors' Journal appears from Minneapolis, Minn., under the new management. The magazine maintains its previous high standard and Mr. Guest will do his best to surpass the efforts of his predecessor.

—W. F. Ferguson, a long-time advertiser in the WEEKLY, is now on the Indiana commissioned as ensign. He takes this opportunity of informing his customers that for the time being his stamp business must be sidetracked. He expects to be sent to sea very shortly, but not on the Indiana, which is one of the old white squadron. For the present he may be addressed U. S. S. Indiana, c/o Postmaster, N. Y. City.

—Two new postal cancellations have been shown us. One is from S. R. Bartlett with the following in four lines:—"International—Wheat Show—October 1, 13, 1917—Wichita, Kans." The other is from Carl F. Meyer, Chicago, with this inscription in three lines:—"Illinois Centennial—Celebration—1918."

—There have been two changes in the personnel of the Detroit Collectors' Philatelic Society. L. L. Albright succeeds Karl Kosloswski as secretary and Dale Underwood succeeds Carl F. Binder as auction manager. At each of the last three meetings thirty-one members have been present.

—C. L. Moreau, proprietor of the Fulton Stamp Co., is at the French hospital in New York City, where he has undergone several operations. He will be there for at least four weeks longer and in the meantime the Fulton advertisements will be discontinued. During Mr. Moreau's enforced absence from his place of business the office will be open on Mondays only.

—M. R. Buell, Lachine Locks, Can., sends us a specimen of a 10c U. S. special delivery in which the horizontal line along the top of the stamp is minus on one-third of the entire length. He also sends a specimen of the current 1c Belgium accompanied by a piece of blank paper identical in form with the stamp itself and separated from the stamp when immersed in water. Two copies of the Canada 3c maple leaf showing differences in the length of the printed design are sent for inspection. This difference is due to a shrinkage in paper, as previously explained in our columns.

—"I note that no report has been made of a find of any of the 5c errors. At least twelve copies were located by a Boston dealer. Two copies, with the entire sheet were shown at the Collectors' Club, Monday evening, May 14. They were bought in Boston by Col. Henry S. Redfield, a member."—W. H. BRUCE.

PLASTER.

Uncle Sam's Postage stamps come in handy for more than to transfer missives. For instance, Jim Hadely, veteran fighter, who has served in the armies of five countries, used one today when he scratched his hand while cleaning his bayonet. First aid packets not being handy, Hadely utilized the stamp temporarily in covering the wound.—Chicago American.

ERRORS OF COLOR.

By HUGO GRIEBERT.

(This interesting article by Mr. Griebert is taken from "Philatelic Notes and Offers" published by Mr. Griebert. While many of our readers are subscribers to his new issue service and therefore receive his house organ, we nevertheless feel that we have a sufficient number of subscribers who will be interested in reading the article.—Ed.)

In the vast field of philatelic studies one of the most pleasant pastimes for the collector is the discovery of errors in the printing of stamps. Such errors may consist of abnormal varieties of perforation, surcharges and overprints doubly impressed or inverted, inverted centres, stamps showing a double impression, and numberless other varieties. Errors of colour form one category which consists either of stamps having been inadvertently printed in the wrong colour, or of a cliché or transfer from a stamp of another value having been wrongly inserted during the production of a plate. The latter class, which is the one chosen as the subject of this article, is the most interesting, as only one specimen of such an error is to be found in the original sheets, while of the former one or several entire sheets were printed, which makes their rarity less important.

Taking the many thousands of varieties that have been produced by electrotype or lithography into consideration, it is very astonishing to find that the number of errors caused by the wrong insertion of an electrotype or cliché or lithographic transfer is not great. The following list of such errors, if not quite complete, contains the principal varieties, all of which, with very few exceptions, are of the greatest rarity at the present date:

1. Colombian Republic, 1860. 5c blue, a lithographic transfer wrongly inserted in the sheet of 20c.
2. Colombian Republic, 1863. 50c red, lithographic transfers wrongly inserted in the sheet of 20c.
3. France, 1872. 15c bistre on rose, a cliché of 15c in the sheet of 10c (one in 150 stamps).
4. Peru, 1858. ½ peso rose-red, of which several transfers were mixed up with those of 1 peseta.

5-6. Cape of Good Hope, 1861. 1d blue and 4d vermilion.

7. Turkey, 1876. 25 piastres rose and pale blue in the sheet of 5 piastres. The original sheet contained 150 stamps, and the wrong cliché of 25 piastres was removed from the plate as soon as the mistake was discovered.
8. Turkey, 1881. 1 piastre, cliché of Eastern Roumelia inserted in the plate of 1 piastre Turkey. It is said that only 10 sheets were printed when the error was discovered.
9. Eastern Roumelia, 1881. 10 paras black and rose, inserted in plate of the 20 paras.
10. Roumania, 1876. 5 bani blue, in sheet of 10 bani blue.
11. Roumania, 1879. 5 bani rose-red, in sheet of 10 bani rose-red.
12. Roumania, 1893. 25 bani blue, in sheet of 5 bani blue.
13. Rio de Oro, 1907. 4 pesetas blue-green in sheet of 3 pesetas.
14. Antioquia, 1902. 3c blue, in sheet of 2c blue.
15. Iceland, 1902. 20 aur blue. The cliché of an official stamp with inscription "PJONUSTA" inserted in the plate of postage stamps.
16. Cape Verd. Crown type, 40 reis, a cliché of Mozambique inserted in the plate of Cape Verd.
17. Egypt, 1866. 5 piastres, the overprint of 10 piastres mixed in error with the overprints of 5 piastres.
18. Spain, 1855. 2 reales blue, a cliché of 2 reales inserted in the plate of 1 real.

It need hardly be pointed out that the last-named error of Spain, the 2 reales blue, ranks in importance as regards its classical rarity with those of Nos. 1 to 11. Many readers will wonder why the extremely rare error of 1851, 2 reales blue, was omitted in my list, as cataloguers state that a cliché of the 2 reales of 1851 was inserted by mistake in the plate of 6 reales. Others go further and claim that the error was removed from the plate of 6 reales after a few sheets only had been printed. All these statements are extremely mysterious, but there is no doubt that this error is of the very greatest rarity, in fact it is so rare that one may reasonably doubt its existence. A well-known Paris collector possesses this error in a used condition se-tenant with the ordinary 6 reales stamp; all others, used or unused, that have appeared from time to time were proved to be excellent forgeries. Quite recently I had a strip of these stamps, used on part of original cover, submitted to me. It showed the error in a strip with two of the 6 reales stamp, and was described as having been discovered "in the archives of an old lawyer." I found, however, that although "the part of the original cover" may have been about 65 years of age, the stamps themselves were not more than 20 years old, all three being very fine forgeries.

The error of 2 reales blue of 1855 is well known and much sought after by advanced collectors. I have had some eight copies passing through my hands during the last ten years, some in single specimens, other in pairs se-tenant with the 1 real, and one block of eighteen stamps containing one of the errors. The exact place on the original sheet is unknown so far, but I am told that it existed in the lower part of the sheet of 100 stamps. This, like every other stamp of great rarity, has often been forged by chemically changing the ordinary 2 reales violet into blue or greenish blue. Although this mode of procedure has been adopted with more or less success, it has been overlooked that all stamps printed from the clichés of the plates from 1855 to 1858 are found with defective lettering or other minor flaws. The error of 2 reales blue contained, among others, one important flaw, without which the genuine error does not exist. The white circle in the lower right hand corner is connected with the white frame line below by a thin white line, which may be plainly seen in the enlarged illustration. All the errors that have come under my notice always showed this flaw, while all chemical changelings were without it. Even if forgers were to insert this flaw now, there still remain others in the same stamp to make the forging of this rare variety an impossibility.

EDITORIAL.

Latest—Here is the latest official word on the great American error, issued from Washington under date of the 15th instant: "Order No. 332. All of the 2 cent postage stamps misprinted '5' that are returned to the Department by postmasters for redemption under instructions of the Third Assistant Postmaster General dated May 2, 1917, shall be recorded and destroyed." We do not think that there will be enough of the stamps returned to make a roaring bonfire; leastwise, we know that all the errors have not been returned, as some have stuck to collectors' fingers. If there were 15,000 impressions from Plate 7942 and three errors to a sheet (of four hundred stamps) there was a production of 45,000 errors. Some of these errors were returned to meet the destruction ordained by the foregoing order; others were sold to the public and used, we infer, in the regular course of postal business, and others reached the hands of collectors. It would be interesting to know how many of the errors were turned in for redemption, as we cannot imagine that the dear public would bother to return the errors. In fact, many a user of the stamp would not notice that it was an error.

Fascinating—We have seen the errors and they are a sight for philatelic eyes. Several of our readers have been fortunate enough to ferret out a number of the mysterious stamps. When the news of the contretemps became circulated generally to collectors by the WEEKLY there was a hunt organized of a magnitude never before known and some of the Nimrods bagged their game. Yet one reader who saw the stamp emulated the farmer at the zoo who surveyed the placid hippo (or rhino or giraffe) "the blood-sweating behemoth of Holy Writ" and said: "There ain't no sich animile." Here we come to a chapter in the story of the errors that taxes the wits of the philatelist to understand. As yet everything in this connection must be speculative to the outsider but it is the prerogative of the philatelist to have his theories and they must be tall ones to account for the existence of these errors in the sheets of the two cent stamps of plate 7942.

How?—It taxes all ingenuity to account even for the errors and it is beyond all reasonable explanation to surmise how they came into being. How the five cent impression got into the transfer roll and why the impression of the roll with the two cent and five cent subjects was not repeated regularly make the philatelist marvel. However, we are confident that the mystery will be explained very soon and we shall forego further theorizing at this time. In reviewing the case mentally there is an unending train of circumstances and all sorts of contingencies are enveloped in the case. The possibility that the authorities will take steps to eradicate traces of the faux pas by further steps which need not be recounted here has been canvassed in not a few minds. Here, it is to be said that all postmasters did not receive instructions to return the misprints and consequently, some of the plate 7942 printings are in stock here and there; and if a postal inspector does not come along to inventory and remove the error sheets, the assumption is that the certain sheets will reach the public. It is noticed that all sheets, 7942, have the marginal initials of "J. H. K."

Aside—Already some of the errors have changed hands at prices that we do not submit for fear that a wrong idea of actual value, seasoned by time, may be spread. We have heard that a dealer in Boston found a ready market for a few of the errors at prices certainly not immoderate. A caller came with sheets of 100 of the plate 7942 but they were the lower left pane and included no errors. An office upon learning of the error supposed that all the stamps in the sheet were fives—and so the stamps melted away. It is strange that the newspapers did not scent the "story" carried by the misprinted stamps; we told it to one editor and if he was not impressed, it was his own fault. Perhaps we magnify the general importance of the episode but anyway we philatelists are "agog with excitement," as the snappy writer would put it.

Clipped—After concerning ourselves with the living present we shall revert to the calmer days of years gone by. In an old stamp album, we found the following clipping: "History of the Postage Stamps. Mr. H. A. Kelly of the stamp division of the post office department is writing a brief descriptive history of the different U. S. stamps issued since we have had stamps for the annual report of the third assistant postmaster general. It is the first history of the stamps that has included them all. Mr. Kelly knows pretty nearly everything about stamps. He has been a long time in the stamp division. —Washington Capital." A man who "knows pretty nearly everything about stamps" is worth keeping track of,—but the clipping is very old; and the Capital is but a memory, we believe.

First—We shall resume our observations on early philatelic literature which were begun in the issue preceding. Through Mr. Speakman's courtesy, we have examined a copy of the earliest American philatelic publication, "The Stamp Collector's Manual: being a complete guide to the collectors of American and foreign postage and despatch stamps." This work was first published in December, 1862, by A. C. Kline, 824 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, and the copy that we saw was in beautiful uncut condition with wrappers. Mr. Kline's manual was stigmatized as a piracy of the first edition, May, 1862, of Mount Brown's famous catalogue, London, but Mr. Kline's list of American "despatch" stamps seemed to be original. Our own William P. Brown, New York City, published a catalogue in March, 1868, which was quite pretentious and sold for ten cents. Of course there were many publications, philatelic journals and catalogues, published between 1862 and 1868. For instance, G. W. Winterburn & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, published a list of 32 pages, in 1865, price fifteen cents; and by 1868, Kline had published five more editions of his manual. In our estimation the Catalogue of postage stamps, American and foreign, and U. S. Revenue stamps, published at Cambridge, Mass., by Sever and Francis in 1863 was entitled to precedence, because of the thorough manner in which it treated its subject. There were 78 pages, bound in boards, in the catalogue of which an edition of 1,000 copies was printed in June, 1863. The author was George Dexter.

Help!—Says one: The old-fashioned collector who expected to pay full catalogue for his stamps may as well blow out the gas. I have found the old-fashioned dealer who charges three times catalogue for a decrepit fifty cent Columbian, not to mention other stamps.

(This interesting discovery in Cook Islands is recorded by "Stamp Collecting" and we feel sure that it will be of more than passing interest to our many readers. The printing of this news offers an opportunity to say a good word for our handbook on Cook Islands stamps by Mr. Poole. It is the only handbook published on these stamps and is sold for the very low price of 15c. If you are interested in the stamps of Cook Islands you should be the possessor of this work.—Ed.)

A philatelic "find" of extreme interest has just been made. Part of a sheet of the current (2d) Cook Islands (deep brown) has been discovered without the figures of value in each corner.

This discovery calls to mind the parallel case of the Gibraltar (10c) carmine of 1889, where a sheet of one hundred and twenty was similarly inadvertently issued without value; the greatest point of difference being that in every probability only sixty of the Cook Islands error exist, whereas exactly double the quantity of the Gibraltar variety occurred.

The part sheet of the Cook Islands error recently discovered consists of thirty-four stamps, and there is every likelihood that the remaining twenty-six have been used, as two postally used copies are known—a pair postmarked "Raratonga, 29.10.16".

Owing to the watermark of the sheet being somewhat misplaced, the top row of stamps is watermarked "POSTAGE" in large letters and, moreover, owing to this misplacement, two stamps on the sheet must exist without watermark as the word "POSTAGE" is shorter than the sheet. The used pair mentioned above has one stamp watermarked "E", and the other has no watermark. This pair evidently came from the same sheet as the block of thirty-four unused stamps, for the watermark fits exactly with that of the top row, the "E" of one of the used stamps completing the word "POSTAGE." This confirms the supposition that only one sheet exists thus, without value, and consequently the hunt for the rest of the used copies will be interesting.

The error is obviously amongst the rarest of all twentieth-century British Colonial stamps, and as it exists both used and unused it is doubly interesting, and, in a way, doubly rare.

The Gibraltar error with no value, referred to, is, we believe, only known unused, and is catalogued £25, whilst the famous Transvaal King Edward, watermarked "Anchor," two hundred and forty of which must have been issued, is now almost as valuable. With the tremendous demand for all twentieth century British Colonials, it will be interesting to learn what this Cook Islands error will fetch—if any of them come on the market. It is, of course, a plate variety of the first water, and the Transvaal "Anchor," being only an error of watermark, not apparent on the face of the stamp, cannot compare with this Cook Islands rarity in point of interest.

OAXACA PERFORATIONS.

By JOHN N. LUFF.

(Continuing the consideration of the perforations on Oaxaca stamps there is an article in the current "Stamp Trade" which indicates the existence of some fraudulently issued regular and compound perforations. The writer states that they range from 8 to 14 and insists that there were only two styles of perforations used by the Oaxacans, "regular perf. 12 and sewing machine perf. 10 to 11." It is charged that these fancy perforations are produced from a stock of ungummed and imperforate stamps turned over to Hinojosa when the Carranzistas took Oaxaca City. We asked Mr. Luff for further comment on this matter and the following article is the result.—Ed.)

Before referring to some statements in the clipping I would like to call attention to a few things about the sewing machine perforation of the Oaxaca stamps. The single-line machine (gauge 12) perforated a row long enough to cross the entire sheet, either horizontally or vertically. The sewing machine perforation does not usually cross the margin. This is one feature by which it may be recognized. In my notes in Scott's Circular I neglected to point out the probable first cause of the sewing machine being used to perforate these stamps. The first prints of the 1c and 5c (type I, thick figures) were printed in groups of 21, two impressions being required to make a sheet. The two impressions were not always in register and an attempt to use the single-line machine to perforate the horizontal rows would result in cutting into some of the stamps. To obviate this the sewing machine was brought into use, as that could be made to perforate part of a row when desired. This having been found feasible, the machine was used subsequently to help out the work of perforating.

The variations in the gauge of the sewing machine perforation puzzled me, especially when I found several gauges in a row. I asked a married friend to get some information from his wife and thus learned that the number of holes a sewing machine needle will make in a given distance is regulated by a sort of thumb screw. If the machine is old or the screw not set tight, it might slip and so produce various gauges (as stamp collectors measure them) in one row of perforations.

Next I wish to say that I bought my Oaxaca stamps and sheets all over this country, from about a dozen different dealers, and I had most of them before the remainders came into the market. In arranging my collection I have recognized more settings than Mr. Enfield. The settings are due to rearranging the clichés, changing the rules surrounding them, etc. The differences are marked and if one has sheets or photographs it is easy to locate single stamps. It is not necessary to argue now whether Mr. Enfield or myself is right about the settings. It is sufficient to say that we agree regarding the last setting for each value. These last settings I term the remainder settings though, undoubtedly, many impressions from them were regularly issued. I call these last settings:

1 cent, setting III. 3 cent, setting II.
2 cent, setting IV. 5 cent, setting IIb.

As no perforation varieties are reported on the 10 cent it may be omitted from consideration. I give the foregoing list because I wish to call attention to the fact that certain gauges of perforation have been described as fraudulent and only applied to the remainders and that, when I describe perforation varieties which I have, I will not list any from the remainder settings. I will confine myself to consideration of sheets, etc., of the earlier settings which were obtained in Oaxaca at the time of use and not in Mexico City. The remainders, so far as I know, consisted of 1c, 5c (type II) and 10c stamps, with a few 2c and no 3c.

Now let us quote from the Stamp Trade: "The first printings and the last printings were all perf. 12, the sewing machine perf. (which varied in application from 10 to 11) being found only on second printing, 1c and 2c intermediate 5c and not at all on 3c or 10c. There was but one printing of 10c, all that were issued being perf. 12; there were but two printings of 3c, all perf. 12, the first coming before the use of the sewing machine perf. and the last after this had been abandoned."

And now let us see what evidence I can report from my collection in contradiction of the foregoing statements:

1c perf. 12x9½, setting I.
1c perf. 10x12, setting II.
2c perf. 11x12, setting II, block.
2c perf. 10x10, setting III, large block and have seen a sheet.
2c perf. 11x12, setting III, two sheets.
3c perf. 10x12, setting I, block including the inverted "3" and have memorandum of a sheet.
3c perf. 12x12, the horizontal perf. made by sewing machine, sheet of setting I, with inverted "3", etc.
5c type I, sheet with two vertical rows perf. 10½ and one perf. 14.
5c type I, block perf. 12 vertically and sewing machine perf. 11½, 12, 12½ horizontally.
5c, sheet, half type I, half type II. Perf. 12, vertically and sewing machine perf. 11, 12, 13, 14 horizontally.

This list shows among other things that 1c, 3c and 5c stamps of the first settings exist with sewing machine perforation and with other gauges than are recognized by the correspondent of the Stamp Trade.

In another paragraph that correspondent says that a great quantity of unfinished stamps, something like 150,000, were sent to Mexico City and there the two arch conspirators "gummed and perforated the unfinished stamps (mostly 5c and 10c)." Um! Curious, isn't it, that they did so many perforation stunts with the 5c but couldn't see any utility in the same tricks with the 10c, which the correspondent himself states were all perf. 12.

Here is another strange thing. If the clever people who had the Oaxaca remainders in hand made perforation varieties to help out the sale why didn't they call attention to the things that were supposed to help the marketing of their goods? Proof that they did not is found in the fact that the dealer who bought most of the remainders did not know that perforation varieties existed in the lot until I pointed them out to him.

Lastly: When these dreadful people in Mexico City had in hand this great lot of 150,000 unfinished stamps—which we may assume means imperforate stamps, since it is asserted they were fraudulently and scandalously perforated—wasn't it strange that such astute people, so well posted about tricking stamp dealers and collectors, should overlook the salability of imperf. and part perf. varieties? There was not a single imperf. stamp among the remainders that came to this country, and of part perfs. there were exactly two sheets, each of which lacked one row of perforation. What an amazing oversight! What a downfall of trickery!

How are the foregoing things to be explained? How, indeed, unless we conclude that the writer in the Stamp Trade is entirely mistaken in his assertions that the Oaxaca stamps were unfinished when sent to Mexico City and were afterwards perforated there with fraudulent intent. Your readers can draw their own conclusions.

NOTES ON NEW BRITAIN.

A good deal of interest has been aroused, within the last few weeks, by the rumour that the stamps of the Australian Commonwealth, overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands", have been superseded by the series issued in the first instance for the island of Nauru.

Whether there is any truth in the report remains to be seen, but it would surprise no one to know that some change is to be made in the provision of postage stamps for these Australasian islands. Many things have happened to add notoriety to the already sufficiently complex philatelic history of these islands, of which press controversies and the court-martial of the ex-Lieutenant Moore (formerly Postmaster at Rabaul) have been outstanding features.

Early in 1915, Colonel Pethridge, the Administrator of New Britain, having found the multitudinous varieties of "G. R. I." on German New Guinea and Marshall Islands stamps somewhat nauseating, advocated the use of the issues of Papua, without overprint, and, for a time, that was allowed, and consequently we may obtain Papuan stamps with New Britain postmarks. That, however, was a temporary expedient, which was the only thing to be done in the circumstances, the stock of N. W. Pacific Islands provisionals having then become exhausted.

The various German registration labels of Rabaul, Herbertshohe, Friedrich Wilhelmshaven, Kieta, Kaweing, and Manus, overprinted "G. R. I." and used for postage, have appreciated in value to an astounding degree, and, as we learn that the obliterating stamp "Kokopo" has now superseded the "Herbertshohe" postmark, the latter will presumably be a fairly scarce commodity.—Stamp Collecting.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by MILTON P. LYONS, JR.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address Milton P. Lyons, Jr., 1631 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Dr. A. P. Lee reports receipt of all of the current issue perforated 11 up to and including the dollar value.

5c error in plate of the 2c.—The writer has seen several copies of this error in blocks, half sheets and in entire sheets. Eugene Klein has submitted half sheets showing the single error (No. 18) with perforations both 10 and 11. Percy McG. Mann has shown an entire sheet with the two errors (Nos. 74 and 84 in the sheet) with perforation 11. Up to this writing these errors do not seem to be at all plentiful and entire sheets seem to be scarce. Can it be possible that the errors exist in imperforate sheets and compound perforations as well as with the 10 and 11 perforation?

ANTIGUA.—It is reported that the ½d surcharged "WAR STAMP" will shortly be placed in use with the overprint in red.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—According to Ewen's Weekly Stamp News the following errors exist in the two printings of the ½d on 2½d WAR STAMP:

March 1st, 1917. War Tax Postage. Overprint WAR STAMP in two lines.
1st Printing. Small letters 1¼ mm. high.
1½d on 2½d ultramarine; plate 5.
Errors and Varieties in Overprint.
a Smaller "W."
b Smaller "A" in WAR.
c Slanting "S."
d Broad "S."
e Smaller "S."
f Inverted "S."
g Smaller "A" in STAMP.
h Narrow "M."
i Smaller "M."
j Smaller "P."
k Inverted "d" for P. l Double stop or colon.
m Very small stop.
n Large stop.
Types and errors in surcharge.

vi. Error. "o" instead of "d."
vii. Smaller "2" in fraction.

COLOMBIA.—G. A. Higlett has kindly sent for our inspection some very marked varieties of the current 20c black (S. G. type 96 and 101), with the following description:—"A packet received from Colombia, posted at Bogota on February 24th, 1917, was franked with a number of 20c stamps which, on examination, proved to consist of four varieties, of which three are not catalogued. Three are printed by Senor G. J. Arango, of Medellin, and the fourth is by the Government Works. The Government print presents the same general appearance as the Arango prints, but the design differs throughout in details, and it is a generally inferior production. It differs also from the catalogued variety of Government print in having the imprint placed beneath the right of the stamp. Probably other varieties of perforation, etc., may be looked for. The four varieties are:—

A. Imprint at foot "Lit. G. J. Arango, Medellin, Col." Imprint close to foot of stamp. On white paper, Perf. 12. On blued paper. Perf. 12. Imprint spaced from foot of stamp. On yellowish white paper. Perf. 12.

B. Imprint at foot "Lit. Nacional." Imprint at right of stamp. On thin paper, almost pelure. Perf. 13½.

—Phil. Jour. Gt. Brit.

CUBA.—Percy McG. Mann has shown us several new values of the now current set:

Regular Adhesives.
3c violet, Josa de la Lux.
5c blue, Calixto Garcia.
8c burnt sienna, Agramonte.

These stamps bear a marked resemblance to the 1914 set of Bavaria and are similarly attractive.

EAST AFRICA.—Late German Territory.—British Occupation.—We extract from the Colonial Journal the following interesting news:—"It has been decided to make use of East Africa Protectorate postage stamps overprinted G. E. A. in the occupied territory of German East Africa. The following values are in course of preparation:—1, 3, 6, 10, 12, 15, 25, 50 and 75 cents; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 20 and 50 rupees; 3 and 6 cent single postcards; and small registration envelopes will also be supplied with the overprint."

Without any qualification denoting British occupation conjoined with the three single letters G. E. A., it would appear as if German Forces were in occupation of British East Africa. We may be strong in nerve and imagination, but surely such an absurdity as the possibility of giving a German title to British stamps should be eliminated in every circumstance. It is passing strange that such has been sanctioned. We have written in the matter to the supreme authority, and may be when the eye is opened rectification will be made.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News.

MACAO.—The following appeared in the Phila. Public Ledger. "The recent purchase by Japan of Portuguese land rights in Macao will bring to a close the issuing of constant sets of stamps for this comparatively unimportant settlement. Portuguese merchants established themselves at Macao, a port on the south coast of China about 1557, with the permission of the Chinese authorities. For the last 60 years the Portuguese have governed it exclusively, although never actually owning it, and since 1883 they have issued more than 500 varieties of stamps. As a result of Japan's action, Japanese stamps surcharged for use in Macao and possibly Macao stamps overprinted in Japanese characters, are likely to appear. Meanwhile the prices of some of the Portuguese Macao labels have more than doubled in value."

HUNGARY.—Under the caption "New Postage Stamps in War Time" two new charity stamps are noted in a recent German paper, a clipping coming to this office through Ludwig L. Simon. The text of the clipping is as follows:—

"Two very pretty stamps have been issued in Hungary, namely Charity stamps at 10 and 15 fillers, which are being sold at 2 fillers over face value. The 10f value depicts a Hungarian Hussar, the other (15f) value shows a Hungarian foot soldier fighting."

LICHTENSTEIN.—Ludwig L. Simon informs us that the Duchy of Lichtenstein will shortly issue two new postage stamps, 3h and 15h. They will depict the coat of arms of this country and the picture of the reigning king, Johann II.

N. W. PACIFIC ISLANDS.—The Australian Stamp Journal lists the official figures of quantities of the various stamps overprinted "N. W. PACIFIC ISLANDS," sent to Rabaul, together with dates of despatch.

The figures are interesting and will probably cause revision in the estimate of value formed by collectors and dealers. Unfortunately, the information does not give particulars as to which setting the stamps were printed from, nor detail of the supplies in different watermarks, but their correspondent furnishes a list, based on enquiries, which he considered may be reckoned as correct. Only by comparing the dates on which the 2nd and 3rd wmk. Kangaroo stamps were printed, with deliveries to Rabaul, could an attempt be made to give numbers issued. Usually the stamps for Rabaul orders are overprinted and despatched within three days of receipt of demand. The correspondent in listing the quantities issued of the various denominations on the 1st and 2nd wmk. papers, together with those issued to date on the 3rd wmk. paper, adds that though the 2½d despatched in October, 1915, and July, 1916, were almost certain to have been the 2nd wmk. variety, these do not appear to have yet been issued at Rabaul. —Ewen's Weekly Stamp News.

THE 5c RED ERROR.

By WENDOVER NEEFUS.

It will be interesting news to your readers to learn that twenty-one sheets containing the recently discovered 5c errors have been discovered in the Hudson, N. Y., postoffice and are to go back to Washington.

I saw these sheets on May 15 and the stock clerk told me that they all came from one lot of 50,000 stamps, from which sales had been made for several days prior to his attention to the May 2nd circular from the Third Assistant Postmaster General. It is thus possible that a number of these errors may have been sold to the public and unknowingly used on letters.

The sheets are of course from plate 7942 and perforated 10. They are the upper left pane and the fourth stamps from the left on the eighth and ninth rows are the errors. The numbers would therefore be 74 and 84 in the pane.

This is the only lot of stamps in stock printed since March 6, 1917, at the post-office here. The sheets were well scattered through this lot and gives me the idea that many post-offices may get them and that the errors may not be as rare as some think they are. I am urging my customers to look over the stocks of every post-office possible, as many post-masters do not pay attention to their circulars and thus are not watching out for the error.

May 15th, 1917.

The regular meeting was called to order by the President at 7.45 this evening. The treasurer made his monthly report and a report was made by the Library Committee. Messrs. F. S. Billings and F. G. Floyd were elected to membership, their numbers being 626 and 627 respectively. It was announced that there would be a competition at the June meeting. Those competing will exhibit any two British Colonies which have issued at least 25 stamps each, only regular postal issues to be taken into consideration in marking same. The President offers a silver and a bronze medal as prizes and hopes that there will be a large number of entries.

The entertainment consisted of an illustrated lecture on the life of Columbus. The lecture was written and delivered by Mr. C. A. Howes and it was apparent from hearing it that Mr. Howes had gone into the subject with his usual painstaking thoroughness. The fifty members and friends who were in attendance enjoyed the talk and the lantern slides and the Lantern Committee expect that this is only one of several such lectures which will be prepared both for the purpose of entertaining our own members but also which may be given at other gatherings of those interested in Philately.

MILTON RAY'S FIND.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

"An' if 'is gun hadn't-a stuck in 'is scabbard, Arizony 'ud-a been *de*prived o' her risin' young c'lector."

This charming sentiment was wafted to me on the summer breeze as I awoke from my siesta. It was the voice of Jimmy O'. Eddy Fyne's back and the feet of a stranger were in my line of vision. Jimmy the invisible was easily located,—in his self-imposed martyrdom of swinging in the sun in his barrel-stave hammock.

"She sure would. By heck! W'en I see 'im comin' tow'ds me on the lope, me still bein' part asleep, 'e starts t' pull 'is gun an' I falls over the aidge uv th' cliff. W'en I comes to, 'e's settin' lookin' at me wit' a sweet smile an' a chunk o' ore in 'is paw. Come t' fin' out, e' thinks I was jumpin' uv 'is claim, but stead o' that I jest loosened up some pretty rich ore a-fallin' down them there twenty feet er more inter that there pile o' bresh. Gee! That there bresh were wuth more t' me jest then than all th' rest strikes in Arizony."

"Why n't yuh org'nize yerse'f an' sell stock on the bresh pile, 'stead o' the mine?" queried Eddy.

"What, me No, sir. No organizin' fer mine. I'm a cow-punch. I ain't no pick-an-pan outfit,—not me."

"But that there prospecter's plum' grateful—offered me a half intres'. 'No, sir,' says I. 'It's your stake an' all I want is t' fin' my cayuse an' light out fer Willow.'

"Well, year er two after that the half interes' in that there mine sol' fer a hunder' an' sixty thousan' cash. Me, I thows it away nice and gentle like, without any regret before or since. I tell yuh, they's many a good cow-punch spoiled by goin' prospectin' an' gettin' rich in a day."

I appeared on the scene at the climax, and—it was Milton Ray! He sat drinking in Jimmy's story—Milton Ray, brown and on the way to health, with the same quick speech, hearty laugh, and winning way I had known three lustrums ago when we worked together in what the boys called "the graveyard"—a daily in a big eastern city. years had aged him little in body, none in spirit.

"'E's brought 'is c'lection—sent back home fer it," began Eddy eagerly. "Gee! 'E's got a *en*tire that'll make yuh take notice—reckon 'e'll show it t' yuh, an' fer ol' times sake—'

Jimmy threw a Spanish spur at Eddy. The rowels took the mark in the calf of the leg, and Eddy blatted. This brought his speech to an abrupt end, and cooled his enthusiasm.

"The boys have been kindness itself," said Ray. "Why, that day I landed here sick and weary of life, I planned to look you up and see if you could place me somewhere that I might die peacefully—I was that homesick. But when Jimmy O'. here 'hailed' me, I knew I was doomed to disappointment on the die proposition."

"The die is cast," broke in Jimmy, with a grin.

"Well, Jimmy here just took me in charge like a father,—and here I am! Why, I wouldn't leave the West for all the East that ever grew under men's hands. Here we have air and freedom and a chance for life—"

"Sure—gov'ner's again th' death pen'lty," declared Jimmy.

"Yep. Steal a cow an' yuh git fo'teen years. Croak a man un' yuh git a p'role," added Eddy. "Atter this, I'm gon-a kill 'em. I got a fine bunch all lined out."

We all laughed, including Eddy. In my heart I felicitated the governor on his anti-death penalty stand. One innocent life taken,—prison doors swing wide, but the gates of death close forever.

"It does me good to get among friends once more," resumed Ray. "Why, the boys are just like our press gang back east—open as the day—helpful—and anxious to have you make good. I don't wonder you love them. And the queer thing to me is that so many of them are collectors. I presume they caught the fever from you?"

Ray laughed joyously. Jimmy O'. and Eddy grinned appreciatively.

"Oh, yes. Here is my old collection, which you haven't seen since I fetched it down that morning you were encouraging me to persevere—a cub reporter. Well, here it is—only I've added some things since."

Ray brought forth his familiar board-cover "International" and we began to turn the leaves. Here was a New York postmaster's on entire—double line at bottom—which I remembered he bought from a house-wrecker's foreman who found it between the studding and siding of a house. The ninety-cents, 1869, was a fine, unused o. g. copy I recalled as one he said his mother had treasured—bright and beautiful as the day it was printed. Canada—we all "ran" to Canada, as it was just across the river from us—was complete, and there were a nice lot of B. N. A.'s.

At the back of the book I knew must be the chiefest treasure, for Eddy's restlessness betrayed the proximity of the surprise.

I turned the leaf. In a beautiful frame designed in pen and ink, which I at once recognized as the work of Thomas May—that incomparable cartoonist and wit, with whom we had both been associated.—reposed an entire. To an outsider, it was not lovely to look upon; but to us! It was a beautifully impressed copy of the great rarity,—the Lockport, New York, postmaster's stamp! I studied it carefully. The entire bore the name of New York State's governor of the period—a distant relative of Ray's people. It was in every way an "association copy"—as one says of certain books.

"The stamp had a curious history," began Ray, as I handed him the volume. "I remember you said once you had relatives back there—more than a hundred years on one farm. Well, I had a great-aunt who lived near there, and I went down to see her the summer after you left the east—dandy woman, too—said I was the only relative she had who had come to see her in years.

"The following autumn she died, and I went to the old home. She had left it to me—everything she possessed. A niece was living with her—is there yet; for I gave her a life lease of the place, and the income. The niece insisted that I take a box of papers and letters back with me,—the contents of the old secretary. When I got back, I looked through the things. There I found this Lockport Local, and a few other rare bits. This, however, was the gem of the collection."

Then the talk drifted to other things and other places, of no interest to the philatelic reader.

St. Nicholas Stamp Directory,
New York,
Gentlemen:—

It will not be convenient for me to advertise in the June St. Nicholas, but at some later date I will run an advertisement in your magazine, as I have found that St. Nicholas ads pay.

Have recommended your magazine to other dealers, as I like the class of replies received from ads in your magazine.

Yours very truly,

St. Nicholas is proving its value to stamp dealers each day. A dealer who had an ad in the February issue writes that he is still getting numerous replies. Are you reaping the St. Nicholas harvest?

THINGS DONE BY HALVES.

Holland seems to be very partial to fractions in her stamp denominations. Going back to the newspaper stamps of 1869-71 we find ½c, 1½c and 2½c values and a little later on there came the 7½c, 12½c, 17½c and 22½c values in the regular postage stamp series. As for the postage dues, we have had ½c, 1½c, 2½c, 6½c, 7½c and 12½c and now we have two new fractional denominations of 4½c and 5½c. Apparently there are many things in the Dutch postal system that are only done by halves.—Postage Stamp.

CAYMAN IDS. 1½d WAR TAX STAMPS.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

(We are indebted to Harry E. Huber for much information in connection with recent stamp happenings in the British West Indies. This article on the Cayman Islands war stamps recently issued will be perused with interest. Mr. Huber is a keen collector of the stamps of this dependency and at a no distant date we hope to publish a history of Cayman Islands stamps from his pen.—Ed.)

The first printing of the Cayman Islands, 1½d on 2½d War Stamp, shows the same characteristics as the November printing of the 3d Jamaica War Stamp.

The ½d and 1½d stamps of Jamaica are in sheets of 240, four panes of 60 each, while the 3d is in sheets of 120, two panes of 60. The WAR STAMP overprint was set up to take care of 240 stamps at one operation, and when the 3d came to the press, a change was necessary. Examination of sheets of the Jamaican war stamp shows that panes 1 and 4 of the four-pane setting, were used for overprinting the 3d stamps.

On the left pane of the 1½d on 2½d War Stamp, stamp 9 shows a narrow "M"; 21 and 46 show broken "W"; 57, broken "S", 31, "P" of a different font and 50 a broken "M".

On the right pane, stamp 4 shows a very faintly printed period after STAMP, and stamp 20 shows a character resembling a semi-colon.

The 1½d portion of the surcharge was set up to cover but 60 stamps, so that two operations were necessary to add this value to the sheets of 120 of the 2½d, already overprinted with WAR STAMP. The sheets of 120, it has now been ascertained, were not cut up into the Post Office sheets of 60, until the surcharging was completed.

Many varieties are to be found in the 1½d portion of the surcharge, due to the varying lengths and thicknesses of the fraction bar, as well as the position of the "d" after the fraction. Almost every stamp shows a different combination.

Stamp 42 of the left pane (repeated on the right pane) shows the initial "1" with a forked top, while stamp 16 shows a very faint fraction bar, which disappeared entirely as the printing proceeded.

The first printing stamps were received in Grand Cayman in the early days of December, 1916, but were not put on sale until February 26th, 1917, by which time the second printing stamps were at hand. The war tax became effective on that day, and is to "remain in force for the period of one year from its commencement," according to clause 5 of Law 4 of 1916.

Between the time of dispatch of the first printing stamps from Kingston, and the receipt of the second lot of 2½d to be surcharged, at the Government Printing Office, the small 6-point Roman type was abandoned for the Jamaican war stamps, and a bolder font was under consideration.

In the course of experimenting with different fonts, trial impressions were made on the 2½d Cayman Islands stamps; in different colors, font, spacing, etc., before the present 8-point Roman font was selected. These color trials, or proofs were very carefully guarded, and later the five panes of 60 stamps each, were burned in the presence of the Auditors at Kingston.

The second printing of the Cayman Islands War Stamps was made from this new setting, the type being in virgin state, and no broken letters occur, although all three values of the Jamaican war stamps show broken letters.

The WAR STAMP and 1½d was set up together for 120 subjects, so that varieties occurring on the left pane are not to be found on the complementary stamps of the right pane. The 52nd stamp of the left pane shows no fraction bar, while the 56th stamp shows the initial "1" with a straight top, instead of the normal curved. The right pane shows no such varieties.

It seems very probable that after printing the Cayman Islands war stamps the 1½d portion was removed, and the WAR STAMP setting used for the 3rd and 4th panes of the Jamaican war stamps.

The 3rd and 4th panes of the 240-setting for the ½d and 1½d Jamaican war stamps show but few broken letters whereas pane 1 shows a no period error, and pane 2 contains stamps with some letters of the overprint from the previous 6-point setting. The 3d Jamaica war stamp, which requires but a 120 setting, also comes from the pane 1 and 2 setting.

The face value of the second printing of the Cayman Islands war stamps was a trifle in excess of £300, and these were exhausted by March 15th.

The Cayman Islands authorities have now ordered a 1½d War Stamp from the Crown Agents, but there seems to be much doubt as to exactly what this is to be—whether further 2½d surcharged, or a 1½d in the same type as the current stamps remains to be seen.

At the meeting of the Justices and Vestry on September 20th, 1916, it was explained "that the stamp to be used would be the 2½d surcharged, as there would be considerable expense in making up a die for a new stamp . . . and the law would only be imposed for a year unless it was found necessary to extend the time."

NOTES ON STAMPS.

The 2½d Cape, 1902, seems a stamp of some promise, occasionally a few are offered here and there, but probably not any great quantity of really fine used copies are about.

Montserrat, 1908, will probably rise in price presently. The 3d is not scarce, however, and may prove the easiest to get of all the middle values.

There is some evidence that the 45c Straits, 1911, is being gathered somewhat eagerly.

Twopenny "greys" are not always easy to get in fine used condition, a circumstance which may, perhaps, send up the average price of this denomination. In this department the collector is wise in taking such fine copies as are offered him, without being influenced by the price thereof.

The 4c Straits, 1911, bright purple or magenta, apparently appeared only some little time before the Georgian issue, and is by no means common. Its shade is somewhat striking, and the stamp cannot be mistaken.

A study of various price lists seems to show that used copies of Northern Nigeria, 2d to 1s values of recent issues are more plentiful than Southern Nigerian issues of the same grade and date.

Little philatelic problems crop up occasionally in the course of one's correspondence; for example, how many 3d denominations of Malta have there been, and when did this value cease to be employed? What is the reason of its comparative cheapness, as a used copy?

With regard to the two stamps 1c, carmine, Queen, and 2c orange, King, of Newfoundland, 1897, the first named may possibly overtake the latter eventually, in the matter of price.

Among the used Northern Nigerian of 1902 up to 1910, prices vary according to condition, and some specimens have to be fifty per cent. dearer than others. Fine copies should be worth a good deal more than is asked for average specimens.

The 6d and 1s current Gibraltar strike one as being too cheaply priced in several lists.

Stamps of Mauritius are usually very nicely postmarked, some used copies of the current 25c coming to hand in very fine condition.

Judging from market prices a really fine copy of the 2s 6d British Georgian should be cheap at a shilling.

The 1½d Jamaica War stamp has evidently gone up, and in one of the lists the 1½d without the overprint is marked "obsolete."

Since the current 6c Seychelles is reported with a change of inscription, there should be some inquiry for the retiring 6c stamp. Will any of the other values be changed?

—Stamp Coll. Fortnightly.

MERE MEMORANDA.

By Dak.

The declaration of independence of the King of the Hejaz from the Ottoman Empire, one of the results of which is an issue of postage stamps, brings a new stamp-issuing country into the catalogues. This has been already named "Arabia" and "Hedjaz." It may be well, however, for philatelists to note that official documents mention "the Hejaz," and to accept official guidance in this connection when speaking or writing of the series of stamps now appearing, if only for the sake of uniformity.

There is no accounting for taste, but it is probable that I am not alone in welcoming the appearance of British stamps overprinted "NAURU." The overprint seems to lend to these really beautiful issues just that added strength necessary to touch them into philatelic greatness. I am the last man, as a rule, to advocate either an overprint or a surcharge if avoidable, but were the general idea of overprinting stamps of a mother country for permanent use in a dependency more often adopted it would, to my mind, meet with wide approval. Several of the smaller crown colonies, if using overprinted British stamps (and no others), would gain in every way by so doing; and the same might be said with even greater truth in respect of France and some of her minor possessions abroad.

The "Sword of Justice" stamp of the "National Philatelic War Fund," the design for which has been considered by His Majesty himself as "most appropriate," is out in new colours, for which a brisk demand is desired. But its work is practically done, and it has been good work. The most wonderful sight in the world upon Friday last was the flag of "the crimson bars and the silver stars" flapping from the top of the Victoria Tower for the first time in history. As I looked at it the thought came to me, "What an opportunity for another Red Cross label." Just the top of the tower with the "Stars and Stripes" above it. It would capture both imagination and coppers the world over.—London Philatelist.

5c RED ERROR—TOTAL ISSUE.

We treat this week editorially of the 5c red error and the information will be read with interest especially the estimate of the total number issued. The printing of fifty thousand sheets with three errors to the sheet would mean a total of 150,000. Granted that thousands of these may be returned to the P. O. Department in accordance with official instructions, there should nevertheless be a goodly supply come on the market. Already indications point to the discovery of the error in such quantities as to keep the stamp out of the rara avis class.

on 8,000 circulars or cards would be $80.00, but for only $17.50 you can run a quarter page advt. in 8,000 copies of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. This story will go to possible customers who will not only read the paper carefully, but many of whom will pass the paper on to some collecting friend or else save the separate issues for permanent binding. Thus you have the name of your firm before 8,000 or more live stamp collectors. How many persons receiving circulars or house organs keep them for any length of time? The great majority throw them away without reading them carefully and it is folly for any stamp dealer to use circulars without advertising in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. If you have any stamps to sell, advertise them in this publication, and quick results will be evident.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have received a lengthy letter from Frederick D. Markee in which he criticizes the dealers who either ignore communications sent them or take two or three weeks to fill orders. We are aware that Mr. Markee has just ground for his complaint but the remedy lies in the collectors' hands. It's an easy thing to test out a dealer and one experience should be sufficient.

—Vahan Mozian of N. Y. City announces an auction sale of more than ordinary interest elsewhere in this issue. Evidently Mr. Mozian intends to ignore the proverbial summer dullness and this sale will no doubt attract considerable attention. Its contents will be exhibited at Boston on the date named at the office of the Hub Stamp Co. and Boston collectors are urged to inspect the same.

—Dr. Harry G. Oakland of Milwaukee, ordering some illustrations of the 5c New York plate, encloses three subscriptions to the WEEKLY. Two are for friends and the other is to be bestowed "where it will do the most good."

—E. E. Bright, Black River Falls, Wis., would like information in regard to R. H. Bode, Carick, Pa.; LeRoy Watson, Toledo, O., and A. B. Cleveland, Holyoke, Mass. Letters addressed to these parties meet with no reply. H. L. Smith, 88 Gibson St., Canandaigua, N. Y., reports Sydney Sandbergen, Leominster, Mass., Geo. Wittmer, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Stanley F. Lester, Youngstown, O.

—O. G. W.—(1) Your label is simply an advertisement of an association that is endeavoring to secure 1c letter postage. It is an advertising label pure and simple. (2) Canada stamp companies will be very glad to use all U. S. money that may come their way.

—Several subscribers note their ability to secure copies of the 5c red error. One subscriber in Chicago secured ten sheets from a local stamp window.

—We are advised by R. R. Freshwater, Provo, Utah, that a limited supply of the 12c U. S. in copper-red is on hand at the local post office.

—Can anyone give us the present address of Louis Lazos, formerly of the U. S. Naval Hospital, Las Animas, Col.? The same is desired by H. R. Stiles of Schenectady, N. Y.

—Hugo Morlock, Privada Alamo 6, Mexico City, complains that he can get no reply to letters sent Wm. E. Dixon, 1715 A St., N. E., Washington, D. C. Anyone interested in this matter should communicate with Mr. Morlock. In his correspondence Dixon used stationery of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, but it transpires that he is no longer employed in this Bureau.

—Herman Focke calls our attention to the fact that Rajah Sir Charles Brooke of Sarawak died May 17 in London. He has been a familiar figure on Sarawak stamps and it may mean a new set of stamps for that colony.

—The following announcement is taken from the New York Post of May 8, 1917, and we extend our sympathy to the members of the family of the late George M. Mekeel, whom we remember as a gentleman of a kindly nature and of engaging attainments.

George M. Mekeel died Saturday at Minneapolis, in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He was born near Yorktown Heights, Westchester County, December 20, 1839. He was the father of Charles Haviland Mekeel, of Virginia; George D. Mekeel, of Minneapolis, and the late Isaac A. Mekeel of this city.

—W. T. Wilson sends us a dozen prices realized in connection with the D. P. Masson sale of India and Ceylon stamps. We would that we had space to publish a larger number of quotations, as the prices are interesting. We quote:

Ceylon, 4d imperf. Scott's No. 5, cat. $125 $145.00
The same on original cover 155.00

—A correspondent writes: "I located forty-one sheets of the five cent error at our post office and went back to the store to get the cash to buy them but in the meantime the clerk showed them around and the news got to the postmaster before I could get back and he promptly confiscated every one of them."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from O. R. Henderson, C. M. Breder, Maitland Milliken and H. H. Reeves.

—H. H. Reeves sending us a newspaper clipping containing an appeal to the editor for stamps signed by an interned Belgian soldier, makes the following comment which at the same time is an eloquent tribute to the value of our hobby:

"I can sympathize with Mr. Carthals, as I have been in bed just a year and don't know what I would have done, if it wasn't for my stamp collecting. For anyone who is 'interned' in any way, you can't beat stamp collecting for a hobby."

—The latest in advertising cancellations is one just at hand from T. J. Eppes. It bears the date mark "Washington, D. C., May 24, 1917" and the regular cancellation has in six lines the following:—"Do your bit. Buy a Liberty Loan Bond. Inquire at any bank or post office."

—We are pleased to withdraw any reflection cast upon the name of John Woodbridge, Montrose, N. Y. Aggrieved parties state that all claims have been adjusted.

—The Providence (R. I.) Journal of May 27 contained a very interesting article by E. Tudor Gross on "The Lure of Stamp Collecting". It deals with war issues and is freely illustrated. The article is of more than ordinary literary merit and its excellence may be attributed to the fact that Mr. Gross is a member of the R. I. P. S. and an ardent philatelist. Would that we had the space to publish this entire article, illustrations and all.

—By order of the P. O. Department a new task has been imposed upon the employees in post offices of the second, third and fourth class. Each piece of incoming first class mail must be rubber-stamped "Do your bit. Buy a Liberty Loan Bond. Inquire at any bank or post office."

—If unable to take out a money-order for the amount of your subscription, remit in stamps of the 4c, 12c, 15c, 20c or 30c denominations. Make a note of this.

—The present address of Geo. O. Deitrich, formerly of Pasadena, Cal., is desired. Send word to Charles H. Hermann, Calicoon, N. Y.

EDITORIAL.

Error—We are indebted to the Philatelic Gazette for particulars as to the five cent error. In the May number of our excellent contemporary, Mr. Joseph B. Leavy says: "After a plate has been laid down and finished by the transfer-worker, a proof impression is taken and sent to an inspector who examines it carefully to see if all impressions are uniform and if so, the plate is approved and placed in stock; if some impressions are thin or light they are marked and the transfer-worker ordered to burnish them out and reimpress them properly. In the case of plate 7942, three impressions were thin and ordered rubbed out and re-impressed. Through an unaccountable error, the transfer-worker was given a transfer of the 5c denomination for this work instead of a 2c transfer, and re-impressed the three rubbed out subjects with the 5c transfer without noticing that it was the wrong denomination." Mr. Leavy proceeds to explain how the mistake was not detected even under the perfected system of espionage in the Bureau, in the pressure of a multitude of tasks and strain of overtime work. The oversight was a natural one under the circumstances but the explanation invites a few inquiries.

Questions—Granting that one subject on the transfer roll may be placed so that it rocks its impression into the blank space perfectly, how was the blank space treated so that it was exactly flush with the surrounding cliches? If even the thin lines were rubbed away, it would seem that the effect would be to remove at least a trace of the steel. What effect would this depression have in the printing process? In what manner was the deficiency made good? These questions have suggested themselves to collectors and we have no doubt but that they will be answered.

Aftermath—A printing of fifty thousand sheets as reported with three errors to the sheet, two in the upper left pane, numbers 74 and 84 and one on the lower right pane, number 18, of sheet 7942 means a liberal allowance of the stamps for collectors and from what we have seen and from what we have heard, we know that many of our readers were fortunate enough to participate in the grand distribution. As to price, it is only fair to say that it will be some time before it becomes established.

Romance—Several weeks ago, we noticed the announcement in the newspapers of the death in England of Rajah Brooke of Sarawak, at the age of eighty-eight years. Rajah Charles Johnson Brooke has long been regarded with friendly eyes by collectors as his portrait for so many years has been the feature of the issues of Sarawak. The first stamp that appeared in 1869 with the initials J. B. in the upper corners pictured Sir James Brooke, while the subsequent issues offered the likeness of Sir Charles Johnson Brooke. We can still see the witching statistics in the stamp album, under Sarawak: "Government—A province of Borneo," and remember marveling at the spectral lineaments on the first stamp, shown by cut in the album and speculating on its evident rarity, proclaimed by the very appearance of the stamp. The enchanting history of the organization of Sarawak appealed strongly to the boyish mind; and the story of how Charles Johnson Brooke resigned a commission in the British Navy in 1851 to engage with his uncle in his work of practical pacification of the head-hunting Dyaks and the ruthless pirates evoked great admiration. It was in 1842 that the Sultan of Borneo conferred on Sir James Brooke, four hundred miles of territory, according to coast-line, on the west coast of Borneo as an evidence of appreciation of services valiantly and vigorously rendered. It was in 1868 that the nephew, Sir Charles Johnson Brooke, succeeded his uncle, Sir James Brooke, deceased.

Goodness—We have a seasonable tale to tell in connection with the death of the second Rajah Brooke and a feeling of affection for the brave soul who has passed on comes over us as we view the evidence of his considerate regard for a young stamp collector. In 1878, Mr. C. F. Adams, then living in Cincinnati, was the greatest traveler of the age,—for his age. It must be admitted that all of his travels were flights of the imagination and were on the order of "round the world in a rocking chair" but they were vivid for all that. Young Adams, about twelve years of age at the time, read all the books on travel that he could achieve, annex or appropriate and for good measure, read the encyclopedia from A to Z. Master Adams was obsessed by the romantic story of Sarawak and Rajah Brooke and he wrote to Sarawak to say as much, and post-scriptually he asked for a few stamps for his collection. After several months had elapsed, a letter came from the "Pri. Sec." of the Rajah, saying that several sets of the 1875 issue and some "Receipt" stamps were enclosed by the direction of the Rajah. We have seen the gracious letter and also the cover that enclosed the stamps. In the upper right corner was the 30 cents claret, Straits Settlements 1872 duly canceled at Singapore. Below this stamp was the four cents brown on yellow paper, Sarawak, canceled partly on the stamp and partly on the envelope. The Sarawak stamps were local in the sense that they were not recognized generally by countries not adjacent to Sarawak and consquently the Sarawak stamp paid the postage from Kuching, Sarawak to Singapore, where the Straits Settlements stamp was applied for the carriage of the letter to this country. Sarawak had postal arrangements with a number of the countries nearby, no doubt.

Abroad—In the April number of the London Philatelist, there is a most sympathetic tribute by Mr. E. D. Bacon to Marcellus Purnell Castle whose death was felt as a bereavement by the philatelic world. Under the charge of the new editor, Mr. Thomas William Hall, the London Philatelist preserves the traditions of the past and conforms to the standards maintained by the late editor. Among the notes in the current issue we find the following: "The 'Sword of Justice' stamp of the 'National Philatelic War Fund,' the design of which has been considered by His Majesty himself as 'most appropriate,' is out in new colours, for which a brisk demand is desired. But its work is practically done, and it has been good work. The most wonderful sight in the world upon Friday last was the flag of 'the crimson bars and the silver stars' flapping from the top of the Victoria Tower for the first time in history. As I looked at it the thought came to me, 'What an opportunity for another Red Cross label.' Just the top of the tower with the 'Stars and Stripes' above it. It would capture both imagination and coppers the world over." It is noticed that in this country no labels for general circulation for the raising of funds for patriotic purposes have been issued thus far but it is likely that advantage will be taken of this method in a short time.

"KURIOSITI KABINET."

While references have been made in the WEEKLY in the past to this old stamp publication begun in 1870 by Wm. P. Brown, it is not out of place for us to recognize the courtesy of Frank C. Davis who sends us Nos. 1 and 2 of this celebrated publication. Notwithstanding their forty-seven years of existence, the papers are remarkably well preserved and of much interest. Mr. Brown advertises two lists of postage stamps, the highest priced one being a St. Louis 10c black for $5. A Newfoundland 1860, 2p rose new is offered at 15c and others at proportionate prices. In No. 1, Mr. Brown announces the opening of his store at 28 John St. The managing editor made his first purchase of stamps from Mr. Brown in 1876 and anyone who calls at 65 Nassau St. will find him busy buying and selling.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

BERBER.—A town in the Sudan nearly 200 miles north of Khartoum having a population of over 10,000. The name of this town appears in microscopic capitals on the bale of merchandise on the Sudan stamps of the "Camel" type.

BERFORD & CO.'S EXPRESS.—A local post operating in California from San Francisco, but with its head office at New York. It was established in 1849 and four stamps, all of considerable rarity, were issued for the prepayment of the Company's charges. It was bought out by the Wells, Fargo Co. in June, 1854.

BERGEDORF.—A town in the German free state of Hamburg, having a population of over 10,000. Many centuries ago Bergedorf acquired considerable notoriety as the headquarters of a nest of pirates, and after these were dispersed by their more powerful neighbours, the burghers of Hamburg and Lubeck, it sank into such insignificance that it would probably not have been heard of again but for the fact that it issued a set of postage stamps in 1861. These were introduced by the postmaster, who was evidently a man of ideas, for the stamps differed in size according to their denomination. The stamps had but a short life, for in 1867 Hamburg obtained complete jurisdiction over the town and district of Bergedorf and its stamps were suppressed.

BERINDA, CHEVALIER.—The Austro-Hungarian Vice-Consul and Chief of the Austrian post-office in Candia, Crete, in 1898, who designed the crude label issued by the British military authorities in connection with the postal service established in the district of Candia in November, 1898.

BERMUDA.—The chief island of the Bermudas, or Somers Islands, a group situated in the west of the Atlantic Ocean and belonging to Great Britain. There are about 100 islands altogether but most of them are mere rocks and only 15 or 16 are inhabited. They obtain their name Bermudas from Bermudez, the Spanish discoverer, who sighted them in 1527. They were first colonised by Admiral Sir George Somers (hence their secondary name), who was shipwrecked here in 1609, while on his way to Virginia. The total area of the group is under 20 square miles, and its population is estimated at about 18,000. The nearest point of the mainland is Cape Hatteras, in North Carolina, 580 miles distant. Hamilton is the chief town and the seat of the government, which is administered by a Governor, who is also commander-in-chief of the military forces. He is advised by an Executive Council of six members appointed by the Crown. There is also a Legislative Council, composed of nine members appointed by the Crown; and a Representative House of Assembly, consisting of 36 members, four of whom are elected by each of the nine parishes. The first postage stamps for the Bermudas were issued on September 13th, 1865, though prior to this a stamp issued by Postmaster W. B. Perot, to facilitate the prepayment of postage, had appeared in 1848.

BERNADELLI, H.—An artist who designed the Brazilian stamp issued in 1906 to commemorate the Pan-American Congress; the stamp issued in 1908 to mark the centenary of the opening of Brazilian ports to foreign commerce; and the label issued in the same year to commemorate the Pan-American Medical Congress held at Rio de Janeiro.

BERRY, M.—An artist who designed the stamp issued by the Swiss Canton of Basle in 1845.

BERTHOLD, H.—An engraver and printer of Berlin who engraved the dies and manufactured the plates from which the 1902 stamps of Finland were printed.

BERTRAND.—The Bertrand stamp was a special 1c label issued by the republic of Honduras in February, 1916, to mark the accession of Francisco Bertrand to the presidency.

BESA.—The value in which two of the stamps issued by the Benadir Company were denoted. A besa was the fourth part of an anna and was equal to a half-cent in United States currency.

BESTELLGELD-FREI.—An inscription shown on the local envelopes issued for the Prussian State of Hanover. It means "Delivery Free" or "Post Free."

BEST, H. & C.—The proprietors of the "Courier" newspaper, Tasmania, who printed the first stamps for that colony from plates engraved locally, and also the later issues from the plates engraved by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co.

BEY, NAZIM.—A Turkish artist who designed the stamps for the 1908 issue for Turkey.

BEYROUT (or Beirut).—A seaport on the Mediterranean, in Syria, Turkey-in-Asia. In ancient times it was known as Berytus and was a port of the Phoenicians. It came later under the power of Egypt, from whom it was taken by Antiochus the Great, and so became part of Syria. It was conquered for the Romans by Agrippa, and was made a military colony by Augustus, under the name of Colonia Julia Augusta Felix Berytus. During the Crusades it belonged alternately to the Saracens and to the Christians. In 1763 it fell into the power of the Turks; was conquered by Ibraham Pasha, son of Mahomet Ali, of Egypt, in 1831; and played an important part in the Oriental question in 1840, when it was bombarded on September 10th by the allied English, Austrian and Turkish fleets, until evacuated by the 5c Red Error!

I suppose no stamp issued during the past fifty years has created so much interest as this one, not only is it a straight error, but it was undiscovered for over a month. The first "news" came from a small Postmaster who "wished the Department would not print the 5c and 2c on the same sheet as it was confusing in keeping his accounts." The great question with all collectors is what is the stamp worth? I don't know! I obtained my first eleven sheets so easily I concluded everybody else would have them and sold at about $15.00 per stamp. At the end of fourteen days' further search I had just five more. I also found out I had sold as many as all the other dealers in the United States! This being so, clearly $15.00 was a ridiculous price, so I bought back some I had sold for two or three times my first price. I have now obtained four sheets more, and as near as I can estimate some 70 sheets have been found in all the United States. If 25 days' search (since May 3rd) by thousands of collectors has produced only 70 sheets, even supposing the next 25 days produce twice as many, what is it worth? (Note the stamps come perf. 10 and also perf. 11.) At a very low estimate the total issue of stamps is worth say $50,000.00. If 84 2 ct. Pan American inverts sell at $440 each or $37,000 and a blue or rag paper is worth $100.00 (which only an expert can tell) what is this 5 ct. red worth which is a straight error of color and a stamp that every collector in the world will want? Figure it out for yourself.
I offer a block of four (one error) or strip of 3 at a fair price, so low in fact that the odds are 4 to 1 in favor of the collector.

According to advice received from Eugene Tillen, Jr., the Official Seal is now in use printed on white paper, replacing the pink paper formerly in use.

(Virgin Islands).—Herman Focke gives us an interesting fact in connection with prices obtained for the 10, 15, 20, 30, 40 and 50 bit stamps of the January, 1917, issue. He writes that two sets were sold privately in New York recently at $26.00 and $35.00 respectively, "which is one instance of a phenominally rapid advance in the value of postage stamps; I was lucky enough to get one set unused and another one used on covers, for the paltry sum of $2.00, and I think chances are that we shall see $50.00 paid for a used set, since only a short dozen are said to exist in this condition."

BAHAMAS.—The 1d Red Cross announced for this Colony has at last been received. The 1d Queen's Staircase type, pale red and black, has been overprinted with the Genevan Cross and "1.1.17." in red. The stamp is very attractive, and promises to be a ready seller.

CANADA.—We have received from J. E. Cyril-Kitchin a 2c brown Canada war tax on the original cover, the same having done postal duty and being cancelled by a "Win the War" marking. This of course is accidental and carries with it no official sanction.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Herman Focke relates an experience in connection with the recent war stamp, small surcharge. He calls it a "stamp of fortune" and writes us as follows:—

"I sent one shilling to Georgetown and got a block of four of each surcharge. For the small type block I have already been offered $10 against an investment of 12c; that beats all "get-rich-quick" schemes ever heard of. That little group of islands has gained fame on other occasions, where the prices for a ½d stamp advanced to $7.50, a 1d to $10, and a 2½d to $25.00 in a short time."

CHINA.—We quote in extenso from a letter just at hand from Mr. Siddall dealing with the current special delivery or "express delivery" labels as they are called. Mr. Siddall does not attempt to describe the creation. The part sent us is the sender's receipt and is 2½ inches square, printed in green on white. The inscriptions are in both English and Chinese and "Express delivery, senders receipt" indicates the work of the label. We quote from the letter at hand:—

"The Chinese post office has adopted a new type for their receipts for express letters, which are listed in the "Standard" catalogue as special delivery stamps. The old type has a background of words in small type, repeated many times, but the new type is printed on plain paper; I send you the only part of these 'stamps' which can honestly be in the possession of the public, so you can see the new type. I might add that a short time since I was offered a book of 100 complete receipts, all unused, but on being questioned the party offering admitted that the book had been stolen from some Chinese post office, and further stated that he was afraid to offer it to another Chinaman, or to sell less than the entire book, and further stated that stealing the book was the only way to get it, inasmuch as the 'stamps' were never sold and there was a strict rule against letting them go out of the post office, except in the usual course of business, in which the last coupon (see inclosed sample) is given to the sender of the letter, the next two accompany the letter, one of them being signed by the recipient and the other I don't know just what becomes of it, and the stub remaining in the book with data as to address, etc., to be kept on record."

ITALY.—John H. Feeman is authority for the information that an aerial mail service between Rome and Turin was recently established. The distance between these two cities is 260 miles and the trip will take four hours. Special stamps costing 5c each are reported obtainable and it is presumed that this is a new issue which will be of interest to philatelists. A similar service will be inaugurated between Palermo and Naples and between Brindisi and Avlona.

MEXICO.—Herman Focke informs us that the 20c claret and 30c mauve "Famous Men" type are now being seen in the mails and a specimen of the 30c is submitted for our inspection. He also sends us the 3c brown which has been chronicled but only recently put into use.

MOZAMBIQUE.—From Champion's Monthly Bulletin we note that the new issue with change of currency has now been placed in use. The type is the same as the preceding issue but the values have been changed from reis to centavos. The set consists of the following values:—½, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 10, 15, 20 and 50 centavos.

RUSSIA.—Offices in China.—We are advised that the 3c surcharged on 3 kopecks has been found with surcharge inverted. For this information we are indebted to Theodore Siddall.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.—War Tax Postage—This first issue is found to be a local overprint "WAR TAX" in black, in tall fancy capital letters, on full sheets of 120 stamps.

It was interesting to find two distinct shades of colour, different printings, amongst the sheets in the supply. The first is in dull scarlet on thin paper with yellowish gum, wmk. transparent; and the second in deep red on thick paper with dead white gum, wmk. opaque. Both differ to any other printings we have received in the 1d ordinary. The dull scarlet on thin paper apparently is much the scarcer, and probably only a few odd sheets, the remainder of a small intermediate supply. The deep red on thick paper seemingly is from the very latest printing sent out to the Colony.

For ordinary postage use, the 1d value is required in very large quantity, and it is expected a London overprinted issue may quickly follow this first local overprint.

April 2nd, 1917. War Tax Postage.
1st Local overprint WAR TAX in black.
1d dull scarlet, thin paper, yellowish gum, wmk. transparent.
1d deep red, thick paper, white gum, wmk. opaque.

—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News.

J. A. Galbraith has shown us copies of the above mentioned War Stamp, with "WAR TAX" in one line on thin transparent paper with the information that the supply was exhausted on May 4th and that on May 7th a new stamp was placed in use with the overprint in two lines. Simon Haas also writes us concerning the 2 line overprint.

TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS.—Rev. L. Meister informs us that both of the War Stamps exist with the overprint reading "WAR TAI" the error being the first stamp of the 6th row.

LADIES AS STAMP DESIGNERS.

One of the prize-winners in the British Guiana contest was a lady, and this reminds us that ladies have shown up very well as stamp designers whenever there has been an open contest for stamp designs. I should not have been surprised if Lady Egerton had been to the fore with a better design than any of those submitted. Surely she, as a stamp collector, inspired her husband in his share in the designing—with Mr. Noel Trotter—of the 1904 emblematic stamp design for the Straits Settlements. Ladies do not appear to have been successful in the J. P. S. "ideal" stamp competition, but two ladies secured several prizes in the New South Wales government contest in 1887, and one of them, Mrs. F. W. Stoddard, had the distinction of having her design used for the highest denomination in the N. S. W. centennial set in 1888. Another lady, Lady Gertrude Carter, the wife of the Governor of Barbados, exercised her amateur art to good effect in the design for the "Olive Blossom" stamp, issued in Barbados in 1906.—Postage Stamp.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Watching and Waiting on the Border.—By Roger Batchelder. Houghton, Mifflin Co., Boston and New York, publishers. It is not our custom to review other than philatelic books, but the one before us by Mr. Batchelder is of more than ordinary interest not only because of its timeliness but for the special reason that Mr. Batchelder was for two years a regular advertiser in the WEEKLY and made many friends among stamp collectors while dealing in stamps. It was only when called to the service in June, 1916, that he was compelled to relinquish his place in our columns.

Watching and Waiting on the Border is a book that is bound to interest even the most casual reader. It grips the attention immediately because of the easy conversational way in which it is written and the crisp manner in which the scenes incidental to the mobilizing of our troops on the border are described. Mr. Batchelder begins with the call to arms as sounded in Worcester, Mass., on Sunday evening, June 18, 1916, and continues with his experiences at Framingham, where he was "under canvas." The railroad trip to the border and the writer's experiences in camp carry the reader through to the end of the book. There are many illustrations throughout the book, the most interesting being a full page halftone of the author. Mr. Batchelder was a member of the Machine Gun Company 8th Mass. Regiment National Guard, and will probably see service on the French battlefield.

IN A CAGE.

I like to talk to her. Big, brown, intelligent eyes, great masses of dark hair, an expressive, full mouth, a great dimple in her chin, a high forehead, wherein will and determination shone—and freckled.

She sat all day long in the burnished brass cage in the little sub-post office in the drug store, tearing off stamps, gliding out postal cards, and answering questions that the Sphinx would put forth as riddles.

"Everything in this world," she said to me wearily one day during a lull, has become stamped. I dream stamps, I eat stamps, I think stamps.

"The sun is going through space at—dear me! how many thousands of miles a second? Well, I've forgotten. But it has, I'm sure, a thousand dollar stamp on it else it would never be permitted to go from the letter-box of Chaos, where it got its start, to the final Dead Letter Office; for [and she leaned over to me serio-comically and whispered] you know it is not addressed to any one—that big stamped yellow envelope?

"Then I look out of the windows when no one is buying things—look out into the street, and all the pedestrians' heads are stamps of varying values. Most of the faces that go by are really two cent stamps; and sometimes—very rarely—faces that are five cent, ten cent and twenty cent stamps. Once—once I saw the face of a being that was a fifty-cent stamp. It was a god, I'm sure. But he'll never come this way again."

"And what do you see in your dreams at night?" I asked this most curious of post office employes.

"Great and endless processions of souls coming up from a twilight region, going through a great Post Office—which I judge must be life itself—where they are stamped at birth and put into a machine, which makes them very ugly. Some are battered completely to pieces in that stamping process. Then they disappear forever in the bag of a gigantic Letter Carrier. He must be Dea—Yes, madam, registry is ten cents."—Judge.

SOME SPECIAL MENTION.

While most of the chapters allow the titles to express their nature there are certain chapters that need more than a casual reference:—

Chapter IV describes the various kinds of paper:—wove, laid, batonne, quadrille, porous, hard, Dickinson, silk, pelure, granite, manilla, surface-colored, blued, safety, chalky and native, with valuable hints and suggestions.

Chapter XII on "Embossed Stamps" is a fair illustration of Mr. Poole's thorough study of his subject and the chapter outlines how a collection along this line can be formed.

Chapter XVI.—Here the U. S. Army franks get their quietus. Also the bogus "Principality of Trinidad," "Clipperton Ids.," "Counani," etc.

Chapter XVIII.—What is an essay? And what is a proof? Moreover, is it a die-proof or a plate proof? It may be a color-trial—this chapter will help settle the vexed question.

Chapter XX.—Can you distinguish between the product of a re-engraved die or a re-engraved plate? What is a re-cut, retouch, early impression, worn plate, Jubilee line, plate number, or marginal inscription? Do you know what it means to have a pane of mint, off-centered stamps? Can you locate grille, o. g. or tete beche as philatelic terms?

Chapter XXI.—Where are we at:—

Chapter XXX.—Newspaper Tax, Private, War, Return Letter, Municipal Service, Consular Post, Postmaster, Carriers, Local, Department, War Tax, and Telegraph stamps are treated.

Chapter XXXII.—This chapter alone will prove of great value, a dictionary as it were of stamp terms very handy for the student in philately.

HO, HO.

A Philadelphia housewife with an eye to the strictest economy rises to announce her scheme to lighten the burden of war taxation. "I'm going to buy up a lot of two-cent stamps," she explains, "and then when they raise the price to three cents I'll use the old stamps and save a penny on each." She has since been disillusioned.—Newspaper.

Egyptians. Its modern growth dates from 1843. Several of the European powers have established Consular offices at this port, at which postal business is transacted. In 1905 a provisional 1 piastre stamp was issued by the French office, owing to a temporary shortage of labels of this value. This was formed by surcharging the 15c stamp of French Levant with "1 Piastre—Beyrouth" in two lines.

BEYROUTH.—The French form for Beyrout as shown upon the provisional stamps issued by the French Consular office in 1905, and also upon the Russian stamps issued there in 1910.

B. G.—I. These letters were overprinted on certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874 and signify "Botanical Garden." They were used on the correspondence of the officials connected with this public institution and were in 1874 superseded by the general official issue overprinted with the letters "O.S."

II. These letters appear on the 9c Newspaper stamps of Modena issued in 1853. They stand for "Bollo Gazzette," i. e., Stamp for Journal.

BHOPAL.—One of the Feudatory States of Central India, having an area of 6,874 square miles and a population of about one million. The Bhopal dynasty was founded at the beginning of the 18th century by Dost Mohammed, an Afghan in the service of Aurungzebe. It is one of the principal Mohammedan states in India and is now, for the fourth generation, under female rule. Postage stamps for use in this State were first issued in 1877.

BHOR.—A Feudatory State in the Bombay Presidency of India. It has a total area of 1491 square miles and a population of about 140,000. Postage stamps were issued in 1879, but these have been obsolete for some years past.

BHNEIPOE.—A surcharge applied to many of the stamps of the Greek occupation issue of 1913, which were intended for use in Northern Epirus.

BI-COLORED.—Bi-colored stamps are, of course, those printed in two different colors. As a rule the centrepiece is in one color and the surrounding border in another. In some cases, however, where stock plates are in use like those so extensively employed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. in the production of British Colonial stamps, the main portion of the design is in one color and the name of the country and value in another. Bi-color printing naturally necessitates the use of two plates. The plate from which the portion of the design denoting the value is printed is known as the "duty-plate," while the other plate is known as the "head-plate."

BIKANIR.—A Feudatory State of Rajputana, India, having an area of 23,311 square miles and a population of over half a million. The greater part of the State is a dreary, waterless plain. Some years ago Scott's catalogue listed a number of postage stamps alleged to have been in use in this State but in 1898 it was conclusively proved that some of these were merely essays prepared about 1883 for the then Maharajah, Sirdar Singh, who intended to introduce a postal system, while the others were fiscal labels.

BISCAYA.—One of the Basque provinces of Spain more usually known locally as Vizcaya. It is a mountainous region on the Bay of Biscay with an area of 836 square miles and a population estimated at 312,000. It was one of the provinces in which the Carlists were numerically strong and during the rising of 1873 it used special stamps bearing the portrait of Don Carlos. The stamps were suppressed in 1876 when the Carlists met with a decisive defeat.

BI-SECTED.—A philatelic term applied to a certain class of provisional or "emergency" stamps. These are stamps cut into halves or smaller pieces, each portion of which then has franking power as a separate stamp. They may be separated diagonally, vertically, or horizontally, and, more often than not, the bi-sected portions are overprinted with the value for which they are intended to pay postage. As an instance of a bi-sected provisional without surcharge, we may mention that for a period of about 25 years halves of the 10c postage due stamps of Belgium did duty as 5c labels. Various British Colonies—Barbados, Falkland Is., Niger Coast and Grenada, to mention a few—have issued bi-sected stamps with the halves surcharged with the value for which they had franking power.

BIT.—I. One of the values of the new currency introduced into the Danish West Indies in 1905. A hundred bits are equal to a franc, which has a nominal value of 20c in United States currency.

II. A "bit" is one of the small wire or brass devices attached to the dandy-roll for making the watermarks in paper. (See also WATERMARK.)

BLADES, EAST & BLADES.—A well-known London firm of printers, who produced the early stamps for use in the territory administered by the British North Borneo Company.

B. L. C. I.—These letters appear on many of the stamps of Bhopal, one being placed in each of the four corners of the design. "B L" are the first and last letters of "Bhopal," while "C I" stand for "Central India."

BLOOD, D. O. & CO.—One of the best known of the private-post companies established in the United States for the delivery of local letters. This post was established by Mr. D. O. Blood in Philadelphia as early as 1843—four years before the first U. S. Government adhesives were issued—and in connection with which numerous stamps were issued. Curiously enough, only one of the many types employed bears any indication of value.

BLANC, JOSEPH.—A French painter born at Paris in 1846. His work was chiefly that of a decorative artist, as is shown by the design for the 1c to 5c stamps of France issued in 1900, which was drawn by him. The same design was also used for the key-plate for the lower value stamps issued for the various French Consular Offices. M. Blanc died in 1904.

BLUED PAPER.—This, from a philatelic point of view, is paper which has not been intentionally colored but which has turned more or less blue, owing to one of the ingredients of the printing ink running into the paper, which was originally white. Examples of this "blueing" may be found in many of the stamps for Great Britain and its Colonies printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., from line-engraved plates.

BLUEFIELDS.—A town in the republic of Nicaragua at which all the stamps used since 1904 have been overprinted in some distinctive manner before being placed on sale. The stamps were so marked owing to the fact that the local currency was based on silver and was worth about 42c to the peso, whereas in other places in the republic paper currency worth only about 25c per peso was in general use. (See also "B".)

BLUE SAFETY PAPER.—A paper employed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. in the manufacture of the 4d stamps of Great Britain of 1855 and certain fiscals. This paper had prussiate of potash in it, this salt added as a preventative against illicit cleaning. This paper is characterised by its bluish tint, varying in intensity, but it appears that the blueness was quite unintentional and it was attributed by the manufacturers of the stamps to the presence of small particles of iron in the pulp which ought not to have existed therein.

BLUISH RAG PAPER.—(See Experimental Paper.)

B. M.—An overprint found on some of the early stamps of South Australia, which signified "Board of Magistrates." These special stamps were in use between 1868 and 1874, when they were replaced by the general series for departmental use overprinted with the letters "O. S."

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—An overprint shown on certain British stamps of 1887-1902 intended for use on the official correspondence emanating from the Board of Education. The first of these stamps was issued on Feb. 19th, 1902, and they were finally withdrawn from use with all other British Official stamps on May 12th, 1904.

BOCK, R.—An artist of Wellington, New Zealand, who designed the 2d, 3d, 9d and 1sh stamps of the pictorial issue of 1898 issued in that Colony.

BOGOTA.—The capital of the republic of Colombia in the department of Cundinamarca. It has a population of about 130,000 and contains the palace of San Carlos, at which the President of the republic resides. The town was founded in 1538 by Quesada under the name of Santa Fé after the camp of Ferdinand and Isabella before Granada. Then the name was changed to Santa Fe de Bogota, and since 1819 it has been known simply as Bogota. In 1889 special local stamps were issued for use within the precincts of the city, these being inscribed "Correo Urbano de Bogota."

BOGUS.—A term applied to a class of philatelic frauds which may be said to include; (a) Those "stamps" issued by private individuals, with the object of deceiving stamp collectors, which purport to be legitimate issues of some country which probably only existed in the fertile imagination of the person responsible for them; and (b) Imitations of some genuine stamp or other in a color, or with a value and inscription, quite different from those actually used.

These bogus labels do not trouble the philatelist of the present day like they did the pioneers of our hobby. In the early days of philately the number of genuine varieties was small and various smart individuals tried to "help" the collector by printing counterfeits of existing stamps in colors of their own choice; by adding new values to the sets, usually in a fancy currency of their own invention; or by supplying "stamps" for countries which had not, up to that time, found any need for postage stamps. These bogus varieties are often met with in old collections, but they are hardly likely to deceive present day collectors, however new to the pastime, owing to the many excellent catalogues and handbooks which now exist. (See also Counani, Sedang, Clipperton Island, etc.)

BOKHARA.—The khanate of Bokhara is a vassal state of Russia, in Central Asia, with an area of 80,000 square miles and a population estimated at about 1,250,000. The khanate is bordered on the north, east and west by Russian provinces, and on the south by Afghanistan. In 1887 two crudely produced labels, with inscriptions in Oriental characters, were reported as having been issued for Bokhara. Later another value was reported and though for a time these labels were accepted as a genuine postal emission, further investigation showed they were bogus, had probably never been near Bokhara, and were simply issued by a speculator with the idea of making money out of stamp collectors. Apparently the only stamps ever used in the khanate are those of Russia.

BOLETIN MERCANTIL DE PUERTO RICO.—(Commercial Bulletin of Porto Rico.) The 3c stamp issued at Porto Rico on Nov. 19th, 1893, to commemorate the discovery of America was lithographed at the office of the Commercial Bulletin of that then Spanish Colony.

U. S. REVENUE STAMPS.

DOCUMENTARY AND PROPRIETARY.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1871-75 Proprietary.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Designs.

All of the second issue proprietary set have the frame printed in green and bear the portrait of Washington in black in an oval. On the 3c to 10c, "U. S. Inter. Rev." appears at the top and "Proprietary" at the bottom and the designs are very similar to the corresponding values of the documentaries. Each proprietary stamp, however, has only one numeral of value, and except on the 5c the numeral is placed in a different position from the same value of the documentary set. The same lathework background and style of scroll work ornamentation is found on both sets. The 1c and 2c Proprietary are quite different from the 1c and 2c Documentary. The 1c Proprietary has a numeral in each upper corner and a shield in each lower corner and the 2c Proprietary has numerals in the lower part of the frame and shields in the upper part.

The 50c and $1 stamps are somewhat larger than the $200 Documentary and measure about 38 by 75 mm. On the 50c the numerals are in the upper corners and there is an "L" in each lower corner. The dollar stamps has "$1.00" above and below the medallion. The $5 Proprietary is the same height as the $500 Documentary—100 mm., and is 61 mm. wide or 9 mm. wider than the latter. Its size is equivalent to a block of twelve ordinary postage stamps, three wide by four high, and the ordinary office boy would have his hands—and mouth—full to lick it and stick it all by himself. So far as the writer knows it was never used to pay the proprietary tax on mustard or other varieties of adhesive plasters, but it could quite easily have been mistaken for a plaster, and if so employed no doubt it would have given satisfaction. A single copy has been known to draw over $300 from a collector's bank account quite painlessly.

There is little doubt that the 50c and $1 Proprietary were printed by two impressions and all the $5 Proprietary certainly were so printed. An examination of the two circles containing the numerals of value on the $5 stamp shows that the fine vertical lines of the background are green and are part of the frame of the stamp, while the "$5" and the horizontally lined background in each circle is in black and is always in the same relative register as the portrait. This stamp, therefore, must have been printed by two impressions from two separate plates, one of which contained the frames and the vertically lined background in the circles and the other of which bore the portraits, the numerals of value and the horizontally lined background around the latter.

1871-75 Proprietary.

CHAPTER XIX.—Shades.

There are several beautiful shades on the lower values of this series, but the higher values vary only slightly. So many of the stamps do not have legible dated cancellations, it is rather difficult to determine just when the different shades were in use. The first shade used was certainly the yellow green and it was probably replaced by the blue green for a while during the time the 10c stamp on violet was issued, since the 10c on violet paper is not known in yellow green. The blue green varies from medium to a very dark blackish green, which is rare, if it exists at all, on the private die stamps printed in 1873-75, and is not found on the green paper. Most of the stamps on green paper are printed in a yellowish green tint. The Boston Book lists all the values up to the 10c in blue green on both chameleon (violet) and green paper except the 5c, which is not listed in blue green on green paper.

1871-75 Proprietary.

CHAPTER XX.—Quantities Issued.

On page 100 of the Boston Book, speaking of the 10c green and black, it is stated, "The balance of these stamps turned over by Mr. Carpenter to the

H. F. COLMAN
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Bureau of Internal Revenue was 336,082. Presumably they were all on green paper as the violet paper had been discontinued some months previously. This balance not being exhausted before the adoption of the new design in 1881, neither the Bank Note Co. nor the Bureau of Engraving and Printing ever printed any stamps from this plate. The result of this fact was that orders for this stamp received after August 31, 1875, were filled directly from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, whose records, unfortunately, have been destroyed. This makes it impossible for us to state how many were issued upon the green paper." The date of first issue of the 10c is given as July, 1873, that of last issue, 1881, and the total number issued on violet paper, 2,060. On the succeeding pages the following data in re the higher values is given:—

First issued,	Dec. 19, 1873
Last issued,	Aug., 1875
Number issued on violet paper,	409
Number issued on green paper,	247
Balance turned over to Bureau,	70,249

$1.00

First issued,	Dec. 20, 1873
Last issued,	Aug., 1875
Number issued on violet paper,	340
Number issued on green paper,	288
Balance turned over to Bureau,	77,208

$5.00

First issued,	Dec. 20, 1873
Last issued,	July, 1875
Number issued on violet paper,	74
Number issued on green paper,	50
Balance turned over to Bureau,	39,458

According to this the total numbers of these stamps issued was:

50c	656
$5.00	124

These figures have been generally accepted without serious question for seventeen years, yet they contain only just enough truth to be entirely misleading. The quantities of 50c, $1 and $5 Proprietary stamps stated to have been issued are no doubt correct up to August 31, 1875, when they were last issued by Mr. Carpenter. The reader, however, naturally understands "last issued" to mean issued for the last time, and these stamps most certainly were not issued for the last time in August, 1875—not by about eight years! The truth of the matter is that the Bureau of Internal Revenue issued them for several years, just as it did the 10c and although some records of the Bureau may have been destroyed, there are records in existence today showing that the Bureau filled orders for 50c, $1.00 and $5.00 Proprietaries every year from 1876 to 1883, and in many a twelve-month there were more issued than the totals given in the Boston Book.

1871-75 Proprietary.

CHAPTER XXI.—Famous High Values.

These government records indicate the total numbers issued to have been:

50c	34,315
$1.00	6,585
$5.00	2,109

There is abundant evidence of the use of these stamps after August, 1875, much more evidence than there is of their use before that date. The great majority of them bear cancellations dated from 1876 to 1883, which in itself is sufficient proof of the time when most of them were used; since there is no conceivable reason why stamps used as these were should have cancellations dated ahead from one to eight years. Many of the lot of 37 $5 Proprietary on violet paper which turned up about 15 years ago were cancelled '79 and it is known they were used during that year. If the total number issued on violet paper had been only 74 copies this find would have included at least half of all the violet paper $5 stamps in existence! The commonest cancellation on the 50c stamp is that of Starkey & Palen of Philadelphia. This is printed or hand-stamped in five lines arranged as follows:

STARKEY & PALEN
MAY 26
1880
C. O. T. PHILA.

The date is nearly always perfectly legible. Copies dated 1880 to 1883 are frequently seen.

It is impossible to state how many of the 50c, $1.00 and $5 were printed or issued on each variety of paper. The $5 on green paper is five to ten times as rare as on violet, and the $1 on green is certainly a much scarcer stamp than the $5 on violet. The green paper was in use less than a year on the low values. The comparatively large quantity of high values printed indicates that a much more extensive use of them was anticipated than was realized. Mr. Carpenter's letters bear this out and his letter of February 24, 1875, ordering that no more high values be printed, except that those already partially printed (i. e., frames only), should be completed, shows the green paper was used on the high values for not over five months. Quite likely the high value remainders turned over to the Bureau on the expiration of his contract August 31, 1875, were mostly on violet paper.

Most of the 336,082 black and green 10c were used up before the blue 10c appeared on October 21, 1881. The quantity of green 10c still on hand October 1, 1881, was about 40,000, so the total issue could not have been much less than 300,000. The records indicate about 14,000 ten cent were issued in October, November and December, 1881, and if the Boston Book is correct in stating the 10c green and black was last issued in 1881, the stamps issued in these three months must have been nearly all green, and of the 85,000 blue 10c of 1881 printed, about 82,000 must have been issued.

For reasons which will appear later the writer believes the Boston Book is not correct in regard to the 10c stamp and that practically all of the 10c green and black were issued. In view of the scarcity of the 10c on violet paper it is reasonable to assume that nearly all the 336,082 on hand August 31, 1875, were on green paper. For five years the 10c denomination for proprietary was almost entirely out of use. Less than 5,000 were issued in 1870 and none in 1871, or in the year ending June 30, 1872. The 10c black and green was first ordered in July, 1872, the order calling for 1700 stamps. Up to June 30, 1874, 1360 more were ordered. As the green paper did not come into regular use until about October 1, 1874, these orders could have been filled only with stamps on violet paper. The total of these orders, 3060, is just 1000 more than the number the Boston Book states was issued. During the year ending June 30, 1875, only eight ten cent stamps were ordered and none were ordered in the following fiscal year. Evidently only a very limited number were printed on violet paper. From 1876 on 15,000 to 72,000 of the 10c stamps were issued each year.

GERMANY—AFTER THE WAR.

When reviewing Stanley Gibbons' catalogue of foreign countries in last month's number, we made some reference to business with Germany after the war, but certain action taken by the Philatelic Society of Victoria at their last meeting, compels us to make a further reference to this subject.

The paragraph in the "introduction" to the catalogue which is headed "No future business with Germany" reads as follows:—"The question has been asked on many occasions as to what position this firm intends to take up in relation to business with Germans after the war is over. The matter has been carefully considered, and the Directors have decided that they will not, knowingly, either sell to or buy from any Germans, except such as have been naturalised by this country before the war began.

"No decision has been come to as regards Austrians or enemies of other nationalities, and our position in regard to them will be settled when the war is over."

When the subject was brought before the members of the Sydney Philatelic Club, by means of a letter from a Secretary of the V. P. S., the opinion was expressed then that it was premature to decide what steps should be taken after the war was over until a "lead" had been established by the premier society, rather than by the premier firm of stamp dealers.

No one will deny that the Directors of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons have a perfect right to decide as to what they will or will not do in the future, and while the paragraph above quoted reads very well, there is a flaw in it which gives that firm an easy way out. They say that they will not "knowingly" either sell to or buy from any Germans The word "knowingly" in this instance is pregnant with meaning, for we are sure that in some instances Messrs. Gibbons will not worry as to whether the person to whom they are selling stamps is a German or not. They may not deliberately do business with German dealers or collectors resident in Germany, but beyond that it would be exceedingly difficult for them to draw the line.

While a decision to taboo handling any stamps of Germany or her Allies issued since war was declared is quite commendable, we still fail to see why political events since August 4th, 1914, should be allowed to interefere in regard to the collection of the stamps of Germany and the German States and colonies prior to that date.

It would be absurd for collectors to carry their antipathy so far as to induce them to tear all the German stamps out of their albums and destroy them, for this would be a natural corollary to the suggested procedure, and if Messrs. Gibbons wanted to carry their convictions to a logical conclusion they should burn all their stock of these stamps, and eliminate them from their catalogue. But they will do nothing of the sort, and we venture to doubt that very few collectors, if any at all, would do so. Consequently, we think that before Messrs. Gibbons' decision can be accepted as final it will require a considerable explanation. For instance, what attitude would our friends take up if they were offered some stamps by someone who was not a German, but had purchased the stamps from Germans? They would probably buy them and by doing so they would be keeping quite within the letter of their decision, if not within the spirit of it. Similarly, they will in all probability sell plenty of stamps to people who are not Germans, but knowing full well that those people intended to sell them to Germans.

Had the Directors of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., publicly burnt their stock of all German, German States and German colonial stamps and declared that henceforth and forevermore they would neither buy nor sell them, then we would have believed in the sincerity of their announcement; but at the present time we are sceptical regarding it, and we think that any hasty decision in regard to this subject in the direction of supporting the announcement above referred to is to be deprecated.

We have written as above with the friendliest feelings towards the members of the Victorian Philatelic Society, with all of whom we are on very good terms. It is not necessary nowadays for people like themselves and ourselves to carry our loyalty and patriotism on our sleeves. We have proved it and we have justified it. As to what action should be taken in the future, time alone will tell.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

FRENCH STAMPS ON THIN PAPER.

Mr. Franz Reichenheim writes: "Scarcity of paper and difficulty in manufacturing paper of the usual good quality has become more apparent in the newly printed lots of the most frequently required values. I have lately received blocks of the current 2c, 5c, 20c, 25c, and 30c printed on very thin paper, and of the 15c (in all probability the most required value since the postage of inland letters have been raised from 10c to 15c) printed on paper of much inferior quality. These latter sheets, apparently printed within the last two months, are marked at the top and bottom on the margin with large block letters G C in the colour of the stamps, standing for Grande Consommation (Great Consumption), and an order has been published that sheets so marked should be issued at once to the post offices and placed on sale by the latter in preference to the older sheets printed on the usual paper.

"The postage for inland letters was raised from 10c to 15c on and after January 1st, 1917, by a law dated December 30th, 1916. In consequence of the short time between the promulgation of the law and the date of its coming into force the postmasters were instructed by telegram on December 31st, confirmed by a circular, to impose a tax of 5c, only instead of double the deficiency (10c) on letters franked with 10c and arriving at the distributing post-offices before January 16th. On the same day, January 1st, another order was issued to the provincial postmasters to use in place of unpaid letter stamps of 5c the ordinary postage stamps of 5c cancelled with the cachet T in a triangle in case the stock of Unpaid Letter stamps of that value should prove insufficient. Although the postage stamps of 5c only were authorized for use as Unpaid Letter stamps, the 1c, 2c, and 3c, were also similarly used at some provincial post-offices between the 1st and 15th."—London Philatelist.

A SAMPLE.

Watch your next letter. The stamp may be valuable. It may have the figure five in the corner instead of two. If so stamp collectors might pay you well for it.

A mistake was made in the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington. The stamps bear the numeral "5" instead of "2." Postoffices have been notified to return all stamps from plate No. 7942. However, it is thought some of the stamps may have crept into circulation.—Chicago Tribune.

EDITORIAL.

Bits—We thank those of our readers who have shown us sheets, blocks and singles of the error. We were particularly impressed by a used copy that was received by a mail-order house and which reached a dealer's hands. Mr. John E. Lord writes: "Your article referring to plate No 7942 with the five cent error says that all sheets have the marginal initials of 'J. H. K.' I found a number of sheets with this plate number but they were all the lower left hand pane and the marginal initials are 'W. McA.' I still have the lower corner of one of the sheets and plate number with the above initials." The correspondent quoted previously intended to say that the error panes were the ones that bore the marginal initials, "J. H. K." One thing we can say with assurance, and that is that some of the big offices did return large quantities of the errors and the inference is that as the error sheets are taken from stock, they will be returned to Washington, likewise. We are well satisfied that we have said nothing about prices, even allowing readers to draw their own deductions. We have a letter where a price of five thousand dollars is placed on a sheet! Then, the pendulum has swung to the other extreme. An hourly bulletin would be needed to keep current with the "bid" and "asked" prices of the errors.

Convention—Through the kindness of Mr. J. Eustace Guest we are enabled to speak of plans for entertainment of delegates to the Southern Philatelic Association at Minneapolis this summer. The headquarters will be at the Hotel Dyckman where the sessions of the convention will be held. Several trips to lake resorts will be features of the social side of the meeting. There will be a "bourse" night and visitors are enjoined to bring stamps for exhibition, sale or exchange as it is rightly calculated that there is nothing dearer to the heart of the genuine collector than a swapping-bee. Mr. S. L. Sholley will be the director of the official program and a copy will be mailed each member about July 15th. We may add that Mr. Guest has no opponent as a candidate for re-election as sales superintendent because, we infer, he has so capably filled the position for a number of terms.

Oldest—Our oldest national society, the American Philatelic Society has issued its membership list which includes the report of William R. Ricketts, Chairman of the philatelic literature committee for the seventeenth and eighteenth years. This most excellent list is in two parts, "separate works" and "periodical," respectively and embraces all publications published up to the first of this year, so that 1915 and 1916 are thoroughly covered. The official journal easily has justified its existence under Mr. Ault's guidance.

Great—In Chicago there is one of the greatest collectors of philatelic literature in the world, in the person of Mr. Howland Speakman; and his eminence is founded on the solid foundation of fact,—the possession of the rarest gems of the printed records of philately. Mr. Speakman, however, is not an omniverous collector in the field of literature. In reality, he is a specialist as he restricts his collecting range to the publications issued before 1870, when, broadly speaking, philately was in its swaddling clothes. It is our surmise that Mr. Speakman's collection is one of the greatest in existence, so far as its somewhat limited field is concerned; and we give him our homage as we can appreciate the little thrill that is felt upon contemplating a rare philatelic first edition. To anyone who is partial to the art preservative, early stamp works are of interest and this feeling is greatly intensified when the student is a stamp collector. In passing, it is to be said that Mr. Speakman is in the publishing business. Mr. Speakman's library is better known in the select circles abroad than in America, in consequence of the closer attention given in normal times to philatelic literature in England and on the continent. Mr.Speakman's possessions are known to a few collectors in this country who yield to the fascinations of the earlier literature particularly, but it is really unsung here. It is good to know that we have within our borders what practically is a most authoritative collection of the printed annals of stamp collecting published up to 1870. In the past we have been indebted to Mr. Speakman for information on his chosen subject and we mention his library at this time merely to place on record the claim that here is this rich reliquary. For many years, Mr. Speakman has been one of the leading collectors of Chicago and recently he disposed of one of the best collections of twentieth century stamps ever assembled. Mr. Speakman has promised us that some day he will give us some of the outstanding particulars of his library but as it is, it is our own loss that we have not taken occasion thus far to browse among the books on the shelves of his library.

Lallier—Mr. R. B. Field of Jericho, Vt., writes: "I read with interest your editorials in relation to the Lallier Album. I have the 1869 edition, 'Justin Henri Lallier, Paris, 1869 edition,' and in the advertisement we read: 'The favorable reception which the public gave to the preceding editions of our Postage Stamp Album has induced us to recast the whole work which we had previously been prevented from doing by circumstances beyond our control,' and also: 'We owe our best thanks to M. Maury for his kind aid in revising this new edition of the album.' The album has a red embossed cover with brass clasp, 335 pages and maps 'After the Latest Authorities of North and South America, 1866.' Twenty-eight pages are allotted to the United States many of them to 'Private Offices.' Most of one page of Prussia is devoted to a War Envelope, 6 by 4½ inches in size, 'For sending letters free to soldiers in campaign.' No stamps are listed later than 1866."

Explained—In a recent issue of the Philatelic Gazette, there was a list of plates of U. S. stamps and in the compilation, Nos. 7917, 7918 and 7960 were each assigned 153 subjects. These figures were confusing even to the student of booklet panes, which consist of six stamps each. In the American Philatelist, Mr. Geo. H. Beans, with the assistance of Mr. Klemann, editor of the Philatelic Gazette explains the inconsistency. Two plates of 153 stamps each "form a cylinder such as is used on the Bureau's rotary press and will print, of course, 306 stamps. This means 51 leaves and explains the mystery!" It was Mr. H. N. Mudge who many years ago called attention in the WEEKLY by his diagrams of the sheet arrangement of the booklet stamps; and so, it is seen that there is no dearth of material for the specialist in booklet panes.

Pleasant—Make way for the dealers. A reader sends us a gladsome variation from the usual theme: "A dealer sent me some of my wants and one of the stamps was so palpably underpriced by mistake that I could not conscientiously buy it at his 'own price.' I returned the stamp saying that I wanted it at the corrected price and the stamp came back. Accompanying it was a clever note in which it was insisted that by all means I should take the stamp at the reduced price, and the suggestion was delicately conveyed that virtue should be rewarded even if its raiment wasn't rags. The difference meant several dollars. So cleverly was the situation handled that I became the owner of the bargain and a friend of the dealer for life."

COMMEMORATIVE SET FOR CANADA.

A subscriber at Watervliet, Mich., sends us a clipping from the Montreal Daily Mail dated Saturday, May 26, in which it is definitely stated that there will be a special issue of postage stamps for the semi-centennial of the Confederation. The celebration at Ottawa will include the dedication of a memorial tablet by the Governor-General and each of the provincial governments will be requested to hold a celebration in its capital city. No detailed information is at hand as regards the denominations or designs.

NEW ISSUE NOTES.

Apropos of the proposal to issue a new series of postage stamps for the Kingdom of Italy, Signor E. Lena, in the course of a somewhat flamboyant letter to Il Bollettino Filatelico, suggests that the time is ripe for the preparation of a set which will be worthy of the glorious history of the country and its wealth of artistic associations. Our Austrian enemies have issued stamps bearing representations of cannon, aeroplanes, and a battleship; and even Belgium, though that poor country lies devastated, has given us stamps commemorating part of her young history. Artists are there in plenty in Italy, and we must say we heartily sympathize with the sentiments of Signor Lena.

Examples of the label issued to commemorate the centenary of the Revolution of Pernambuco, Brazil, have now arrived, and are described by L'Echo de la Timbrologie as among the most commonplace and poorest in execution in our albums. They are oblong in format, the central part of the design representing the Revolutionary flag, with "BRAZIL" at the top and "CORREIO" at foot. On either side are columns on which are inscribed, scroll-wise, the words "CENTENARIO DA REVOLUCAO REPUBLICANA EM PERNAMBUCO —BANDEIRA DA REPUBLICA DE 6 DE MARCO DE 1817."

Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a copy of the 20c on 2a provisional, Italian Somaliland, chronicled on page 283 of our previous volume. The surcharge is in black, the letter "C" appearing over the original figure of value in the lower left-hand tablet, and the new denomination is overprinted on the lower right-hand tablet. The word "ANNA" is deleted by a wavy line 8 mm. long, also in black.—Stamp Collecting.

PHILA. STAMP CLUB BUYS BONDS.

We are advised by George L. Dutton, secretary of the Philadelphia Stamp Club, that this enterprising organization has used the money in its reserve fund and purchased U. S. Liberty Bonds. The secretary was instructed to send this information to the WEEKLY with the thought that possibly it might stimulate some other stamp clubs and societies to do the same thing. This very praiseworthy action upon the part of the Philadelphia Stamp Club should be followed elsewhere and we hope it may be our privilege to record similar action upon the part of other organizations.

MOUNTING ORIGINAL COVERS.

By EARL E. BOYD.

(This article is interesting because of the field that it covers, but it is the more wonderful when one considers the circumstances under which it was written. Our readers have previously been introduced to Mr. Boyd. He is the one to whom we referred some two years ago in connection with the loss of both of his lower limbs some years previously and his almost helpless condition. Since then he has become an inmate of the Sisters' Hospital at Watertown, N. Y. He can do but little writing and his stamp collection, with some reading, form his only recreations.—Ed.)

The mounting of "original covers" is a subject that has been discussed at considerable length. Only recently I noticed in this paper a request for information upon this subject.

In mounting my covers, I use a loose leaf binder of the ring variety of large size. These can be purchased at any book store at 30 cents each up, depending on what size and style of binding you get. There are two good binders on the market, which are well adapted for this purpose, known as the I. P. Students Note Book and Columbia Loose Leaf Book. The latter is much the better both in appearance and binding, and only a little more expensive. Both come with half inch and one inch rings. The latter is of course the better as it will hold twice as many covers.

The only other thing needed besides the binder, is a lot of wire paper clips, such as are used to hold two sheets of paper together by slipping them over the edges. The kind I use are of the most common variety I think, which are about one inch and a quarter long and quarter of an inch wide and rounded at both ends. They come in two sizes, either of which will answer the purpose for which they are intended, as long as they fit the rings of your binder loosely.

The actual mounting of the covers is really so simple that it seems strange to me that someone has not thought of it long before this and given it publicity.

Taking one of your covers you do just as you would if it were an ordinary sheet of paper, which belonged in the binder and has holes punched in one side to correspond and fit the rings, only instead of punching holes in your cover you simply slip a couple of the wire paper clips on the end of the cover where the holes would naturally come to correspond with the rings, but leaving the ends of the clips project out from the cover about a quarter of an inch, so as to form a loop. You have only to open the rings of your binder and insert these loops, close the rings and your cover is mounted.

After you have mounted as many covers as your binder will hold, you can turn them over just as you would turn the pages of a book or the pages of your album, and you can look at the back of your cover as easily as you can the front with no danger of tearing or disarranging it, as would be the case if it were mounted with hinges. I claim this to be one of the strongest points in favor of this method of mounting, to say nothing of the doing away entirely of hinges, which has always been one of the disadvantages in other ways of mounting. Then again, you can keep your covers as well arranged and in order, as the stamps in your loose leaf album.

There are several little details which you can work out and improve upon to suit yourself such as, for instance, some may prefer to mount all of their covers of small size in a small sized binder, and all large sized covers in a large binder, which as I stated before can be purchased in various sizes, nearly a dozen in fact, and with half or one inch rings.

There is another way of mounting covers on this same principle. Instead of mounting or inserting the loops of the clips directly on the rings, have some long, narrow strips of thin cardboard with holes punched in them to correspond with the rings and to put these on the rings first and then connect your covers and these cardboard strips together by the clips. In this way you can by using a large sized binder, mount two covers, one above the other.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—J. D. Hubel uses as an advertising label with which to seal his mail the current 1c stamp surcharged in red in four lines, "Do your bit. J. D. H."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from O. H. Sampson, L. L. Huber, Matt Simuvich, C. M. Breder and Israel Prager.

—L. Meister reports that he has had unsatisfactory dealings with Louis Lazos, whose trickery is exploited elsewhere in this issue of the WEEKLY. Lazos gave Mr. Meister his A. P. S., S. P. A. and M. P. S. membership numbers for references.

—M. O. Chance, Postmaster at Washington, informs F. M. Mason of Providence, R. I., that in the future "stamps furnished on orders must be accepted, as exchanges cannot be made." The dealer will do well to make a note of this item.

—If unable to take out a money-order for the amount of your subscription, remit in stamps of the 4c, 12c, 15c, 20c or 30c denominations. Make a note of this.

PHILA. BRANCH A. P. S. NOMINATIONS.

Alfred F. Henkels, Secretary of the Philadelphia Branch No. 18, A. P. S., informs us that at a regular meeting held Friday evening, June 1, the following nominations for officers of the A. P. S. for 1918 were made:

For president, J. W. Scott of New York City, N. Y.; for board of vice presidents: F. S. Parmelee, H. A. Whipple and Dr. W. P. Wherry of Omaha, Nebr.; for secretary: Dr. H. A. Davis of Colorado Springs, Colo.; for treasurer: J. E. Scott of Detroit, Mich.; for international secretary, L. Harald Kjellstedt, Scranton, Pa.; for directors at large: H. N. Mudge of Chicago, Ill., and H. B. Phillips of Berkeley, Calif.

A motion was unanimously carried endorsing P. M. Wolsieffer, the present Sales Superintendent, for reappointment for that important office.

WANTED—LOUIS LAZOS.

We want to locate Louis Lazos.

Giving references A. P. S. 3759 and S. P. A. 1918 he has apparently victimized a number of dealers. In March, while at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Las Animas, Colo., he solicited various approval selections and in response to complaints filed with us we wrote the hospital authorities and received the following information from Geo. H. Barber, medical director:

"Louis Lazos was a patient at this hospital; some time ago he was granted leave from which he has not returned and we have no knowledge as to his present whereabouts. It seems that a number of stamp dealers have had unfortunate business relations with this man. In case I should find out where Lazos is located, I would be pleased to advise you."

Dr. Barber may secure the necessary information and we should advise dealers having claims to write him and request the fullest information available. H. R. Hendricks, Waxahachie, Tex., sent him an approval selection net $37, and Mrs. W. H. Maine, Dubuque, Ia., one cataloged $75.

In writing us concerning Lazos, H. R. Stiles, 366 McClellan St., Schenectady, N. Y., admits that he has been severely stung. He would like to get into communication with others who have had unsatisfactory dealings and from time to time we shall report Mr. Stiles' findings and give him such space as he may need. In a matter of this kind one of the interested parties should handle the case and Mr. Stiles volunteers his services.

A New Chronicle Editor.

Through force of circumstances, Mr. Milton P. Lyons, Jr., who has been serving as editor of the Chronicle, found it necessary to tender his resignation. We have secured, to edit this department, Mr. Percy McG. Mann, who is well and favorably known to a large number of our subscribers. Mr. Mann formerly published a successful weekly stamp paper at Philadelphia and is now publishing Mann's Stamp Magazine. He is extremely well qualified for the post of Chronicle editor and we feel sure that under his management the department will prosper. We publicly express our thanks to Mr. Lyons for his services.

SEVERN-WYLIE-JEWETT CO.

UNITED STATES.—(1378)—The "News Gleanings" column of May 26th contained a reference to the 10c Special Delivery stamp on which the horizontal line along the top was partially missing. Scott's No. 897 was chronicled some years ago, with the top line of the stamp missing. This came from plate No. 5514, on which each stamp, or most of them, in the plate, showed the variety. Enquiry brought from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing the fact that the designs were laid down on the plate from a transfer roll which was considerably worn. Similar varieties may have occurred on earlier or (and) later plates.

(1378)—According to word from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, 49,563 sheets of 400 stamps each were printed from plate No. 7942 containing two errors, "5c" in the upper left pane of 100 and one error "5c" in the lower right pane. First printings from this plate were made on March 7th, 1917, and the plate was "cancelled" on May 2nd. They were perforated 10, also 11, and may possibly come with compound perf. 10x11 or 11x10, or both, also imperf.

Collectors are advised to be on the watch for any or all of the values of the current stamps with compound perfs. 10x11 or 11x10, because machines using, separately, both gauges are in concurrent use at the Bureau, and sheets may be perforated vertically by a machine gauging 11 and then perforated horizontally by a machine gauging 10, or vice versa, vertically 10 and horizontally 11.

Dr. A. P. Lee has shown us the Special Delivery 10c unwatermarked, perf. 11.

Special Delivery, Unwmkd., Perf. 11.
10 cents light blue.

(1370)—Mr. Paul Dillingham shows us the Officially Sealed post office label in back on white paper instead of pink paper. The paper is of the same quality, and the perforation and the gum are the same as No. 768. We chronicled this last week.

AUSTRALIA.—According to The Postage Stamp the 10sh in pink and pale gray has appeared printed on the narrow crown over A watermarked paper.

Adhesive, Narrow Crown Wmk.
10sh pink and pale gray.

BAHAMAS.—(1378)—We are informed by Mr. Eugene Klein that one sheet of sixty of the "Special Delivery" overprint on 5d orange and black was doubly printed.

As stated in the chronicle of April 14th, 1917 (1372), the first printing of these stamps consisted of 500 copies. We learn from several sources that the second printing consisted of 6000. Not a large quantity by any means, when collectors are considered.

Mr. J. A. Galbraith submits the new Red Cross stamp, consisting of a large red cross on a 1d stamp, carmine and black, of the Queen's Staircase design, and the new 3d and 5d of the same design. These stamps appear to be surface-printed instead of recess-printed (engraved). The Postage Stamp chronicles the 2sh in Queen's Staircase design. The paper is multiple crown and CA.

CANADA.—Information will be found elsewhere in this issue dealing with a commemorative set soon to be issued.

CHINA.—We have received information from Wang Chin Chai that a new set of stamps consisting of four values, 1, 3, 4 and 10c, will shortly be issued to commemorate the completing of the constitution of the Republic. The design will be the familiar Temple of Heaven as found on the issue of 1909, but with the addition of the army and navy flags of the Republic. The designs are being executed in the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing and definite information is lacking as to the length of time the new issue will be on sale.

COLOMBIA, REPUBLIC OF.—(1369)—We take the following information from The Postage Stamp. The series we announced in our chronicle of March 24, 1917, has been issued with a few changes, not only of designs but also of colors. The 5c Special Delivery stamp is in dark green instead of black, and the 4c AR is not in carmine, but "carmelita," the color of the garb of the Carmelite monks, a sort of coffee color. Originally the contract specified "statues" of several of the patriots depicted, but on consideration the authorities agreed with the printers that "busts" would look much more effective, and the dies were engraved accordingly. The quantities supplied by the printers are as previously given in this chronicle.

CUBA.—(1378)—Mr. I. C. Greene shows us the 5c chronicled in our issue of May 26th. It may be remarked that although the stamps are well printed the centering is very poor; this applies to all of the new set so far seen by us.

We have received from Jose Lapeyra specimens of the new 3c, 5c and 8c in purple, blue and brown, respectively. The 3c has the effigy of the learned Cuban D. Jose de la Luz Caballero, the 5c Calixto Garcia, a hero of several Cuban wars; and the 8c Agramont another war hero, who died May 11, 1873. The entire set is slated for an early appearance.

HEJAZ.—(1377)—Mr. A. J. Sefi informs The Postage Stamp that he has acquired the 1 piastre perforated in two totally different shades from the ordinary variety. The list of these stamps is therefore as follows:

Adhesives. Perforated.
1p green.
1p red.
1p blue.
a. pale blue.
b. deep metallic blue.

HUNGARY.—The Madrid Filatelico chronicles the 20 filler of the new reaper design:

NICARAGUA.—Mr. Don J. Grout advises us that he recently came across an error of overprint of No. 361, showing a period after "5 cts" and the date "1913" instead of "1915."

NORTH BORNEO.—(1375)—Mr. William S. Clark submits evidence of the actual use of the provisional 10c on 12c mentioned in our chronicle of May 5th, 1917. He writes: "I have in my collection a copy of the 10 on 12 cent used on piece of consular report envelope. The stamp has a dated postmark from the capital Sandakan, the date I think is late in 1916. This would seem to show beyond a doubt that some at least of these provisionals were placed on public sale and used for postal purposes."

RUSSIA.—We are indebted to Theodore Siddall for the following:

Information has reached here that new stamps have been issued, and that a circular issued by the Russian post office department gives the information that owing to the new stamps being of a different size from the previous issues, it has not been practicable to issue the stamps perforated. Machines for perforating the stamps will soon be ready.

All of these are surcharged on the last issue of Russian bearing varnish lines, excepting the $3.50, which is on the 3½ ruble Russia, without lines. The 5 cent is on the scarce Russian 5k lilac. There is no 7 cent as yet, and perhaps will not be, since this value is of little use under the new postal rates. The 10, 14 and 20 cent stamps are surcharged with heavy faced type, as the small type used on the values printed in light colors does not show up well on the dark colored stamps. The $3.50 stamp is also surcharged in large type.

NOTES ON THE STAMPS OF BELGIUM.

By F. E. WILSON.

At the present time when the tragedy of Belgium is constantly in the mind of every thinking member of the community, the philatelist will naturally turn to the Belgium pages in his collection with renewed interest. Postmarks such as Antwerp, Liege, Ypres, Nieuport, Ostend, and Zeebrugge will inevitably remind him of the fateful events which have already happened, which are still happening, and have still to come in that brave and martyred little country, for these names have become household words in the daily Press, so that no apology is needed at the present time in endeavouring to point out some of the special features connected with the Belgian issues as arranged in Messrs. Gibbons' catalogue.

1849: The 1st issue, consisting of two values only—viz., a 10c and 20c—is one of the most elegant and beautiful stamp designs known to the philatelist; in fact, one of the philatelic classics, popularly known as the "epaulettes" type. It shows a striking portrait of King Leopold I. with the numerals of value, inscription and value in words, clear and distinct, with nothing of a superfluous or microscopic nature such as so often spoils many of our modern stamp designs. The catalogue gives only two shades of the 10c, omitting a very marked one which is certainly worthy of catalogue rank. I refer to the quite distinct "red brown" well known to the French and Belgian catalogues as "brun roux," and in its deeper tints quite difficult to get hold of. In regard to the listed 10c and 20c with double corner figures, it may be stated that the 20c is not to be found with the distinctly double numerals such as are to be had of the 10c. The 20c offered are usually more or less blurred impressions. The faker has, however, stepped into the breach and provided varieties made by additions to the genuine stamp. The "double entries" have been well described and illustrated by a Belgian writer in a volume of "The Monthly Journal." Really "unused" examples of the 1st issue are much rarer than is usually supposed, and it is probably no exaggeration to say that fully 90 per cent of those in collections and on the market have had a red ink line cleaned off them. These emanate, I believe, from some remainder sheets which were left over when the stamps went out of use. The Government had a red ink line ruled across each row of stamps on the sheet. Such stamps are, of course, in a much higher category than "cleaned" stamps as usually understood by the collector, and they can be detected by an expert, but, after all, they are unused stamps.

1850: The 2nd issue consists of another finely engraved portrait of King Leopold I., this time in an oval, and the watermark of L L in frame is the same as in the first issue. The 10c and 20c are the two rarest unused stamps of the country. The 40c pale carmine was presumably the 1st colour, and is certainly much the scarcer. The remark as to cleaned stamps (mentioned under the 1st issue) applies here to the 40c carmine only. The 10c is known with slight double entry.

1851: Design as before, but the watermark is without frame. This issue is full of interest to the student, and as the 10c and 20c are still very common in used condition, it forms a happy hunting-ground for the collector of limited means. The hand-made paper used varies enormously from very thin hard to thickish porous and ribbed; a fine range of shades may be obtained. Specimens showing a watermark of large letters are not infrequent. They are part of a marginal watermark which was around the sheets. A wealth of minor retouches awaits the patient investigator, especially in the foliate leaves surrounding the medallion, and more or less recut outer and inner frame lines abound.

1861: Still the same design, but the stamps are without watermark. A new value 1c, intended for newspapers and circulars, is added to the set. The paper is machine-made, and therefore with none of the variety of the former issue, though the 10c and 20c may occasionally be found on a somewhat thicker paper. The 40c of this issue is one of the most difficult Belgian stamps to obtain in fine used condition with margins, and the same remark applies to this value unused. A marked variety of the 20c shows a damage diagonally all across the stamp, and there are some distinct retouches of the 1c.

It is surprising how few collections contain the 3 issues of 1850, 1851, and 1861 accurately classified.

1863: As before, but perforated. Three main sets of perforations exist, perf. 12½ all round, perf. 12½x13, 13½, and perf. 14½, the 1st set being relatively very much scarcer than the other two, though this is not sufficiently indicated by current catalgue quotations. The "damaged plate" variety of the 20c exists in all the 3 perforations, and what is probably the most striking retouch among the Belgian issues occurs on the 1c value, which also gives us a most prolific range of shades in the greatly varying stages of the plate, the last printings being in a very worn state. For a single stamp specialist this value may be recommended as offering quite sufficient scope for an interesting study.

The 1c value of this and of the previous imperforate issue was always—by a Post Office rule which was very well adhered to—cancelled with the town date stamp, whereas the 10c, 20c and 40c values had invariably to be cancelled by means of the "numeral in centre of lozenge shaped dots" postmark; examples with vice versa postmarks are elusive, but may occasionally be secured.

The foregoing five "line engraved" issues represent the golden age of Belgium from the philatelist's point of view and they are full of interest for the collector who is at pains to study and really understand them. Used specimens of most of them are still plentiful and inexpensive, though the condition crank will certainly encounter difficulties in the quest for really fine examples of the imperforate issues. The postmarks alone offer a considerable field for research.

1865: An attractive issue, the origin of which troubled collectors for many years, as it was at one time believed that all values were at first printed in London by Messrs. De La Rue and Co., who made the plates for the Belgian Government, but it is now clear that only the 1fr value was produced in England. The mistake was not an unnatural one, as very fine early impressions of the perf. 14½ x 14 series may be found, which differ strikingly from the later printings. The 30c perf. 14½ x 14 exists unperforated horizontally. Single specimens are not uncommon, but pairs are very rare. London collectors can feast their eyes on this rare variety in the Tapling Collection at the British Museum. An example of the 30c is also known with double perforations horizontally. This issue in the later perforation, which gauges 15 all round, gives us a fine range of shades, including a true cobalt colour in the 20c, which is worthy of catalogue rank. The imperforate 40c, which is rightly catalogued, is known used on the entire original cover from Antwerp to Libau, Russia.

1866: The three low values which form a pendant to the former issue are found in similar shades of colour to the 10c, 20c, and 30c, otherwise this issue calls for no special comment, though it may be stated that the 2c blue in perforation 15 is a scarce stamp. Very dangerous forgeries of the imperforate 1c have been made on the Continent.

1869-80 and 1875-81: These are par excellence the issues of Belgium for the lover of shades, to whom they offer an excellent scope. They were formerly listed as 1st printed on ordinary colours and 2nd in fugitive aniline colours, though the two are grouped together now; but anyway the student will find very marked differences of impression in the printing, in the gum, paper, and, as stated, in the colours. Used dated copies are the rule, and these are a great help in arranging the shades in something like chronological order of issue. Many minor varieties exist which are simply due to defective printing, perhaps the best of these being the 1c green, from which the word "CENTIME," which curves at the base of the numeral, has entirely disappeared. The Scott catalogue has long listed this variety. The 1c, 2c, 10c, and 30c are found imperforate in the early colours, and with the old gum, but these are unissued varieties. Collectors should beware of very dangerous imitations of the 5 franc stamp, in both shades of colour.

1883: This issue of 4 values, 10c, 20c, 25c, and 50c, was produced by Messrs. De La Rue and Co., and only lasted for one year, changed according to the late Mr. Westoby by reason of the altogether too flattering presentment of King Leopold II! Since the 1913 edition of the catalogue we find added these four stamps imperforate, and thereby hangs a tale. In October, 1911, the Belgian Government sold by auction in Brussels certain remainders of modern Belgian stamps which they had on hand, among them being 2,648 sets of the 4 values of 1883. The buyers were not permitted to see the stamps until they had purchased them, when, lo and behold! they turned out to be in unperforated sheets instead of in the normal perf. 14! There is, therefore, considerable doubt as to the real status of these "imperforate" stamps, which, to be consistent, are hardly entitled to catalogue rank.

1884-91: This issue does not present any special features of interest, though the 1c and 5c may be found with a number of minor varieties, due to defective printing; the 25c exists with flawed foliate ornament at right, and I have seen this value printed from a damaged plate.

1893-1907, 1900, 1905-09: Antwerp and Brussels Exhibition issues. These "Sunday label" stamps form a quite interesting group, of which the specialist can make much more than it is possible to include in a general catalogue. They comprise a large variety of shades due to the many different printings, and the marginal inscriptions are of considerable variety. Intending specialists are referred to the article on these stamps which appeared in "The Postage Stamp," Volume 4, 1909.

1912, 1912-13, and 1913-14: All these issues became obsolete on Oct. 15, 1915, and are now demonetized, a necessary precaution in view of the fact that large quantities of certain values unused are understood to have been looted by the Germans in Belgium, though up to now no offers of these stamps have been made by the Swiss stamp journals, though I see quoted the 1912 1c and (presumably) the 1913-14, 10c, both imperforate and unused at the rate of fr 2.50 each stamp. These most probably are unfinished stamps that have been looted, and as such will be left severely alone by all patriotic British philatelists. If the Editor will pass a sporting tip, it is that the 1912 issue 40c both unused and used (present catalogue quotations 6d. and 3d. respectively), and the used 2fr and 5fr, are all good for a rise! The 2c brown is listed without the engraver's name at foot of stamp, but its existence is doubtful.

The German "Belgien" Stamps, made by overprinting the current issue of Germany with the name "Belgien," have had a certain notoriety thrust upon them which caused them to receive an undue amount of attention in the British philatelic and general press. It is, however, useless to shut our eyes to the fact that they are being extensively used for genuine postal purposes all over Belgium, but especially in the provinces of Antwerp, Brabant, Hainaut, Limburg, Liege, Namur, and Luxemburg. Correspondence is much more difficult and restricted in Flanders owing to its proximity to the present zone of military operations. A Belgian friend who is still residing in Bruges wrote me (from Holland) in November of last year, that it was just permitted to send letters to Ghent and Brussels in the following manner. The stamps have to be attached to an exterior envelope addressed to the German commandant with the address of the person for whom the letter is intended on an interior envelope, so that the letter would be delivered without the exterior envelope bearing the stamps, a somewhat troublesome procedure not calculated to induce correspondence!

Oct. 15, 1915, issue: The new pictorial stamps issued from Havre show several innovations due to the war, the principal one being the absence of the "Sunday label," which we have become familiar with since 1893. The series is for obvious reasons London printed by Messrs. Waterlow Bros. & Layton, who are responsible for the modern Congo stamps, which present certain similarities to the new Belgians.

A correspondent having raised the point as to the possibilities of genuine use at the present time of this new issue, it may be pointed out that there is a considerable correspondence from the various departments of the Belgian Government at Havre, and further, the note as to looted stamps of the previously current issue is in itself a sufficient raison d'etre; finally, it is obvious that the Government must have ready a supply of stamps for use in their territory as soon as it is regained.

Charity Stamps, 1910 and 1911 issues. These are extremely ugly and quite unnecessary. The less said of them the better.

Red Cross Stamps of the present War: Two sets were issued in Belgium shortly before the fall of Antwerp; these were rapidly exhausted, and a third has been issued from Havre, London printed by Messrs. Waterlow; a variety occurs on all values of the 3rd set, one stamp in each sheet having one of the King's epaulettes broken. Varieties of perforation of the 3rd set also exist. A 4th set of Red Cross Stamps was announced to appear some considerable time back, but has not yet seen the light of day.

The Postage Due Stamps, of which only two very plain designs have appeared in the last 45 years, have no special features, but a pretty range of shades can be got together. The current type has appeared, London printed, from Havre.

The Parcel Post Stamps offer much of interest to anyone looking for an inexpensive field of research. Shades and varieties abound, and the cancellations, which are quite different to those used on the ordinary postage stamps, have never yet been properly studied and described in English. The material is certainly very plentiful and inexpensive, as these stamps by the pound weight are a favourite offering of the Continental dealer. Whilst on this subject I should like to warn British collectors of the presence on the market of enormous quantities of looted unused Parcel Post stamps of the formerly current types 1902-1914 issues, 10c to 10 francs, 20 kinds in all.

In conclusion. I am sure that the innumerable philatelists of the British Empire and the Allied Nations will unite with the writer in the sincere wish that before the next issue of "The Stamp Collectors' Annual" is published King Albert will have made a triumphant reentry into his beautiful capital City of Brussels, and that the Belgian nation will be busily engaged in setting their sadly ravaged house in order.—Stamp Collectors' Annual.

IN 1868.

The Journal des Connaissances Medicales devotes an article to the description of the various processes through which French postage stamps pass before they get into the hand of the public. The little bit of paper we stick upon our letters is, properly speaking, an infinitesimal bank note, perfectly well calculated to play the part of a currency, as in fact it did during the late war, for a short time, after specie failed. The Journal says:

"The emperor's effigy is the work of the chief engineer of that establishment; the copper plates, each of which bears 150 impressions, are obtained by galvanoplastics, in a special laboratory pertaining to the director of the postage-stamp department, who enjoys the same privileges and is liable to the same responsibility as the director of the coining department. He produces at his own risk, and is bound to supply the administration with all the stamps it may require and which are only accepted after strict examination. He is only paid for what he delivers, the whole stock being his own property, and the workmen's salaries entirely at his own charge. The special workshops in which the manufacture is carried on have the appearance of a neatly-kept printing office; all the machines are nicely polished, perfectly clean, and working so softly as almost to induce the visitor to forget there is any force applied to them. Everything here is done in silence. The sheets of paper, provided by Lacroix, of Angomemi, are counted, and then varnished by machinery; a colorless substance is next laid on, which is kept a secret, and renders all forgery impossible, since it is this coating which receives the final impression. The paper, thus prepared, is locked up until required. Two plates, previously well cleansed by benzine, are printed off at a time by steam, a roller impregnated with the proper color passing over the plates after each stroke. Each sheet contains 300 stamps separated by a white margin into two portions of 150 each. When dry, the sheets are cut in two by an ingenious contrivance, then gummed in a particular room and lastly, when dry, taken to the pricking machine, where, five at a time being inclosed in an iron frame, the holes are pricked all round each stamp with wonderful regularity. The sheets are now examined and the bad ones rejected, the number of the latter is daily recorded, after which they are burnt. The good ones are locked up in a press with three keys, this is only opened in the presence of the functionary sent by the administration of the postoffice to get a supply, for which he gives a receipt. In 1867 the number of postage stamps delivered was 489,347,400, for which the state paid the sum of 451,478 francs."

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XII. — Split Provisionals. (Continued.)

The average individual probably found it much easier to use two ordinary one cent stamps! Four varieties of these provisionals can be made by specialists according to the manner in which the stamps were divided, viz.:

Right upper half.

In an article in the Monthly Journal for May, 1902, Mr. C. J. Phillips mentions a bisect of the 1 cent of 1873-79, viz.: "I have this stamp bisected vertically and used on portion of original, dated 'ST. THOMAS 29.8.82.' I do not know of any ½c rate, or what this could have been used for, but it has every appearance of being perfectly genuine, so I place it on record."

After diligent search we discovered an earlier chronicle of this soi-disant provisional in the Philatelic Record for May, 1883, and also a statement a few months later from a well-informed local philatelist that "nothing of the sort has been issued in St. Thomas, and that the specimens met with are frauds."

CHAPTER XIII

The New Currency.

In 1905 a new currency was adopted in the Danish West Indies consisting of the franc divided into 100 bit in place of the dollar and cents previously in use. The franc has a nominal value of 20 cents in United States money and a bit (which, curiously enough, has no plural form) is worth one-fifth of a cent. At the time the new currency was adopted it was decided to have an entirely new series of stamps and the bit values appeared about June, 1905, and the franc denominations in December of the same year.

The design for the lower values is certainly a remarkable one, the main feature being a profile portrait of King Christian IX in solid color, somewhat like the portraits made by silhouette artist. The portrait is enclosed within a small circle in which are also the words "CHRISTIAN DEN NIENDE", so that there may be no room for misconception as to whom the portrait is intended to represent. The frame around this circle is likewise more peculiar than artistic. At each of the four corners is a large crown, set diagonally, the lower ones being inverted, while between them is "DANSK" at the left, "VEST" at the top, "INDIEN" at the right, and "POST" at the bottom. Across the bottom of the design is a straight label inscribed "BIT" in the centre and with the numerals of value in white on solid color at each side. The design was the work of Mr. F. V. T. Klint, an architect, from whose drawing a photographic reproduction was made. The stamps were surface printed on the usual Crown watermarked paper and have the usual 12½ x 13 perforation. The 20, 40 and 50 bit values were printed in two colors.

The higher values—1, 2 and 5 francs—are stamps of large size and each is in two colors. The central design shows a ship in full sail, with mountains in the background. The frame is inscribed "DANSK-VESTINDIEN" across the top, and "FRIMAERKE 1 (2 or 5) FRANC" across the bottom, while in each of the four corners of the centre are large numerals to denote the value enclosed within post-horns. This design

I now have in stock a fine lot of blocks of unused Department stamps in superb condition which I am selling at reasonable prices. Mr. Collector, what do you want in this line?

H. F. COLMAN
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

was also the work of Mr. Klint and the dies were engraved at the Imperial Printing Office in Berlin. The stamps were printed at the Government Printing Works in Copenhagen, the centre from a line-engraved plate and the frames by means of surface printing. The paper is watermarked like that of the lower values, but the perforation gauges 12 and was the work of a single-line machine.

CHAPTER XIV.

The 1905 Provisionals.

In order to use up stocks of the 4, 5 and 8 cents stamps that were still on hand at the Government Printing Works in Copenhagen when the new currency came into force, these stamps were overprinted "5—BIT—1905" in three lines in black and sent to the Colony. It seems quite certain that these provisionals were sent to the West Indies, though there was no need for them as the new 5 bit stamps of the regular design were already in use, but it seems more than doubtful that they were ever issued except to speculators.

Quoting from the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidsskrift for December, 1905, Mr. Hanciau tells us:—

"On the day on which these stamps made their appearance an extraordinary amount of business was done at the three post offices at which they were put on sale. One can easily understand the disappointment of the general public on discovering that, about a quarter of an hour after the sale had commenced, there was nothing left out of a comparatively large edition. The representatives of a 'Charitable Society for the Assistance of the Lepers' had, with the knowledge of the Government, set upon each of these three post offices and bought up the whole stock, without exception. The Society had received the pecuniary support of a bank, which bank was to employ a portion of the stamps upon the letters addressed to its principal branches at Copenhagen and to return the used stamps to the Society. By what route was this stock sent to the West Indies? This we have never been able to find out, but it is a matter of relatively small importance.

The Society for the Lepers, of which we have spoken, gave the monopoly of these stamps to a dealer at Copenhagen. He paid, so far as we have been able to ascertain, 40 öre per set (the face value being about 11 öre), and he made a profit of 50 per cent., or 75 öre for single sets."

While the above was probably perfectly correct at the time it was written so far as the facts were then known, we now know that the larger part of these provisionals were returned to Copenhagen to be destroyed with other obsolete issues in 1906. From the official figures, which show that exactly 220 sheets of each of the three provisionals were disposed of, it seems apparent that those which were sold were cornered by the Society mentioned above or some other speculator.

PHILATELISTS AND THE POTATO.

By PERCY C. BISHOP.

Sorry I was absent last issue, gentle readers. Please forgive me. I was tilling the soil—tilling it so good and hard that I completely forgot my accustomed furrow in the S. C. F.

Philatelists, in their hundreds or perhaps thousands, are bitten with the potato-growing craze, and I am one of them. Potatoes in their millions—at least we hope so—will be our portion.

If only a tithe of the tons of "spuds" budgetted for by the amateur planters of to-day come to fruition in autumn, then the Food Minister's doubts and apprehensions as to the potato supply of the future will vanish like snow beneath a summer sun. There will be potatoes without stint—potatoes in such abundance that the lowest pre-war price of "five pounds for tuppence" may again be the ruling quotation in costermonger circles.

If all the crops planned by the hopeful spare-time agriculturists of to-day should be duly raised and brought to market, then we should have, not a shortage, but an absolute glut of this most grateful of edible roots. Too many potatoes! Perhaps even a queue of dealers eager to sell at any price, in place of the present melancholy strings of weary would-be purchasers! But the "if" with which I began this paragraph is scarcely likely to be realised. Here and there a tyro in vegetable culture will drop out discouraged, perhaps driven almost crazy by weeds and wireworm; here and there some backslider will go away fishing; here and there a philatelist will be unable any longer to sever himself from his stamps.

Well, it is a hearty and a healthful hobby, this same potato-growing. And there is more than a spice of sport in it. For the day-dreamer and the builder of castles-in-the-air, I know of nothing better.

The weather being fine, you thrust your fork into the honest, sweet-smelling earth, and as if by magic, your troubles and your worries fall away from you. The work is mechanical; it leaves your mind free to rove the wide world over. At the third or fourth thrust of your fork, maybe, your day-dream begins. You buy a collection, let us say. It is a fine big collection, though you have bought it for a paltry matter of shillings; it is full of good things, though the late owner quite failed to appreciate them. Another breadth of ground is dug, and by that time you have re-sold the remnants of the collection at a clear profit, after enriching your own albums with many things that you had long coveted in vain. Your next dream, maybe, will put you in possession of a large parcel of war stamps, chock-full of errors, or possibly you get a new colonial issue direct from the postmaster on the spot, the said postmaster being kind enough to enclose a waste sheet inadvertently printed in the wrong colour, which, he thinks, "may interest you as a philatelist."

At this point it is more than probable that you will wake up and discover that you want your tea. But if the tea be good, and the butter-substitute not too unpalatable, all will be well, and this world will seem to you to be the better for having found you something useful to do in your hours of leisure.—Stamp Collector's Fortnightly.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Some time ago we noted by courtesy of D. C. Alexander a variety of the current 2c stamped envelope showing white diagonal bars on the red background of the stamp. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing thus replies to an inquiry made at Washington:—"These white bars are due to a slightly uneven distribution of the ink on the face of the stamp at the time the impression was made." This is no doubt true, but it does not explain very satisfactorily the peculiar appearance of this stamp with its very regular parallel diagonal lines.

—Dr. W. L. Babcock, one of Detroit's leading collectors and Superintendent of Grace Hospital, has left Detroit for the training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where he has been ordered into active service.

—The Brookline Stamp Co., Brookline, Mass., would like information in regard to the following collectors who do not reply to communications sent them:—A. Krahmer, Fairmount, Minnesota; Reid West, 203 East Sixth St., Concordia, Kansas; Maurice Diamond, 617 Hendrix St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; James Gordan, 430 3rd Ave., Terre Haute, Ind. and Sydney M. Cone, 2326 Eutaw Place, Baltimore, Md. Mr. Cone says that he mailed the stamps and suggests that they must have been lost in the mails.

—We received information, from a trustworthy source in Mauritius, that the total issue of the 25c with white back consisted of 250 sheets, or 30,000 stamps, which were immediately bought up by collectors and dealers. Our correspondent writes us that these interesting stamps are already changing hands in the colony at one shilling each. A considerable rise in price is expected shortly.—Griebert's Notes and Offers.

—Maitland Milliken meets our postmark combination, described and illustrated some three weeks ago, with a similar combination. In this instance Mr. Milliken's name is represented by two post offices in Colorado, which is an interesting combination in view of the fact that he is a resident of that state.

—Wm. Crouch, father of the late Captain L. W. Crouch of London, England, has published a book containing the letters written from the front. Captain Crouch was vice-president of the J. P. S., had the pen of a ready writer and had many friends in America with whom he corresponded in connection with U. S. stamps. The price of the book is $1.32 and it may be secured from S. G. Bennett, Aylesbury, England.

—Complaints have been entered against several collectors by the Auburn Stamp Co. of Auburn, Me. The names are:—Russell Higley, East Akron, O.; Harold A. Haherty, and David Kornblum, both of Daly City, Calif.

—The Beaver Stamp Co., formerly of Port Arthur, Ont., has now removed to Winnipeg. This change will account for any delay that may occur in answering correspondence.

—C. A. Brewster, St. Louis, Mo., is leaving for two or three weeks and will be unable to keep up with his correspondence during his absence.

—H. A. Haherty, to whom reference is made elsewhere in our News Gleanings as failing to reply to letters, is also reported by H. R. Stiles of Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. Stiles also has grievances against R. H. Bode, Carrick, Pa., and John Bigelow, 1332 12th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

—The membership of the J. A. P. S., according to the secretary, John G. Bassler, is approaching the hundred mark. This society is composed of boys and young men and has been organized less than a year.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Maitland Milliken, E. F. Walters, Herman Boers (2), and W. H. Wilkerson, Jr.

—We are pleased to announce the return of F. P. Gibbs to our advertising columns after an enforced absence of several months. He has been through a severe illness but now reports that he is in the "pink of condition" and expects to be with us for a long time.

—The Star Stamp Co., of Waterford, Wis., reports inability to secure replies to letters addressed Leroy Watson, Toledo, O., and A. B. Cleveland, Holyoke, Mass.

THE JOY OF OUR HEART.

A SUBSCRIBER, W. S. P. S. 12.

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance at the birth of each year,
Who lays down his money and does it quite gladly,
And brings to the office a halo of cheer.

He never says, "STOP IT; I cannot afford it,
I'm getting more magazines now than I read;"
But always says, "Send it; our people all like it—
In fact, we all think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check when it reaches our sanctum;
How it makes our pulse throb; how it makes our hearts dance!
We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him—
The steady subscriber who pays in ADVANCE.

THE CASE OF LAZOS.

W. C. Phillips & Co. met with the loss of a large approval selection in the flight of Louis Lazos from the U. S. Naval Hospital at Las Animas, Colo. Losses are being reported by other dealers and it is very evident that this party planned his campaign of robbery with much forethought.

It is reported that Lazos borrowed funds from patients at the Hospital and a correspondent at the Hospital writes concerning him:—"I have known him for about two years and considered his reputation good. He borrowed money on the strength of his acquaintanceship with inmates of the hospital to go to Chicago, as he claimed, to sell his stamp collection."

Commenting upon this episode another correspondent refers to his use of his society memberships in securing approval selections and writes us as follows:—

"We are getting so many short deals first and last from parties who have been admitted to the society, it seems as if a little more care taken in looking members over might not be amiss if a membership is going to be of any value as a reference basis. This is purely a personal comment and does not call for mention in your paper, but we have been stung a good many times over those society letters as a reference basis and they mean a lot less than they used to."

In this connection we want to endorse what has been said. The time has passed when our stamp societies should furnish merely an annual talk-fest or a summer outing. If there is one thing it should do, it is to be assured of the financial responsibility of all applicants. If this is impossible, the use of society initials should be prohibited for purposes of reference. Losses such as represented in the Lazos case will compel dealers to insist upon something further than society membership numbers for references.

Later.—As we go to press further information is at hand concerning Lazos, and numerous dealers state that they have been victimized. Dr. H. A. Davis, secretary of the A. P. S., writes that the collection he is offering for sale is a specialized collection of Greece. If offered any dealer, Dr. Davis urges that Lazos be arrested and wire sent to Colorado Springs.

EDITORIAL.

Economy—The following order to "Postmasters to Encourage Use of High Denomination Stamps," dated at Washington, June 2, 1917, is self-explanatory. In this connection, it is to be said that this measure of economy is not original with this country as we remember that Miss Amy L. Swift sent us many months ago, particulars of the recommendation of the postmaster general of the Australian Commonwealth, or of one of the states, advising this intensive use of postage stamps:

"As a measure of economy postmasters and post office employees are directed to encourage the public to use stamps of the highest denominations suited to the amount of postage required on all mail. For example, a 2-cent stamp instead of two 1-cent stamps should be affixed to letters needing two cents postage; and a 10-cent stamp instead of five 2-cent should be attached to parcels requiring ten cents postage. Co-operation between post office employees and the public in the sale and use of stamps of the higher denominations will effect a large saving to the Government in the cost of producing, transporting, and cancelling them, and will benefit the public in minimizing the number of stamps handled and affixed to mail. This benefit will be especially important to business concerns mailing large quantities of letters and parcels, and postmasters are directed to bring the suggestion particularly to their notice.

Postmasters will cause this suggestion to be published in the newspapers when it can be done without expense to the Department.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Ass't P. M. Gen."

Escaped—We are devoutly thankful that we were not lead into naming in our news columns any prices on the five cent error during the early weeks of its discovery. We have been importuned by readers and others to express an opinion as to price of the sensational stamp. When in a private capacity we discussed values we proceeded so cautiously that after all, the inquirer had to depend on his own judgment. For several days after the news of the error was known, we did not see a single specimen of the stamp; and then, the spell was broken and the stamps came in from many different sources. Thereupon, a condition arose that is not unusual in instances of the kind; while the stamps were plentiful, yet the trade movement in them was restricted as liberal bids for the stamps were not accepted by the holders. Soon, however, prices declined and a feeling of wariness characterized the market. We are informed that the error will be catalogued at a moderate price which, nevertheless, will be higher than that of any other stamp of which so large a number was issued, because of the peculiar interest that the error will always have. The demand will always be such as to keep pace with the supply or the number of the errors available.

Suggested—We have heard all sorts of rumors about the quantities of the errors held here and there which need not be detailed until our informants are surer of their ground. The error is to be credited for the good effect that it has had and is having on collecting. The public mind was singularly receptive to the story of the error and the tale bids fair to become one of the classics of the outside world. Almost everybody remembers about the error, even though their attention was called to it through an inconsequential item in the paper. It made a hit with all classes throughout the country and they are hugging the story fondly. The inquiries of collectors at post offices and elsewhere for plate 7942 have helped the advertising. Our letter carrier was told about the error and advised to keep his eye open for a red five; he did, and found one on a letter that he delivered. Our advertising columns revealed the existence of both perforations, 10 and 11, in the error; and Mr. John E. Lord writes as follows: "I have been advised by what I consider good authority that some sheets with the error have been precanceled, 'Chicago.' A wholesale woolen house in Chicago is said to have used one of the errors as a five cent stamp in sending some goods by parcel post; and the package was received with three cents postage due. The recipients of the package complained about paying the three cents, claiming that the stamp was a five cent stamp; and they paid the postage under protest but decided that the case was too small to make a fuss about and destroyed the evidence. My informant is not a stamp collector, but says that he saw the package and that all the stamps had the word, Chicago, printed on them." A dealer received a remittance in two cent stamps and found the error in the lot, the collector, who sent the stamps, having overlooked it.

More—To dwell for an instant on the human interest of the error story, we may say that an example of the wish to supply that quality is found in the story of the Virginia postmaster who is alleged to have written to Washington that he "wished the department would not print the 5c and the 2c stamps on the same sheet as it was confusing in keeping the accounts." This sentiment, the truth of which is denied, was created to meet the yearning for human details. We must revise our opinion expressed several weeks ago that the newspapers did not rise to the opportunity presented by the story of the errors. We found later that in many cases the papers did give some attention to the stamps and the result was a volume of publicity that while not always according to the book was well worth having.

Twisted—The Chicago Daily News in describing the earthquake at Salvador presents a picture of San Salvador, the capital, which it calls "the capital of the West Indian republic, where Columbus discovered America." We wonder if it were possible for the veriest tyro in collecting to dish up such a mixture of misinformation. We again maintain that one of the justifications of philately is that it teaches geography. In connection with the Salvador calamity, we had the satisfaction of providing a certain city editor with the denominations of current Salvador set showing the Barrios and Independence monuments, the National Palace and the Rosales Hospital for use in his pictorial exploitation of the scene of the disaster. He used several of the illustrations and we forgave him for his density in not recognizing the great human interest story that could be woven around the 5c error and chilling our enthusiasm by not giving a sign of approval of our suggestion that he use the story "big."

Mistake—Of course, the Daily News made a bad mistake and mistakes will happen in the best regulated newspaper offices—even the WEEKLY has been known to make them. On one memorable occasion, a typographical error distorted things scandalously; we corrected the mistake by repeating it but the third time the correction "took." It is very puzzling at times to know how these things happen; and this reflection leads us to regard the plight of the Philatelic Sun with sympathy: "In the March issue we stated that Mr. A— and Mrs. B— traveled over the country in 1895. This was an error on the part of the proofreader. It should have read, 'It was in 1895, when accompanied by Mr. B—, Mr. A— made a tour of the United States'," etc. In a stamp paper the other day, we found one of the ads offering "Times"; and from the context it was understood that Timor was intended. Timor, by the way, is a puzzler to the non-philatelic compositor when presented in hand-written copy.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

BOLIVAR.—I. A department of the republic of Colombia, bordering upon the Carribean Sea. It has an area of 21,340 square miles and its population exceeds 330,000. Some few years ago it was divided into two portions—Magdalena and Atlantico—Barranquilla being the capital of the former and Cartagena the capital of the latter. The whole department is, however, still generally known by the name of Bolivar and that name still appears on its postage stamps, the first of which were issued in 1863.

II. A province of the republic of Ecuador having a population of over 43,000. All the postage stamps issued in this province from the latter part of 1902 until 1904 were overprinted with the word "Resellada". The overprint was applied as a check upon the stamps as, owing to a disastrous fire at Guayaquil in July, 1902, in which the Government stores were burned, the officials were uncertain as to the fate of a large quantity of stamps which were in stock at the time of the fire. It was not known whether they had been burned or stolen, and in case the latter might have happened, the authorities ordered all similar stamps in stock at all the post-offices of the republic to be marked in some distinctive manner before being used and stamps without overprint were not recognised as having any franking value.

III. A value in which some of the stamps of Venezuela are expressed. A bolivar is divided into 100 centimos and has a nominal value of 10c in United States currency.

BOLIVIA.—A republic of South America having an area of about 570,000 square miles and a population of nearly two millions. In 1879 Chili took possession of the Bolivian coastlands and the country now has no ports of its own. Its exports thus have to be carried to Mollendo (Peru), Africa and Antofagasta at which places Bolivian Customs agents reside. The country was formerly comprised in the Spanish Vice-royalty of Colombia under the name of "Alto Peru" and it derives its present name from its great liberator Simon Bolivar. It gained its independence in 1824, after the battle of Ayachuco. The Colombian general, Bolivar, made his entrance into La Paz in 1825, and under his auspices, the first constitution was drawn up in 1826. The government consists of a president and two vice-presidents, a senate of sixteen members, and sixty-nine deputies. Bolivia issued its first postage stamps in 1866.

BOLIVIANO.—The value in which some of the stamps of the republic of Bolivia are expressed. It derives its name from that of the country and its liberator, Simon Bolivar. A boliviano is divided into 100 centavos and is nominally worth 50c in American money. The term has apparently only been in use since 1897 and prior to that date stamps equivalent in value to 1 boliviano were expressed as 100 centavos.

BOLLO DELLA POSTA DI SICILIA.—An inscription appearing on the stamps of Sicily meaning "stamp of the Post of Sicily".

BOLLO DELLA POSTA NAPOLETANA.—An inscription shown upon all the stamps of Naples which signifies "Postage Stamp of Naples".

BOLLO POSTALE.—An inscription shown upon the stamps of the small republic of San Marino meaning "Postage Stamp".

BOND PAPER.—A strong, tough paper made from linen rags. Die proofs of several United States stamps may be found on this paper.

BONILLA.—The Bonilla stamps is a special label issued in the republic of Honduras in February, 1912, to commemorate the election of President Manuel Bonilla.

BORDEAUX PRINTS.—The name generally applied to the French stamps lithographed at Bordeaux from November, 1870, until March, 1871, during the siege of Paris when, of course, ordinary supplies from the Paris mint were unobtainable.

BORNEO.—(See North Borneo.)

BORRIUS, J. P.—A printer of Potchefstroom, Transvaal, who printed supplies of the 1d, 3d, 6d and 1sh stamps for the South African Republic in September, 1870, and December, 1872.

BOSCAWEN.—A town in the State of New Hampshire at which a special 5c stamp was issued by the Postmaster in 1846, to facilitate the prepayment of postage. The label was in use but a few months, for in August, 1847, it was replaced by the ordinary stamps for the whole of the United States.

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA.—Two provinces in the north-western portion of the Balkan Peninsula having an area of about 17,000 square miles and a population of over a million and a half—all of Servian blood. Successively forming part of Illyria, Pannonia and Dalmatia, the country was peopled by Slavs in the sixth and seventh centuries. Then for eight hundred years it was subject successively to Servia, Croalia, and a line of native kings until, in 1463, it was subjugated by the Turkish Sultan Mohammed II. It afterwards played an important part in supplying the famous Janissary corps to the Turkish armies. In 1849-50, and in 1875, the peasantry (who mostly clung to the Roman Catholic faith) rose in revolt against their masters (their own countrymen who had accepted Mohammedanism in order to retain their estates) and against their Turkish rulers. Under the treaty of Berlin of July 13th, 1878, the joint monarchy of Austro-Hungary was given a mandate to occupy and administer Bosnia and Herzegovina, together with the sarjak of Novi-Bayar, under the nominal suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey. Austria had long desired to annex these provinces and in 1908, when internal affairs in Turkey were in a state of upheaval, she calmly appropriated them and they now form part of the Austro-Hungarian empire. Special postage stamps for use in Bosnia and Herzegovina were first issued in April, 1879.

BOSNIEN: HERZEGOWINA.—The local rendering of Bosnia and Herzegovina as shown upon all the stamps for those provinces issued since 1906.

BOSTON.—The capital and largest city of the State of Massachusetts, having a population well in excess of 700,000. It is situated at the head of Massachusetts Bay, the first settlement having been made in 1630, by settlers from the Winthrop fleet. The town took a leading part in the revolution and was the scene of the Boston "tea party". In 1872, much of the business portion of the city was destroyed by fire. The intellectual "culture" of the city is proverbial. In 1849, and 1850, a semi-official postal service was established for the delivery of letters within the precincts of the city and in connection therewith special 1c and 2c stamps were issued.

BOURNE, HERBERT.—An English engraver of repute who was born in 1825. He engraved dies or portions of dies for several stamp manufacturers including Perkins, Bacon & Co., Waterlow & Sons, Waterlow Bros. and Layton, Skipper & East, and Bradbury Wilkinson & Co. Examples of his work may be found on some of the stamps of Queensland, Hayti, Liberia, Chili, Spain, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Uruguay and Nyassa. He died on November 13th, 1907, at the ripe old age of 82 and he was actively engaged at his work right up to the time of his death.

UNITED STATES.—(1380)—Of the unwatermarked Perf. 10 Special Delivery stamps, there are two very decided shades. The latest to come to our notice is a deep bright blue, while in contrast to this, those formerly in our hands were of a milky light blue. These shades are so positive that they deserve to have catalogue rank.

It has not been the custom to list advertising cancellations in our chronicle, but hereafter we will try to serve our readers, if any interest is shown in the matter. We have at hand two styles of advertising cancellations from Washington, thanks to Messrs. H. M. Southgate and Benj. Cadbury. Both are worded the same: "Do Your Bit Buy A Liberty Loan Bond Inquire At Any Bank Or Post Office". We also thank Mr. Frank Reeder, Jr., for sending a copy of the ad. cancellation in use at Easton, Pa. Mr. Reeder believes Easton was the first city outside of Washington to thus advertise the Liberty Bond sale. The ad. in this case reads: "Your Patriotic Duty Buy A Liberty Bond". It went into use on June 1st. Mr. Eugene Tilleux, Jr., submits a drawing of an ad. cancellation in use at Wichita, Kansas. It reads: "International Wheat Show Oct. 1-13-1917 Wichita, Kans."

(1379)—Mr. J. M. Bartels writes to us: "Envelope collectors will be interested to hear that a new circular die has appeared which will be known as die F. So far it is known on size 13 white and amber. The die has the small head of the die E. Die F can be distinguished as follows: E far from circle at right; N of CENTS narrow; left numeral tilted backward; head smaller, similar to die E; T S wide at bottom."

Mr. Bartels also hands us a list of new envelopes, supplementing the list in our chronicle of June 2nd.

AITUTAKI.—The Australian Stamp Journal chronicles the New Zealand 1sh overprinted for use in this island. The stamps are perf. 14x14½ and 14x13½ on the same sheet.

Adhesive.
1sh orange-red.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—(1377)—It seems that we have not listed the complete new set from this country, as mentioned in our chronicles of April 14th and May 19th. The stamps have a portrait of San Martin similar to the Centenary set but the dates "1816-1916" have been replaced with the currency "Centavos" or "Pesos" as the case may be.

Adhesives.
½c lilac.
1c buff.
2c lilac-brown.
3c light green.
4c red-violet.
5c light red.
10c dull green.
12c light blue.
20c ultramarine.
24c light red-brown.
30c claret.
50c gray-black.
1p slate-blue and red.
5p blue-gray and olive.
10p violet and blue.
20p dull blue and claret.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian Stamp Journal says that for a short time the 3d stamps were on sale, at the G.P.O. at Sydney, in an entirely new shade, more like the 4d Victoria, which was in use before the Australia series. The Scott catalogue lists the 3d as olive-bistre, while it lists the 4d Victoria as bistre. Soon afterward the old shade reappeared, but slightly paler. Shades of the current Australian stamps seem to be increasing and are becoming perplexing to the chronicler.

The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain gives the quantities printed of Scott's Nos. 26 to 33 as follows: 2d, 6,120,000; 2½d, 1,416,000; 6d, 4,800,000; 9d, 8,169,840 1sh, 7,200,000; 2sh, 960,000 and 5sh, 1,440,000.

Two War-Savings stamps are to be issued of the values of 6d and 2sh 6d, and although they may come with postal cancellations, they cannot be considered as postage stamps, says Stamp Collecting quoting from the Australian Stamp Journal.

AUSTRIA.—Feldpost.—Locher's Bulletin chronicles several novelties and changes of color in Scott's types O1 and O2.

Adhesives.
10h light blue. 80h brown.
15h carmine. 90h claret.
20h olive. 4k violet-black.

BAHAMAS.—(1380)— On the authority of Mr. Lyons we stated last week that the new Red Cross stamps appeared to be surface-printed. We have now had the opportunity of examining an entire sheet of them and have come to the conclusion that they are line-engraved, with the Red Cross and date "1.1.17." lithographed. We also note several varieties as follows: The date "1.1.17." on the 42nd stamp shows a "7" with a longer down stroke than those in the rest of the sheet of sixty. The 1st and 2nd stamps in the sheet are joined at the top by a thin guide line. The 12th stamp in the sheet has a short guide line over the upper right corner. There is no importance attached to these varieties, they are mentioned solely as a guide.

BARBADOS.—The current ¼d, 1d and 2½d of this colony, seal type, have been seen with the watermark inverted.

BAVARIA.—(1358)—Scott's Circular chronicles the 20pf Official stamp appearing on white instead of bluish paper.

Official.
20pf blue.

BELGIUM.—German Occupation—Since the first occupation stamps were issued in 1914 with the word "Centimes" and those of the same series issued in 1915, two series have been issued with changes of surcharge. The latter appeared in 1916 with centimes abbreviated to "Cent." and thus overprinted but without the word "Belgien" later in the year. For the convenience of keeping an accurate chronicle, we append the lists of the later surcharges below:

"Cent." and "Belgien".
3c on 3pf brown.
5c on 5pf green.
8c on 7½pf orange.
10c on 10pf carmine.
15c on 15pf yellow brown.
25c on 20pf blue.
40c on 30pf orange and black on buff.
50c on 40pf lake and black.
75c on 60pf rose-lilac.
1fr on 80pf lake and black on rose.
1fr 25c on 1mk carmine.
2fr 50c on 2mk blue.
6fr 25c on 5mk black and carmine.

Without "Belgien".
Same as above list with the exception of the 6fr 25c.

BOSNIA.—(1371)—A new series of postage stamps and postage dues have been issued by the military government of Bosnia, and according to Locher's Bulletin the list is as follows:

Adhesives.

3h gray.	40h vermilion.
5h olive-green.	50h blue-green.
6h violet.	60h claret.
10h bistre.	80h red-brown.
12h blue-gray.	90h deep violet.
15h carmine.	2k brown on cream.
20h brown.	3k green on bluish.
25h blue.	4k carmine on green.
30h dark green.	10k violet on gray.

Postage Dues.

5h carmine.	30h carmine.
10h carmine.	40h carmine.
15h carmine.	50h carmine.
20h carmine.	1k blue.
25h carmine.	3k blue.

Three of these new postage stamps were mentioned in our chronicle of April 4th. They all contain the portrait of the late Emperor Francis Joseph I. The postage dues show a large numeral in an octagon towards the bottom of the stamp, with "Militarpost" and "Portomarke" in two lines above, and the value again expressed in a line at the bottom.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—(1379)—Ewen's Weekly is our authority for stating that on April 10th the 2½d and the 1½d on 2½d War Stamp were exhausted at Grand Cayman.

CUBA.—(1380)—Under date of May 31st, Mr. John S. Otero advised us that the remaining unissued values of the new portrait series would be issued on June 10th. These will include the 1, 10, 20, 50 centavos and 1 peso. The 2, 3, 5 and 8c have so far been chronicled.

DANISH WEST INDIES.—(1379)—It may interest our readers to know that the original shipment of the "missing values" of the King Christian X series, is said to have met disaster at the hands of a German submarine. The 500 each of these values, which were sent to the Islands later, were the remainders of the original printing, being issued to give the islanders a chance of securing a few of these stamps as mementoes before the United States took over the postal arrangements, so says Whitfield King & Co.'s List.

DOMINICA.—(1371)—The stamp listed in our chronicle of April 7th should have been listed as the black on light green highly surfaced paper, as listed for Fiji and Gold Coast in this week's Chronicle, as taking the place of the earlier gray-black on green paper.

Adhesive.
1sh black on light green.

FIJI.—The Australian Stamp Journal and Scott's Circular chronicle new postage due stamps for this country. They are printed on horizontally laid paper and perf. 11. The design shows "Postage Due" at top and "Fiji" at bottom, with a large numeral in the centre.

Postage Dues.
1d black.
2d black.
3d black.
4d black.

The ½d King George as well as the same stamps overprinted "War Stamp" are appearing in a bright yellow green shade, according to the Australian Stamp Journal.

The Postage Stamp chronicles the 1sh in black on light green highly surfaced paper, taking the place of the 1sh gray-black on green.

Adhesives.
½d bright yellow-green.
1sh black on light green.

War Stamp.
½d bright yellow green.

GIBRALTAR.—Marsh's Weekly Philatelist chronicles new shades of the current Georgian stamps. The 1sh is in intense black on light green highly surfaced paper, the ½d is of a new pale yellowish-green color, while the 2½d is of the deep ultramarine color the same as the second printing of the Cayman Islands War Stamp.

Adhesives.
½d pale yellow-green.
2½d deep ultramarine.
a. variety: large 2 in fraction.
1sh black on light green.

GOLD COAST.—We note in the Economist Bulletin and the Postage Stamp mention of the 1sh on a new green paper

GREECE.—We are indebted to Mr. Henry J. Perry for word regarding a new provisional stamp for the Royalist Government. Mr. Perry has received on a cover bearing the ordinary 25l overprinted with a crown and ET a 1l stamp surcharged "K. P. Lepton 5". The "K. P." made us think at once of Prosorini Kivernisis, but we questioned the use of these words in the Athens camp as they are the words of the new Venizelist issue. The stamp may be a charity issue or a tax stamp, and we await more definite news. It will be noted that the surcharge contains the singular "Lepton" and not the plural "Lepta".

HUNGARY.—(1380)—Continuing our chronicle of the new reaper design, the list now stands:

Adhesives.

3f red-lilac.	50f red-violet.
5f green.	75f deep blue.
10f red.	80f olive.
15f violet.	1k deep red.
20f light brown.	2k red-brown.
25f blue.

It may be a far cry back to December 30th, 1916, the coronation date of the new King and Queen of Hungary, but on that day two hastily prepared commemorative stamps were issued to celebrate the event philatelically. The stamps are on unwatermarked paper and are perf. 15. The 10f shows a portrait of Queen Zita and the 15f pictures King Charles. It is said that one million of each were issued up to January 7th and soon bought up.

Commemorative Stamps.

15f red.

Likewise two charity postage stamps were recently issued, but these seem to have escaped our chronicle. They contain pictures of soldiers in action, differing for each value, and were issued in 1916.

Charity Postage.

10f+2f red.
15f+2f violet.

ITALY.—It seems we have failed to chronicle the new 20c stamp, Scott's type A50.

Adhesive.

20c dull orange.

JAMAICA.—(1376)—When the 1½d War Stamp in the 8-point Roman setting first appeared, the 11th stamp of the first pane showed no period. When the 3d came to be issued with this large type setting, the no period error occurred in the same position. The ½d sheets showed that an endeavor had been made to correct this missing period by means of a character resembling an inverted "D", very minute. The 1½d and 3d have also appeared with this correcting character for stamp 11. The no period error now occurs in all three values, on stamp 45 of the first pane.

LUXEMBOURG.—This country has issued two new values in the design of Scott's type A11, replacing the provisional surcharges of the same values issued last year. The two stamps have also been issued for official use with the overprint "Officiel".

Adhesives.

17½c dark brown.
87½c orange.

Official Stamps.

87½c orange.

MAURITIUS.—(1374)—The Philatelic Magazine gives the Colonial Journal as its authority for stating that the 5c and 1 rupee have now been printed on plate No. 5. The 1 rupee being on the new highly surfaced light green paper, as mentioned for other British Colonies in this chronicle.

Adhesive.

1sh black on light green.

MONTENEGRO.—German Occupation.—Scott's Circular chronicles stamps of Bosnia 1916-17 overprinted "Montenegro".

Adhesives.

10h bistre.
15h carmine-rose.

The publication quoted translates the following from the Journal Philatelique de Berne: "On March 1st, the anniversary day of the introduction of the imperial and royal military administration in Montenegro, there will be issued with the authorization of the general order of the army, 10 and 15 heller stamps of the military post surcharged 'Montenegro'. Use of these stamps will only be permitted on the first of March."

MOZAMBIQUE.—(1362)—The War Tax stamps chronicled in our issue of February 3rd were also issued with the overprint "Porteado" for use in collecting the tax on such mail that was posted without the war tax stamps. We also note that the chronicle above referred to listed a 2c stamp in error for a 5c. The correction is herewith made. Locher's Bulletin is our authority.

War Tax Stamps.

1c gray-green.
5c carmine-rose.

War Tax Postage Dues.

1c gray-green.
5c carmine-rose.

NAURU.—(1371)—Mr. Robert W. Walton writes to us as follows: "On May 28th I received eight letters from Rabaul, all posted with the N. W. P. I. stamps, values ranging from ½d to 5sh; the date of postmark is March 20-1917, so it is evident that the Nauru stamps have not yet been placed in use. All the covers were backstamped 'Passed Censor—Rabaul—Mar 20 1917' in oval surmounted by crown, violet ink being used."

NETHERLAND.—(1372)—The 30c noted in our chronicle for April 14th has been duly issued, according to Scott's Circular.

Adhesive.

30c lilac and violet-brown.

SAMOA.—(1358)—We seem to have missed chronicling the ½d King George stamp of New Zealand overprinted "Samoa" in red, which we now see chronicled in The Postage Stamp. The list of King George stamps thus overprinted is now as follows, we having listed the 2½d on January 6th.

Adhesives.

½d yellow-green.
2½d blue.

SENEGAL.—We do not seem to have chronicled the Red Cross stamp on chalk-surfaced paper.

Charity Postage.

10c+5c orange and rose.

SEYCHELLES.—(1367)—Scott's Circular chronicles the 6c stamp mentioned in our chronicle of March 10, 1917. The stamp is inscribed "Postage" "Revenue".

Adhesive.

6c carmine.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.—Ewen's Weekly of March 31st chronicled the 2½d stamp as appearing in the deep ultramarine, same as the second printing of the Cayman Islands War Stamp.

Adhesive.

2½d deep ultramarine.

TUNIS.—We find we have not chronicled the new provisional stamp for this French Protectorate, now listed in Scott's Circular. Regular issue of 1906 surcharged with new value.

Adhesive.

15c on 10c red.

TURKEY.—Toward the end of last year and during the early part of the present some very handsome engraved stamps were issued in this country. There seems to be a question why the same value was issued in three different colors at the same time, but nevertheless such was the case for two values. The 10 piastre shows a picture of the Palais Dolma-Bagtche and a portrait of the Sultan, while the 50 piastre portrays the Sultan alone. Some charity postage stamps were also issued early this year; they contain a military picture.

Adhesives.

10pi violet.	50pi green.
10pi green.	50pi carmine.
10pi brown.	50pi slate.

Charity Postage.

10pa red lilac.

TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS.—(1379)—Mr. W. Bradbury informs The Philatelic Magazine that both the 1d and 3d War Tax stamps have a long "T" in "TAX" which occurs once in every sheet at the bottom left-hand corner.

WURTEMBERG.—(1360)—In our chronicle of January 20th mention was made of new values for the ordinary official series, but we did not complete the chronicle. In Locher's Bulletin we note the addition of a provisional 25pf on 25pf orange, the surcharge of the value being in black in order to enable the postal clerks to distinguish between the 25pf and 7½pf which is also in orange. The definite 25pf has also been issued in new colors. Our list will set forth the matter clearly.

Officials. Scott's Type O1.

2½pf gray.
7½pf orange.
15pf yellow-brown.
25pf on 25pf orange (overprint black).
25pf brown and black.

FROM THE EDITORIAL PAGE.

For the first time in sixteen years an error has been discovered in American postage stamps. As a result stamp collectors and postal employes have been searching the post offices of the country for several weeks in hope of finding specimens.

The "error" is a five-cent stamp, printed in the red of the two-cent, in sheets of the latter. It occurred through engraving a few plates of the five-cent stamp on a plate otherwise devoted to two-cent stamps. The error escaped the notice of more than a score of inspectors before the stamps were sent to post offices.

There the error was found, and the government issued orders for the return of the defective sheets. Meanwhile, some of them had been sold. It is known that 50,000 defective sheets were printed, with three of the "fives" in each sheet of 400 stamps. The post offices returned large quantities. So far as is known no canceled copies have been offered for sale.

Unused copies are being offered by a few New York stamp dealers at $20 each, or higher prices, if still attached to two-cent stamps of the defective sheet. One of the first stamps found brought $225 in Philadelphia.—New Bedford Evening Standard.

WILL YOU LEND A HAND?

Last week we published a short article by Earl E. Boyd and in connection with it stated that he was at the Sisters' Hospital, Watertown, N. Y., in an almost helpless condition. A second letter from him certainly confirms our statement. Not only is he unable to use his lower limbs, but his left arm is helpless. We quote from his letter as follows:—

"I don't write very much, certainly no more than I can help, for it tires my arm. My left arm is entirely useless and my right arm partly so, as it is stiff in the elbow and shoulder joints, and I am unable to get my hand up to my mouth. However, I am very thankful for the fact that I can write and work at my stamps and read, and these are my only amusements or pleasures. By going slowly and carefully I am able to do a lot of things and that is how I wrote that mss. on the 'Mounting of Original Covers'."

From the above one can get a bit of an idea of the difficulties under which Mr. Boyd is collecting, and the purpose of this notice is to induce some of our readers to send some original covers such as they can spare direct to Mr. Boyd at the hospital. He is quite interested in this side-line of stamp collecting and it will be lending a hand where the favor will be appreciated. If you would like to send stamps, make it some U. S. or Colonies.

AUCTION CATALOG QUOTATIONS.

Dr. Alfred P. Lee sends us some pages from an auction catalog upon which he makes some comment that we shall do well to quote from. In passing, we might add that we consider the practise referred to a very reprehensible one. In this instance, we shall not give the name of the company guilty of sending out the catalog, but suggest that such a method of doing business destroys confidence and causes loss of patronage. We quote as follows:—

"I enclose sheets taken from a recent auction catalog. Doubtless these people would resent suggestions regarding the running of their business—but you will notice all items that have advanced in the change of prices in Monthly Circular of Scott, are given the corrected price, while those stamps which have dropped in price (notably the $2.00 of 1902, used, from $2.50 to $1.75) are given the old, or higher figure. Such things must tend to destroy confidence of auction buyers."

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

By W. WARD, Author of "Postage Stamps of the Levant," Etc.

Surface Printed Issues to 1880.

In 1855, in response to the arguments of W. W. De La Rue, of the firm of De La Rue and Co., made before a Committee of the Treasury, the authorities decided to give surface printed stamps a trial for a new value, 4 pence, about to be issued.

The contracts were placed in the hands of the above firm after certain trials had taken place.

A specially prepared and calendered paper was made, the chemical composition of which, in the main, consisted of potassium ferri-cyanide and some form of alkaline, this being applied to the side of the paper on which the stamps were printed.

The result was the blued, commonly known as the "blue safety" paper.

A trial was also made of a similar chemically surfaced paper, highly burnished, but without the addition of the potassium ferri-cyanide. It was so treated as to give the appearance of a very thick paper. These varieties are very rare, and are only known to occur on the "large garter" watermarked paper.

For the production of these stamps, both "Safety" treated and plain white paper was used with three types of the garter watermark, known as small, large and medium. The two latter are very similar in size and often cause confusion where portions of the cancellation cover the main points of difference. The 4p blue safety paper is one of the few stamps affected by benzine. It seems to have a bleaching effect on those portions of the stamps that are cancelled. Probably some sort of chemical action of the cancelling ink on the prepared paper causes discoloration due to certain properties of the benzine.

Little trouble should be experienced in distinguishing the "small and medium" garters of the safety paper variety as it does not occur with the large garter watermark. The chief points of difference between the medium and large watermarks are the buckles and centers of the garter.

Both varieties of the blue safety paper are printed in a very deep crimson and a carmine. The white burnished safety paper occurs only in the latter color, whilst the ordinary paper varieties occur in both carmine and rose color. The variety of the 4p on "blue paper" is more than probable one that has missed the alkaline treatment, or it has been poorly applied, thus giving the blue coloring without the "chalky" surface effect.

After the white safety paper, the ordinary paper small garter, is the scarcest of the issue.

Check List:

1855-56. Perf. 14. Blue Safety paper, Wmkd. small garter.

4p 1855.

6p 1856.

The success of the first surface printed stamps, together with their cheapness, resulted in the contract for the two values, sixpence and one shilling, also being given to De La Rue & Co. Quantities were being used, and the government printers were severely taxed to turn out by the old die-stamping method a sufficient supply.

The first of these two values appeared towards the fall of 1856, and were not dissimilar in design to the first fourpenny. They were, however, printed on paper watermarked with the National Emblems of England (the Rose repeated in the upper corners), Scotland (the Thistle in the lower left corner seen from the back of the stamp) and Ireland (the Shamrock in the remaining corner). Probably in those days the Daffodil was not sufficiently recognised as emblematical of the Principality of Wales, which is represented by one of the Roses. It is not true, as suggested by a writer many years ago, that the two roses stood for the Kingly houses of Lancaster and York, the Red Rose and the White Rose of Civil Wars.

Trials were made on the blued paper, and stamps were issued. These are rarer than the catalogue would have us to suppose from the prices quoted. The stamps remained in use only four years, but during that short period went through a variety of shades. Copies apparently imperforate at one side, are from the margins of the sheets and have been cut between the stamp and the perforation.

Check List:

1856-62. Perf. 14. Wmk. Emblems.
6p purple.
6p lilac purple.
6p deep lilac.
6p pale lilac.
1sh very deep green.
1sh deep green.
1sh pale green.
1sh apple green.

The contract for the ½, 1 and 2p stamps had already been let for a number of years to Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., else no doubt Messrs. De La Rue would have secured orders for those values. It was decided to issue two new values, 3 pence and 9 pence, and also add the check lettering in the corners of the other values and thus minimize the faking of uncancelled portions of different stamps to make up an uncancelled whole. Thus a new set of five stamps appeared during 1862, at different dates, the fourpenny and ninepenny being the first to appear in January, the sixpenny and shilling in December, and the threepenny in May.

The former value (4p) is known to have been issued imperforate. There are also numerous varieties of hair-lines, dots, and circles. The 4p, 6p and 9p have the variety of a diagonal uncolored, or hair-line, across the colored square containing the check letter. The 3p has a white spot in the ornamental scroll work at the side in the triangular shaped ends of the ribbon bearing the word "Postage." This variety is extremely rare used, and in unused condition ranks among the world's rarities. In the 1 shilling value, the stamp lettered D—K, K—D, the lower corner K has a white circle round it, probably caused by the letter die punch. All these values, as in the preceding issue, have wide margins at the sides of the panes or sheets. All are on Emblems paper except the 4p, which is watermarked Large Garter.

Check List:

1862-65. Perf. 14. Wmk. large garter.
4p bright red.
4p bright red, hair lines across letter blocks.
4p pale red.
4p pale red, hair lines across letter blocks.

1862-1865. Perf. 14. Wmk. Emblems.

3p bright rose.
3p pale rose.
3p rose variety with white dots.
6p deep lilac.

6p lilac, hair lines across letter blocks.

9p brown-bistre.
9p brown-bistre, hair lines across letter blocks.
1sh deep green.
1sh green.
1sh green with letter K in white circle.
1sh pale green.

Several values are known imperforate, but were probably from proof sheets. A variety of the 3p with a network shading of the ornaments containing the check letters was prepared, but never got beyond the "Specimen" stage.

The whole of the issue was reengraved in 1865, and a new surface printed value, 10p, added. The chief alterations were the addition of the plate numbers and enlarged check letters. The plate numbers were inserted above the lower check letters in the 6p, 9p and 10p in the center of the right and left margins of the 3p and 1 shilling and just under the upper check letters of the 4p values.

A new paper watermarked with a rose-spray had been prepared, but as a quantity of the old Emblems paper remained on hand, a first issue was made on the latter paper.

Very few of the 10p value could have been printed, for few exist in collections, and as they are all obliterated in the Levant, the few issued must have been sent to the British Agencies in Turkey. This stamp is one of the rarities of the bonafide British postal emissions, and like many other rare stamps, all the known copies have been found in schoolboy collections and originally purchased for a mere song. The same applies to the 9p value, plate numbered 5, which had an early mishap and few impressions were ever taken. This variety was undoubtedly issued for sale in London—whereas the 10p watermarked Emblems really belongs to the issues of the British Levant Post Offices. The 9p plate numbered 4, is a fairly rare stamp.

Check List:

1865. Same designs and watermarks as previous issue, Perf. 14, but with enlarged white check letters, and plate numbers added.

9p bistre-brown, plates 4, 5.
10p red-brown, plate 1.
1sh green, plate 4.

Commencing in 1867 (and onwards as they were required) all the 1865 types, with the exception of the 4p value, were reprinted on the new "rose spray" watermarked paper, and a new value, two shillings, was added to the set in the same year. A slight modification was made in the 6p value in 1869, by removing the hyphen between the words of value, SIX-PENCE, from plate number 8, onwards. Three years later the same value was changed in color from purple to several shades of brown. Evidently the authorities were not satisfied, as a year later they again altered the color of this value to gray. Some authorities include the 2sh brown in this issue, but though printed on the rose spray paper and of the design of the 2sh blue of 1867, it rightly belongs to the issues of 1880.

For many years it was believed that plate 10 was prepared, but never issued. This has however been disproved by a recent find of a copy posted at Weymouth to a person in Italy, dated 1869, therefore going much to prove that plate No. 9, registered in 1870, was probably also issued in 1869, together with plate 8.

Check List:

BOUTON'S POST.—A local post of the United States operating in 1846-48, but at what city I have been unable to discover. A number of different 2c postage stamps were issued in connection with this post, some being inscribed "City Dispatch Post", another "Manhattan Express", and another (without any expression of value) "Franklin City Dispatch Post".

BOYACA.—One of the departments of the republic of Colombia having an area of 33,350 square miles and a population of over 730,000. Since 1899, it has had the privilege of issuing its own postage stamps.

BOYCE'S CITY EXPRESS.—A local post operating in the United States in 1856, but where, I have been unable to trace. A 2c stamp was issued in connection with this post.

BOYD'S CITY EXPRESS.—One of the best known of the local posts established in New York. It was founded in 1846, and was working as late as 1880. The concern was originally located at 39 Fulton Street, but in 1874, the office was transferred to 1 Park Place. Quite a large number of stamps and envelopes were issued in connection with this post, twenty-one different types being known.

B. R. A.—An overprint found on the ½c stamp of the 1898 issue of China with the new value of "5 cents". The letters signify "British Railway Administration" and these stamps were used for the prepayment of a late letter fee on letters posted at the travelling post offices attached to the various trains operated by the British authorities on behalf of the allied armies during the Boxer rising of 1900. This extra fee was only levied at the more important stations at Peking, Tientsin, Tongku, Tonshan, and Shanhaikaan, where it was thought the sorters might be overwhelmed with letters unless this restriction was made. The stamps were in use for only about one month, from April 20th, 1901, and only about 2,000 were used altogether. To minimise the risk of forgery, the stamps were affixed to the letters by the officials selling them, so unused copies are not known.

BRADBURY, WILKINSON & CO.—A well-known London firm of printers and engravers who manufactured the plates and printed the stamps for the Falkland Islands until 1904, the stamps for the British South Africa Company from 1890 to 1895, the first "regular" stamps for the British East Africa Company, the stamps of Crete since 1900, etc.

BRADY & CO.—I. A New York firm who operated a local post in that city in 1858, in connection with which a special 1c stamp was issued.

II. A firm who established a "Penny post" in Chicago in 1858, charging a fee of 1c for the service, which fee had to be paid by means of a stamp specially issued for the purpose.

BRADWAY'S DISPATCH.—A local post established at Millville, New Jersey, in connection with which a label, without indication of value, was issued.

BRAINARD & CO.—A firm operating an express for the conveyance of letters between New York, Albany, Troy, and intermediate places in 1843. The New York office was at 58 Wall Street, the Albany one at 14 Exchange, and the Troy one at 230 River Street. Special labels were issued in connection with this service, these being sold at the rate of "20 for one dollar".

BRANDSLAKE, W.—An engraver who produced the dies for the 1875 and 1889 stamps of Finland.

BRATTLEBORO'.—A town in the state of Vermont having a population of over 6,000. It is philatelically famous from the fact that in 1846, its then Postmaster issued a special 5c stamp to facilitate the prepayment of postage. This label continued in use until August, 1847, when it was superseded by the government issue.

BRAUNSCHWEIG.—The German form for Brunswick as shown upon the stamps issued in that State.

BRAZIL.—The largest state in South America. It is officially styled the "Republic dos Estados Unidos de Brazil"—Republic of the United States of Brazil. It has an area of 3,218,166 square miles and a population of over fifteen millions. The people are of various races and include more than a million "wild" Indians and other uncivilised tribes. The country was discovered in 1500, by the Portuguese navigator, Pedro Alvarez Cabral, who named it Tierra da Vera Cruz, and claimed it for the Portuguese. From that time until 1889 (except from 1580 to 1661) Brazil was governed by the Portuguese royal house. In 1808, the prince regent of Portugal, Joso VI, transferred his court to Rio de Janiero, and Brazil became an independent empire. On Nov. 15th, 1889, a republic was proclaimed during a bloodless revolution which drove the reigning monarch, Dom Pedro II, from the throne, and with him the house of Braganza was banished. On February 24th, 1891, a new Constitution was voted by the Constituent Assembly by which the President's term of office was fixed at four years; Church and State were separated, civil marriages only made legal, and education secularised. The legislative power is in the hands of two chambers—the Senate of 63 members, and the Chamber of Deputies with 212 members. The first Brazilian postage stamps were issued on July 1st, 1843.

BREHMER, M.—The chief engraver to the Hanoverian mint who engraved the dies used in the production of the 1859 stamps of Hanover.

BREMEN.—One of the three states of the German Empire, lying between Hanover and Oldenburg, having an area of 99 square miles and a population of nearly 300,000. It sends one representative to the Imperial Diet and has one vote in the Imperial Council. The state and town of Bremen form a democratic republic governed by a senate of sixteen elected members (the executive), presided over by a Burgomaster, and an assembly of 150 citizens (the legislative authority). In 1648, the duchy of Bremen was assigned to Sweden, whence it was sold in 1715 to Hanover, with which it is now incorporated. The first postage stamps for Bremen were issued in 1855 but these were discontinued in January, 1868, when the state joined the North German Confederation.

EDITORIAL.

Continuous—The errors continue to be the fruitful subject for conversation and speculation wherever philatelists meet. We have accumulated a mass of information about the errors which if not important is not without interest. From many different sections of the country, readers notified us of the recovery of the errors; and many stories connected with the stamps were related to us. Here we quote from our Washington correspondent, on whom we have relied for particulars of the stamps: "I simply could not take the time to secure answers to the questions regarding errors, but I have it on good authority that your figures giving the circulation of the stamp as under 150,000 is correct. Further, it is very likely that the stock of two cent stamps in the vaults here will be examined in order to remove the errors. Postmasters particularly in the large cities are returning a large number of the errors. While it seems certain that there will be enough of the errors to go around, yet they will not become utterly common. When I write next I hope to give you the definite information inquired for."

Talk—The speculation in the error has been rampant. We saw prices soar and we have seen them decline to an undeserved level, we believe. We are apt to be extremists and the pendulum swings too high then and too low now, so far as prices are under notice. We think that the fascinating qualities of the error will create such a demand for it now and forevermore that it will be almost impossible to depress the price permanently. It was all right to be conservative about the value of the error but we happen to know that some of those who contracted to supply the error in large lots at a low price found to their sorrow that the sources of supply were not inexhaustible.

Kellogg—It is through the courtesy of Everybody's Philatelist that we are enabled to submit a brief sketch of Miner Kilbourne Kellogg, who has succeeded Dodge in philatelic history as the painter of the portrait from which the Jackson head is taken on the two cent black, 1863 issue. We did not succeed in learning heretofore that Mr. Kellogg was born in 1814 and died in 1889 and that first as printer and then as painter he gained renown. His abilities were recognized and commissions were given him by distinguished men of the period for pictures and portraits.

Staggering—"Give me a block of four stamps of each value through the thirty cent stamp," said a man at the stamp window presided over by the agreeable genius known as the collector's friend, because he will go to any length to accommodate philatelists seeking specimens for their collections: "Wait a minute," said the clerk, "and I can get you well centered blocks." "Never mind," returned the buyer, "I don't care about the centering." Will wonders ever cease? No, wonders will never cease.

Sad—We cite the amiable postal clerk in his relations to philatelists as the exception; he is and he deserves the qualification of "rare." It is only too apparent that the stamp collector is too often, to use the diplomatic phrase, persona non grata, to the man in the post office. We are speaking of the offices in the large cities where the antipathy of the postal clerk may be accounted for on different theories. Undoubtedly, young collectors making demands on clerks at busy times gave clerks the basis for peeves. Again, unreasonable requests are made by collectors, young and old, which are filled only at some inconvenience; and those responsible for the extra effort entailed are not held in loving thought. For all that, the clerk may be a temperamental creature who is not fitted any too well to stand the wear and tear of a siege by the public; and their irritation shown without due provocation makes the freeman he serves, in theory at least, want to fight at the drop of the hat. We suggest that the collector who is intent upon well-centered specimens, blocks, etc., consider well the time and place before making demands; and at the same time, a bottle of soothing syrup would not come amiss for a clerk here and there.

Advertising—"As I trip along the city pave (i. e., sidewalk) I amuse myself by tossing into the automobiles lined along the curb, auction catalogues, price lists and stamp papers, even the WEEKLY, rather than immure them in the wastebasket. Who knows but that I am a missionary all unsung for fair Philatelia," la, la-ed a caller who sought to exact a toll for his missionary service, but having just subscribed for a Liberty Bond, we could not act as the bursar of the fund for the amelioration for the financially forlorn of philately.

Bang—Mucha of Moscow (late of Warsaw), one of the brightest of Russia's funny papers, prints a cartoon of a scene in a postal station where the staff of the canceling room is working frenziedly with big hand-cancelers. A picture of Nicked Nic slashed and battered is on the wall. The text reads: "'Why are the staff working so energetically'? asks the onlooker. 'Reason enough! Look at whose picture is on the stamps,' comes the ready reply."

Colored—Our attention has been directed to the one and two cent present sheet both in coil and in sheet with a coloration on the margins between the stamps. On the stamps in sheet this border is not intentional but is the consequence of a suggestion of color remaining on the raised or blank parts of the plate. However, a coil of the two cent shows a marked characteristic, as the margins between the stamps are covered with tiny veins of color. We suppose that they are nothing to shout about. Under the printing wheels of the rotary press is another wheel covered with a cloth blanket (we suppose) that turns the printed scroll so that it mounts the spool easily. The wheel under the press catches the coil before the stamps are dry and the blanket becomes slightly tinctured with the red color and the shreds of fibre give the silk-thread appearance.

Mistake—From Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wis., we have received the following letter: "In looking over a big lot of old pre-stamp time covers I ran across the entire that I am enclosing,—an 'overcharge' letter on which apparently there has been a refund made. It interested me greatly, as I have never seen a similar one." The letter was sent from Manchester, N. Y., to Northampton, Mass., in 1844; and on the envelope is the "25" in the handwriting of the postmark. It is apparent that subsequently the notation, "Overcharged 6¼" was made under this original amount and deducted from it, leaving 18¾ cents. In the many stampless envelopes that we have examined, we do not recall having seen an "overcharge" before.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—F. Ciampolini, 79 Nassau St., N. Y. City, informs us that a valuable lot of stamps was stolen from his office June 11. In the lot was some old U. S., German States, Mexico, Dominican Republic, South and Central America. He offers a reward of $200 for information leading to the arrest of the thief.

—"Note re New Zealand, p. 146:—New Zealand is not in the Australian Commonwealth or in any way connected, being an entirely separate and self governing dominion. The Australian Commonwealth is composed of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Western Australia and Tasmania, with Papua and N. W. Islands as a dependency."—W. WARD.

—Elmer F. Smith, Pontoosuc, Ill., states that the following collectors fail to reply to communications sent them:—Miss Madeleine Hotchkin, Rutherford, N. J.; James M. Shaw, Paterson, N. J., and Harry Poling, Hambleton, W. Va.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Howard C. Beck, H. Elmer Crede, and I. B. Robinson.

—A rather unusual advertisement will be found in this issue. It announces the auction sale of the Steigerwalt collection of Indian relics. It is very evident that the collector of these interesting relics will find in this sale an opportunity that will be taken advantage of.

—Wedding cards are out announcing the marriage on June 21 of Max Ohlman, the well-known New York dealer. A wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the St. Lawrence, Lake George and Saratoga will follow, and after Sept. 20 Mr. and Mrs. Ohlman will be at home at 551 W. 174 St., N. Y. City. Congratulations and hearty good wishes.

—H. S. Powell has several thousand dollars in ready cash that he wants to invest in really good medium class stamps. Can use most anything if the price is right. Cheap stamps in large quantities, collections, entire stocks, or duplicates in good shape. He has plenty of good stamps to offer in exchange to dealer or collector. Our readers can depend upon Mr. Powell for a square deal.

—Just as we go to press we learn that the E. H. Mason collection of proofs and essays has been sold to Frank P. Brown Co. of Boston. Sealed bids were asked from half a dozen of the largest dealers in the United States. We understand the Brown Co. won out by less than one hundred dollars.

—Fred Michael, Chicago, has notified us of a theft of stamps at his store. The most distinctive stamps taken were an off centered block of four with the two errors, 5c red at left; and No. 2 of Tuscany. A suitable reward is offered for the return of the stamps.

OUR POSTMASTER GENERALS.

By R. McP. CABEEN.

SAMUEL OSGOOD of Massachusetts was appointed the first Postmaster General of the United States by George Washington on September 26, 1789. The Senate confirmed this appointment on the same date. He had one assistant Postmaster General and one clerk.

TIMOTHY PICKERING of Pennsylvania was appointed Postmaster General by George Washington on August 12, 1791. The Senate confirmed the nomination on November 7. He served until the beginning of 1795, becoming Secretary of War on January 2, 1795.

JOSEPH HABERSHAM of Georgia was appointed Postmaster General on February 25, 1795, by George Washington. The Senate confirmed the appointment on the same day. He continued in this office under Adams and Jefferson until the latter part of 1801, when he resigned to become President, in 1802, of the United States Branch Bank at Savannah, Ga.

GIDEON GRANGER of Connecticut was appointed Postmaster General on November 28, 1801, by President Jefferson. The Senate confirmed the appointment on January 26, 1802. He continued in this office until 1814, being reappointed by Madison.

RETURN JOHNATHAN MEIGS of Ohio was appointed Postmaster General by Madison on March 17, 1814, the Senate confirming the nomination on the same date. He served until 1823, under Monroe. During his term in office, the office of second assistant Postmaster General was created.

JOHN MCLEAN of Ohio was appointed Postmaster General by Monroe on June 26, 1823, the Senate confirming the appointment on December 9, 1823. He served throughout Monroe's term, and was retained by John Quincy Adams and requested to serve by Andrew Jackson. He refused, as he also did the appointments to War and Navy portfolios, accepting finally an associate justiceship of the Supreme Court. He had an extremely satisfactory record as Postmaster General. He endeavored to institute a money order system. (Note. Some authorities give the date of his appointment as March 9, 1823.)

WILLIAM TAYLOR BARRY of Kentucky was appointed Postmaster General by Andrew Jackson on March 9, 1829. Major Barry was a personal friend of Jackson and for that reason Jackson raised this portfolio to a cabinet position to please him. He had very poor administrative faculties and was soon violently attacked in the House of Representatives. He resigned from office on April 10, 1835.

AMOS KENDALL of Kentucky was 4th auditor of the Treasury when appointed Postmaster General by Jackson on May 1st, 1835. (Note. Some authorities say appointment was in June.) Kendall had a great deal of trouble in office, due to a desire to reduce the "graft" in the mail carrying contracts. He was sued by an especially influential contractor, who obtained judgment against him. Not being able to pay the damages, he was imprisoned for debt, being required to stay within the limits of the District of Columbia. The following Congress reestablished his reputation by negativing the suits under which he was imprisoned and also abolished imprisonment for debt in the District of Columbia. He left the Postoffice Department in May, 1840.

JOHN MILTON NILES of Connecticut was appointed Postmaster General on March 25, 1840, (also given as May 19, and May 25, 1840) by Van Buren. While Niles was publisher of the Hartford Times, Major B. H. Norton, who was editor of the Times, was appointed Postmaster of Hartford. Niles vigorously protested against this appointment and going to Washington, so prevailed upon President Jackson, that he dismissed Norton and appointed Niles as Postmaster of Hartford. The term "Nortonizing" originating with this action, was current for many years.

SELAH R. HOBBIE, the 1st Assistant Postmaster General, was appointed Acting Postmaster General on March 4, 1841, serving in this capacity for two days.

FRANCIS GRANGER of New York, son of Gideon Granger, was appointed Postmaster General by Harrison March 6, 1841. President Tyler retained him, but upon the disruption of Tyler's Cabinet, September 11, 1841, he resigned.

CHARLES A. WICKLIFFE of Kentucky was appointed Postmaster General on September 13, 1841, by Tyler, continuing in this office until March, 1845.

CAVE JOHNSON of Tennessee was appointed Postmaster General on March 5, 1845, by President Polk. During his term of office, postage stamps were first issued by the Government. He retired in March, 1849.

SELAH R. HOBBIE, 1st Assistant Postmaster General, was appointed Postmaster General ad interim on March 6, 1849, holding this office until March 8, 1849.

JACOB COLLAMER of Vermont was appointed Postmaster General by Taylor on March 7, 1849, and relinquished the position on July 20, 1850.

NATHAN KELSEY HALL of New York became Postmaster General on July 20, 1850, holding the post until about the middle of 1852, resigning to become the United States district Judge. He had studied law in the office of Millard Fillmore and was appointed by him.

SAMUEL DICKINSON HUBBARD of Connecticut was appointed Postmaster General by Fillmore on August 31, 1852. (Note. His biographers give the date as February 15, 1852.)

JAMES CAMPBELL of Pennsylvania was appointed Postmaster General on March 7, 1853, by Pierce. He retired on March 4, 1857.

AARON VAIL BROWN of Tennessee was appointed Postmaster General by Buchanan on March 6, 1857, the Senate confirming the appointment on the same day. He established the routes over the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, from Memphis and St. Louis to San Francisco and another overland route by way of Salt Lake City. He died in office March 8, 1859, at 9.30 A. M.

HORATIO KING, 1st Assistant Postmaster General, was appointed acting Postmaster General on March 9, 1859, serving until March 14, 1859.

JOSEPH HOLT of Kentucky was appointed Postmaster General on March 14, 1859; at the time of his appointment he was Commissioner of Patents. He served as Postmaster General until December, 1860, retiring to become Secretary of War.

HORATIO KING of Maine, 1st Assistant Postmaster General, was appointed General ad interim on January 1, 1861, serving in this capacity until February 12, on which date he was appointed Postmaster General. He became connected with the Department in 1839. In 1850, he was with the foreign mail service; in 1854, he became first assistant Postmaster General. He served in the position of Postmaster General until Lincoln was inagurated March 7, 1861. He instituted the "penalty" envelope.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR of the District of Columbia was appointed Postmaster General by Lincoln on March 7, 1861; he resigned from this office on September 23, 1864. Blair instituted free delivery in large cities, money order system, the assorting and distribution of mail matter on railroad cars. His orders excluding disloyal papers from the mails caused bitter feeling among sympathizers with the South.

WILLIAM DENNISON of Ohio was appointed Postmaster General by Lincoln on September 24, 1864, holding the post until July, 1866.

E. S. ALLEN, 58 Astor St., Newark, N. J.

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., informs us that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing has been printing a large supply of 3c stamps in anticipation of the proposed increase of first class postage rates. This includes the production of 3c coiled vertically from rotary plates and the introduction of 3c stamps in booklet form, also produced from rotary plates. Mr. Severn treated of the 2c rotary printed booklets in an editorial in the issue of June 9th; the 3c booklets will be produced in the same way.

The 3c postage rate will probably cause this value to be issued imperforate, printed from flat plates, to accommodate those firms making their own coils for use in mailing machines, such as the Schermack, Brinkerhoff, etc.

We will likewise probably see the early issue of a new 2c postal card, as well as a 2c + 2c reply postal, to accommodate the new first class postage rate.

And the 3c envelope is also a probability.

(1377)—Mr. D. C. Alexander writes as follows: "I am writing to inform you that I have a 1c Postal Savings envelope surcharged with the penalty clause and printed with the return card of the Post Office Department, Washington, Division of Rural Mails. I haven't seen this mentioned before, and this is the first one of the 1c that I have seen. A peculiar thing in connection with this envelope is that although it has the return card of the Division of Rural Mails, it was used on Liberty Bond business."

ABYSSINIA.—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste gives us the following information. On the occasion of the coronation of the new Empress, which took place on February 11 last, the Abyssinian government placed in circulation a special commemorative series. The stamps in current use were overprinted with the values in Amaric characters, the date of the coronation and the name of Her Majesty, the Empress Zeouditou, and at the bottom the date 11-2-1917 in Arabic numerals, all in a frame and printed in violet, probably with a rubber stamp. All the stamps in current use, except the 1g, including the postage dues. Contrary to most commemoratives, this series is not limited to any period of use, on the other hand it replaces the series without overprint, which were not to be available for postage after Mar. 30.

Adhesives.

1g rose.
2g blue.
4g green and carmine.
8g vermilion and dull green.
16g vermilion and carmine.

Postage Dues.

Same as the above list, but with the additional overprint of Amaric characters and a large T in a triangle; this set includes the 1g green and orange.

BULGARIA.—The Philatelic Gazette states that the U. P. U. has distributed the 1915 issue (Scott's Nos. 116, 118 and 120) together with new values as follows, as yet unlisted, we believe:

Adhesives.

10s brown-red and dark brown.
25s dark blue and black.

(Offices in Roumania.)—From the same source we learn that certain Bulgarian stamps have been overprinted in Bulgarian, "The Bulgarian Posts in Roumania 1916-1917," the wording reading up at the left and the date reading up at the right.

Occupation Stamps.

5s green and violet-brown, red overprint.
10s brown-red and dark brown, blue overprint.
25s dark blue and black, blue overprint.

CAMEROONS—(British Occupation).—Mr. J. W. Dickinson writes: "I have a specimen of the Nigeria 1d King George which bears the postmark 'Duala', the capital of the Cameroons. There is no surcharge but evidently these stamps were accepted in payment of postage from the Cameroons."

CANADA.—(1364)—Cancelling machine No. 1 at the Toronto P. O. has discontinued the advertising of War Saving Certificates and now produces the ad. cancellation of the annual "Canadian National Exhibition Toronto," this time with date "Aug. 25—1917—Sep. 10."

CANAL ZONE.—Stamp Collecting prints the following: "Mr. Fred Gregory sends us a copy of the 10c black and violet of the 1906-08 issue for Panama, overprinted for the Canal Zone as on the 1909 series and with the additional overprint, diagonally from left to right (reading upwards), of the words "Postage Due" in large Roman type. This is not catalogued, neither have we any record of its issue, so that it is presumably bogus. Our correspondent tells us that it reached him from a friend in Barbados, with a number of other Canal Zone stamps, about two years ago. At that time many Barbados laborers were working on the Canal works."

Our contemporary wishes to hear of further information about the stamp. We beg to suggest that the words "Postage Due" is not an overprint in the true sense of the word as used by philatelists, but the result of a hand stamp which is applied to mail on which postage is due, not only in the Canal Zone, but in the United States as well. Sometimes this is used for cancelling purposes on due stamps placed on unpaid mail. At the time the above mentioned 10c stamp received this handstamp, the Canal Zone did not have postage due stamps, but used the regular postage stamps as due stamps on short paid and unpaid mail, and in this particular case the stamp was cancelled with the handstamp "Postage Due." We would be pleased to know, from one of our Canal Zone subscribers, if our surmise is the correct solution of the problem put before stamp collectors by Stamp Collecting.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Stamp Collecting states, on the authority of Mr. A. C. Roessler, that the current 1d postage stamp was overprinted early in April, for use as a War stamp.

CHILE.—(1375)—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste chronicles the new surface-printed 50c, portrait of Errazuriz.

Adhesive.

50c green and black.

ERITREA.—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste chronicles the Italian 10 Lire, 1911 issue, overprinted "Eritrea" for use in this colony.

Adhesive.

10l green and red, black overprint.

FRANCE.—(1370)—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste states that the 5c, 10c, 15c, 30c, 40c and 50c have so far appeared on the inferior paper, and that some of the postage dues have also been printed on this paper. We have seen the 5c and 10c postage on this poor quality paper and after examining them we find that the paper is quite dull, has a dirty appearance and that the mesh (weave) is very coarse. Once seen, easy to distinguish.

A new Red Cross stamp, 15c + 5c, is in preparation, and M. Louis Dumoulin has been selected to have charge of the designing and engraving, which will include a picture of the recently torpedoed Hospital Ship "Asturia."

FRENCH MOROCCO.—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste chronicles additions to the current set, made necessary by the changes in the postal rates which recently went into effect in France and the Colonies. The 15c is Scott's type A2 and the 40c is type A3, while the postage due is type D1.

Adhesives.

15c yellow-orange.
40c red and blue.

Postage Due.

30 on 30c rose.

GREAT BRITAIN.—(Offices in the Levant.)—Mr. J. W. Dickinson informs us that he has a copy of Great Britain 1d No. 160, used from Salonica without any surcharge.

INDO-CHINA.—(1360)—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste chronicles the 15c of the 1907 issue (current) surcharged with a supplementary value and red cross.

Red Cross Stamp.

15c+5c violet and black.

ITALY.—(Post Offices in the Levant).—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste states that the new Italian 20c orange has been overprinted "Rodi" for the island of that name, and that the twelve other Turkish islands occupied by the Italians will probably be supplied with this stamp similarly overprinted with their respective names.

Adhesive.

20c orange, overprinted "Rodi".

(Post Offices in Tripoli).—The same publication chronicles the 45c of the 1901 series of Italy (Scott's A45) overprinted for use in Libia.

Adhesive.

45c olive, overprinted "Libia".

MOZAMBIQUE COMPANY.—The governor of this company has asked for authority to surcharge several stamps with a "Red Cross" and supplementary value, the returns from the sale of these to be divided equally between the English, French and Portuguese societies, states Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—Mr. John Boris writes: "In looking over my set of North West Pacific Islands stamps, I find the 2sh Kangaroo type with inverted watermark." Under "Australia" in the Chronicle of March 3, 1917, a list of the Australian kangaroo type stamps with inverted watermark was given, and this included the 2sh with the type III wmk. (narrow crown over A). Six thousand 2sh stamps with the type III wmk. were overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands," but the quantity of these with inverted wmk. is indeterminable. Of the type II wmk. (Tudor crown over narrow A), 3000 2sh stamps were overprinted for the N. W. Pacific Islands. We would be pleased to hear which wmk. Mr. Boris' stamp has.

NYASALAND.—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste states that a 1d envelope has been issued for this colony. It is 133 x 106 mm. in size and bears, in relief, a stamp with head of King George V.

Envelope.

1d carmine on cream.

NYASSA.—The Philatelic Gazette states that the U. P. U. has distributed new postal cards for this Portuguese colony.

Postal Cards.

1c green.
2c red.

PANAMA.—(1371)—Mr. Frank E. Greene, in an article in The Stamp Trade, states: "Another error is reported on the first Registered stamp (on No. 190). A large "5" almost twice the size of the regular "5" and it apparently is very scarce. The writer has seen one copy only."

PHILIPPINES.—Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste is our authority for stating that a "national" stamp of 2-centavos will be issued with a portrait of Osmena, and it will be obligatory in use, in addition to the regular postage, on all letters handled by the country. The money thus raised, states our authority (equally with other stamps of other values, which will be for fiscal use only), will be used for the defense of the Islands."

RUSSIA.—A provisional envelope was issued about the same time as the recent-

Stamp Collecting publishes the following: "From the Lindum Stamp Co. and from Mr. A. Brauer, we have used copies of the 1k type of 1908-12, imperf. Curiously, they are all on covers from Moscow, dated March and April."

ST. PIERRE & MIQUELON.—The current 10c stamp has been overprinted "Colis Postaux" for use as a Postal Packet stamp.

ST. VINCENT. — (1380) — Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us a new issue of locally printed War Stamps for this colony. The new issue is similar to the earlier locally printed ones, the type being apparently the same, but the spacing between the words "War" and "Stamp" is 3½ mm. instead of the narrower spacing, 1½ and 2½ mm. There are no varieties of any consequence, there being periods after "Stamp" throughout. We will quote Marsh's Weekly Philatelist regarding the first issue as follows:

"We do not believe that it has yet been recorded that there were three distinct and separate printings of the locally printed War Stamp. Each printing was made on two stamps only at a time, and was, we believe, applied by a hand-stamp. All three printings were made upon the stamps printed on thick paper and perforated (14) with a single line machine.

"1st Printing.—The 1st stamp of each pair has a comma after the word 'Stamp' in place of a full stop (period); the distance between the two lines is 2½ mm.

"2nd Printing.—Similar to the first, but both stamps have a full stop after the word 'Stamp'. This printing is known showing double overprint.

"3rd Printing.—Similar to the second, but the lines are only 1½ mm. apart. This printing is also known showing double overprint. Our experienc has been that the stamps of the 2nd printing are the ones usually met with, and those of the third are the scarcest."

The list of the St. Vincent War Stamps is therefore as follows:

War Stamps.
1d carmine, 2½ mm. space, comma.
1d carmine, 2½ mm. space, period.
a. double overprint.
1d carmine, 1½ mm. space, period.
a. double overprint.
1d carmine, single line London print.
1d carmine, 3½ mm. space, period.

A collection of pairs showing all five printings is interesting.

SAMOA.—Stamp Collecting chronicles the G.R.I. ½d on 5pf green with double overprint—"a variety which must be extremely rare, if not unique."

SALVADOR.—This country has issued a new series of Official stamps, according to Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste. The design of the postage stamp of 1907 (Scott's type A66) has been utilized, printed in new colors, same as the Official stamps of 1915, and overprinted with an S.

LATEST CONCERNING LAZOS.

H. Raymond Stiles, 366 McClellan St., Schenectady, N. Y., who tabulated the claims against Louis Lazos, states that he has a total of twenty-seven placed in his hands, representing more than a thousand dollars. Mr. Stiles informs us that Lazos has been located as visiting Wichita, Kans., evidently on his way east, and stamp dealers and collectors are urged to be on the lookout for this party, as he will no doubt attempt to dispose of the stolen stamps.

Dr. H. A. Davis favors us with the following description of the much sought for man:—

"He is a Greek, 30 years of age, neat dresser and smooth talker, dark complexion, weight about 120. Is intelligent and of rather quick action. Can pick out fakes, reprints, forgeries, etc., with lightning-like rapidity. Smooth face, hair trimmed rather close. Has a specialized collection of Greece he may try to dispose of."

STAMP SOCIETY NEWS.

At the meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society June 12 blocks containing the new 5c red were shown, purchased at face from postmasters. A. B. Slater of Slocum exhibited the original plate from which the Providence Post Office stamps were printed. The plate showed that an additional row of stamps was contemplated on the left, the borders only being engraved. Mr. Slater explained that it was intended to make the face value of the whole plate equal $1, but as this would leave no margin of profit to cover printing, etc., the additional row was not completed.

At the last meeting of the New York Stamp Society the A. P. S. nominations of Philadelphia Branch No. 18 were approved. Dr. L. M. Homburger showed his fine collection of Mexican revenues.

The Brooklyn Branch No. 6 of the N. P. S. held a competitive stamp display June 6. The judges were Prof. J. B. Chittenden, John L. Straub and A. J. Stark. First prize, E. Weiss; second prize, F. Reed. Prof. Chittenden showed his specialized collection of Mexico 1874-83, some thousand stamps from the different states.

The Cincinnati Philatelic Society has been able to contribute $50 for the benefit of the American Red Cross and holds the honor of being the first society to have a stamp auction of this kind. June 12 the Society held its meeting at the home of Stanley B. Ashbrook and it was a banner meeting in that the members had the privilege of inspecting Mr. Ashbrook's highly specialized U. S. collection, one of the finest of its kind in the country. It is rich in cancellations, shades and varieties in the early issues.

During June the N. P. S. received fifty applications for membership in New York City alone.

BRIDGEVILLE.—A town in the State of Alabama at which a special 5c stamp was issued by the Postmaster in 1861 just prior to the introduction of the stamps for general use in the Confederate States.

BRIGG'S DESPATCH.—A local post of the United States operating in 1848 and in connection with which several labels were issued, all of which are now of considerable value.

BRITISH AMERICAN BANK NOTE CO.—The Canadian branch of the American Bank Note Co., of New York. It was established first at Ottawa and then at Montreal, nearly all the Canadian stamps issued since 1868 have been designed, engraved and printed by this concern.

BRENDLER & MARKLOWSKY.—A firm of engravers at Vienna who engraved the dies for the 1867 stamps of Austria.

BRITISH BECHUANALAND.—The southern portion of Bechuanaland, which is now included in the Cape of Good Hope. It has an area of 51,500 square miles and a population of about 85,000, of whom only one-eighth are whites. It was annexed by Great Britain in 1885 and ten years later was transferred to Cape Colony. Its chief town is Mafeking, noted for its prolonged siege during the last Boer war. Postage stamps for use here were first issued in February, 1886.

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA.—A vast territory under British protection in south Central Africa, most of which is administered by the British South Africa Company, this portion being officially known as N. E. and N. W. Rhodesia. The remainder, which is under direct Imperial control, comprises the eastern part, which was, until July, 1907, known as the British Central Africa Protectorate. It was originally known as Nyasaland, and in 1907 the old name was reverted to the territory being officially designated the Nyasaland Protectorate. The control of this district, with which we are now concerned, was transferred from the Colonial Office to the Foreign Office on April 1st, 1904. The population consists of about 950,000 natives and 600 Europeans, while its area is 42,217 square miles. The chief town is Blantyre. At Chinde, at the mouth of the Zambesi River, a piece of Portuguese territory is leased so that goods intended for the Protectorate may be transhipped free of duty. Postage stamps for use here were first issued in April, 1891, and in July, 1907, the first stamps inscribed Nyasaland Protectorate made their appearance.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.—A province of the Dominion of Canada, bounded on the east by the Rocky Mountains, on the south by the United States, on the west by the Pacific Ocean and Alaska, and on the north by the 60th parallel of N. latitude. Its area of 312,030 square miles included the former Crown colony of Vancouver Island (area, 14,000 square miles). In 1866, the two colonies were united, and in 1871 they were admitted into the Dominion as the province of British Columbia. A special stamp for the use of both colonies was issued in 1861, and from November 1st, 1865, until it entered the Dominion of Canada, British Columbia had its own distinctive stamps.

BRITISH CONSULAR MAIL.—A post established at Antananarivo, Madagascar, by the then British Vice-Consul in March, 1884. Special stamps were issued in connection with this post, these having the distinction of being the largest postal labels known. These stamps prepaid mail matter sent to Port Louis (Mauritius) or Reunion. The post was suppressed in 1887.

BRITISH EAST AFRICA.—An enormous tract of territory on the east coast of Africa under British protection. The Imperial British East Africa Company was incorporated by Royal Charter, dated September 3rd, 1888, and under the control of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, this Company exercised sovereign jurisdiction over the territories leased to it by the Sultan of Zanzibar or acquired by treaties entered into with native chiefs. A British protectorate was formally established on June 18th, 1895, and on the first day of the following month the Company handed over the administration of the country to the Imperial authorities. These territories are now comprised under the name of the East Africa Protectorate, the administration being carried on by the Colonial Office. Mombasa is the capital of the protectorate and possesses the finest harbor on the east African coast. The total population exceeds four millions. Postage stamps were first issued in 1890, and in 1903 the distinctive British East Africa stamps were superseded by a general issue for the East Africa and Uganda Protectorates, which are now amalgamated for postal purposes.

BRITISH GUIANA.—A British Colony on the north coast of South America having an area of about 120,000 square miles. The disputed boundary towards Brazil was settled by the arbitration of the King of Italy in 1904, the greater portion of the land in dispute being awarded to Great Britain. The inhabitants are chiefly Portuguese from Madeira, negroes, Hindu coolies and Chinese. Besides these there are about 8,000 Caribs, Arawaks, and other aboriginals, the total population being less than 300,000. British Guiana is a Crown Colony of which the old settlements of Demerara, Essiquibo and Berbice are counties. The Dutch first settled on the Pomeroon river early in the seventeenth century. The British were in possession of this colony from 1781 to 1783, again from 1796 to 1802, and lastly from 1803 to 1814, when the present colony was formed, except that Berbice was administered separately until 1831. The first postage stamps for British Guiana were issued on July 1st, 1850.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—A British colony on the east coast of Central America, between the Mexican State of Yucatan and Guatemala. It has an area of about 7,562 square miles and a population of more than 40,000. The country consists chiefly of primeval forests, with savannahs and so-called "pine-ridges" which are open, sandy plains covered with a wiry grass and dotted with palm trees. It is governed as a Crown colony and first issued postage stamps in January, 1866.

BRITISH INLAND MAIL.—A local post established in Madagascar in January, 1895, for the conveyance of letters between the capital, Antananarivo, and the port of Vatomandry. Opinion is divided as to whether this post was of a semi-official character or simply a speculation on the part of a syndicate in Antananarivo. Two sets of stamps were printed in connection with this Mail, one in January and one in March, 1895, and the post was suppressed in the following September when the French entered Antananarivo.

BRITISH LEVANT.—The name applied by philatelists to designate the British Consular Post-offices maintained in certain towns in the Ottoman Empire. At first ordinary unsurcharged British stamps were used in these offices, but on April 1st, 1885, the values in most general use were surcharged with their corresponding denominations in Turkish currency. In 1905, a number of the then current British stamps were overprinted "LEVANT" for use in these offices.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

ARABIA AND ITS STAMPS.

By CLEANTHIS ZONARAS, Graduate of University of Constantinople.

The first people mentioned in the history of Arabia is the Sabæans and this nation ruled Arabia from 950 B. C. until 525 B. C. A queen of this people, the "Queen of Sheba," is said to have visited Solomon. The conquest of Egypt by the Persian King Cambysses at 525 B. C. paved the way for the conquest of Arabia which was organized as a satrapy called "Arabaya" by Darius Hystaspis. About 115 B. C. the power passed to the Himyarites and the title taken by the new rulers was "King of Saba and Raidan." In the year 24 B. C., the Roman emperor Augustus sent Aelius Gallus with his ally the Nabathean King Obodas, against the Arabian power, but their invasion was a failure.

The independence of Arabia was practically ended by the Persian conquest in A. D. 570, but about the time when the end came Mohammed the Arabian prophet was born in Mecca, A. D. 571. This man was destined to weld together all Arabia and by a new religious faith and a new political organization, to destroy the Persian empire, and all but annihilate the paganism and religion of Zoroaster. Mohammed, through the teaching of Islam, was able to unite the entire Arabian peninsula under his rule. Arabia enjoyed the most prosperous period of its history during the reign of Mohammed and his successors under whom Syria, Egypt, Persia and a great part of the Greek Empire of Constantinople was conquered. At 717 a fleet of eighteen hundred vessels took on board the Arabian army and transported it to Europe. This army appeared under the walls of Constantinople but the Greek fire prevailed against the Arabs. Their formidable fleet was destroyed by this terrible engine of war and the army was decimated by famine, a hundred thousand men perished miserably under the walls of the city and the remnants of this powerful army were defeated by the Greeks. Then the tide of Arabian conquest swept westward through the whole of Northern Africa, Sicily and Spain and was about to engulf ancient France when it was arrested by the mighty French army under Charles Martel at Poitiers in 732.

The Arabian dominion in Spain lasted 800 years until 1492 when the "two kings" (as they were called) Ferdinand and Isabella, after a ten years' war, conquered Granada the capital and the last Arabian stronghold in Spain.

Selim I, the Turkish Sultan conquered Egypt and Arabia in 1517, and from this time Arabia lost again its independence and became a Turkish province under the name of Hejaz. Toward the beginning of the seventeenth century there appeared in Arabia a new prophet, Mohammed ibn Abdul Wahab, who claimed to be a reformer of the Islam. Under his successors a serious revolt broke out in Arabia in 1803, known as the Wahabite revolt. Mecca was captured and sacked by the Wahabites. The Turkish Sultan appointed Mohammed Ali the governor of Egypt to quell the revolt and Mohammed Ali sent his son Ibrahim pasha to cope with this power and in 1813 the Wahabites were defeated and driven out from Mecca and the other Arabian cities.

In 1916, the Arabs headed by the Grand Sherif of Mecca, El Hussein ibn Ali, the direct descendant of Mohammed revolted against Turkey, defeated the Turkish army of Hejaz, and at June 22, 1916, Abdullah, the son of Grand Sherif leading the victorious Arabs, captured Mecca, the capital of Hejaz, and the sacred city of the Mohammedan world. The Grand Sherif proclaimed Arabia's independence on June 27, 1916, at Mecca, joined the Allies in their struggle against the Turks and the Central Empires and in a few months he succeeded in capturing all the principal cities of Arabia, including Jedda and the other cities on the Red Sea coast. Since then, he began to rule this section of Arabia under the title of Suleiman I, King of Hejaz.

In September, 1916, the French and British governments recognized the independence of the new Arabian Kingdom and sent a delegation of English and French Mohammedans to congratulate the new ruler and to convey to him a large amount of money to aid his fighting against the common foe.

As the Turks perpetrated many atrocities in the not yet redeemed Arabian section by sentencing the women, the children and the harmless people to death by hanging and forced labor, the Arabian government on December 2, 1916, sent a communication of protest to the United States and to the other neutrals against the inhuman crimes of the Turkish government. This communication was signed by Fuad el Khatib, Secretary of foreign affairs of the new Kingdom.

In 1916, the Arabian government of Hejaz issued at first a set of three postage stamps of ¼ piastre green, ½ piastre red and 1 piastre blue, all perforated. After some time the government issued a new set of the same three values, colors and types which instead of being perforated are finely rouletted and more carefully typographed on white wove paper.

The ¼ piastre value, equivalent to 1 cent, is green, and its design shows a central label into which the inscription "Mekkat-el-Mukarama" (Mecca the Holy) is written with the Arabian caligraphy. Just below this inscription is the date of Hegira 1334 in Arabic numerals which corresponds to 1916, the year of Arabia's liberation. In the upper right side is the inscription, "Baridi" (Post) and on the upper left is "Hejazi" (Hejaz). In the lower right is "Rubh" (quarter) and in the lower left is "qersh" (piastre). The Arabesque ornament of this design is taken from the entrance of the main gate of the sacred Kaaba at Mecca. This structure from the earliest time had been a place of pilgrimage for the peoples of Arabia. In the great fairs at Mecca the first steps toward Arab unity were made. These annual meetings were marked by the celebration of athletic games and poetic contests and possessed a religious character similar to the Olympian games of ancient Greece with which they may also be compared for their effect upon the building up of the Arabian nationality. All non-Mohammedans are strictly prohibited from visiting Kaaba and the sacred territory.

The ½ piastre value, equivalent to 2 cents, is red and its design consists of a central circle into which the inscription, "Mekkat-el-Mukarama" (Mecca the Holy) and beneath this inscription the date 1334, is written. In the upper side of this circle inclosed within a semicircle is the inscription, "Baridi Hejazi", (Hejaz Post) and in the lower side within another semi-circle is the inscription, "Nissif qersh" (Half piastre). The Arabesque ornament of the background is taken from the entrance gateway of the mosque of Ahmed ibn Talun at Cairo, which dates from A. D. 819.

The 1 piastre value, equivalent to 4 cents, is in blue and its design consists of an hexagonal band inscribed "Mekkat el Mukarama," (Mecca the Holy).

The upper inscription is "Baridi Hejazi" (Hejaz Post) and the lower "Qersh sagh" (One piastre). There are two oval bands on the left and right side of this stamp bearing the date 1334. In the corners are four circles of whom the two lower circles contains the Arabic numeral 1. The Arabesque ornament of the design is taken from "Bab-el-Salam", the principal gate of the mosque of Prophet built at 631, which is the only important building and the glory of Medina, the second sacred Mohammedan city.

On February, 1917, a new value of ⅛ piastre was added to accommodate a rate for printed matter. This stamp is in orange and its design shows a central hexagon bearing the inscription "Mekkat el Mukarama" (Mecca the Holy). The upper inscription is "Baridi Hejazi" (Hejaz Post) and the lower "Thumn quersh" (Eighth of a piastre). There is no date on this stamp. The Arabesque ornament of this design is taken from the last page of the Koran, the sacred book of the Mohammedans.

IONIAN ISLANDS DOUBLE TRANSFER.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

Not so very long ago, I had several sets of the Ionian Islands stamps and disposed of a set to one of our hobby's specialists. For some reason or other, the set was returned to me. Taking the stamps up to look at them, I discovered that the blue 1-penny was a beautiful example of a double transfer. The stamp can be identified easily by the double line at bottom and by the double oval line at left where the second line joins the bottoms of the Greek letters to the left of the oval containing the vignette of Queen Victoria. The double transfer, sometimes called a "shift", is toward the left and bottom. I have since learned that the variety occurs once only in the sheet, and therefore it is a comparatively scarce item. Occurring on the blue stamp, it also occurs on the yellow, and on the lake stamps, because all three colors were printed from the same plate. In fact a Philadelphia dealer located a copy of the yellow ½-penny stamp with the double transfer.

DO YOUR BIT—USE HIGH VALUES.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General has issued the following:—

As a measure of economy postmasters and post office employees are directed to encourage the public to use stamps of the highest denominations suited to the amount of postage required on all mail. Co-operation between post office employees and the public in the sale and use of stamps of the higher denominations will effect a large saving to the Government in the cost of producing, transporting, and canceling them, and will benefit the public in minimizing the number of stamps handled and affixed to mail.

INCREASED USE OF STAMPS.

OFFICE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, June 20, 1917.

Order No. 434.

Paragraph 1, Section 489, of the Postal Laws and Regulations, is hereby further amended to read as follows, effective July 1, 1917:

SEC. 489. The sender of a mailable parcel of fourth-class matter on which the postage is fully prepaid may have the price of the article and the charges thereon collected from the addressee on payment of a fee of 10 cents in postage stamps affixed, provided the amount to be remitted does not exceed $50, and on the payment of a fee of 25 cents in postage stamps affixed, provided the amount to be remitted does not exceed $100. Such a parcel will be insured against injury or loss, without additional charge, in an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50 when a 10-cent fee is paid, and $100 when a 25-cent fee is paid, indemnity to be paid in accordance with the provisions of amended paragraph 13, Section 488.

A. S. BURLESON,
Postmaster-General.

EDITORIAL.

How—In our issue of June 2, 1917, we asked these questions, following the explanation that the five cent red error was the consequence of the rejection of three subjects on the plate as too light or "thin", their removal by burnishing and the use of the five cent transfer roll for re-entry:

"Granting that one subject on the transfer roll may be placed so that it rocks its impression into the blank space perfectly how was the blank space treated so that it was exactly flush with the surrounding cliches? If even the thin lines were rubbed away, it would seem that the effect would be to remove at least a trace of the steel. What effect would this depression have in the printing process? In what manner was the deficiency made good? These questions have suggested themselves to collectors and we have no doubt but that they will be answered."

The editor of the Philatelic Gazette says in the June number: "Whenever it is necessary to erase an impression on the plate, this is done by burnishing. Burnishers may be of different sizes and shapes but they are essentially tools with rounded or blunt ends and highly polished. By the proper use of these tools over the impressed area, the upstanding metal is gradually worked down until all traces of the lines disappear. If this process is imperfectly done, shifted die varieties result. Of course, some of the metal is worked away and a slight depression results; to offset this the metal is hammered up from the back until the blank space is flush with the surface, after which the new impression is laid down in the space to be re-entered. Finally, in preparing the plates for printing, any unevennesses on the under side of the plate are bedded up with layers of paper."

Mexico—From George Ward Linn, we have received copies of City of Mexico newspapers detailing the incineration of a huge lot of Mexican remainders, under the direction of Hinojosa, director of posts. We learn that three new portrait stamps have been issued of the denominations of four, twenty and thirty centavos, respectively, gold value or "oro nacional" and are the productions of the Mexican bureau of engraving. The new stamps are good for postage, foreign and domestic. Word to the effect as given was omitted from the preceding issue of the WEEKLY.

Conservation—In the Outlook for June 13, 1917, Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack President of the American Forestry Association and President of the National Emergency Food-Garden Commission, has a ringing article, "The Need of Food Thrift," which tells of the stupid waste of food which under the present conditions becomes criminal. The egregious fool is typified by the habitually wasteful American and if he does not mend his ways, he is likely to receive a shock that will break down his complacency. We are amazed at the scope and extent of Mr. Pack's activities in a public sense, when we realize the prodigality of his contributions to stamp work.

Loyalty—We have some big, unselfish spirits in philately and if we found it necessary, we could tell of remarkable services rendered philately through mere sense of loyalty. One form of devotion to philately impresses us, that of publishing books or pamphlets that appeal only to comparatively few of the body of philatelists, with no thought of financial return, whatever. In no divison has this spirit had finer display than in the field of literature. For instance, when we contemplate the wonderful work that has been done by William R. Ricketts in the indexing of philatelic publications, our mind reels at the magnitude of his accomplishments. We acknowledge the receipt of the "17th & 18th Annual Report of the Committee on Philatelic Literature of the American Philatelic Society," beautifully printed and of limited issue. We told of the receipt of the ordinary edition, in the paper of June 9, 1917, but the copy now under notice is No. 7 of an edition de luxe and its handsome appearance justifies the classification. However, what we intended to say was that we have received an attractive booklet of twenty pages and cover, "Index to the Quaker City Philatelist." The old Quaker City Philatelist was published at Philadelphia from January, 1886, to July, 1894; and the index has been compiled by Mr. Ricketts and published by Hiram E. Deats, Flemington, New Jersey. Two hundred and twenty-five copies have been printed and of this number 100 "are issued as a supplement to the Journal of the Philatelic Literature Society." The old Quaker City Philatelist changed ownership several times before it succumbed to the inevitable and it was a journal that while popular as to contents, contained much information of permanent value. Few of the writers represented in the monthly in question are known by name today.

Appropriate—Speaking of the past, the following letter from Mr. Edwin B. Hill, Granite Reef, Mesa, Arizona, is opportune: "I enjoyed your editorial write-up of Mr. Speakman, and it is hoped that there may be more said when the material is at hand. The early literature is essentially historic and worthy of preservation for that reason if no other. Can you inform me if either Guy W. Green or Roy Farrell Greene is living; and if so, their present address? I have seen a little of their work and I admire its charm. Was any of their work published in book form? So much of the so-called philatelic literature is valueless that the work of these two brothers makes one feel that the oasis has arrived with the journey's end,—somewhat mixed and upside down, but a fact!" Guy W. Green and Roy Farrell Greene were the two best philatelic poets who ever graced the pages of the stamp press with their rhythmatic inspirations. These two singers were not related and both of them achieved recognition in the columns of the outside periodical press. We believe that the poems of each of these young men were published in book form but we are vague about details. We enjoyed the personal acquaintance of both of these gifted collectors and mourned the death of Roy Farrell Greene at Arkansas City, Kansas, some years ago. Our last address of Guy W. Green was Stromsburg, Nebr., and we know that some years ago Mr. Green traveled about the country as manager of the famous baseball team of Nebraska Indians.

Puzzle—From Montague Glass' vest pocket autobiography in a recent Saturday Evening Post, we crib the following humorous allusion to our hobby. "Deep stuff, Mawruss." Scene, book-store; obliging clerk and captious customer:

"How about this interesting volume of short stories?" the clerk continues, thinking he has got the customer on the run, so to speak. "The author was born in Paducah, Kentucky."

"What is his favorite occupation?" asks the customer sternly.

"After-dinner speaking," says the clerk, and the customer waves the book away.

"Show me something by a stamp collector," he says, and, therefore, as it appears to be as broad as it is long, let us pursue the peddler's plan, with modifications to suit an author's biography.

Down—The following notice of the reduction of the rate of letter postage between the United States and the Dominican Republic and vice versa has been ordered:

The United States and the Dominican Republic having agreed thereto, notice is hereby given that, effective immediately, the prepaid rate of postage applicable to letters mailed in the Dominican Republic addressed for delivery in the United States will be two centavos per 15 grams, and to letters mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in the Dominican Republic two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Letters unpaid or insufficiently prepaid will be dispatched to destination subject on delivery to a charge equal to double the amount of the short payment.

GREAT COLLECTION TO BE SOLD.

The great bulk of the Worthington collection is now on the market and has been placed in the hands of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. for private or public sale.

This great collection was acquired June 22 by a well-known New York collector, the purchase not including the U. S. entire envelopes, western express franks nor the Russian rural stamps. It may also be said that some portions of this world-renowned collection had been previously disposed of at private sale through a Boston dealer. They included Transvaal, Canal Zone, Puerto Principe, French Colonies, some U. S. Postmasters and Carriers, some Confederate locals and certain stamps from some other countries.

It is the intention of the present owner of the Worthington collection to retain a number of countries intact, to incorporate with his already fine collection. We noted recently in the WEEKLY that the Worthington collection had been the subject of litigation in the Buffalo courts and for two years had been stored in the safe deposit vaults of the Manufacturers' and Traders' National Bank of that city.

WAR ISSUES OF THE BR. WEST INDIES.

HARRY E. HUBER.

(This article by Mr. Huber will prove of more than ordinary interest, and if it be quoted by our contemporaries we fraternally ask that MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS be given full credit for the same. We ourselves try to be particular in matters of this kind, and request the same consideration from our fellow editors.—Ed.)

The revenues of the Colonies of the Caribbean were greatly impaired during the first year of the war, and while in many of the Islands taxes of various nature were levied by the local legislative bodies, these proving insufficient, consideration was finally given to a tax on mail matter.

Not until April 1st, 1916, was precedent established by Jamaica and British Honduras; June 1st brought the Windward Islands into line, and on September 1st, the Leeward Islands (except Montserrat) were added. Turks & Caicos Islands joined the movement January 2nd, 1917; Cayman Islands on February 26th, and Trinidad & Tobago on April 2nd.

In the majority of the Colonies, local letters have been exempt, and the tax made to apply to letters leaving the Islands destined for the United Kingdom, its Colonies and Protectorates. For the purpose of prepaying this tax, current stamps have been overprinted variously, WAR TAX, WAR STAMP, or simply WAR—not that the stamps were an absolute necessity, for in all Colonies the ordinary unsurcharged stamps may be used to pay this tax.

The overprinted stamps do serve one purpose; i. e., the Colonial Treasurers are able to determine just what revenue has been derived from the sale of these special stamps—and this amount must be considerable, when a stamp dealer's initial order ranges from £50 to £100.

For ready reference purpose, these notes have been arranged in alphabetical order rather than chronological.

Antigua.—The tax of ½d per letter destined for the British Empire, outside of the Leeward Islands, came into effect September 1st, 1916, and until early October when the London overprinted stamps were received at St. John's, the ordinary ½d stamp was used for paying this tax. A special printing in deep blue green, was made of the ½d Arms type, and the overprint WAR STAMP, in heavy block capitals, in one line, was applied to full sheets of 60. The first lot of these stamps was on medium white paper, while the second consignment was on a heavy paper, with dull white gum. A further printing has recently been made, with the overprint applied in red.

Bahamas.—This Colony has not yet found it necessary to impose a tax on mail matter, but two very interesting issues have been produced, which will serve to record the existence of the Great War in its postal emissions.

At the beginning of the war, troops were sent from Canada to New Providence for guard purposes, and it was for urgent mail for these soldiers that a Special Delivery stamp was issued. The current 5d orange and black, Queen's Staircase type, Crown CC paper, was overprinted, in black, SPECIAL DELIVERY, in two lines. The first printing was made in December, 1915, and the entire lot of 600 stamps, was sent to the Canadian Post Office Dept., at Ottawa. At the same time, a supply of the Canadian 10c Special Delivery stamp, was sent to Nassau; these stamps being for use by the soldiers on letters of urgent nature, addressed to Canada. The overprinted stamp of Bahamas was not on sale at Ottawa, nor has the stamp ever been available for use locally in the Bahamas. It can only be procured through the Post Office Dept. in Canada but the stamp itself is affixed to the letter by an employee of the Department. A second printing, also limited, was made early in 1917, but it does not differ from the first printing. As the 5d has appeared in changed colors, purple and black, on multiple Crown and CA paper, it would seem that if further Special Delivery stamps are required, another variety will be created.

To aid the Red Cross Society in its commendable work, a special 1d Red Cross stamp was issued in May, 1917. The 1d Queen's Staircase type has been printed in pale red and black, and overprinted with the Genevan Cross at the top, and date "1.1.17." in the center. The overprint is applied in red.

British Honduras.—While on the mainland of Central America, British Honduras is generally considered part of the British West Indies, owing to its proximity, and the many interests which it and the Islands have in common.

A consignment of 1c, 2c and 5c stamps sent out from London in the early months of 1915, was overprinted in violet with a moire design, so that in case of seizure by the enemy they could be distinguished and rendered invalid. The numbers included in this shipment were: —1c, 60,240; 2c, 180,000; 5c, 121,080.

The 5c blue was the first to be issued, in July, 1915, followed by the 2c in November, and the 1c late in December, 1915. In view of the limited quantity of the 1c with the overprint, it is not surprising that stock was exhausted by February, and further indent had to be made. This further quantity of the 1c (203,880 stamps) was received at Belize in June, 1916.

On April 1st, 1916, the rate on local letters, as well as those to the British Empire, and the United States, was raised to 3c, the extra 1c being a war tax. In August the 1c with the moire overprint, was overprinted locally with the word WAR, to the extent of 177,480 copies.

In March, 1917, the stock of the 1c WAR, with moire overprint being exhausted, the 1c yellow green, from plate 1, was overprinted locally, in black, from the same setting of the word WAR. A recent consignment sent out to the Colony included the 1c in blue green from plate 2, which stamp will probably also receive the overprint WAR when the yellow green stamps from plate 1, are exhausted.

To make possible the use of one stamp for the postage rate and war tax, a 3c stamp, printed in orange, from plate 2, in the design of the lower denominations was issued April 16, 1917.

Cayman Islands.—Law 4 of 1916, imposing a war tax of ½d on each letter intended for the British Empire (outside of the Dependency) was approved by the Governor of Jamaica on Nov. 15, 1916, and a supply of the current George, 2½d blue, overprinted WAR STAMP. 1½d, in two lines, at the Government Printing Office, Kingston, was received in Grand Cayman in early December. Orders in hand were for such quantity, and the lot being so limited, issue was withheld until further 2½d stamps arrived from London. These stamps were received January 2nd, 1917, and were immediately sent back to Jamaica to be suitably overprinted. This was done, and the stamps were received back in Grand Cayman on February 16, 1917. A public notice issued by the Commissioner announced that the war tax would become effective February 26th, 1917, on which date stamps of both printings were on sale at the Post Office.

The first lot of stamps overprinted had the WAR STAMP. portion in letters of the 6-point Roman type, which was applied to full sheets of 120, from plate 5. The 1½d setting was in 60 only, so that two impressions were necessary to add this value to the sheets already overprinted WAR STAMP. As issued, the stamps were separated into panes of 60. The face value of this lot was under £200, and stock was exhausted on first day of sale. The printing was very poorly done, but notwithstanding no constant varieties of note have occurred.

The second lot had the WAR STAMP. applied in letters of the 8-point Roman type, and the setting including the value 1½d was applied to full sheets of 120, plate 5, and then separated into panes of 60. The 52nd stamp of the left pane shows no bar in the fraction, and the 56th stamp of the same pane shows "1" with a straight top. This printing had a face value of approximately £300, and was exhausted by the middle of March.

1½d stamps have been ordered from the Crown Agents in London, and these will probably reach Grand Cayman by July.

Dominica.—The tax of ½d on each letter destined for the British Empire (excluding the Leeward Islands) was made effective Sept. 1st, 1916, and overprinted ½d stamps were first on sale that day. A special printing of the ½d, View of Roseau type, was made by De La Rue, in deep green, and overprinted in red, WAR TAX—ONE HALFPENNY, in two lines, in small block caps. The paper used for this printing (250,000 stamps) was thin, showing the watermark transparently from the back. There is a variety which occurs several times through the sheet of 60; i. e., the "O" of ONE is slightly smaller than normal.

Grenada.—Regulations passed in May, 1916, provided for a war tax of 1d on all letters and parcels intended for the British Empire, effective June 1st. The current 1d rose, from plate 1, was overprinted at the Government Printing Office at St. George's, WAR TAX, in one line. A very limited number of sheets of the 1d red were also included in this printing of which the face value approximated £200. Three different sizes of the letter "A" were used, measuring 2¼ mm., 2 mm., and 1½ mm., the former being the normal, and the latter but once or twice in a sheet of 120. A variety also exists showing a space between T and AX.

In September a consignment of overprinted stamps arrived from London, the stamp being the 1d deep red, from plate 1, and the WAR TAX being in narrow sans serif capitals, in one line.

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—(1382)—Adding to the information published last week, that we would see a number of new items in connection with the proposed intention of Congress to increase the postage rate on first class mail matter to 3c per ounce, the new 3c rate would mean that a new 13c stamp for registered letters will probably be issued. The plates for the old 1908 13c stamp are of course cancelled and out of use, but the dies are available for producing new plates. A new 13c stamp would most likely be in a different color than the old one as the current 11c stamp is in the old 13c color; or will the new 13c be in the old color and the color of the 11c be changed? The probabilities for a 6c envelope are not remote, either.

(1373)—Mr. F. B. McGown has forwarded to us a letter received from the 3rd Asst. Postmaster Gen. regarding the 20c stamp with distinct blotch of green color, as noted in the Chronicle for April 21. We are pleased to be able to reproduce the contents of the letter:

"'I duly received your letter of April 30, inclosing nine 20c stamps received from Mr. F. B. McGown for inspection and requesting that I advise you as to the cause of the greenish tint which appears on a part of these stamps.

"'In reply, I beg to say that a microchemical examination of these stamps indicates the presence of both chromium and lead which are not normally present in the ink used for printing this denomination. These elements are present in the inks used for 8c and 10c stamps, and when inks for these denominations are mixed with the 20c ink, the olive green in the stamps submitted by you is matched. The assumption, therefore, is that, in printing some of these stamps, inks got on the plate from the rag, roller or wiper pad of the press and produced the effect shown.'

"The nine 20c stamps in question are returned herewith, and will be redeemed if you will present them at the postoffice with this letter."

Mr. McGown says he doesn't think he will redeem them at the postoffice.

(1381)—Our thanks to Mr. J. M. Bartels for the following list of new envelopes:

The following new envelopes should be added to previous lists supplied us by Mr. Bartels:

(1381)—Advertising cancellations already mentioned have been sent in by Messrs. Eppes, Babson and Walters, while Mr. J. W. Olsen submits a new one: "Young Mens Business Clubs of America, Lamar, Colo. August 29th-30th, 1917". Many thanks to all four.

(1373)—The Philatelic Gazette is our authority for stating that a very fine double transfer occurs on the current 2c stamp. It is the 58th stamp in the upper left pane from plate No. 7951. There is a distinct line outside the left frame line extending almost four-fifths the entire length, and distinct doubling in the numerals and the letters of the word "CENTS".

ABYSSINIA.—(1382)—Champion's Bulletin lists another commemorative supplementing the list we gave last week. Those contained an overprint in four lines within a rectangular frame. The one added to the list has the overprint in three lines without the frame.

Commemorative.

4g green and carmine.

ALBANIA.—(1372)—Under this country heading, Champion's Bulletin lists a new series. The surcharge as described in our Chronicle for April 14th seems to have been used for printing adhesive stamps, a rectangular frame surrounding a double headed eagle is printed in one color, while the inscriptions "Shqiperie" at left, "Korce" at top, "Vet Qeveritare" at the right and the value in "Cts" at bottom is printed in a second color. The stamps are perf. 11½. In the list below the eagle and frame are given in the first color.

Adhesives.

1c dark brown and green.
2c dark carmine and green.
3c gray green and green.
5c green and black.
10c rose and black.
25c blue and black.
50c violet and black.
1fr brown and black.

BRAZIL.—Mr. Fred Liebeck shows us the 100r, Scott's type A51, in coil form (used on cover). A pair is from a vertical coil with horizontal perf. 12.

Coil (Perf. 12 x imperf.).

100r aniline rose.

CANADA.—(1382)—Mr. Maurice Dietrick informs us that he has the "Calgary Industrial Exhibition Calgary Alberta June 28–1917 Only" advertising cancellation, while a Toronto one submitted by Mr. Bamiek (?) has already been mentioned.

CUBA.—(1381)—We thank the J. M. Bartels Co. for showing us the new 1, 10, 20, 50c and $1 stamps, completing the series. The 1c to 20c have the portraits in circles over which is the word "Correos", the numeral of value in the upper left corner and the sign "c" in the upper right, the words "Republica de Cuba" across the base of the stamp. The 50c and $1 have the portraits in square frames which is superimposed at the upper left with a circle containing the values (50c and $1 respectively); across the base of this frame appears the word "Correos" and across the base of the stamp "Republica de Cuba". The background to the portrait on the 50c is only lightly shaded, while that of the $1 appears solid color, although composed of vertical and horizontal cross lines. The new stamps are on unwatermarked white wove paper and perf. 12. The following list shows the complete series, with the names of the individuals portrayed in parentheses:

Adhesives.

1c blue-green (Marti).
2c carmine-rose (Maximo Gomez).
3c violet (Jose de la Luz).
5c blue (Calixto Garcia).
8c burnt-sienna (Agramonte).
10c brown (Estrada Palma).
20c olive (Jose a Saco).
50c claret (Maceo).
$1 bluish-black (Céspedes).

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—(1375)—Mr. H. Mueller sends us from this West Indian neighboring republic the 1c overprinted "1916" in red, as noted in our Chronicle for January 13, and a copy in a much deeper color. The two shades may be classified thus: pale green and dull black, and light blue-green and full black.

FRANCE.—(1382)—The following letter from Mr. W. T. Wilson regarding the "grande consommation" French stamps is self-explanatory:

"A few paragraphs have appeared in the philatelic press on this subject but bearing in mind the interest which is naturally taken in the stamps of France it may be well to bring the list up to date.

"The 'G. C.' stamps are on very poor drab colored granite paper, this last a point which seems to have been overlooked by the chroniclers.

"I have the following values thus: 2c (just issued), 3c, 5c, 10c, 15c, 30c, 40c, 50c and Postage Due 5c, 10c and 30c. The current type 25c on normal paper is now appearing in a marked new light blue shade."

Some few years ago, when the current French stamps were extensively forged for the purpose of defrauding the post, the stamps were printed on a new thin paper, which the authorities termed "quadrillé" to enable the postoffices and agents to distinguish between the old and the new and so the forgers couldn't imitate the paper. This quadrille paper was quite thin compared to that previously in use and when held to the light a faint weave showing quadrille vertical and horizontal lines could be seen. The "G. C." paper, as mentioned above and in previous chronicles shows a diagonal weave when held to the light. The grade of this new paper varies, and we have some of the 10c on paper which swells when immersed in water and is not thin and does not show any signs of granitization, that is, has no fibrous particles of silk, or other threads, as we understand granite paper to have. The colors of the 25c on the first paper runs from indigo to very light blue, on the quadrille paper (please do not confuse this with the quadrille paper of 1892) the light shade noted by Mr. Wilson is quite new. Up to May 31st this value had not appeared on the G. C. paper.

L'Echo de la Timbrologie states that booklets containing twenty 15c. stamps have been issued. These are on very ordinary paper, like the G. C. issue; the impression of the design is so poor that the silhouette of the Semeuse can hardly be distinguished.

FRENCH MOROCCO.—Champion's Bulletin announces a new series of Postal Packet stamps for this protectorate. They are large upright stamps of Arabesque design, after the style of the Hejaz stamps recently chronicled, with the inscription, "Maroc Colis-Postaux" in the centre. Perf. 13½x14.

Postal Packet Stamps.

5c green.
10c carmine.
20c red-brown.
25c blue.
40c brown.
50c vermilion.

1f ultramarine.
2f light gray.
5f violet.
10f black.

The 5c and 30c postage dues of the protectorate have appeared printed on the "G. C." paper as noted in recent chronicles of French stamps. This information from the Echo de la Timbrologie.

GREECE.—Champion's Bulletin states that its publisher has seen a cover from Greece on which insufficient postage had been prepaid, the tax being collected by means of provisional postage due stamps consisting of the ordinary postage overprinted with a very large "T".

GUADELOUPE.—The new Red Cross stamp for this colony has been issued, according to L'Echo de la Timbrologie. Same type as preceding issue of 10c+5c.

Red Cross Stamp.

15c+5c violet.

GUATEMALA.—(1373)—Champion's Bulletin states on the authority of El Eco Postal that an entire series of commemorative stamps were to be issued, to include six values, but all in the same colors, bistre and blue. The subjects were as follows:

25c Postal Palace.
30c Military Academy.
90c Young Ladies School.
1p 50c National Arms.
3p Inalambuco Tower.
5c Portrait of Cabrera.

The issue of the 25c chronicled April 21st, with the President's portrait, probably superseded the series proposition.

GUINEA.—See Portuguese Colonies.

HEJAZ.—Two new stamps of 20pa and 1p are to be issued with larger figures of value. They will be perf. 12½. This news is from Champion's Bulletin.

INDIA.—(Orcha Native State). Champion's Bulletin lists, as having been issued in 1916, a 4a stamp.

ITALY.—(1379)—Champion's Bulletin chronicles an Aerial-Post stamp issued for the Turin-Rome experimental postal service as mentioned in our Chronicle of June 2nd. The special delivery stamp, Scott's No. 201, has been overprinted, in three lines,

ESPERIMENTO POSTA AEREA
MAGGIO 1917
TORINO-ROMA—ROMA-TORINO

Aerial-Postage Stamp.

25c carmine-rose.

The service took place under the guidance of Pomilio & Co., on May 22. The stamps were on sale for three days, May 17, 18 and 19, at Turin and at Rome, but the sale was limited to six copies to any one applicant. A special cancellation was used for the event. The Italian Philatelic Circle, of Turin, prepared and used a specially printed postal card for the aerial service.

MACAO.—See Portuguese Colonies.

NAURU.—(1381)—Noting Mr. Walton's letter in our Chronicle of June 16th Mr. I. W. Risdon writes to us as follows: "I have part of a cover containing ten varieties of Nauru stamps. This cover was mailed at Pleasant Island, Nauru, on Jan. 7, 1917." From these two sources, we must infer that the Nauru and N. W. Pacific Islands stamps are in concurrent use, or that one issue is used when the other is not available.

NEW CALEDONIA.—(1374)—L'Echo de la Timbrologie says that the ship carrying supplies of the Red Cross stamps (as chronicled April 28) to this colony, has been sunk, and with it the stamps. It is probable that the 10c+5c will not be reprinted, and therefore will be a most interesting stamp as it has only been issued in Paris.

NEW ZEALAND.—Mr. F. V. Cooney writes as follows: "Some time ago I noticed that my New Zealand No. 144 overprinted War Stamp, ½d green, had an inverted "L" for the "T" of "STAMP". Mr. Hibbard of the U. T. K. Stamp Co. and I looked over some 400 of these stamps and among them we found four copies the same as mine."

NORTHWEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—Champion's Bulletin is our authority for listing the £1 on the narrow crown wmk. paper.

Adhesive (New Wmk.)

£1 blue and brown.

Marsh's Weekly Philatelist states the sheets consist of 30 stamps, the two top rows show the type I overprint, the third row type II and the fourth and fifth rows type III.

NYASALAND.—Marsh's Weekly Philatelist chronicles the ½d in pale green instead of green and the 1d in scarlet in place of rose-red. Wmk. and perf. as before.

Adhesives.

PORTUGAL.—The Portuguese Red Cross Society has issued the Red Cross stamp of Portugal with the overprint "Comissao Portuguesa de Prisioneiros de Guerra" (Portuguese Commission of Prisoners of War). 100,000 were so overprinted in green and when these had been used another 100,000 were overprinted in red. The stamps serve the Society in sending letters to prisoners of war in enemy countries, exclusively.

Franchise Postage.

Vermilion and black, green overprint.
Vermilion and black, red overprint.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—We reprint the following from Ewen's Weekly Stamp News: Mr. J. N. Marsden, of Lisbon, writes us as follows: "To the specialist in these stamps it may be interesting to note that stamps of Portuguese Congo, Guinea, India, Macau, Tete, have stars at each side of the name. The star is always a five-pointed one. In some values one of the points is upwards, in others it is downwards, and in some sideways, that is neither one nor the other, and I have discovered varieties in the sheets, of which if you like I will send you a list. For instance, in the Guinea stamps, in some of the values the first stamp of the 5th row has both stars with one point upwards and all the other stamps on the sheet have the stars with one point downwards; and in India the stamps on chalky paper up to 10rs have the stars with one point downwards, but on ordinary paper the 2, 2½, 3, 4½, 5 and 10rs have the stars with one point upwards, and there are many other interesting varieties. These varieties have never been noticed by anyone, so I give you the first information of them. Some day they will have to be catalogued."

RUSSIA.—The 2k and 5k of the 1909 type have been issued in new colors, imperf., according to information received by L'Echo de la Timbrologie. It is a coincidence that we listed last week the 1k imperf. We wonder if this latter is orange and an imperf. variety of the 1909 issue, or whether it is a new issue along with the 2k and 5k in new colors. Scott's No. 78a, 7k light blue, and No. 81a, 15k red-violet and blue are the only others of the series that are listed imperf.

Adhesives (Imperf.).

2k orange.
5k carmine.

SALVADOR.—(1382)—Last week we chronicled new official stamps and quoted as authority a French contemporary. We find these stamps were listed as ordinary postage stamps by Scott's Circular last November. The advertisements of the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. recently listed them as postage stamps. We now read in L'Echo de la Timbrologie that the remaining (our Italics) stamps of the series of 1915 have received the overprint "S", which means "Salvador", and have been in use since August 25, 1916. This issue certainly cannot be remainders, as they never had the overprint "1915". There were 530,400 in all of eight values. Please correct our last week's chronicle to read "Adhesives" instead of "Official".

TETE.—See Portuguese Colonies.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—The Philatelic Magazine reports the current ½d with inverted watermark.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Collectors' Journal is an aspirant for the official journalship of the Southern Philatelic Association and will prove a serious contender in the race for preferment that is now being run by the Philatelic West, the Stamp Herald and Mr. Guest's paper.

—The sale to be held by the Indiana Stamp Company on July 7th will be composed of the stamps of Mr. J. E. Harvey, Markle, Indiana, who, we remember, was one of the first collectors to impose condition restrictions on his orders for United States stamps and the consequence is that this collection, replete with the best of U. S. stamps, purchased, as a rule, some time ago, can give a good account of itself even in these critical days. We are told that Mr. Harvey, liberal buyer though he was, never met a stamp dealer "face to face," until recently.

—The P. A. Eftofie Manufacturing Company recently added approval cards, stock books, etc., to its line of novelties and stationers' specialties, and samples that have been received by us, we were glad to put to practical use.

—We are indebted to Wm. L. Aldrich and P. M. Wolsieffer for clippings from Chicago and Philadelphia papers giving the story of the sale of the great Worthington collection. This transaction is being well advertised and will open the eyes of some people who are skeptical as to the worth-while in stamp collecting.

—Walter B. Gould of Bangor, Me., according to a clipping from the Daily Commercial of that city, has made an unique proposition to assist in raising funds for the local Red Cross work. He has contributed a large collection of old U. S. copper cents which will be placed in stores, banks, etc., throughout the city and sold at 10c each. Mr. Gould will give the total amount received to the Red Cross Society and arrange all the details connected with the plan. He agrees to supply these coins up to 5,000 in number and will take charge of additional coins contributed for sale. The clipping goes on to say that while the face value of these old coins is only 1c, many of them command a premium.

—C. G. Gardner, Jackson, Mich., would like to know the present address of A. Helle, formerly 1621 Sedgwick St., Chicago.

—A. F. Simionescu sends in a list of five names of parties who have failed to make returns on approval selections. Three are located in Brooklyn and one in New York, and are of the class of stamp collectors to which we have referred many times in the WEEKLY as residing in this section, and of whom dealers should beware. May we suggest that if dealers send out approval selections without taking precautions in investigating references it must be expected that unsatisfactory business relations will result.

—The Collectors' Philatelic Society of Detroit, which is Branch 47 of the A. P. S., has unanimously endorsed the A. P. S. nominations made by the Philadelphia Branch. Z. Dworkowski has been elected president in place of H. H. Prager, who has been compelled to leave Detroit.

—The Somerville (Mass.) Stamp Society is in a flourishing condition. At its last meeting C. A. Howes, president of the A. P. S., gave a talk on the stamps of China and exhibited his collection. New issues at face were distributed among the members and there was a spirited auction sale conducted by I. W. Risdon.

—W. S. Aldrich of St. Joseph, Mo., called east by the illness of his mother, was a recent caller at the office of the WEEKLY in Boston.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Albert L. Fox and Roscoe B. Martin.

All About YOU

YOU have seen St. Nicholas announcements before. Perhaps did not send for further information, because:—

Y O U

1. Just neglected to write for it.
2. Thought St. Nicholas was just a cheap "kids" paper.
3. Feel it is too much bother to go after this kind of business.
4. Don't believe it would pay you.
5. Are a wholesaler only.
6. Can't reach grown-ups through St. Nicholas.
7. Orders would be too small.
8. Advertising costs too much.
9. Feel youngsters are unreliable people to do business with—(Go back and think about your own boyhood days).
10. Do not know what we do every month to help your business.

It is possible you would find upon investigation that St. Nicholas cannot help you. It does sometimes happen. But none of the above reasons should keep you from finding out just what we are talking about. It is hardly necessary to say we will welcome the opportunity of serving you.

BOSTON, June 19, 1917.

The 284th (regular) meeting of the Society was called to order at 8 p. m. by Pres. Brown. The usual reports were read and the resignation of Mr. J. C. Morgenthau, No. 271, was accepted. The proposed amendment to the Constitution admitting juniors to membership, was adopted and the application of Ransom W. Stiles for admittance to junior membership was posted. Mr. Charles B. Moore won the silver medal in the competition and Mr. Ralph N. Hall won second prize, a bronze medal. Mr. Moore's Leeward Islands and Northern Nigeria were marked 98%, and Mr. Hall's collection of Cyprus and Gibraltar were given 97%. Messrs. Howes, Dunning and Bell, also entered stamps for the competition. There were 29 members and 2 visitors present.

FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec.

Don't forget that, although there are no more regular meetings until September, the informal meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month, and that there is an auction at these meetings.

NOTICE.—There are to be two contests in the fall, for each of which silver and bronze medals have been donated. The first will be in October and will be stamps surcharged "War". The second will be for stamps of the Scandinavian countries. Mr. Sawyer and Mr. Hill are the donors of the prizes. This early announcement will give all an opportunity to get their stamps in shape.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

By W. WARD, Author of "Postage Stamps of the Levant," Etc.

Surface Printed Issues 1867-83.

Towards the summer of 1867, on account of the large amount of colonial and foreign correspondence, it was found necessary to issue higher values than 2sh and the first to appear was the 5sh. Eleven years later, in 1878, two other values were issued, 10sh and £1. They were printed on paper watermarked with a Maltese Cross, humorously known as the only variety of British watermark known not inverted! As in the lower values, the plate numbers were added in the design and the familiar check letters in the corners. The large size of the stamps was probably the cause of the issue being perforated 15½ x 15.

1867-78. Perf. 15½x15. Wmk. Maltese Cross.
5sh pale rose, plates 1, 2 (1867).
10sh greenish-gray, plate 1 (1878).
£1 lilac brown, plate 1 (1878).

In 1873, the plates of the 3p, 6p and 1sh were again modified by the check corner letters being made colored on a white ground instead of white on a colored ground, as formerly. The 6p value was further altered by removing the plate number to the center right and left, to appear more symmetrical, as in the 3p and 1sh values. They were issued on the same watermarked paper, the rose spray, as before. With the exception of plate 14, which was registered, but probably never issued in green, the series needs little comment. The 6d buff is a very rare stamp, probably issued in that color by error.

1873-77. Perf. 14. Wmk. Spray, with colored check letters in corners.
3p rose, plates 11, 12 and 14 to 20.
6p buff, plate 13.
6p gray, plates 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.
1sh green, plates 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14.

The reduction of postage to certain foreign countries from 4p to 2½p per ½ ounce, made it necessary to issue a stamp of that value in 1875. For some strange reason, it was issued on a new paper originally prepared for the revenue stamps of 1867, both blued and quite white, watermarked with a "naked" anchor. In the second plate, an error occurred in the lettering of the stamp L—H, H—L, as L—H, F—L. The error is not exactly rare, but always finds a ready sale at about $10 in from good to fair condition.

1875. Perf. 14. Wmk. anchor.

The paper watermarked anchor used for the 2½p being held necessary for the revenue stamps of the period, a new paper watermarked with the Royal Orb was brought into use, but which paper in its turn was relegated for revenue stamps when the new "Crown" watermarked paper appeared in 1881. During four years no fewer than 15 different plates of the 2½p in claret, were issued on the "Orb" paper. Since four plates were printed in blue on this paper in 1880, 1876-1880. Perf. 14. Wmk. Royal Orb.

2½p blue, plates 17 to 20.

In 1876, the printers evidently had on hand a large stock of the large garter watermarked paper used in the printing of the 4p values from 1857 to 1873, for when the new plates of the 4p with the large colored corner check letters were ready they used that paper in no less than three different colors, vermilion, sage green and grayish brown. The second and third plates of the first two colors respectively are classed among the greatest rarities of British stamps. In the fall of the same year a new value 8p was issued in orange. It had also been printed in purple-brown, registered, but was never issued to the public. This stamp was also printed on the large garter paper.

1876-1880. Perf. 14. Wmk. large garter.
4p vermilion, plates 15, 16 (March, 1876).
4p sage green, plates 15, 16, 17 (Feb., 1877).
4p gray brown, plate 17 (July, 1880).
8p orange, plate 1 (Sept., 1876).

On the first of January, 1881, several values, the 3p, 4p and 6p, made their appearance on a new watermarked paper, that of the "Imperial Crown" which existed for thirty-two years without change, through three reigns.

Imperial Crown.

A few months previous to this (Feb., 1880) the 2sh value had been altered in color to brown, and the 1sh (Oct., 1880) changed to a very similar color, both on rose spray watermarked paper, the former in the white check letter type and the latter with colored check letters. A few months afterwards the 2½p and 1sh were reprinted on the new Crown paper.

At this same period the contracts for the line-engraved ½p, 1p, 1½p and 2p stamps expired, and it was decreed that the future supplies of these values should be in harmony with the higher value surface printed stamps, and the same firm that printed the latter, Messrs. Thos. de la Rue, was awarded the contracts. A new value, 5p, was also added for double weight foreign postage.

Ringing the changes on watermarks must have sorely puzzled the collector of those days, and to make matters worse the 3p and 6p were issued (Jan., 1883) in the same lilac color of a specially prepared ink first employed for the revenue stamps as a protection against cleaning. In order to prevent confusion these two values were overprinted in carmine with large figures of value. Both values exist with varieties of the dots under the letter "d" representing pence as (a) one dot, (b) slanting dots and (c) minus dots.

The 1sh value was printed in the "safety" lilac in both plates 13 and 14 on the Crown paper, but were never issued for sale to the public.

The high values up to £5 were also issued concurrent with this medley of designs but we shall deal with them separately.

1880. Perf. 14. Wmk. rose-spray.
1sh (colored check letters) orange brown, plate 13.
2sh (white check letters) brown, plate 1.

1880-82. Perf. 14. Wmk. Imperial Crown.
½p deep green, (no plate number).
½p pale green, (no plate number).
1p venetian red, (no plate number).
1½p venetian red, (no plate number).
2p deep rose, (no plate number).
2p pale rose, (no plate number).
2½p blue, plates 21, 22, 23.
3p rose, plates 20, 21.
4p gray-brown, plates 17, 18.
5p indigo, (no plate number).
6p gray, plates 17, 18.
1sh orange brown, plates 13, 14.

In 1881 a new design was made for the penny value—bearing for the first time the words "postage and inland revenue." This was also printed in the revenue "safety" lilac.

After a few months' service, the design was slightly modified from 14 to 16 pearls in each corner of the stamp.

A B

14 Pearls. 1d '81-2. 16 Pearls.

Though in use for over twenty years few varieties of this stamp occur, one of which issued towards the end of the "nineties" is the "bottom" line variety in which the whole of the right and left hand bottom line of pearls are solid color, as if the plate had been struck by a metal part of the ink rollers or mobile portion of the printing machine. This stamp is also known printed on the gummed side of the paper.

1881-1882. Perf. 14. Wmk. Imperial Crown.
1p lilac, 14 pearls, (July, 1881).
1p pale lilac, 14 pearls.

3p lilac, surch. "3d" 1 dot under "d".
6p lilac, surch. "6d" 1 dot under "d".
6p lilac, surch. "6d" no dots under "d".

The fall of 1882 saw three high values, 5sh, 10sh and £1 together with a new high value, £5, make their appearance on the fiscal paper watermarked with the "naked" anchor, in both blued and plain white. Apart from postal purposes they did service for telegraph charges, replacing the special telegraph issue of 1876-77, the £5 being of the same design but with the word "postage" at the top taking the place of "telegraphs." They were perforated the new standard 14. These stamps may be classified with three sorts of obliterations—(a) ordinary round or "killer" towns postmark, (b) oval registered postmark and (c) telegraph cancellation. The first and third reflect the current catalog quotations, whereas the second generally command a good per cent. over catalog price according to condition.

PROOFS and ESSAYS
I take pleasure in announcing the purchase of the entire collection of proofs and essays formed by the late Edward H. Mason of Boston. As is well known, this is the finest collection of these items in the world, not only in number of stamps but in wealth of detail. The collection contains many unique items showing changes made in the original die while it was being worked out to its final state. The accepted dies are nearly always shown in many trial colors. If the collection is not sold as a whole, it will be priced up and ready for sale by July 10th. My prices will be, as usual, fair, and low enough to make a quick sale. Of course, everybody cannot be "first", but I will be very glad to submit any one of the 15 volumes to specialists in that issue as early as possible. Every collector of proofs and essays should write me!

5c ERROR
I have sold over 100 sheets of these stamps and am prepared to sell at "market" price on the day the order is received. At the moment they are lower than ever:—But, don't wait too long!

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—John Terry of Seattle reports Guillermo Pasadre, Tacna, Chile, for unsatisfactory exchange relations.

—While we are reporting the fact that Hiordan is meeting exchange obligations, we cannot report progress as regards claims against Carrol J. Agnew and state this for the benefit of some of our correspondents.

—We remember that some years ago the WEEKLY published the picture of Henry P. Day of Peoria, Ill., with a brief biographical sketch. The Howard Stamp Co., Peoria, Ill., sends us a clipping from the Peoria Star of June 26, which contains an interesting stamp article written by Mr. Day.

—We have heard from two or three parties that P. V. Hiordan is settling the claims entered against him. His address is 1507 Casilla de Correo, Buenos Ayres, Argentina. We urge interested parties to write Hiordan at the address given.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. J. Zink, J. R. Nichols, John H. Feeman, H. C. Upson, Maitland Milliken, L. H. Barney, Jr.

—E. C.—You can get a book with names and addresses of stamp collectors by writing to E. W. Heusinger, San Antonio, Texas. Retail price, $1.00.

—We received too late a telegram from Lorene Stack making changes in the 5c error advertisement run last week. In the revised adv. the prices are cheapened considerably and parties who ordered at the higher quotations will have money refunded.

—Henry Pepper Norris enters a complaint that we feel should receive attention. It is one that has been filed with us at intervals during recent years. A dealer advertised a certain set of stamps without quoting any price but soliciting business. We will now let Mr. Norris tell the story:—

"On June 19th I wrote to him asking his price for the set, either new or used, and enclosed a stamp for the reply, but to date have not heard from him. The same advertisement appeared in the next number of the WEEKLY, and I don't see why he wastes his money and other people's time in advertising stamps, if he don't want to sell them."

PLEASE NOTE.

NOTED STAMP CASE SETTLED.

Buffalo Woman's Judgment of $340,000 is Paid.

The action of Alice F. Halladay of No. 469 Delaware Ave., against George H. Worthington, Harrison B. McGraw, and others of Cleveland, O., involving the famous Worthington stamp collection, was settled by an order granted yesterday afternoon in the special term by Justice Dudley. The order was secured by Judge Daniel J. Kenefick, representing Mr. McGraw. It provides for discontinuing the appeal taken by the defendants from the judgment secured here last February by Mrs. Halladay for about $340,000.

The settlement was brought about through the sale of a portion of the $1,000,000 stamp collection in New York City a few days ago. With the proceeds of that sale, the assignee of Mr. Worthington settled with his creditors, including Mrs. Halladay, whose judgment is paid.

The suit brought by Mrs. Halladay was to recover the value of American Chicle Company stock, estimated at something more than $300,000, which she loaned to Mr. Worthington, a family friend, to be used as security in obtaining a loan. As collateral for her advance, Mrs. Halladay got the stamp collection. Mr. Worthington's affairs became more involved and the suit just ended was instituted to clear up the entire situation.

The amount realized at the recent sale of the stamps in New York was not stated in any of the papers filed, but is understood to have been more than $500,000.—Buffalo Express.

NEW BELGIAN CHARITY STAMPS.

We note by the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain the detailed description of the new set of labels just issued by a charitable organization of Belgians in aid of Belgian soldiers crippled in the war. The labels are six in number, have no postal value and are described as follows:—

(1.) Rose. Portrait of General Leman, surmounting a view of Liege.

(2.) Brown on blue. Portrait of Burgomaster Max, surmounting a view of the Palace of Justice, Brussels.

(3.) Black on buff. Picture of Louvain and the University in flames.

(4.) Purple on pale green. Cardinal Mercier and a view of St. Rombaut of Malines.

(5.) Deep green on pale green. An allegorical picture of a Belgian "piotte" on the banks of the Yser.

(6.) Indigo on pale rose. A symbolical picture of the King of the Belgians, the Soldier Hero saluting the Wounded.

EDITORIAL.

Order—Order No. 413 by the postmaster general was issued as early as June 13, 1917, but purposely was withheld from general notice until recently, we understand. The order is self-explanatory, as providing for the organization of the first military postal station in France; and in a short time, the first of our extra-territorial army postmarks will be available. "Order No. 413. Pursuant to Section 4021, Revised Statutes (Section 1468, Postal Laws and Regulations), a Mail Agency is hereby established at Bordeaux, France, or such other port in France as may be more convenient for conducting the postal service in connection with the United States Expeditionary Force in Europe, to be known as the United States Mail Agency, in France, and Marcus H. Bunn is appointed as Postal Agent in charge." Elsewhere, we publish the official notice regarding mail for the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe. It may be added that Section 4021 of the Revised Statutes authorizes the postmaster-general to establish resident mail agencies at such foreign ports "at which United States mail-steamers touch to land and receive mails, as may in his judgment, promote the efficiency of the foreign mail service," etc. This statute was passed over fifty years ago and provided specifically for the establishment of resident mail agencies at the ports of Panama and Aspinwall in New Granada (Colombia); Havana in Cuba and St. Thomas, Danish West Indies.

Transcendant—The lively interest that is still being shown in the five cent red error is proof of the profound impression made on the philatelic mind by the discovery of this wonder of wonders. Even when the philatelic pulse calms down and the first excitement attending the appearance of the stamp dies away, there will be an enthusiastic regard entertained for the error that time will strengthen, instead of loosen. It cannot be otherwise as the error is the stamp marvel of this or any other age. It is so phenomenal in all of its aspects that it about defies analysis. However, we need not attempt to consider the stamp psychologically, as it were, as there is so much about the stamp that still makes it a live topic. One reader says that we have not commented on the evidences of re-entry shown in the design of the first error on the double sheet; a close examination will show at the top of the left frame line, traces of the first entry or impression and the label containing "Postage," reveals the duplication.

Information—To all the readers who have written to us on the subject of the error, we return thanks; and in some instances, their remarks have been worked into our reports on the stamp. In this connection, we cannot forbear to quote from a letter that has come from Mr. H. F. Colman of Washington: "I saw Mr. Fitch, Chief of the Stamp Division, Post Office Department, and asked him when the error was first called to the Department's attention; and he told me that the error was discovered at Christiana's drug store, sub-station 79, at the corner of 9th street and Pennsylvania avenue, which is only four squares from my office. Dr. Barrett, who has charge of the drug store, took one of the stamps to Mr. Fitch. I should say that about a week before the Department issued the order recalling the 'misprinted stamp,' a clerk in Station G, one block from my office, and where I mail my letters and register mail, informed me that there was a five cent stamp printed in red. I thought that he was joking, as I knew that we had the five cent parcel post and the five cent due. . . . When the order was issued, all of the sheets of these stamps in Washington were taken out of the packages for destruction. In fact, one was unable to purchase a package of five hundred sheets unless the sheets were searched through for the error. You know, stamps are packed five hundred sheets to a package and sealed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing."

Returned—We have been told that a good slice of the printing that embraced fewer than 150,000 errors is lost to collectors. Further than to say that many sheets have been returned to Washington and that in the returns, the two error sheets predominate, we cannot speak positively. We have no statistics as to the number of sheets perforated 10 and 11, respectively; and in view of the shifting market quotations on the errors we must adhere to our resolution to refuse estimates of value in this column. It is apparent, however, that after a marked decline, the errors have slowly been improving in price and continued firmness is anticipated.

Ferrary—From the London Philatelist we learn through a memorial contributed to its columns by Mr. Charles J. Phillips, of the death on May 20, 1917, of Philip La Rénotière von Ferrary. The age of Philip La Rénotière, as he chose to be called for some years past, is estimated to have been about sixty years. The present generation of collectors will not be affected by the news so markedly as the older collectors will, as they remember the time when the name of the son of the Duchess of Galliera, "probably the richest woman in Europe," was foremost as a stamp collector in the newspapers of the world. Some time ago, we had the privilege of publishing a rather intimate personal article on the subject of the world's greatest collector, in some respects, of all philatelic times and Mr. Phillips in his appreciation devotes his pen to a description of his collections, in some degree. While the Ferrary collection has been referred to as a mausoleum, yet we are assured by Mr. Phillips, who had access to it at all times that Ferrary, though something of a philatelic recluse, so far as the philatelic world at large was concerned, was glad to enrich the store of knowledge of philatelists generally. Mr. Phillips says that it is almost impossible "to give anyone an idea of the wealth of material in this collection." In some respects, the Ferrary collection is made great by its inclusion of a stamp only one of which is known, British Guiana, 1856, large oblong, error, 1c instead of 4c. The passing of this most distinctive figure of the philatelic world will be noticed with sympathy for one who was so valiant, and tremendous a champion of the gentle hobby.

Business—Here we are almost in midsummer and yet business is going on at many a philatelic stand as usual. In fact June will be a banner month for not a few dealers, who will not be indisposed to recognize the adventitious aid rendered by the errors which have kept rapt attention on philately for the month past. The United Stamp Company makes a point in this connection that we may have overlooked. In speaking of the unusual demand at this time of year for albums and accessories, the manager says that not alone has the error stimulated trade but that the newspaper item mentioning the Worthington collection as a million dollar property had its effect. The public announcement that a collection could be worth that huge sum has a heartening influence on modest buyers and those who ordinarily do not take philately to be the substantial monetary factor that it is. This year, it is safe to say that philately will take a very short vacation, if it takes any at all.

ITALIAN AEROPLANE MAIL.

Several of our readers have sent us in clippings giving the particulars of an air postal service recently placed in operation in Italy. We are indebted to H. C. Upson for Commerce Reports and we quote Consul Haven, who under date of May 12, writes from Turin the information contained below:—

"The firm of Pomilio & Co., of Turin, intends within a few days to inaugurate an aero transport service between this city and Rome. Permission has been accorded by the Italian Minister of Posts and Telegraphs for the carrying of mail between the two cities and the surrounding sections, and until special stamps have been issued by the Government the ordinary "express" or "special delivery" stamp of $0.05 is to be used, with a note made on the envelope that the letter is to be sent by aeroplane. No stamp other than the "special delivery" is required, but the using of this stamp for this particular service does not imply the delivery of the letter by special messenger to destination, as would ordinarily be the case. Special letter boxes are to be placed in the post offices and railway stations in both Rome and Turin wherein letters for the aero post may be deposited."

WAR ISSUES OF THE BR. WEST INDIES.

HARRY E. HUBER.

(This article by Mr. Huber will prove of more than ordinary interest, and if it be quoted by our contemporaries we fraternally ask that MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS be given full credit for the same. We ourselves try to be particular in matters of this kind, and request the same consideration from our fellow editors.—Ed.)

Jamaica.—From and after April 1st, 1916, letters and post cards passing within the Colony were taxed ½d, and parcels arriving from overseas, 3d. The tax was also made effective for all letters and cards, and parcels, addressed to the United Kingdom and British Possessions.

Special stamps were in readiness for the occasion, formed by overprinting the current ½d Arms, yellow green, on thin paper, and the 3d King George, violet on yellow, surfaced paper, with WAR STAMP., in 6-point Roman caps, in one line. The ½d in this and all subsequent printings, was overprinted in complete sheets of 240 stamps (four panes of 60 each), and the 3d in sheets of 120 stamps (two panes of 60 each). The overprinting was done by the Government Printing Office at Kingston, and the only varieties occurring were in the ½d value. These consist of no period after STAMP, and W and AR spaced.

The July printing consisted of the ½d blue green, on heavier white paper, with white gum, and the 3d King George, violet on lemon yellow paper. Both values exist without the period after STAMP.

In March 1½d stamps were ordered by cable from the Crown Agents in London, and while these arrived on June 21st, they were not placed on sale until July 13th. This value was printed in orange, in the King George design of the Colony, from plate 1, and comes in sheets of 240 stamps, (four panes of 60 each). It was added to the series in use to take care of the combined letter rate and the war tax, but the public continuing to make use of the 1d and 1½d stamps, the 1½d was overprinted WAR STAMP., in two lines of 6-point Roman font, and placed on sale Sept. 1st, 1916. The change to two lines was due to trouble in centering the overprint at the press. The overprinted stamp exists without the period after STAMP.

On September 18, 1916, the 3d violet on golden yellow, with the WAR STAMP. overprint, in one line, was issued. One stamp to a sheet shows the no period variety.

The ½d blue green, with the two line overprint, was issued in early October; the 3d violet on lemon yellow, on October 3rd, and on November 6th, the 3d violet on golden yellow appeared. The first two varieties exist with the no period error.

In the December printings of the ½d, 1½d, and the 3d on lemon yellow and golden yellow papers, occurred the variety S and TAMP spaced.

The January, 1917, printing brought the most desirable errors in the war stamp issues of the Colony. The 1½d and 3d on the two papers were issued with the "S" of STAMP omitted. Sheets from this printing were on sale but a few days when brought to the attention of the postal authorities, who immediately went over the sheets in stock and added the "S" by handstamping. In the January printing were also included some sheets of the 1½d orange, with inverted watermark.

In March, 1917, the 1½d and 3d on golden yellow paper appeared with the WAR STAMP. overprint in two lines, but with letters of the 8-point Roman font. The ½d blue green with this overprint was placed on sale the middle of April. All three values exist with the period omitted after STAMP., and on the second pane several stamps show the AR and AMP of the overprint in letters of the previous 6-point Roman font.

St. Kitts-Nevis.—Effective September 1st, 1916, a tax of ½d "on all letters posted to places in the British Empire, except the Leeward Islands." The Post Office Notice advised—"½d stamps surcharged WAR STAMP will shortly be on sale for this purpose, and until these are ready ordinary stamps can be used." The stamps as received from the Crown Agents in October, however, had the overprint WAR TAX in tall, narrow, sans serif capitals. The stamp was blue green in color, and printed on a very thin paper, showing the watermark transparently. A later consignment sent out was printed on a medium weight paper. The WAR TAX setting duplicates the type and spacing used for the London overprinted stamps of Grenada and St. Lucia.

St. Lucia.—The 1d tax on letters and parcels addressed to the British Empire, became effective June 1st, 1916. The current 1d scarlet, plate 3, and 1d carmine, plate 1, stamps were overprinted locally, WAR TAX, in tall, thin type, in two lines. The setting was for 30 stamps, and two operations were necessary to complete a pane of 60.

London overprinted stamps reached the Colony in early September. WAR TAX is in one line, and duplicates in type and spacing the overprint applied to the stamps of Grenada and St. Kitts-Nevis. The stamp overprinted was the 1d scarlet from plate 5.

St. Vincent.—Delay in receiving a supply of the 1d current stamps from London made necessary a surcharged stamp in January, 1915. The 1s black on green, King George type, which stamp had been replaced by the 1s printed in bistre, was surcharged in red, ONE PENNY., in two lines in heavy block type, with a narrow bar underneath cancelling the original value. The surcharge was applied by means of two handstamps, one showing ONE ONE, and the other PENNY. PENNY. with the bar underneath the word. Two stamps were surcharged at a time, first with the ONE handstamp, and then with the PENNY. and bar. Double surcharges are known, as well as a pair showing one stamp without any surcharge whatsoever; a block has also been seen in which the word ONE is missing on one of the stamps. The numbers surcharged were 15,590.

In May, 1916, regulations were passed providing for a 1d war tax on all letters and parcels for the British Empire, effective June 1st. The current 1d carmine, King George type, was overprinted locally WAR STAMP. in two lines, in block sans serif type. The overprint was applied by means of a handstamp, the setting being in duplicate, so that two stamps received the overprint at one impression. In its original state, the handstamp showed a comma after the word STAMP in the left hand setting instead of a period, thus every other stamp in the sheet showed the comma variety. The handstamp was corrected after the first printing, so that subsequent printings showed periods for both settings. As is to be expected with handstamped overprints, stamps are known with double impressions.

In August, 1916, the London overprinted stamps arrived; the stamp was deep red in color, and the overprint WAR STAMP, in one line of condensed type. A consignment reaching Kingstown in December contained stamps printed in deep scarlet.

The London overprinted stamps becoming exhausted, a further local printing was made in May, 1917, and as in the case of the June, 1916, printing, the overprint was applied with a handstamp. This handstamp had the setting of WAR STAMP. in two lines of block sans serif type, the duplicate, so that, as previously, two stamps were overprinted at one operation. This overprint is a duplicate of the previous locally applied WAR STAMP. overprint in all respects save one, and that is, the vertical spacing

2-CENT POSTAGE TO DOMINGO.

The United States and the Dominican Republic having agreed thereto, notice is hereby given that, effective immediately, the prepaid rate of postage applicable to letters mailed in the Dominican Republic addressed for delivery in the United States will be two centavos per 15 grams, and to letters mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in the Dominican Republic two cents an ounce or fraction thereof.

INCREASED VALUE OF STAMPED ENVELOPES AND NEWSPAPER WRAPPERS.

OFFICE OF THIRD ASS'T P. M. GEN.,
WASHINGTON, June 20, 1917.

Many postmasters failed to report the increased value of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers in their stamp accounts for the quarter ended March 31, 1917, as required by instructions on page 5, March Supplement to the Postal Guide. These postmasters should report the increase in their stamp accounts for the quarter ending June 30, 1917, as applying to their stocks of plain and office-request envelopes and of wrappers on hand on the day they received the card notice dated January 27, 1917, from the Department.

The new prices of envelopes to be used in determining the increase are the rates for "low back" envelopes printed in February, 1917, Postal Guide, pages 6, 7, 9 and 10. The method of determining and reporting the difference is explained on page 5, March Guide.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. R. W. Boisselier submits the 2c rotary press printed coil stamp, unwatermarked, perf. 10, and draws attention to horizontal laid lines in the paper, which remains even after the gum has been soaked therefrom. The laid lines were noted by philatelists when the rotary press printed coil stamps first appeared; the laid lines are particularly strong on these stamps. There have been many discussions as to the cause of the apparently laid lines which have been noted for years in the Bureau printed stamps, and after much investigation authorities have come to the conclusion that these lines were impressed in the paper by worn press blankets. In Mr. Severn's editorial of June 23rd he says: "Under the printing wheels of the rotary press is another wheel covered with a cloth blanket (we suppose) that turns the printed scroll so that it mounts the spool easily." We have an idea that this cloth covered wheel is what causes the laid lines in the coil paper. The rotary stamps are printed under pretty heavy pressure, which is necessary to take the ink from the recess plates onto the paper, which, unlike the flat plate printed stamps, is dry. This pressure is strong enough to force the backing into the paper, which in turn is forced into the recess plate, and as the backing is without doubt the cloth covered wheel, the cloth causes the laid lines. Mr. Ralph, Director of the Bureau, has stated emphatically that no laid paper is used, therefore the "laid" occurs in the printing or production of the stamps.

(1375)—Scott's Circular chronicles the 1c postage due on unwatermarked paper, perf. 11. We have seen the 2c, but as yet had not listed the 1c.

Postage Due.

1c carmine.

Our contemporary persists in sticking to the color as "deep claret" for the recent postage dues, while we doubt if any of them can be called claret at all. We wonder if they will persist in calling the late watermarked, perf. 10, 2c aniline-vermilion a "claret" colored stamp.

AUSTRIA.—(1368)—The Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift chronicles on the authority of "Der Philatelist" two provisional postage due stamps. The surcharges are on values we never heard of before, and are "PORTO 10" on 24 heller blue and "PORTO 20" on 54 heller orange. In our issue of March 17 we chronicled a provisional "PORTO 15" on the 2h blue-violet of the 1908 issue, but we never heard of 24h and 54h stamps in any Austrian series, and therefore await further information before formally listing them. By-the-way, the provisional postage due stamp we chronicled, as mentioned above, was not on the 1908 issue, but on the unsurfaced paper issue of 1913, which, unfortunately, the Scott Catalogue does not deign to list.

BAHAMAS.—(1366)—Stamp Collecting for June 2nd printed the following: "We recently stated that there is no appreciable distinction between the first and second printings of the Special Delivery stamp, but Mr. W. S. Clark has pointed out two important points of difference. In a copy of the printing in pale orange and gray-black, the 'V' of 'DELIVERY' is under the letters 'CI' of 'SPECIAL'," (our contemporary's correspondent must have meant "under the letters 'EC'") "and the last letter of the latter word is over the first stroke of the letter 'Y' of the former, while a copy of the surcharged stamp in orange and black shows that the 'V' is under 'C' of 'SPECIAL' and the 'L' of 'SPECIAL' is over the second stroke of the final letter of the overprint."

We believe our chronicle of March 3rd covers this matter regarding the spacing of the words "SPECIAL" and "DELIVERY," although the position of the two words in relation to each other varies to a more or less degree on many of the sixty stamps in the sheet. In the pale orange and gray-black stamps we have seen a vertical pair showing the two different positions of the two words as described by Mr. Brown in our chronicle of March 3rd, one with the "E" of "DELIVERY" directly under the "S" of "SPECIAL," while the lower stamp of the pair has the "E" to the right of the "S."

In passing we may state that although the first printing of 600 of these stamps may have been from plate 1 and of a lighter orange and gray-black color, that number having been dispatched to Canada as a first lot, the lot of 6,000, called the second printing, consisted of both light orange and gray-black (so said from plate 1) and deeper orange and black (which were from plate 2, we understand). It is interesting to remember that the varieties mentioned above occur in both printings, and that, therefore, these variations do not enable one to identify the two printings. In fact, we believe, after the first 600 were sent off to Canada, the printing press was kept working and turned out the further 6,000, so when the stamps from plate 1 were thus overprinted the printing was continued on plate 2 stamps, and it may so turn out that the deep orange and black stamps overprinted "SPECIAL DELIVERY" are not as plentiful as the light orange and gray-black copies. If there is any one in a position to give the actual figures regarding the number of stamps from plate 1 and plate 2 that were used for Special Delivery stamps, we would be glad to publish the information

BRITISH HONDURAS.—(1370)—Our former chronicle of the 1c stamp overprinted "War" mentioned it in pale green. We now learn that the latest consignment sent out to this colony was in a more blue-green shade and printed from plate 2 in place of the former plate 1, which to all accounts were in the pale green. The latest 1c stamp without the overprint is also of the blue-green color. Both items of information we gather from Marsh's Weekly Philatelist.

CHINA.—Mr. Theodore Siddall writes: "I hear that the Chinese authorities are considering whether or not it is advisable to use watermarked paper for their stamps, as a further preventive of forgery."

The same correspondent writes: "I see the Stanley Gibbons catalogues the London print of the 1913 issue of China as a separate issue. Perhaps Scott will also give recognition to them. The Peking prints are not transfers from the same dies as the London prints, but are entirely new engravings, as any one who studies his stamps may easily see. The Postage Due stamps of 1913 are also found from entirely different plates, the difference being slighter than in the postage series, and the colors do not differ one from the other printing as much as do the colors of the postage stamps. The Postage Dues are made from entirely different engravings, the Peking plates being copied from the London plates."

Mr. Siddall submits the two printings, London and Peking, of the Postage Dues, Scott's No. 341, and we will describe the differences between them. Gibbons' lists the 1c of the Peking printing, but without explanatory note.

The London print of the ½c design is a trifle over 22 mm. in height, while the Peking print is a trifle shorter than 22 mm., both printings being the same width, 14 mm. Take Scott's type D4, and you will see a Chinese character in the colorless space over the words "Postage Due." In this character the lower stroke at the left looks like a bent tack; in the Peking print the "tack" is longer and more bent, extending over the "T" in "Postage," while in the London print the "tack" does not extend over the "T." This description is enough to identify the two printings one from the other. There are other differences: In the horizontal lines of the background, under the floriate ornament at the top, the first line under this ornament, in the London print, is continuous, while in the Peking print this line is broken at the points of the ornament; likewise the second line above the curve above the "1" of the lower right "½" is continuous in the London print, while it is broken by the point in the Peking print. Still other slight differences can be located if one were to examine very closely.

Again quoting Mr. Siddall's letter, we have: "I have got at the true status of the stamps listed under China, Nos. 109 to 118, in the 'Standard' catalogue. They are pretty well described in the note that follows No. 148, on the same page (207), with the slight difference that when those numbered 109 to 118 were sold at the post office they did not have any surcharge whatever, the same being applied as a private speculation pure and simple by a printer in Tientsin."

DOMINICA.—We see in Ewen's Weekly Stamp News that a variety occurs in the overprinted "War Tax" stamp, which they describe as a "smaller" "O" in "ONE."

War Tax Postage.

½d deep green and green,
a. variety, smaller "O" in "ONE".

FIJI.—Scott's Circular publishes the following: "It is reported that a sheet of the one penny war tax stamps has been found with the overprint "War Stamp" shifted to the left so that the right vertical row of stamps is without the overprint. This means that the sheet, if broken up, will yield just ten pairs of stamps with and without the overprint."

FINLAND.—The Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift says on the authority of Mr. A. Krause of Helsingfors that a new series of stamps is being prepared for this country.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News publishes the following: "Misprint Errors.—A ½d Die III variety.—In the first batch of sheets, which came to our notice on issue, with Control 'I 16' and two minute cuts on the line above, we discovered a particularly interesting curiosity. In the lower left corner stamp of the sheets, the back of the head has an extraordinary disarrangement of the hair. Further sheets from the same plate (distinguishable by formation of Control and cuts) appeared later, but these had the defect corrected." Ewen's states that they have only located twenty-five sheets with the defect.

The same contemporary reports the finding of sheets with Control J 17 showing a variety in the 11th stamp of the 19th row, a heavy color mark which, excepting the extreme top ridge, totally covers the ear of the portrait. A supply of thirty sheets showed the variety regular throughout.

Ewen's also chronicles the regular 8d postage stamp on a new kind of yellow paper, which is deeper in shade than the original straw color milling and has minute variegated color fibres therein.

(Offices in China.)—(NOTE: Former chronicles under China and Hong Kong will now be given under the present heading.) Mr. Theodore Siddall writes: "I get the Philatelic Magazine, published in England, and in the March number saw an item of news to the effect that the late Hong Kong stamps surcharged China were to be further decorated with a surcharge of a Chinese word meaning 'China.' I asked the British postmaster here (Shanghai) if there was any truth in this story, and he said that if there was he probably would have heard of it, but that he had not heard before, and hearing now did not believe it. As the Shanghai office is the largest British office in China, and as the postmaster here is the one who suggested printing 'China' on the Hong Kong stamps, he ought to know if they were to have the Chinese surcharge added. It is possible that a new series may be issued for the British offices in China, but it is more likely that the British offices here, together with all the foreign agencies in China, will be closed about at the end of the war."

INDIA.—(Cochin Native State.)—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular reports the first value of a new series with portrait of the new Raja. It is overprinted "On C G S."

Official Stamp.

4 pies green.

INHAMBANE.—Several foreign contemporaries report the appearance of the 1902 issue, 2½ reis to 700 reis, overprinted locally "REPUBLICA" in red.

JAPAN.—(Offices in China.)—Mr. Theodore Siddall advises us: "The 5 and 10 yen Japanese China on watermarked paper, Scott's numbers 44 and 45, have not yet been issued by the post offices in China."

MACAO.—(1378)—Our chronicle of May 26th contained a mention of the purchase of Macao by Japan, and the Associated Press dispatch reporting the purchase was published in our issue of March 31st. Mr. Theodore Siddall writes under date of May 23rd: "I noticed in a late number of the WEEKLY that Japan had bought the Portuguese colony of Macao, and as there are several natives of Macao employed in our office who have families there, I asked them, and they all said that it was not only news to them, but that they did not believe there was any truth or likelihood in the story. They said that if there were any negotiations of the kind pending it would most likely have been published in the Macao papers, but that nothing of the kind had been printed."

MEXICO.—(1379)—Going back over our Chronicles since January 13th, we find that Mexico had been sadly neglected. Mr. Herman Focke sent in good news which was improperly reported by us, especially in our issue of June 2nd. The list of new issues given in our issue of January 13th is apparently correct, since which time new values of 3c, 4c, 20c and 30c have been issued. The 3c has a portrait of Suarez, the 4c one of Carranza, but not having (personally) seen the 20c and 30c the names of the men portrayed on them is as yet unknown to us, likewise the colors are rather mixed up in our mind. Scott's Circular calls the 20c rose, while our previous chronicle called it claret; likewise the same contemporary calls the 30c gray, while we listed it as mauve. Perhaps one of our kind readers will submit a set of these stamps to us for proper chronicle.

NEW ZEALAND.—Scott's Circular chronicles the 1½d typographed stamps overprinted for official use with the word "OFFICIAL."

Official Stamp.

1½d gray-black.

NYASSA.—(1382)—The two postal cards chronicled in our issue of June 23rd should have been described as cards of Mozambique overprinted "NYASSA" in small capitals.

PAPUA.—(1365)—The Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift states on the authority of Mr. Griebert that two new stamps have been issued in the bi-colored set. The 1d was listed in our Chronicle for April 14th, and the new values are the 3d and 5sh.

(1376)—Of the provisional stamps chronicled in our Chronicle of May 12th, 34,000 of the 2c and 31,000 of the 5c official stamps overprinted with the date "1915" and with the word "OFICIAL," had the latter word barred out, and they were sold for ordinary postage purposes.

SAMOA.—(1381)—Marsh's Weekly Philatelist chronicles the 1sh New Zealand stamp overprinted "Samoa" in deep blue. It comes with both perforations in the same sheet, 14 x 13½ and 14 x 14½. King George issue type.

Adhesive.

1sh orange-red.

SHANGHAI.—Stamp Collecting publishes the following: "Mr. M. Giwelb shows us a postally used copy of the 5c rose (the two halves perforated between, but not separated) of the 1890-92 issue surcharged '½ct' twice (Gibbons' No. 167a), having the right-hand surcharge inverted."

If our contemporary had delved a little deeper into the matter, it would have found the variety duly catalogued a little further down in the Gibbons list, as No. 170a.

SPANISH MOROCCO.—The Madrid Filatelico for May has quite an article on errors in the recently issued overprinted Spanish stamps used in this protectorate. The overprint reads, in three lines, "Protectorado Espanol en Marruecos", and the publisher of our contemporary has received and illustrates the 2c, 5c, 4p and 10p with an inverted first "R" in "Protectorado". The other values probably exist in the same state.

Scott's Circular chronicles the 25c blue of Spain overprinted "Zona de Protectorado Espanol en Marruecos" in four lines. The 5c, 10c and 15c were issued some time ago, but they may not have been chronicled.

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO.—(1379)—Scott's Circular chronicles two new "War Tax" stamps, the regular issue being utilized and overprinted "WAR TAX" in large Roman letters in two lines. Our chronicle of June 2nd intimated that a new war tax stamp was placed in use on May 7th, but we had no description further than that the new issue would have the overprint in two lines. Instead of one new stamp we now have two.

of the words. The 1916 printing handstamp had the two words spaced 2 mm. vertically, whereas in the 1917 printing, the spacing is 3 mm. The 1d in deep scarlet has received the overprint.

Trinidad and Tobago.—Quite unintentionally a provisional ½d stamp made its appearance in this Colony in September, 1914. The local Red Cross Society in sending out an appeal for funds, secured permission from the Governor, to frank these letters with the Society's Red Cross label. This label was printed in red on white paper, showing in the center the Genevan Cross, and lettered around the margin RED CROSS — SOCIETY — TRINIDAD — ONE FRACTION,—the whole being framed in red lines. On September 18, 1914, a lot of between 800 and 900 letters were presented at the General Post Office, Port of Spain, and request was made for urgent delivery. The Post Offices in the outlying districts of the Islands had not yet been informed of the franking power of the label, and to prevent delay, and the letters being taxed, the labels were cancelled with the G. P. O. cancelling stamp, showing 3 p. m. Sept. 18, 1914. After this date all letters of the Society passed under frank of a member of the Society, and while bearing the labels, the Post Offices were urged to see that these labels were not cancelled.

On Trafalgar Day, October 21, 1915, a special Red Cross stamp was issued, consisting of the current 1d red, Britannia, overprinted, by means of lithography, with a Cross in red, outlined in black, with the date below "21.10.15." 100,000 were issued. One-half the amount realised from the sale of these Red Cross stamps was given to the Red Cross Society, nad the balance to the general revenue of the Society.

Trafalgar Day in 1916 brought forth another Red Cross stamp. This time the 1d scarlet, on thin paper, showing the watermark transparently, received a similar overprint, except that the date "19.10.16." was above the Cross instead of below. 250,000 constituted this issue. Stamp 92 of the sheet showed no period after the date.

April 2nd, 1917, brought into force a tax of 1d on letters. The current 1d Britannia, scarlet on thin paper, showing the watermark transparently (210,000), and a limited number of the 1d dull red on thick white paper, with dull white gum (30,000) were overprinted WAR TAX, in tall thin caps, in one line.

Difficulty in centering at the press made necessary a change to a two line overprint, and on May 7th, the 1d red on thick white paper was issued, WAR TAX being in heavy fancy caps. The ½d green, with this same overprint, appeared at the same time, but at this writing details are lacking as to what matter takes this tax.

In both printings the overprint has been applied by means of lithography, to complete sheets of 120 stamps.

Turks and Caicos Islands.—Law 7 of 1916, approved by the Governor of Jamaica on November 4th, 1916, provided for war taxes of 1d on letters intended for the United Kingdom, the Colonies, and Dominions, and 3d on every parcel arriving in and departing from the Dependency. This became effective January 2nd, 1917, to remain in force up to and including December 31st, 1917.

While consideration was first given to overprinting the stamps locally, it was found that sufficient type of a particular font was not at hand, and De La Rue & Co. of London were requested to make up a 60-subject WAR TAX overprint plate, and send out to Grand Turk. The plate arrived in late December, and overprinted stamps were first issued on January 2nd, 1917.

The type of overprint is identical with that used for Grenada, St. Lucia and St. Kitts-Nevis, being in narrow sans serif capitals, and the stamps receiving the overprint were the 1d red, and 3d violet on yellow, of the current George type.

The 1d coming in sheets of 120 requires two applications of the overprint plate to complete. The 6th and 7th vertical rows being the dividing line between the two operations, often have the overprint out of alignment with each other. One sheet is known showing stamps of the 6th vertical row with double overprint, due to improper centering at the press; this left the 12th vertical row without any overprint, which had to be applied at a third operation. Both the 1d and 3d are known with simply the word WAR, TAX having failed to print.

Virgin Islands.—A 1d tax on letters, and 3d tax on parcels, addressed to the British Empire, outside of the Leeward Islands, became effective September 1st, 1916, but overprinted stamps did not reach the Islands, until late October.

The first lot included the 1d carmine from plate 1, and the 1d scarlet from plate 5, and also the 3d violet on lemon yellow, from plates 1 and 5, overprinted WAR STAMP, one line of small condensed caps, duplicating in type and spacing that used for St. Vincent, by De La Rue.

In February, 1917, a further supply of overprinted stamps was received at Roadtown—the 1d being scarlet from plate 5, and the 3d violet on golden yellow, from plate 5.

C. O. D. LIMIT OF INDEMNITY INCREASED TO $100 ON PAYMENT OF A 25c FEE.

OFFICE OF THIRD ASS'T P. M. GEN.,
WASHINGTON, June 21, 1917.

Order No. 434 of the Postmaster General, dated June 20, 1917, amends Section 489 of the Postal Laws and Regulations to provide that on and after July 1, 1917, C. O. D. parcels shall be sent for a fee of 10 cents when the amount to be remitted does not exceed $50, and for a fee of 25 cents when the amount to be remitted does not exceed $100. Such parcels are automatically insured against injury or loss without additional charge, for their actual value up to $50 when a 10-cent fee was paid and up to $100 when a 25-cent fee was paid.

Postmasters will see that the attention of all employees of their offices is directed to this change, and that the prescribed fees are collected on C. O. D. parcels mailed on and after July 1, next.

The sender of a C. O. D. parcel will not be permitted to pay a fee of only 10 cents thereon when the amount to be remitted is greater than $50, even though he should be willing to accept indemnity only for $50 in case of loss; but when the value of the contents of a parcel exceeds $50 and the remittance to be made to the sender is $50 or less, the parcel may, if the sender so desires, have a 25-cent fee paid thereon, entitling him to indemnity for any loss or damage sustained, not in excess of $100. A parcel on which the remittance is to be $50, but on which, because of the money-order fee, the collection from the addressee would be in excess of that amount, will require only a 10-cent fee.

Postmasters will cause the widest possible publicity which may be attained without expense to the Department to be given to this change.

CHAPTER XXII—Color Changes.

Third Issue, Documentary.

Commencing with the two cent denomination, the frame of which was changed from blue to orange and first issued in orange November 4, 1871, seventeen documentary stamps of the second issue were printed in new colors until the documentary tax—except that on bank checks—was abolished, the repeal becoming effective October 1, 1872. The changes of color were probably all made in October, 1871, but as the contractor was required or supposed to keep at least three months' supply always on hand, most of the stamps did not appear in the new colors until early in 1872, when the supply of those already printed with blue frames became exhausted. The 5c value was first issued with orange frame December 11, 1871, and the other values in new colors followed in January and February, 1872, except the $3, which was first issued with frame in green March 7, 1872.

The values of the second issue that were not changed in color continued to be used until the tax was removed and altho it is convenient to classify the so-called third issue stamps separately we should remember that they are really part of the second issue. They paid the same tax, were printed from the same plates, on the same chameleon paper, and differ from the blue-and-black stamps only in the color of their frames. Stamps of both series were frequently used on the same document.

The change of colors was made to avoid confusion. The frames of the stamps of the same size are very much alike in design and when printed in the same color might readily be mistaken one for another. With few exceptions the new colors were similar to those used on the same denominations of the documentaries of the first issue. For years the public and those who handled the stamps had become accustomed to certain colors on certain denominations and fewer mistakes would be likely to occur by a return to the former arrangement than by the introduction of an entirely new color system. Thus the 1c value was changed back to red, the 2c, 6c, 60c and $20 to orange, the 4c, 15c and 40c to brown, and so on. The violets and mauves being too fugitive were not replaced and the 30c became orange and the $2.50 claret. Why the 5c was changed to orange instead of to vermilion or claret is not known. The $1 was made green because a color proof submitted for approval was too much like the color of the $1.30, (first issue?) and we can believe either that the commissioner made a mistake or that he intended to change the $1.30 back to orange. The $1.30 so closely resembles the $1.50 it does seem rather strange one or the other of them was not changed.

Just why the 30c was changed from blue rather than the 25c is not clear. Had the 25c been changed back to red all the values under one dollar in most frequent use, except the 5c would have been in the same colors as the same values of the first issue. The change of colors was made so hastily that perhaps the 30c was changed instead of the 25c through error or oversight.

There are a number of distinct shades to be found in the series. On the 2c, 5c and 60c the orange may be either yellowish or reddish. The brown varies slightly on the 4c and 15c and on the 40c comes in two quite marked shades. The 70c and $3 are usually yellow green but both also come in a beautiful dark green. The $1 is most often found in a medium tint and the $10 is not listed in the dark green shade.

Both the $2 and $5 occur in two shades of vermilion and the $20 is usually orange, but also exists in a vermilion tint identical with some of the $2 stamps. As the 2c is known with frame printed in the color of the 1c possibly the vermilion $20 is an error of color. The only copy of the 2c error on record was found by the present owner in a small collection obtained for a very moderate—not to say insignificant—sum many years ago. Faked copies are occasionally seen and sometimes an oxidized 2c will raise delightful anticipations in the heart of a collector. How easily can his hopes and fears as he awaits the verdict of the peroxide bath be realized! Alas! the verdict has never failed to be a disappointment—yet.

CHAPTER XXIII.—A Single Stamp.

Fourth Issue, Documentary.

The Act of Congress approved June 6, 1872, and effective October 1, 1872, abolished all the documentary taxes except the bank check tax. The Act of June 30, 1864, where it applied to bank checks, etc., was amended to read:—

"Bank Check, draft, order or voucher for the payment of any sum of money whatsoever, drawn upon any bank, banker, or trust company . . . 2c"

This tax was paid by the 2c orange and black documentary stamps of the third issue, printed on chameleon paper until October, 1874, when the color of the paper for the proprietary stamps was changed to green. As it was not considered worth while to carry a separate stock of paper for the 2c documentary, commencing October 16, 1874, it was issued upon the green paper used for the proprietaries. It was last issued in October, 1875, and during the year it was in use over 44 million were issued. The green paper is similar to the chameleon paper in texture and thickness and contains the silk fibres. The writer cannot say why it was considered preferable to the violet paper. It was used continuously until all the documentary and proprietary stamp taxes were removed in 1883, but never on the private die stamps.

CHAPTER XXIV.—High Values.

1871-75 Proprietary Stamps.

The Boston Book gives little light as to how the high value proprietaries were used and intimates that there was no need for them after February, 1875. Apparently the letter of Mr. Carpenter of February 24, 1875, quoted on page 96 of the Boston Book refers to the Act of Congress of March 3, 1875. His letter of February 22 reads as though it was expected to use the high value proprietaries on whiskey stock in preference to the supply of second and third issue documentaries remaining in his hands, and he fears an extensive use of the large proprietary stamps. The $5 stamp, printed in sheets of 18, cost him in printer's wages alone $1.03 per thousand stamps and the government paid him only 23c per thousand for them delivered ready for use. The Act of March 3, 1875, made no changes in the proprietary tax and the writer fails to find anything in it which would call for the use of high value proprietaries on whiskey. Evidently the provision expected by Mr. Carpenter was not incorporated in the law.

Why were the high value proprietaries issued? It is obvious there was no real need for such high values before 1872, for the 50c Proprietary plate engraved in 1864 to furnish a supply of 50c stamps for use on photographs was never put to press and the last order for 10c proprietaries was received in December, 1869, and called for only 170 stamps—one sheet. There had been a 10c rate on playing cards but this was reduced to 5c in 1866. The reader's attention is called to Section 48 and part of Section 4 of the Act of June 6, 1872, in the part of that law which became effective August 1, 1872.

Sec. 48:—Amended to read—"That on all wines, liquors, or compounds known or denominated as wine, and made in imitation of sparkling wine or champagne, but not made from grapes grown in the United States, and on all liquors not made from grapes, currants, rhubarb or berries grown in the United States, but produced by being rectified or mixed with distilled spirits, or by the infusion of any matter in spirits, to be sold as wine, or as a substitute for wine, there shall be levied and collected a tax of ten cents per bottle or package containing more than one pint and not more than one quart, and at the same rate for any larger quantity of such merchandise, however the same may be put up or whatever may be the package; and the commissioner of internal revenue shall cause to be prepared suitable and special stamps denoting the tax herein imposed to be affixed to each bottle or package containing such merchandise, by the person manufacturing, compounding or putting up the same, before removal from the place of manufacturing, compounding or putting up; said stamps to be affixed and cancelled in such manner as the commissioner of internal revenue may prescribe; and the absence of such stamps from any bottle or package containing such merchandise shall be prima facie evidence that the tax thereon has not been paid, and such merchandise shall be forfeited to the United States. Any person counterfeiting, altering or re-using said stamps shall be subject to the same penalties as are imposed for the same offences in relation to proprietary stamps."

This section reads like parts of the law which refers only to tax paid stamps and yet the closing sentence classes the stamps to be issued to pay the tax as if they were proprietary stamps rather than "Tax Paids." In this connection it may be noted that between 1872 and 1884 only in the fiscal years 1874 and 1875 were there "compound liquor" stamps issued. Presumably these were for use on imitation wines under the provisions of Section 48. The quantities issued were:—

1874, Pints	2,000	Quarts	2,260

It is possible the orders for these stamps were filled with 7,000 ten cent proprietary stamps of the first and second issues, and that if, as it appears, the tax was not repealed in 1875, thereafter it was paid with green and black ten cent stamps and no separate record was kept as to whether they were used on imitation wines or on proprietary articles. No other provision of the revenue laws which explains the increased use of 10c proprietary stamps after 1875 has come to the writer's attention. There are no 10c private die match, medicine or perfumery stamps, and evidently very few patent medicines sold at $2.50 per bottle. Some of the 10c blue of 1881 are known to have been used on perfumery and of course it is possible most of the 10c green and black were also used to pay the perfumery tax.

Section 4.—(provides for certain import duties including)—

Bay rum or bay-water, distilled or compounded, $1.00 per gallon of first proof, and proportionately for greater strength:

Strychnine (opium)—$1.00 per ounce;

Rum essence or oil, and bay rum essence or oil—50c per ounce

The law does not state how these taxes shall be collected but there is no doubt the bay rum tax was paid by means of the high value proprietary stamps.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—"The Shanghai Philatelic Society at a recent meeting listened to a paper by Mr. Woodward, a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, on the stamps of Formosa, illustrated by his fine collection of these stamps. The idea seems to be held in some quarters of the U. S. that these stamps were used for railroad tickets, but Mr. Woodward had plenty of them on original covers to show that at least some of them were postally used. But as these stamps are not used to fill out thousand-variety packets, perhaps their not being listed in the American catalogue does not make much difference. Mr. Woodward has several unique pieces that he would have had trouble separating from their owners if the stamps had been properly catalogued."—THEODORE SIDDALL.

—A. Atlas Leve of Syracuse, N. Y., announces the publication soon of a new collector's journal to be named The American Collector. The new journal will be published monthly and will treat on all subjects dear to collectors. A prospectus is now in preparation. Mr. Leve will be assisted by an able corps of associates, and is well known in the stamp world, having at one time published the New Perforator.

—T. W. Robey sends us a clipping from the Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Dispatch of July 2 which illustrates the current 2c stamp as being larger in size than a copy of the New Testament pictured alongside of it. While it is against the department rules for U. S. stamps to be illustrated, the warning, "don't do it again," is usually the penalty.

—"I am numbered with the dealers who were bitten by Lazos and came very near sending him a valuable lot on account of his really clever letter. The day has come when society numbers fail to protect dealers and as you suggest there should be some way adopted by the big societies to get the 'best quality' in its membership, instead of 'biggest quantity'."—F. J. STANTON.

—"I notice that the Cincinnati Philatelic Society claims the honor of being the first society to hold a stamp auction for the benefit of the American Red Cross and that $50 was contributed. I beg to take exception to their statement. It might be of interest to you to know that the Springfield Stamp Club, May 4, held a stamp auction for the sole benefit of the Red Cross and $21.00 derived from same. I now hold a receipt from them for this amount. There were eight members and one visitor present at this meeting. I think we can now justly claim the honor of holding the first Red Cross stamp auction."—LEIGH F. MORGAN.

—A correspondent informs us in connection with the use of the Bahamas stamp surcharged "Special Delivery" that there are no Canadian troops in the islands, nor have there been any troops there during the war. This comment is made in connection with Mr. Huber's article on "War Issues of the B. W. I." Our correspondent adds that the stamps were issued for the purpose of giving special delivery to letters addressed primarily to Canadians residing at Bahamas during the tourist season. It is a favorite resort for a number of wealthy Canadian business men, especially from Ontario. They had constant complaints in regard to the delivery of mail, much of which was of importance. Their influence was sufficient to have provided the "Special Delivery" stamp issued. Until the war broke out there was direct steamship service between Canada and the Bahamas, and a large volume of business was done.

—The Lynn Philatelic Society is making an active campaign to bring their membership up to 100 by January, 1918. The membership of this enterprising society now stands at 40. At least 12 members will attend the annual convention of the National Philatelic Society at Portland, Maine.

INSTRUCTION REGARDING POSTAL MONEY ORDER AND REGISTRY SERVICES FOR U.S. EXPEDITIONARY FORCES IN EUROPE.

OFFICE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, June 28, 1917.

In accordance with Order No. 413, establishing a United States Mail Agency in France, postmasters are informed that money orders may be issued at domestic rates payable at such Agency. Payment will be made promptly at headquarters of the Agency or at the branch assigned to the military unit to which the payee belongs.

In drawing orders the office of payment should be designated as "U. S. Army Postal Service," and in the coupon the name of the payee should be followed on the next line by the regiment and company, or other organization to which the payee belongs. Money orders will be issued by the Agency under office number X-9000, and the name of the office as "U. S. Army Postal Service," followed by the number which designates headquarters or the branch, for example, the name of the issuing office of an order drawn at headquarters will appear at the top of both order and coupon, and in the impression of the M. O. B. stamp as "U. S. Army Postal Service No. 1."

The postmarking stamp of mail matter forwarded from the Agency will bear a similar designation.

There is no provision at present for parcel post service, and postmasters should refuse to accept for registration letters containing money or other valuables. Important papers which can be duplicated may be accepted for registration, but patrons should be informed that indemnity will not be paid for lost registered mail. The public should be warned that it is not safe to enclose currency in letters under any circumstances, and that money orders should be used for transmitting money to members of the Expeditionary Forces.

A. S. BURLESON,
Postmaster General.

ARE YOU GOING TO ALEXANDRIA BAY?

The time is short. If you are going to attend the A. P. S. convention at Alexandria Bay send a postcard to the branch office at Beverly, Mass., so we can record your name. This convention seat is an ideal resort and with remembrances of Clayton there should be a large attendance. Write today.

LA RENOTIERE OR VON FERRARY?

We think, with all due deference to the late millionaire and to his biographer Mr. Phillips, that the latter has gone out of his way in upholding Ferrary as an alleged admirer of our own country. "In losing Ferrary," says Mr. Phillips, "we have not only lost the greatest stamp collector there has ever been, but we British have lost a great friend, a true lover of our land and institutions, and a generous helper in all times of distress." But what said the adopted son of Ritter Emanuel la Rénotière von Kriegsfeld when, on the outbreak of the present hostilities, he packed up his traps (the stamps excepted) and shook the hospitable dust of Paris from off his Austrian shoes? It would be interesting to have a French biographer's version.—Stamp Collecting.

EDITORIAL.

Anticipation—It is a foregone conclusion that the three cent postage rate will be adopted by congress as a war measure and so early as May 29th, 1917, the Washington Post said: "Director Joseph E. Ralph already has anticipated the new 3-cent postage rate by having millions of stamps printed." A correspondent says that it is intended to give precedence to the war revenue bill in order that its provisions may become law and dissipate the uncertainty that now prevails. It may be said here that Director Ralph has added twelve hundred employés to the force of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, which is being operated on a twenty-four hour basis. This extraordinary demand on the Bureau which has swollen the product to a volume far beyond that of any previous period has not escaped attention; and the following is the first "Whereas" of a resolution considered by the Chicago Federation of Labor, protesting against overtime: "Whereas, government establishments, notably the bureau of engraving and printing, have been operating with excessive overtime, amounting to twelve hours a day and seven days a week, for several hundreds of employes, among them many women," etc. One gets a better idea of the way in which the "error" was committed by understanding the stress and strain undergone by Bureau workers.

Racking—The "error" is getting on our nerves but at that, its effect has not been so lamentable on us, associating with it for months as we have, as on some other minds. We told of our correspondent who said that he had heard that five thousand dollars was asked for one of the sheets. Our advertising columns reflected the acrobatic leaps and bounds of the prices and "market" was a matter of hour even. A daily price-current would have shown marked changes in quotation between morning and night. Our advertising columns reflected the fluctuations so markedly that they could not escape notice, as we have said. An advertiser in the issue of June 9th, 1917, offered a two error sheet for one hundred dollars; and in the issue of June 23rd, 1917, prices that averaged fifty dollars a sheet were advertised. The second advertisement called forth the following scurrilous letter: "N. Y., June 28th, 1917. Private Collector:—I am particularly glad that you did not succeed in landing any sucker for a 5c red error at $100 per sheet and note that you are now willing to dispose of your plunder at exactly half the former price. Incidentally, I would call your attention to the fact that ——— are offering blocks or strips of this error at —— and ——, respectively. Anyone who puts a prohibitive price on such a transaction would steal the penny from a dead man's eye or take a stick of candy from a baby. I would gamble that you are a foreigner and sincerely hope that you will have to use the stamps of the sheets for use on mail matter," and with viler suggestion, the poison penman ends his letter, anonymous, as we suspect. "Private Collector" is not an editor and so is shocked at the vituperation of the contemptible cuss. We happen to know that our complainant does work for the attainment of higher standards of everything appertaining to philately; and we are going to reverse the usual rule which protects the reader against the advertiser and search our subscription list and upon finding the name of the libelous writer, scratch it off our lists as our protest against this sort of thing, as in all probability, Private Collector will not proceed against the man through the post office department, even though he has a strong case against the maligner.

Reverse—We have occasion at times to speak of the shortcomings of dealers and when there comes to view a flagrant case of a collector imposing upon an advertiser, it is human nature that the dealer ask, What are you going to do about it. When dealers are remiss in fulfilling their obligations, actual or implied, we may call them to account, not because of any advantage to us but because of benefit to themselves ultimately by confirming a patron's faith in commercial philately. We hope that the American Stamp Dealers' Association will soon make a concerted attack on stamp frauds of the insidious kind as well as the deliberate kind. It would relieve us of work and worry if we could follow the findings of an investigating society in dealing with suspects. The welfare of the dealers beyond reproach demands that action should be taken to suspend the activities of those dealers who do not show a clean bill of health; and we are of the opinion that the house-cleaning will be all the more vigorous because of the undue delay in approaching the task.

Judged—After meandering along in the usual legal way through continuances and re-assignments, the more or less celebrated case of the American Philatelic Society versus Henry Ades Fowler was decided at Chicago, by Judge Wells, on July 2, 1917; and judgment was rendered against Mr. Fowler for eighty odd dollars and costs. Messrs. Mudge and Severn were subpœnaed as witnesses for the prosecution and the case was of some interest, involving, as it did, the loss of two books from a circuit of the sales department while in the hands of Mr. Fowler. There were mitigating circumstances that broke the force of this bald statement but the judge ruled that the primacy of the Article VIII, Section 2 of the by-laws of the American Philatelic Society, which definitely fixes the responsibility of the one who took books from the sales superintendent was unshaken. This case originated in 1914 and has been a bone of contention for some time, as Mr. Fowler maintained that under the circumstances, he should not have been held liable for the loss which was duly paid out of the insurance fund. Mr. Fowler is undecided whether to carry the case to the appellate court or not.

Unknown—A good many months ago, Mr. W. J. Stanton, Coronado, Cal., sent for inspection a cover that bore the impression in postmark form, in black, McMillan's Despatch Post. Mr. Stanton says: "I know nothing of the date or history other than the fact that the Bissells, the addressees, were vessel owners in Detroit in the early days. An examination of the old Chicago directories around the years 1837 to 1850 should throw some light on the date." Unquestionably, the McMillan impression was the franking seal of a letter-carrying agency in Chicago and we are in hopes that we shall obtain information on the subject that will allow us to quit the field of surmise for that of fact. Investigation of local history in Chicago is attended with some disappointment as the great fire of October, 1871, destroyed much material and data that ordinarily would now be available for proof and comparison. However, we have deputized a trained philatelist to follow up avenues of possible information on this and similar points.

Kiwi—The kiwi, that rare bird, literally, that was embalmed in the philatelic zoo on the six pence pictorial set, 1898, New Zealand, is an "amoosin' cuss," a la Josh Billings and we never tire of reading of the idiosyncrasies of our quaint friend. Naturally, we snapped up the following description from the Journal of Heredity:

"There are many birds which can not fly, and some which have not even wings. One of these (shown above) is the Apteryx, of New Zealand, called by the natives kiwi-kiwi. The most superficial observer would at once remark that this bird lacks something, since it reminds one of a man without arms; for the wings are totally absent, and the place where they should be is covered with a close smooth growth of hairlike feathers. It is known that the ancestors of the kiwi had wings, and the problem for evolutionists is how it came to lose them. August Weismann pointed out that the wings were of no use to the bird, since it lives on the ground and hunts worms by night. It has no need of wings to obtain its food, nor to escape from enemies on the ground, since there are no native mammals except bats in New Zealand. In fact, wings might be rather a hindrance than otherwise to the kiwi in moving quickly through thickets and underbrush. Birds which were born with defective wings, therefore, were not penalized by natural selection; and as variations which would spoil a complicated structure like a wing are much more frequent than those which would make it more perfect, the wings gradually degenerated until they became mere rudiments which are externally altogether invisible."

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

BRITISH NEW GUINEA.—A British colony comprising the southeastern portion of the island of New Guinea or Papua, which is situated at the extreme northeast of Australia. It has an area of 90,000 square miles and a population of more than 350,000 It was proclaimed a British colony in 1888 and at first the ordinary stamps of Queensland were used there. In 1901, a special set inscribed with the name of the colony, made its appearance. In 1906, the name of the colony was changed to Papua, necessitating the overprinting of the stamps on hand and (in 1908) the issue of a new series bearing the new name. (See also Papua.)

BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.—(See North Borneo.)

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS PROTECTORATE.—A volcanic archipelago in the Pacific east of New Guinea and about 1000 miles northwest of Fiji. The Solomon Islands are the most important and most remote of the large groups in the Pacific and though they were the first to be discovered they were the last to be explored, if, indeed, islands of whose interiors practically nothing is known, can be said to have been explored. In 1568 an expedition fitted out by the Spanish government spent about six months among the islands, and brought back to Peru an account of its discoveries, so carefully detailed and accurate that it is now possible, nearly three and a half centuries afterwards, to identify every harbor, islet and creek by which they passed. Yet, though numerous expeditions afterwards set out to discover them, they were so completely lost to Europeans that in the course of two centuries geographers entertained serious doubts as to their existence and they were actually expunged from the Chart, until they were re-discovered by Carteret (an Englishman) and Bougainville (a Frenchman) in the latter half of the 18th century. This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the group consists of seven large islands and numerous small ones stretched like a net in the course of navigation in an almost unbroken line for about 700 miles. There is surely nothing in the history of maritime discovery more strange than the story of how the Isles of Solomon were discovered, lost and found again. Though re-discovered by Carteret during his explorations in the South Seas in 1766-69, no attempt was made to settle them. Indeed they passed into obscurity until they were visited by Bishop Patterson of the Melanesian Mission in 1857. In 1871, they came under the baneful influence of the labor market and of the thousands who were persuaded to "hire" themselves for service in the cotton fields of Queensland it is to be feared that but a small proportion went of their own free will. In consequence of the troubles resulting from the numerous raids the British government declared a protectorate over the islands in 1893 to save the blacks from the whites and the whites from the blacks. Two of the islands—Baku and Bougainville—had been under German protection since 1886. The islands forming the British protectorate are Choiseul, Ysabel, Mala, New Georgia, Guadalcanar, San Christobal, and numerous islets, the total area being 8,500 while the population numbers about 150,000 natives and less than 200 whites. Since 1898 the Santa Cruz group and other islands have been included in the Protectorate for administrative purposes. At first New South Wales stamps were used in this group but since 1907 it has had its own special stamps.

BRITISH SOMALILAND.—(See Somaliland Protectorate.)

BRITISH SOUTH AFRICA COMPANY.—The inscription shown upon all the stamps of Rhodesia issued prior to 1906. This Company was chartered on October 29th, 1889, through the efforts of Cecil Rhodes, who was its animating spirit until his death. It has great administrative powers in the extensive territory of Rhodesia, being authorised to promote trade and commerce, and to work and develop mineral and other concessions over an area of 750,000 square miles. (See also RHODESIA.)

BRITISH VICE-CONSULATE.—An inscription overprinted upon the first stamps issued in connection with the British Consular Mail of Madagascar.

BROAD STAR.—A variety of the "star" watermark found in the paper upon which many of the British colonial stamps manufactured by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., were printed. It has broader points than the more frequently met with "large star" variety.

BROADWAY, P. O.—A private post established in New York in 1848. It was located at 422½ Broadway and in 1850 was owned or managed by Mr. James C. Harriot. In the following year Mr. J. C. Dunham was the proprietor and how long he worked the post is uncertain. All we know is that in 1858 it belonged to the Rev. B. Lockwood, who held it until 1860. In that year it became the property of Mr. Charles Miller, who worked the post until it was closed about 1868. Only two stamps, both of the same design, were issued in connection with this post.

BROCH, LIEUT.-COL.—Designed the "numeral" stamps of Norway first issued in 1871 with values expressed in skilling.

BRONSON & FORBES CITY EXPRESS POST.—A local post of the United States established in 1850 and in connection with which a label (without indication of value) was issued.

BROOKLYN CITY EXPRESS POST.—A local post of the United States established in Brooklyn, New York, in 1853. Several 1c and 2c stamps, all of similar design were issued in connection with this post.

BROWN & CO.'S CITY POST.—One of the numerous local posts of the United States. It was established in 1858 and two labels were issued for the purpose of collecting the fees charged for the delivery of letters. The 1c stamp has the name spelt "Brown" while on the 2c it is spelt "Browne".

BROWN & McGILL'S POST.—A semi-official carrier service established in Louisville in 1858 in succession to the firm of David B. Wharton. This post undertook the delivery of local letters in return for a fee of 2c and stamps were issued for the collection of this fee though these bear no indication of value.

BROWNE'S EASTON DESPATCH.—A local post of the United States established in 1856 and in connection with which two 2c stamps were issued.

BROWN'S CITY POST.—A local post of New York with offices at 145 Nassau Street. It was established in 1876 and special 1c stamps were issued in connection with it.

BROZIK, WENCESLAS.—A Bohemian painter, born in 1859, renowned for his paintings of historical subjects. His painting of "Columbus Solicitating Aid of Isabella" is preserved in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, and was reproduced on the 5c Columbus stamp issued in 1893.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. John S. Otero submits a copy of the 8c perf. 10 in the color of the 10c, that is, yellow instead of olive. Careful examination and expert testing proves the original color, olive, to have been subjected to a wash of some strong alkali which has changed the olive to yellow. We recall a similar experience when we boiled in alkali soap water a copy of the first 12kr of Bavaria originally green, after its bath it was a beautiful lemon-yellow. However, we know of no way to change the 5c blue stamps to the color of the rose-pink 2c ones.

Mr. George W. Bye shows us a most extraordinary oddity, a 1c envelope stamp, entire, in the 2c color. The stamp is Die C, (Dayton die), variety 1. The envelope is made of white laid paper, unwatermarked, size 13, the knife being similar to 89, the top flap being nearly the same size as the bottom flap while the gum is narrow. Mr. Bye traced the stamp to its source, it having come from Mr. Alex. Baumgarten's collection, and, from the way the latter wrote, Mr. Bye assumes that more of the 1c red stamps existed, although Mr. Baumgarten assures him that he has no further copies.

Knowing nothing definite about this 1c red envelope oddity, we nevertheless consider it to be probably an essay of some kind, the unwatermarked paper of which it is made seems to lend this opinion, as well as the "return card" in the upper left corner which reads, repeated in seven lines of type: "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. A bird in". Is it possible that this curiosity was a Government envelope maker's try-out on a newly installed machine? Or is it a sample envelope sent out to envelope makers who wished to bid on the manufacture of the stamped envelopes?

Whatever it is, this 1c red envelope, it nevertheless passed through the mails in prepayment of postage.

(1383)—Mr. W. J. Mills calls our attention to the "New Rocky Mountain National Park Opens May 1st, 1917," cancellation coming from Denver. This was no doubt mentioned in the WEEKLY some time last year when it first appeared. This Chronicle will not attempt to cover old advertising cancellations, only "new issues".

Mr. Howard Spencer Levy hands us a most unusual error of date in a postmark. The Philadelphia machine cancellation "3 D" of June 26, 6.30 P. M., reads as follows: "JUL 26" (July 26). We have seen February twenty-ninths when it wasn't leap year and February thirtieths in leap year, also January firsts with the preceding year numerals unchanged, and various other errors, but the present mentioned one is a little unusual. Of course when July 26th comes this cancellation will lose its value as an error, so we will have the date of its use certified to before that time.

ANTIGUA.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News states that new printings of the ½d and 1d were placed on sale on May 7th. They are printed on thick paper with smooth white gum with the watermark opaque.

Adhesives.
½d dull blue-green.
1d deep scarlet.

BAHAMAS.—(1381)—Ewen's Weekly states there are two colors for the Red Cross stamp. We chronicled the stamp on June 2nd. They are printed from plate 2 and were probably issued in Nassau on May 18th. Our contemporary states that the rose-pink and gray stamp, as listed below, will probably be the scarcer of the two colors.

Red Cross Stamps.
1d rose-pink and gray-black.

BENIN.—Mr. Henry E. Abt writes as follows: "Some time ago I wrote to you describing the misprint in the Benin issue of 1894, one of the stamps having the word Benin spelt 'BFNIN' distinctly. Since then I have discovered another copy in a friend's collection, but upon repeated enquiries at the French Government Offices in Benin, Africa, by mail and from stamp experts I have been unable to find how many of these errors were printed, their value or origin. Have you found a clue."

The only clue to the matter that we know is, that in this type, issued by many of the French colonies, there are any number of queerly formed letters due to uninked type or broken type. The lettering in the bottom tablets is done by typography at a second operation after the rest of the design has been printed, and in some of the colonies' stamps, one can find almost every stamp in the sheet with some flaw that would distinguish its exact place in the sheet. There is no denying of the fact that there could not be an error of a single stamp in the sheet, unless from broken type or misprinting, because the method of making this type in the plate would not permit of one stamp being different than its fellow, the type for one stamp being a reproduction of an original type setting. A broken type "error" would occur as often as there are number of sheets printed, or as many as were printed after the type became defective. The latter would be very difficult to find out and impossible, unless the defect was noted and a record kept of the number of sheets printed after it was discovered. We doubt if the latter would be done by the printers of the French Colonies' Stamps.

CANAL ZONE.—"The Economist Bulletin for April states that the Canal Zone would issue 3, 8 and 48 cent stamps with pictorial designs. I showed the Bulletin to the Director of Posts and he advised that that was the first he knew about it. Personally, I do not think there will be any new values for the Zone for the present denominations are sufficient for its needs." So writes Mr. Frank E. Greene in The Stamp Trade.

Mr. Greene also contributed the following to our contemporary, and if a war tax goes into effect in the Canal Zone at the same time as it will undoubtedly go into effect in the U. S., the 3c stamp above mentioned will probably see the light of day, in contradiction to the above statement to the contrary; however, Mr. Greene was correct in his information at the time the information was given by him:

"The local paper contained cable news a day or two ago, to the effect that Congress was considering taxing letters, postal cards, newspapers, etc. Undoubtedly something of the kind will become law which will effect the Zone. Stamps for the Zone will undoubtedly be either special or U. S. with surcharge."

Our contemporary also contains the following news from Mr. Greene: "The regular U. S. Official Seals are being used in the Zone at present. Just why this is so, I am unable to state at present but it is my impression that an error was made in filling the last order. The seals are the blue on white paper, perf. 12."

CHILE.—(1375)—The Postage Stamp commenting upon our chronicle of the new 5c stamp in the issue of April 28th, remarks: "It is interesting to note that this 5c stamp . . . marks the first recorded stamp issue printed from the Dujardin machine for printing from recess plates on dry paper." This contemporary contained an account of the establishment of the Chilian Stamp Factory in its Vol. XIV, page 1, and of the installation of the Dujardin process in the same Vol., page 258.

Without doubt the other stamps of the new series with heads in black printed from recess-plates on dry paper had the heads printed on the Dujardin machine, as the frames are not engraved but surface printed it would be interesting to know if the both processes are the products of the same machine.

CHINA.—(1380)—Mr. Chas. E. Doty writes as follows: "During my visit to Peking it was my pleasure to visit the Chinese Bureau of Printing and Engraving. There I saw the printing of the new Commemorative stamps. They are nicely engraved, 1, 3, 4 and 10 cent denominations, upright and about 1 inch by 1¼ inches for engraving, top and bottom panels are bold Chinese characters, in the corners is the denomination, in the center within an oval is engraved the Temple of Heaven, at sides of oval a head of wheat. These stamps will be put into use upon the signing of the new constitution. Things have been looking gloomy for some time past as to the signing of the constitution. Looks more probable now that the Premier has been deposed and Dr. Wu Ting Fang appointed in his stead."

The return of Hsuan Tung to power, or at least to the throne, at Peking, restoring the rule of the Manchu Dynasty and the Empire, will probably have the effect of causing the above mentioned stamps to be classed as "prepared for use but never issued." Probably the Imperial Government will use them by overprinting something on them. China is bound to have new stamps of some provisional character, the country being divided and civil war in progress.

Mr. Wang Chin Chai sends us word, under date of June 2nd, that a new postal card of the value of 1½c was to be issued on July 1st. As the Republican Government was overthrown in Peking on July 2nd, in favor of the Imperial Government, we wonder what the fate of the new postal card will be. Probably it will be overprinted for Imperial Postage. We surmise that the cards were sent out for sale in other parts of China besides Peking.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News states that a new printing of the ½d stamps is in shiny bright green on thick paper with white gum, the previous issue being in dull green (pale shade) with yellow gum, both the old and the new having the watermark transparent.

Adhesive.
½d bright green.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly gives the British Philatelist as authority in recording the finding amongst a very large number of green embossed stamps, of one copy of the 1d struck in that color.

Envelope.
1d green (error).

The Philatelic Magazine states that the die number of the error is M2. It was the only copy found in a parcel of 28,800 ½d envelopes.

Ewen's Weekly Stamp News states on the authority of the British Philatelist that a copy of the ½d King Edward design, provisionally printed by Messrs. Harrison in 1911, has been found with the wmk: a large crown sideways. The copy is used and postmarked Hull, Aug. 26th, 1911.

The same contemporary says a new printing of the George 1½d stamp is in a new shade, dull brown.

Adhesives.
1911. ½d green, watermark sideways.
1917. 1½d dull brown.

GREECE.—(1381)—Dr. Henry J. Perry informs us that he has now received the 20l Greek stamp of 1901 surcharged "K. P. Lepton 5" in three lines, as described in the Chronicle of June 16th. It was used with the Royalist 25l stamp, and as 25 lepta is the international postage rate, the stamps described in the Chronicle previously referred to and in the present are probably a form of War Tax.

War Tax Stamps.

GRENADA.—(1350)—Last November, when we chronicled the locally overprinted War Tax, it was stated therein that there was a period after the word "TAX". Writing to us, Mr. Frank S. Thompson states that he has endeavored to secure the stamp with period but that all he has ever seen were without period. Mr. Thompson is undoubtedly right, as we have searched our own collection, the stock in the hands of Mr. Eugene Klein, as well as all catalogues and price lists of war stamps, and we cannot locate the fact that such a stamp was issued. The chronicle of the stamp with period, in No. 1350, was probably due to a typographical error or an unintentional mistake in the mss.

Ewen's Weekly chronicles a new printing of the 1d from plate 2 in a new shade.

Adhesive.

1d dull red.

HAYTI.—Mr. Robert A. Wilson sends us a new provisional from this country. It consists of the 15c de p of 1906 surcharged in red, by rubber hand-stamp, "2 cts. GOURDE" in two lines within a rectangular frame. Mr. Wilson says 220,000 were surcharged, according to information from an official. He also looked over 15,000 and found two double surcharges only, and remarks "They are more careful now than they used to be."

Provisional Adhesive.

2c de g on 15c de p gray-olive.

MACAO.—(1384)—Mr. Siddall writes further, under date of May 29th, regarding the announcement which came from Portugal to the effect that Macao had been purchased by Japan. The newspapers of Macao and other Chinese ports have not contained any mention of such a sale, and natives of the port know nothing about such an event taking place. It is probable that the subject was diplomatically discussed, and that it was suggested in Portugal that the colony could be sold to Japan as an ally, the Portuguese diplomats knowing that Japan would like to acquire as much of China as possible, and that rumors of this were incorrectly construed as meaning the sale had taken place. Or the dispatch announcing the sale was incorrectly translated, it having been, probably, a statement that negotiations or talk were taking place leading to the sale.

MONTENEGRO.—(1362)—We reprint the following from The Albemarle referred to a set of Red Cross stamps Stamp Collector: "Some time ago we issued by the Montenegrin" (Government) "at Bordeaux, France, consisting of 10, 15, 25 and 50 per (sic) values plus the Red Cross value. Even the French papers now warn against these labels. According to La Philatelic Tous (sic) the Bureau of the Postal Union at Bern has refused to recognize these stamps and they are the production of speculators covering themselves with the mantle of the Red Cross."

NIGERIA.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles a new printing of the 1d from plate 3, in a new color.

Adhesive.

1d scarlet.

PANAMA.—We reprint Mr. Frank E. Greene's article in The Stamp Trade of June 30th:

"Another report of a 'find' in Panama, has reached me. This time it is a sheet of the 10c Panama of the Hamilton Bank Note Co. issue of 1906, with inverted center. I can confirm the report to the extent of six copies and have no doubt that the balance of the sheet actually exists.

"At the time that the Retardo, A. R., and Registered surcharged stamps came out, there seemed to be very few errors, but it now appears that there is a fairly good crop. I have seen the following, which are in addition to those already reported:

"RETARDO:

"Surcharge shifted downwards so that the stamps appear to be surcharged:

UN CENTESIMO
RETARDO

"The stamps in the top row have only the words 'UN CENTESIMO' and the bottom row has only the word 'RETARDO' but I have not seen the stamps from these two rows.

"Surcharge shifted downwards so that pairs exist, one with and one without surcharge—the top row escaped the surcharge entirely.

"The words 'UN CENTESIMO' inverted.

"Inverted 'M' in 'CENTESIMO'—this has been reported previously but on second-hand evidence.

"A. R.:

"Surcharge shifted to right so that stamps appear to be surcharged 'R. A.' widely spaced. The first vertical row bears only the letter 'A', as does the last vertical row." (This explanation does not appear to be properly set forth. We would like to have Mr. Greene describe it more thoroughly.—Editor.) "I have seen a pair from the last two vertical rows—the 'R' appears on the margin.

"Inverted 'V' for 'A'.

"Surcharge reading: 'A..R'—two periods after 'A' and none after 'R'.

"Surcharge shifted downwards so that pairs exist, one with and one without surcharge.

"Surcharge with letters transposed—'R.A.'

"In addition to these, it is said that both the Retardo and the A. R. exist inverted, but so far, I have seen no evidence to support this rumor.

"I doubt that all of these errors are the result of accident, but at the present time, I am unable to make a positive statement.

"Panama may fall in line with a letter tax." States Mr. Greene.

The following is an interesting bit of news from the same contemporary and from the same writer:

"Effective June 1, 1917, customs on parcel post packages received on the Isthmus, will be paid in stamps of a special kind that will be used only for customs.

"The denominations and colors are as follows:

1 centesimo, gray; 2c, ultramarine; 5c, brown; 10c, lilac; 25c, light green; 50c, claret; 1 balboa, orange-yellow; 2b, carmine; 5b, dark yellow, and 10b, dark blue.

"The stamps are square, and are bisected diagonally into what are known as 'First Parts' and 'Second Parts'. What the designs are, I am unable to state at this time, as I have not seen any of them. The sizes are also unknown to me.

"Parcels coming to the Isthmus are supposed to have customs declarations in triplicate. The clerk in charge of the parcel post section is to attach the 'First Parts' to the duplicates of the declarations and the 'Second Parts' to the triplicates of the declarations. The duplicates are retained by the clerk to account for the stock of stamps charged to him and eventually go to the Auditor General of the Treasury Department of Panama. The triplicates are given to the consignees as receipts for customs paid. It would therefore appear that if we are to collect these stamps at all, we will have to be satisfied with 'Second Parts'. To strengthen this statement, it may be necessary to say that a fine ranging from 2½ to 100 balboas is the penalty for any person having in his or her possession uncancelled stamps. The wording of this section of the decree is not very clear and might mean cancelled stamps also, if whole.

"All stamps (halves) must be cancelled with a stamp of the parcel post section, which must contain the date of cancellation.

"The object of this method of handling customs is to save the public a trip from the post office to the customs house. These stamps are to be used only in the post offices of Panama. Packages coming to Canal Zone offices, that is, those subject to customs charges, will be held as usual until a receipt is presented, showing that the charges have been paid to the Panama Government. However, the charges may be paid at the post office instead of at the Customs Office.

"An official of the Republic of Panama, in a recent letter, advised me that these stamps would not have any philatelic value. Nevertheless, I want a set."

RUSSIA.—(1383)—Stamp Collecting reports on the authority of the Lindum Stamp Co. the appearance of the 3k in imperf. form.

Adhesive. (Imperf.)

3k carmine.

(Offices in China)—(1380)—Mr. Theodore Siddall writes that the Russian Post Office in Shanghai have the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 14, 20, 25, 35 and 50c, and have had the $3.50 and $5, but the rest of the series has not yet appeared. This refers to the new "CENTS" and "DOLLARS" surcharge issue. Mr. Siddall states that the 7c may not be surcharged "but the 14c has had the surcharge and so why not the 7 cent?"

SOMALILAND.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles the ½d in a new dull green shade on thin paper with shiny yellow gum and transparent watermark.

Adhesive.

½d dull green.

SWITZERLAND.—It appears that we have not made mention in our Chronicle that Switzerland has been preparing stamps to commemorate the event when peace is restored to Europe, although we have understood that these stamps were being prepared some time ago. A competition for selective designs has been carried out by the Swiss government. Mr. Otto Frank now informs us that the stamps are being prepared, to consist of two values, 5c and 10c, twice as large as the regular postage stamps, and that they are to be placed in use as soon as the War ends. Mr. Frank also states that M. Otto Baumberger of Zurich won the first prize with his design presenting "Europa."

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO.—(1379)—Ewen's Weekly states that 210,000 of the dull scarlet and 30,000 of the deep red locally overprinted first issue of War Tax stamps were overprinted.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Collectors in Bronx, N. Y. City, organized June 26 the Bronx Philatelic Society, which will be one of the largest stamp societies in New York City. Jerome J. Prinitz was elected Pres., Benjamin Semmel, Sect., 827 Union Ave., N. Y. C. Vice Pres. Goetz of the N. P. S. made a short address. Messrs. Straub, Fleischmann and Weiss were also present. Application for a branch charter in the N. P. S. was made. This season the N. P. S. organized eight branches.

—Philatelic Gossip is another candidate for the official journalship of the S. P. A. This makes four entrants upon the list. Some rivalry and some excitement surely.

—R. Hartman, Paterson, N. J., takes to task the dealer who puts his advertisement on the back of the stamps he wants to sell. Mr. Hartman says he is willing to stand the advs. on the back of the New Zealand stamps, but that is the limit.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Roscoe B. Martin, A. Atlas Leve, J. M. Bartels, G. F. Dove and J. R. Nichols.

—According to Theodore Siddall the 10 sen of the last Japan commemorative set is commanding a very high price in eastern countries. He writes that the stamp is difficult to locate.

—If George W. Hartwell (no address given) will advise G. G. Hiatt, 25 W. 125 St., N. Y. City, where he is located, Mr. Hiatt will be glad to answer his letter of June 25.

—Neil Webster.—Write Whitfield King & Co., Ipswich, England, in relation to their catalog. Our supply is sold. This catalog illustrates U. S. stamps. This information is also offered for the benefit of Albert Greasby.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XV.

The King Frederick Issue.

King Christian IX died on January 29th, 1906, and was succeeded by his son, King Frederick VIII. Though stamps bearing the new sovereign's portrait began to appear in the mother country in 1907, it was not until August 1st, 1908, that the first of the new stamps for the Danish West Indies were issued. The design is the same for all denominations and shows in the centre a portrait of King Frederick, with head turned slightly to the right, like that on the contemporary stamps of Denmark. The portrait is contained within a circle formed of a wreath of oak, which is interrupted by a Royal Crown at the top. Curved across the top of the design are the words "DANSK—VESTINDIEN" while in the centre, at the base, is "BIT" with colored numerals of value at each side. In the upper angles are posthorns. The first values to appear were the 5, 10, 20 and 25 bit, while in November, 1908, the series was completed by the issue of 15, 30, 40 and 50 bit values.

The frame was designed by Mr. Gerhard Heitmann, while the portrait was taken from a photograph of the Danish stamps. The dies were engraved at the Imperial Printing Works in Berlin, and the stamps printed in Copenhagen, the portrait from a line-engraved plate common to all values, and the frames by means of surface-printing. The watermark and perforation are like those of the preceding issues.

CHAPTER XVI.

The King Christian X Issue.

On the death of his father, King Frederick VIII, King Christian X ascended the throne of Denmark in 1912, but no change was made in the stamps of the Danish West Indies until 1915, although the mother country had issued stamps bearing the new ruler's portrait as early as 1913. With the exception of the central portrait the new stamps are similar to those of the 1908 series. The portrait of King Christian is shown in profile looking to the right. In 1913 the Crown which had served as the watermarked device for all the stamps of Denmark, Danish West Indies and Iceland issued prior to that date was superseded in favor of a design of multiple crosses, and the new series for the Indies were printed on this new paper. The perforation gauges 13½x14½.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Postage Due Stamps.

Although the Danish West Indies managed to get along very nicely without official stamps—though both Denmark and Iceland made use of these special labels—it issued a series of postage due stamps in 1902. These are not very artistic productions, the central device showing "C 9 R" (Christian IX Rex) surmounted by a crown on a rayed ground within a circular band inscribed "DANSK VESTINDIEN" above, and "PORTOMAERKE" below. At the base the value is shown in large numerals at each side with the word "CENT" or "CENTS" between. In the upper spandrels are conventional ornaments and the design is completed by a single-line rectangular frame.

The die was engraved by Mr. Ch. Danielsen, after a design submitted by Mr. Fitrup, and the stamps were produced by lithography, in sheets of one hundred, at Copenhagen. The stamps were printed on unwatermarked paper and the perforation, gauging 11½, is quite different from that used for any of the regular postage stamps. As is so often the case when lithography is the medium used in producing stamps the stones were not made up of transfers from single stamps but in strips of five.

writes a collector, "that your New U. S. Album was such a magnificent piece of work. I shall recommend it to every collector who needs a new album."

That's nice.

Perhaps you may intend to get out of the old rut some day and remount your U. S., if you do and you don't send for a full description of our New Album sold in sections and new supplements published from time to time, you are missing something.

5c ERRORS
DOES CONDITION COUNT?
Here are my prices for well centered errors:
Sheet with one error $17.50
Sheet with two errors 27.50
Block of nine with one error 15.00
Block of twelve with two errors 25.00
The blocks show the errors completely surrounded by two cent stamps. (Blocks are my personal idea of the best way to collect these errors. Sheets are hard to mount and too large for most album pages).
Many say my prices are higher than others. How many of the "others" have mentioned condition? 75% of the errors I have seen have been off center. If you can use them in that shape, I'll sell them for ONE-HALF ABOVE PRICES.

H. F. COLMAN, SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Again, as is by no means unusual in similar circumstances, each stamp in the strip of five transfers differs in more or less marked degree from its neighbors. We thus have five varieties of type arranged twenty times in each sheet as follows:

1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5
1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5

The five varieties of the 4 cents are the most easily recognizable but those of all four values can be distinguished by the specialist as follows:—

The 1 Cent.

Type I.—Between the upper and lower inscriptions on the circular band a small smudge appears on the right-hand side instead of the usual dot.

Type II.—A very minute dot of color is shown below the right-hand vertical stroke of the "N" of "CENT". This dot also shows on types I, III and IV but the type now under consideration does not show the peculiarities recorded for the others.

Type III.—In the outer line of the double-line circular band there is a small defect mid-way between the left-hand numeral "1" and the "C" of "CENT".

Type IV.—The dot between the two inscriptions on the circular band at left has a defect which makes it appear as a small circle.

Type V.—This type, which may be considered the normal, has no particular defects and may thus be distinguished by its lack of them.

The 4 Cents.

Type III.—The numerals are similar to those of type II but the first "E" of "PORTOMAERKE" is broken at the foot and looks like an "F".

Type IV.—The top of each of the numerals slopes downwards from right to left, and the upper downstroke of the right-hand "4" is thin.

Type V.—Is very similar to type IV but the downstroke of the right-hand "4" is much thicker.

The 6 Cents.

Type I.—This stamp has no defects and may be considered as the normal type.

Type II.—In addition to the usual circular dot there is a tiny spot of color in front of the "P" of "PORTO".

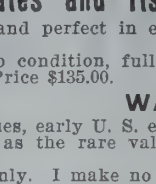
Type III.—On the inner of the two circles surrounding the inscribed band two small colored dots are shown between the letters "RT" of "PORTO".

Type IV.—This is similar to type III but in addition to the two dots mentioned another appears, also on the inner circle, just after the last "N" of "VESTINDIEN".

Type V.—There is a small break on the inner of the two circles around the inscribed band just under the "AE" of "PORTOMAERKE".

The 10 Cents.

Type I.—This may be considered the normal type for it has no defects or peculiarities.



Type II.—On the outer frameline at the right a small defect is shown opposite the "0" of "10".

Type III.—There is a small colored dot above the "0" of the right-hand figures "10".

Type IV.—The inner of the two circles surrounding the inscribed band is slightly defective between the letters "RT" of "PORTO".

Type V.—The solid colored triangle above the numerals at right has a small projecting dash of color at its base.

In 1905, when the currency was changed, new postage due stamps with values expressed in Bit made their appearance. The design shows large numerals of value in the centre on a rectangle of solid color for the 20, 30 and 50 bit denominations, while on the 5 bit the numeral is on a circle with solid color tablets at each side. At the top is "DANSK VESTINDIEN" in two lines, and at the base is "EFTERPORTO" with the value underneath.

The stamps were designed by Mr. P. V. T. Klint and they were surface-printed in sheets of one hundred, in ten rows of ten as usual. The solid ground in the centre is grey while the rest of the design is orange-red. These stamps were printed on Crown watermarked paper and perforated 12½ and 13, like the contemporary postage stamps.

CANADA'S CONFEDERATION ISSUES.

OTTAWA, ONT., July 13.—The Post Office Department is issuing a postcard in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation. The card used is the ordinary postcard, with an insert containing information of the various Provinces existing in 1867 and now, and also statistical information in regard to the area, population, general development, and industry of the country since 1867.

The department has also in contemplation the issuing of a commemorative three-cent stamp, to consist of an engraved reproduction of Harris' painting, "Fathers of Confederation." It will be ready on August 1.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

FRANCE, 1872 5-CENTIME.

NOTES BY PERCY McG. MANN.

Many collectors are quite familiar with the varying sizes of the 1883-84 issues of Norway, on account of the foot note given them in Scott's catalogue. Gibbons' catalogue delves deeper into the matter, and lists the series under two sizes. Neither catalogue is, however, entirely correct, because there were many plates used for the printings of all the stamps of these issues, and the sizes even differ on the same plates as well as in the case of different plates. The collector must therefore use his own millimetre scale in an effort to get at the true size of each of the varieties, to form sets for the collection. The student who does this is often rewarded by being able to add a new variety to his collection.

This introduction has been penned to draw attention to a similar condition existing in the 1872-75 issues of France. There are elaborate and very complete works on French stamps and these enter into the subject of varieties to a considerable extent, but none of them, nor any of the catalogues, mentions differing sizes of the 5-centime (large numerals) green stamp. Thus, we once again are aware of the fact that there is "always something new" to be discovered amongst the commoner stamps. The specialist in rare stamps knows pretty nearly every detail about them, and every point of interest is fairly set forth in handbooks and philatelic journals, but the common stamps are still an undeveloped field and the study of them will give the moderate-pursed collector as much pleasure as the wealthy specialist, and many times the research proves to be profitable,—but these notes were not to be a lecture.

The height of the normal stamp, Scott's No. 57, is 22 mm. Of this there are many shades, including green, light yellow-green, dark green and yellow green, all on greenish tinted paper, with the green and light yellow-green also on a bluish tinted paper. In the French official catalogue a variety is listed of the green with a horizontally lined background. (This occurs in most of the early French stamps.) My own collection contains this latter variety in green, yellow-green and dark green. In the French Colonies, of the same catalogue, the 5-centime also occurs with vertically lined background, which is considered quite rare. It would be a good item to look for among French stamps, the only difference between the two issues being that one is perforated while the other is imperforate. It probably exists.

I now come to the "size variety" and would say that I have the 5-centime in a smaller type which measures only 21½ mm. in height. It is green and has the horizontally lined background. The difference in size seems slight indeed—only a half millimetre—when measured by the scale, but when the two varieties are placed side by side the sizes appear very distinct and noticeable. In all other particulars the designs appear to be identical.

RED CROSS WAR STAMPS PROPOSED.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Issuance of a special Red Cross stamp and 1-cent postage for letters relating exclusively to Red Cross business when mailed by chapters or auxiliaries at post offices of the United States or its territories, is proposed in a bill introduced by Chairman Moon of the house post office committee. The Red Cross has asked that its mail be franked.

TO THE "PENNY BLACK"—MAY 6, 1911

By C. A. HOWES.

All hail to thee, thou herald of a dawn
Of more than peace—of civilizing pow'r
That broke the bonds which for so long restrained
Communication's spread: bearer of light,
Though dressed in sombre hue; progenitor,
With thy companion garbed in blue, of them
That troop in thousands since thy day.

A piece of paper—graven steel—some ink,
And lo! the "Penny Label" had its birth!
A little thing, yet with what latent pow'r
To carry good or ill, o'er sea and land,
To forge the bonds of friendship or of trade,
To scatter broadcast news and knowledge deep.
What mission that, concealed in form so small!

Three score and ten, the years allotted man,
Have seen the progress that thy advent wrought;
While out from Britain's bounds, where first thou dwelt,
Has gone the Penny Postage, born with thee,
Until the confines of the Realm are reached:
Nor will it stop until all nations come
Within the influence of thy tiny sun!

—"Stamp Lover."

By W. E. IMESON.

O Penny Black! O Penny Black!
You lead the van today;
In "Part I" e'er assigned first place
In Britain's proud display.
You've passed now life's allotted span,
"The vet'ran" you we call,
And write you down in black and white
The Black Prince of them all.

The "hungry forties" knew not those
That hungered after thee,
Hence, even used, you're prized today,
And worshipped—with o. g.
Had we—that is, our sires foreseen
Your rapid rising feats
A bed of roses ours would be—
Had we a few Black "sheets".

O Penny Black! Dear Penny Black!
Once worth the humble "brown",
In mint condition—with full gum
(Oh! hold me up—or down!)
A time there was—a time that now
Can ne'er return, alack!
When one could, for a penny bronze,
Secure a Penny Black.

Tho' once cut out by careless hand,
No stamp shall "cut you out;"
To reconstruct your sable "panes"
Requires great pains, no doubt.
"Plate numbers" we desert and place
Red Penny on the shelf,
That we today may dedicate
A number to yourself.

In this, our "special number" you
"Stamp Lover's" page will grace,
We know well that your record's clean—
However black your face.
And what if your face value's small?
The call for you is great,
So we present each reader with
A specimen—portrait.

—"Stamp Lover."

In eighteen-forty, be it said,
The first adhesive stamps were made,
To stick on letters that were paid,
To make all sure
That they would safely be convey'd
To port secure.

The stamps were black, engraved so nice:
"One Penny" on each told their price,
And water-mark'd with crown device,
And small of size,
The whole thing look'd a sacrifice
Of nation wise.

They bore the head of our late Queen,
As she in youthful days was seen,
In profile figure most serene,
To lead the way,
And show the world we had foreseen
The lack of day.

That day the dawn of greater sight
Revealed a portion of our might,
And link'd it in with black and white,
The world to run,
To carry tidings of delight,
Or grief begun.

Then other nations soon began
To take a pattern from our plan,
To send them forward in the van
With us apace,
To get the clearer visions scan,
Or better grace.

So Penny Black was pioneer,
Did organise and engineer
Until she made the whole thing clear,
With gain's salute,
That others safely could appear
Along the route.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Maitland Milliken, Malcolm H. Ganser, George Howland, W. R. Adams, Mrs. L. W. Kellogg and Kenneth Tallmadge.

—Charles Brisley.—Without doubt some dealer will soon be advertising the new Belgian charity labels noted in our issue of July 7. An English dealer could no doubt accommodate you.

—M. Ohlman would like to know the address of Dr. A. J. McNamara, formerly Munson, Mass. Mr. Ohlman claims that he can get no reply to letters sent him.

—C. Seidenberg of Beecher, Ill., deposited check received from A. P. Myers, El Paso, Tex., only to have the check returned from the bank marked "No funds." Moreover, Mr. Seidenberg advises us that Myers pays no attention to communications sent him. This is for the good of the trade.

—A stamp department in the Buffalo (N. Y.) Express shows more than ordinary ability in the manner in which it is being conducted. "For the Stamp Fiends" is its title, and about two columns of space are used in the issue of Sunday, July 8. R. B. Martin, Silver Creek, N. Y., favors us with a clipping.

—H. A. Herzog of Austin, Texas, has taken charge of Wm. E. Dowser's approval department business. Mr. Dowser assures us and the trade that all business addressed him will receive prompt attention.

EDITORIAL.

Different—The twelve cent of the current issue, perforated 11, is shown in a shade of dark claret that is unlike the regulation colors in which the stamp has been coming. Even the collector who yawns when shades are being enthusiastically discussed will sit up and take notice of this one.

Random—The subject of the error is irrepressible and it is likely that for many a day to come it will enjoy its place in the sun. Those whose search for the errors has proved bootless may console themselves with the thought that Philately has been benefited "to the extent of many thousands of dollars," as a cheerful philosopher puts it. While we do not believe in squaring everything in philately with the dollar, it must be admitted that the contention of our correspondent is about right, as the error is making an active season of what otherwise might have been a comparatively dull period. Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz in sending us plate numbers from "error sheets that weren't," says: "Can you picture to yourself the wild joy with which a collector discovers fourteen sheets bearing the magic number 7942 for which he has been looking for days? And can you then picture to yourself the gloom which follows when it is found that all of the sheets are lower left and upper right panes?" He adds, somewhat significantly, "Too bad, isn't it, that so many postmasters who let post office circulars lie about the office unread at other times are now so eager to weed out these 'misprinted two cent stamps'?" To progress somewhat, along this line, it is interesting to observe the attitude of the postal inspectors towards the error; it is one of tolerance and beyond emphasizing the fact that postmasters should return the misprints in accordance with departmental instructions, no coercive measures are employed. This spirit of fairness is appreciated by collectors whose enterprise seems in no danger of being penalized by the department in consequence of a mistake for which it alone is responsible.

War—The Australian Journal of Philately in commenting upon the entrance of the United States into the war takes occasion to remark: "Possibly in due course an album will be issued specially for the reception of the stamps of those countries which have participated in the war, and we have no hesitation in saying that no country will be welcomed into the fold more enthusiastically than that of the United States."

Belated—Over a month ago, Mr. Elliott Perry, Westfield, New Jersey, addressed us in this interesting manner: "Referring to the article by L. C. Hassler on hard and soft papers used by the Continental Bank Note Company and the American Bank Note Company, respectively, for the U. S. postage stamps about 1879, I should like to ask Mr. Hassler if his seven cent Stanton on soft porous paper is not No. 196 of the catalogue, the special printing of 1880? This printing was made by the American Bank Note Company on soft, porous paper and several Continental plates were used, including 7, 12 and 24 cent. These three denominations and the 2 cent brown had been obsolete for several years and are more properly re-issues than special printings. They and the rest of the set are still available for postage but they were not sold over the counter at post offices and they were not issued for postal purposes. The set was made for sale to stamp collectors and like the Centennial exhibition re-issues and special printings of 1875 they are less entitled to standing in a collection of postage stamps—meaning stamps issued to meet postal requirements—than many of the Seebeck issues of Central American republics, etc. If they were as common as the Seebecks, they might command as little respect. The rarity of the U. S. special printings and re-issues has brought them an amount of attention all out of proportion to their philatelic significance. In my humble opinion, an ordinary 7 cent National or Continental used on a cover to a foreign country in payment of the required rate of 7 cents is of far greater interest than a seven cent stamp printed just to sell to stamp collectors years after the seven cent rate had been abolished." We shall reserve our comment on Mr. Perry's letter for the next paragraph.

Special—The seven cent stamp in question on soft paper was in used condition and was not a special printing variety. We remember the advent of the special printings in the catalogue. Re-issues of the 2 cent black brown, 7, 12 and 24 cent on soft porous paper were listed in the 1897 catalogue at fifty dollars each; and some years later, all the special printings were offered in a Wolsieffer auction sale. Our dates may not be more than approximately correct. The existence of the special printings was known to a few students before this time but there was no general knowledge of the stamps. In the auction sale mentioned, the Continental and the American special printings brought very high prices because of the determination of that ardent collector at the time to acquire them, Dr. S. G. Stein, of Muscatine, Iowa. The sets in question came from the effects of a postal officer, deceased, and were in perfect shape, the stamps having lain in their coverings almost from the day of their origin. The special printings were the subject of no little curiosity at the time and those who examined the stamps were impressed by the texture of the paper, which was very soft and "wispy" in the instance of the American prints. Of course, a seven cent special printing would be valid for postage at the present time, but we are of the opinion that there is not a single used copy of a special printing seven cent extant. The collector who thinks that he can find special printings among his used stamps is deluding himself. We have the circulars issued by the post office department offering these stamps to the public but we cannot place our hands on them just now.

Credit—We have had a remarkable tribute from an officer of the government in regard to the compilation, "Our Postmasters General," by R. McP. Cabeen, which was published in the issues of June 23rd and June 30th, respectively. Our correspondent avers that the list is far from being the usual perfunctory compilation of postmasters general but is even more complete than that published by the post office department. It is pointed out that the ad interim incumbents in each case were the first assistant postmasters general, who are deputized to fill automatically the vacancy in the chief office. While the dates in Mr. Cabeen's list do not always coincide with those of the department compilation, the differences are slight and immaterial. The addition of the three officers under the Continental Congress from 1775 to Washington's administration is made: Benjamin Franklin, July 26, 1775; Richard Bache, Pa., Nov. 7, 1776, and Ebenezer Hazard, N. Y., January 28, 1782 (to Sept. 26, 1789).

Line—Says a man who knows: "Some times when you have a line to spare, tell your friends that the 'specimen' departments, as a rule, are about ten times as scarce as prices generally asked would indicate."

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

BRUCK, PIERRE.—A Luxemburg printer who, in 1873, petitioned the Government to allow him to print the stamps in preference to their being printed at Frankfort. His request was acceded to in October, 1874, and from that date until 1880 he printed all the Luxemburg stamps. In the latter year it was decided the printing was not quite satisfactory and the contract was transferred to Messrs. Enschede & Sons, Haarlem, who also manufactured the stamps for the Dutch government.

BRUNEI.—I. A British protectorate in northwest Borneo situated between the territory of the North Borneo Company and Sarawak. It has an area of 4,000 square miles and a population of over 10,000. Until 1888 it was an independent Mohammedan state and its Sultan was at one time overlord of the whole of the island of Borneo. Its capital, Brunei, is chiefly built on piles. Postage stamps for use in this Protectorate were first issued in 1906.

II. Some years ago a set of stamps purporting to be a genuine issue for the state of Brunei made their appearance but the history attaching to these labels is so unsatisfactory that they are now generally believed to be a bogus emission. The central portion of the design shows a small vessel on a large expanse of water with a mountain in the background. On each side are palm trees and at the top a five-rayed star is shown.

BRUNSWICK.—A sovereign duchy situated in the northern portion of the German Empire, which has an area of 1,418 square miles and a population of nearly 500,000. It is surrounded by Hanover, Saxony, and Westphalia. Originally Brunswick formed part of the duchy of Saxony, but in 1235 the independent duchy of Brunswick was created. Subsequently, along with Hanover, Luneburg, Celle, and other territories, it was transferred and reconveyed several times, as the various Brunswick dynasties were founded and died out. The direct Welf (Guelph) line became extinct in 1884 and since 1885 the duchy has been governed by a regent. Postage stamps were first issued in 1852, but the duchy ceased to issue stamps of its own on joining the North German Confederation on January 1st, 1868.

BRYAN, DANIEL.—Postmaster of Alexandria, Va., from 1845 to 1847, who issued the famous 5c "Postmaster's" stamp in 1846, prior to the appearance of the regular government emission.

BS. AS.—A contraction for Buenos Aires found upon the so-called "Gaucho" stamps of 1857 which were prepared for use but never issued.

B. T.—(and Crown).—(See Crown and B. T.)

BUCHANAN.—I. One of the towns in the Republic of Liberia at which special 10c registration stamps inscribed with the name of the town are used. These were first issued in 1893.

II. Mr. James M. Buchanan, the then Postmaster of Baltimore, Md., issued a number of 5c and 10c stamps and envelopes in 1845-6 to facilitate the prepayment of postage prior to the appearance of the regular government issue for the United States. These stamps and envelopes all bear a facsimile of his signature.

BUENOS AIRES.—The largest and most important province of the Argentine Republic having an area of 117,777 square miles and a population of about two millions. The name means literally "good air." The province of Buenos Aires was separated from the Argentine Republic in 1853 and on the 29th April, 1858 (two days before the issue for the Argentine Republic itself appeared) it issued postage stamps. The peace of San-Jose de Flores concluded on June 10th, 1859, was followed by the reunion of Buenos Aires with the Republic on January 26th, 1860, but it retained the use of its special stamps until January, 1864.

BUFFALO EXHIBITION STAMPS.—A special set of stamps issued at Buffalo, U. S. A., in 1901, to commemorate the Pan-American Exposition held at the city in that year.

BUITEN BEZIT.—The last word is a contraction for "Bezittingen" and the whole means literally "outlying possessions." These words were overprinted on the then current stamps of the Dutch Indies in 1908, and they were issued for use in all the islands with the exception of Java and Madura which had a separate series. The object of the overprint was to ascertain the volume of correspondence within the group with the object of reducing the postal rates and these overprinted stamps were only in use for a few months, from June, 1908.

BULEAGA O TOGA.—(Government of Tonga.) An inscription shown on all the stamps of Tonga issued since 1892.

BULGARIA.—An independent European state formerly a principality under the suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey. It is bounded on the north by Roumania, on the south by Turkey, on the west by Servia, and on the east by the Black Sea. The country is divided into two main divisions—North Bulgaria with an area of 24,237 square miles, and South Bulgaria (formerly known as Eastern Roumelia), with an area of 12,706 square miles. The population numbers over four millions, of which about three-quarters are Bulgarians proper. In 1393 Bulgaria came under the Turkish yoke and from that time until the 19th century it was almost forgotten as a nation. In 1876, the inhabitants rose in revolt against Turkey but were speedily crushed. Soon afterwards, however, the Turkish population committed such excesses against the Christian inhabitants that the whole of Europe was horror-stricken. The interference of the Powers led to the Russo-Turkish war and at the Treaty of Berlin (July 13th, 1878) Bulgaria was created a principality under the suzerainty of Turkey. Its first Prince was Alexander of Battenburg, who was forced to abdicate in September, 1886. The Sobranye, or National Assembly, then elected Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg as its ruler and from that time the country made rapid progress. Taking advantage of the troublous times in Turkey in 1908, Bulgaria asserted its independence and Ferdinand assumed the title of "Czar." The first Bulgarian postage stamps were issued on May 1st, 1879.

BULUWAYO PROVISIONALS.—The name by which the stamps provisionally issued in Buluwayo, Rhodesia, in 1896, during the Matebele rebellion are generally known. The name of the town means "the place of killing" and it was formerly the kraal of the Matebele king, Lobengula.

BUNDI.—One of the feudatory states in the Rajputana district of India. It has an area of 2,220 square miles and a population of about 180,000. Postage stamps for use in this State were first issued in May, 1894, but since the latter part of 1902 these special issues have been dispensed with.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES. — (1383) — The new rate for C. O. D. parcels insured over $50 up to $100 for a fee of 25 cents may mean a new 25 cent stamp will be issued to cover such a charge, or, as it will take more than one stamp anyway under existing conditions of a lack of proper denominations, for postage and insurance fee, we may see the issue of other new values.

(1383)—Mr. D. C. Alexander shows us the "Fifty-first Annual Encampment Grand Army of the Republic Boston, Mass. August 19-25, 1917" advertising cancellation. used from Boston July 6th.

ALBANIA.—(1383)—At the request of Henry J. Perry, M. D., we will endeavor to straighten out our chronicle of recent Albanian issues. In our chronicle of June 30th we referred to a surcharge chronicled in our issue of April 14th, and here we erred, because the chronicle of April 14th was erroneously set forth. Dr. Perry also called us to account for supposedly misspelling the name of the country "SHQIPERIE," as on all previously issued stamps bearing the name it appeared as "SHQIPENIES" or "SHQIPENIA" with an "N" instead of an "R." We quoted as authority Champion's Bulletin, wherein we saw an illustration of the design, as chronicled in our June 30th issue, and the word pictured therein is as given in our chronicle. This is now further substantiated by a sight of one of the stamps, which Dr. Perry kindly submits, and the question now arises, which spelling is correct? and have the printers of the stamps made an error? The inscription at the right should be one word, "VETQEVERITARE," and not divided as given in our June 30th chronicle. There is a peculiarity about this word (not alone its queer appearance) in the fact that the 5 cts. stamp illustrated in our French contemporary as well as the 25 cts. stamp before us, both show the next to the last letter a broken "B" instead of an "R." The stamps are typographed throughout, consisting of rules on the outside and inside with very thin rules between all, forming a frame surrounding a double headed eagle in the center, this being in a different color for each value, while the inscription is printed over the frame, for the three lowest values in green and the other values in black, as given in our previous chronicle. The copy shown us by Dr. Perry is on a cover addressed to Worcester, Mass., and it is cancelled "Korytsa, Albanie, 18 Mar 1917," and it was a description of this stamp which Dr. Perry sent for chronicle, and which was erroneously chronicled as a surcharge (the second stamp mentioned), in our chronicle of April 14th.

The following, taken from Stamp Collecting, may be of service to our readers, it being part of a proclamation establishing an Italian Protectorate over Albania:

"To all the People of Albania:—Today, June 3, 1917, the happy anniversary of the establishment of Italian constitutional liberties, we, Lieutenant-General Giacinto Ferrero, commanding the Italian Corps of Occupation in Albania, by order of the Government of King Victor Emmanuel III, solemnly proclaim the unity and independence of all Albania under the ægis and protection of the Kingdom of Italy."

AUSTRIA.—The Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidskrift chronicles the 2 kronen, recently issued arms type, in a new shade of blue, light blue instead of dark indigo blue.

Adhesive.
2k light blue.

BAHAMAS.—A third issue of Special Delivery stamps has appeared and copies have been shown us by Messrs. Eugene Klein and J. A. Galbraith. Unlike the first and second issues, which to all appearances were the same, and which consisted of an overprint on stamps of a former regular issue, the new issue consists of an overprint on stamps with new characteristics. The overprint differs from the preceding issue of special delivery stamps and consists of the words "SPECIAL DELIVERY" in two lines of sans-serif 8-pt. gothic type, the two lines spaced about 2 mm. apart, with the word "SPECIAL" 12½ mm. long and the word "DELIVERY" 15 mm. long. An entirely new printing of 5d stamps has been utilized for the purpose: the color is light orange and gray-black, the paper is thick white with an opaque watermark of Multiple Crown and CA, the gum is smooth white, and the perforation is 14½ both ways (the old were perf. 14). The printing was from plate 2, and the stamps were issued on July 3, says Mr. Klein. New issue as described above.

Special Delivery.
5d light orange and gray-black.

BELGIAN EAST AFRICA. — (Previous chronicles have been under the headings "Ruanda", "East Africa.—Belgian Occupation", etc.)—As the Belgian Army of Occupation advanced into German East Africa it carried along with it a goodly supply of Belgian Congo stamps as well as, we suppose, an outfit for making rubber hand-stamps. Our Chronicle has contained mention of Belgian Congo stamps overprinted "Ruanda", which consisted of 5, 10, 15, 25, 40 and 50c, 1 and 5fr stamps thus overprinted. Then, in our issue of March 17th, we chronicled a 25c Belgian Congo stamp overprinted "UDJIDJI 4 Sept. 1916" in two lines in a rectangular frame and the whole of the Belgian Congo series overprinted "KIGOMA" in blue. The authority quoted in the chronicle referred to stated that some stamps were overprinted "TABORA". It is interesting to note that "Udjidji" and "Kigoma" are one and the same village. Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste and Champion's Bulletin list other overprints, the 10, 25 and 50c overprinted "Karema" in black, the 10, 25 and 50c overprinted "KIGOMA" in violet, and the 5, 10, 15, 25, 50c and 1fr overprinted "URUNDI" in violet, while the Echo de la Timbrologie chronicled a German East African stamp (3pf) with the overprint "Karema". One can see that the Belgian Congo stamps carried on the expedition into the late German East Africa were kept real busy. Our readers are requested to compile their own lists of these overprints from the above synopsis, leaving plenty of space for double; triple; inverted; inverted double; inverted triple; double, one inverted; and any other varieties which may (or may not) appear on the market.

BOSNIA.—According to the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidskrift new "special" stamps of the values of 12h and 17h have been issued, and we surmise that these are War Charity stamps issued to conform with the new postage rates, 2h surcharge going to the benefit of widows and orphans caused by the war. Whether the 10h bistre and 15h carmine of the recently issued new series have been overprinted or new special stamps have been issued we do not know as yet.

DUTCH EAST INDIES.—The special article in the July 7th edition gave the parcel post rates from the Dutch East Indies to the United States as 175 cents for every parcel not exceeding one kilogram in weight and 225 cents for every parcel exceeding one kilogram and not exceeding five kilograms in weight. We believe these rates should have been set forth as 17½ cents and 22½ cents, respectively.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Stamp Collecting publishes the following: "An 'Official' Error.—Here's a chance for the expert in 'official' stamps of our own country. We hear that a collector has discovered among a lot of 'officials', all postally used, a copy of the 1d red, King Edward issue, overprinted, near the bottom, 'OFFICIAL', there being no trace of any other portion of the surcharge, such as 'I. R.', 'O. W.', 'R. H.', 'Admiralty', or 'Army'. Now what is the missing word, or letters? 'Omitted' errors are discovered from time to time; has a new 'find' been unearthed?"

HAYTI.—(1358-59-60-62)—In our issue of February 3rd we note the chronicle of a 1c surcharged 7c, and judge that this was an erroneous description of a 1c on 7c. Going back to January 6th chronicle we also note an error there, so believe it consistent with our present endeavors to give an accurate chronicle to revise our chronicle with the following list; the number in parentheses after each stamp listed being the Scott catalogue number of the stamp with the surcharge of a large figure "1" in a frame as illustrated in the same catalogue under 1915, page 474:

Provisional Adhesives.
1 on 5c blue, red surch. (98).
1 on 10c orange-brown, blue surch. (99).
1 on 20c orange, blue surch. (100).
1 on 10c orange-brown, blue surch. (105).
1 on 20c orange, blue surch. (106).
1 on 7c de p gray, red surch. (130).

LIBERIA.—Mr. O. D. Challans writes: "Just received a letter from Monrovia, Liberia, and among other stamps it was franked with Scott's No. 115, but the surcharge was in dark green instead of in black. Don't know whether this is a new issue or one that was overlooked when No. 115 was issued."

Scott's catalogue is in error with the description of the overprint as being in black, the stamp in question has only been surcharged in dark green, to the best of our knowledge, and as stated in Gibbons and Yvert & Tellier catalogues.

POLAND. — (German Occupation.) — The Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidskrift states on a German contemporary's authority that other values than those already known have been issued with the overprint "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" on German Empire stamps. The series so far issued is now as follows:

Adhesives.

2½pf gray.	15pf yellow-brown.
3pf brown.	20pf blue.
5pf green.	30pf or. & blk. on buff.
7½pf orange.	40pf carm. & black.
10pf carmine.	60pf red-lilac.

PORTO RICO.—Mr. C. M. Smith submits a block of four of Scott's No. 155, provisional issue of Porto Rico, between the vertical pairs of which there are blank spaces with the overprint the same as on the stamps, and he states that he has examined many philatelic magazines but has failed to find any notes about these varieties.

To the best of our knowledge these stamps were printed in sheets of two hundred divided into panes of 100 each by blank spaces the width of a vertical row of stamps. The overprint was applied by a hand-stamp, probably being done as the stamps were needed, and the operator of the hand-stamp had plenty of opportunities for creating whatever varieties he or she wished, as one can see he or she took advantage of when one considers the numerous varieties of this overprint, some of which are listed by the Standard catalogue, while others are unlisted. Of course, such varieties have a right to a place in a specialized collection, and they would undoubtedly be noted in a handbook on the subject, but a catalogue of the world's stamps cannot pretend to list every minor variety and does not, albeit it is also inconsistent in many things. The value of varieties of the kind would undoubtedly be based on whether the specialist would consider them substantial varieties or not. The specialist in the stamps of any one country, certainly tries to know all there is to know about that country's stamps.

Taking Cuba, Scott's No. 232 for an example, we find the lower sheet margin

A NEW CANCELLATION.

A novel cancellation is now being used in Argentine. A specimen has been submitted for our inspection and it shows the inscription "Los Carteros Venden Timbres", in the center of the cancellation, with three wavy horizontal lines above and below. The inscription means "The Letter-carriers Sell Postage Stamps". Our correspondent adds that the purpose of the accommodation is not so much to please the public as to relieve congested conditions at the post office stamp windows.

SALVADOR.—(1383)—Gibbons Circular offers for sale "Official stamps of 1915 overprinted with an 'S', instead of Oficial 1915." We are now wondering whether there are two series thus overprinted or not, one of the regular postage type, Scott's A66, which would be the series of 1915 with "S" instead of "1915", and the other of the official type, Scott's O3, which would include Scott's numbers 960 to 965 without the date and word "Oficial", but with an "S" overprint, and a new value in that type, 6c pale blue. It will perhaps transpire that there are two series and that our former chronicles were correct after all, the two series being confused as one. We would be glad to hear from any of our readers who will throw light on the subject.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Stamp Collecting chronicles Red Cross stamps for this British Colony. They are the 3c carmine and 4c dull purple of the current King George series overprinted "RED CROSS" in sans serif capitals at the top and "2c" at the bottom, in black.

of these stamps with the overprint the same as on the stamps. In this case the value is expressed, but the specimens were not recognized as being available for postal purposes. It is not catalogued but it is a variety which is incorporated in the specialist's collection.

The Porto Rico variety submitted by Mr. Smith may be an unchronicled variety, as far as the formality of chronicling is considered, but it is not unknown to stamp collectors.

SWEDEN.—The Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidskrift is our authority for the following. Although we do not understand the Norwegian language we can surmise that this is what is meant in their chronicle: Mr. N. V. B. Holmberg has shown the publishers a copy of the 5 ore stamp perforated 13:13 instead of 13:13½, that is, the 5 ore stamp has been perforated with the machine used for that work on the 1, 2 and 4 ore stamps.

A change from 14 to 13 perf. was made in all Swedish stamps sometime between 1872 and 1878, and all stamps issued since then have, according to the Scott catalogue, been perforated 13. But, and here is where the catalogue errs, the stamps of type A14, with portrait of King Gustav, are perforated 13x13½, while those of type A13 alone are perforated 13 all around.

Perforated 13x13 instead of 13x13½:

By-the-way, will someone kindly show us copies of Scott's Nos. 89 and 90. Were they a provisional printing on watermarked wavy lines paper, or are they errors?

THE STANDING JULY 14.

We intend to keep this list standing until October 1, when we shall open the fall and winter campaign with a clean score. We feel that the co-operation extended has been of a high character, and we are justified in the decision to continue the good work that has been begun.

We merely ask the dealer to circulate a subscription slip with every letter he sends out. In return we give a cash rebate on each new subscription received, at the same time exercising care that the premium offered comes within the P. O. Department limitations as to value.

Since June 9, when the last figures were printed, the Edgewood Stamp Co. has continued its good work by sending in twelve subscriptions. Four have been received from the Royal Stamp Co., and three from the Robert Millard Co. The revised figures are as follows:—

Edgewood Stamp Co., Milford, Conn.,	162
W. P. Colman, Washington D. C.,	77
H. J. Schmidt, Pittsburgh, Pa.	69
Royal Stamp Co., W. Phila., Pa.,	33
Detroit Stamp Co., Detroit, Mich.,	22
Burt McCann, Minneapolis, Minn.,	21
M. Ohlman, N. Y. City,	17
C. E. Nickles, Washington, D. C.,	17
R. E. Jonckheere, Billerica, Mass.,	16
H. S. Powell Co., Storm Lake, Ia.,	16
Robt. Millard Co., Detroit, Mich.,	15

In the second group will be found the following dealers:—

Stamp Shop, Clearfield, Pa.,	9
Alfred Lechner, N. Y. City,	6
Star Stamp Co., Waterford, Wis.,	6
J. E. Guest, Minneapolis, Minn.,	5
C. H. Mumper, Trenton, N. J.,	5
E. A. Southwick, Portland, Ore.,	5
N. Joseph, Boston, Mass.,	4
Watch City Stamp Co., Waltham, Mass.,	4

We omit this week the names of those who have sent in fewer than four subscriptions, and shall promote these contestants to the distinction of bold faced type when a further bit of co-operation has been extended.

Send for a supply of subscription coupons and use them in your daily mail. They cost nothing.

"Stamps of Cook Islands" PRICE 15c
BY B. W. H. POOLE

A comprehensive handbook, well written, finely illustrated and typographically a handsome production.

FOR SALE AT BOTH OFFICES.

FIRST COMMONWEALTH STAMPS.

In our opinion all the State stamps, which were on sale at the Post Offices on January 1st, 1901, are essentially Commonwealth stamps. Although the Government did not take over the postal administration for six months afterwards, the Commonwealth Act conveyed the administration of the Postal Department to the Federal authorities when the Commonwealth became a fact. Therefore, every collection of Commonwealth stamps should have attached to it, by way of "prologue," as it were, a set of the various stamps of the six States which were in use at that period.

Six months later the Commonwealth Postal Authorities took over the administration of the various Postal Departments of the States, and although each State was permitted to print its own stamps for a while, the cost of printing was borne by the Commonwealth Department, and the revenue from the sale of the stamps likewise accrued to the Department. Subsequently, the State stamps were printed on paper watermarked V and Crown, or Crown and A, to the order of the Commonwealth, and, later on, the V and Crown watermark was substituted by the Crown and A watermark throughout Australia, therefore emphasising the fact that although the stamps which were then put into use were of the various State designs, and bore the name of the different States, they were ipso facto Commonwealth stamps.

The first stamps which bore the word "Commonwealth" were the 9d, issued for use in N. S. W. and Queensland, each stamp bearing its own State name, together with the initial letters, etc., of the whole of the six States. Assuming that there are some philatelic objections to the stamps above referred to being included as Commonwealth issues, there certainly cannot be any to the inclusion of these 9d, and yet they were in use concurrently with the State stamps, and are relegated in the catalogues to the countries whose names they bear.

It was not until January, 1913, that the first regular series of Commonwealth stamps appeared, but that was 13 years after the inauguration of the Commonwealth, and it is, to put it in plain language, absurd to reckon that in the interim the Australian Commonwealth had no stamps.—Aust. St. Journal.

age stamps are designed, engraved and printed. It is situated at Washington, and has held the stamp printing contract since 1894. Revenue stamps, paper money, bonds and Government certificates are all printed in the same building.

BURELE.—A philatelic term applied to a fine network pattern of colored dots or lines found on the stamps of some countries. It may form part of the groundwork of the design, or the whole face of the stamps may be covered with it as in the case of some of the stamps of Hanover. Again it may cover the whole of the back of the stamps, as with the 1872 issue of Mexico, or it may consist of a narrow band as in the case of some of the stamps of Queensland.

BURGER, M.—A Swiss engraver, who engraved the dies for the 2c, 3c, 5c, 10c, 12c, and 15c stamps issued in Switzerland in 1882.

BURMAH.—An important adjunct of the British Indian empire bounded on the north by Assam and China, on the east by Chinese territory, Annam and Siam, on the South by Siam, and on the west by the Bay of Bengal. It has a total area of nearly 87,500 square miles, and a population well in excess of ten millions. Burmah has never issued postage stamps nor, prior to its annexation by the Indian government, did it have a postal system. We mention it here, however, owing to the fact that in 1886 a curious label made its appearance purporting to be a postage stamp of Burmah. Suspicion fell on it almost at once and in a short while it was proved to be nothing but an impression taken from one of the dies from which the coins were struck.

BURY'S CITY POST.—A local post of the United States established in the fifties (actual date uncertain) in connection with which a 1c stamp was issued.

BUSHIRE.—A seaport city of Persia on the east shore of the Persian Gulf. For a short time during 1915 it was occupied by a British force and during this occupation a number of the 1911-15 stamps of Persia were overprinted "BUSHIRE—UNDER BRITISH OCCUPATION" and used there.

BUSSAHIR.—A tributary hill State in the Punjab, India, having an area of 3,862 square miles and a population of about 90,000. Postage stamps were issued for the use of this State in January, 1896, but since the 31st March, 1901, they have been discontinued.

C.—I. An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874. These labels franked the official correspondence of the Customs department and they were superseded in 1874 by the general official issue overprinted with the letters "O. S."

II. An overprint found on some of the Ecuador stamps of the 1899-1901 series. It was at one time believed to be a control-mark, of a similar character to those described under "De," "Rios," "Resellada," etc., but specialists are now inclined to consider it a bogus mark or merely a cancellation.

C. A.—I. These letters appear on several of the stamps of Nicaragua, and signify "Central America," referring, of course, to the geographical position of the republic.

II. The letters "C A" form an overprint frequently found on the King Edward 1d stamps of Great Britain. Many collectors have been led to treat this as an official overprint of the same standing as the "I. R.," etc., stamps. Their use is, however, purely fiscal, and they are simply used in the offices of the Crown Agents for the Colonies for the purpose of receipting documents, accounts, etc.

THE WAR STAMPS OF MEXICO

The above is the title under which our book on recent Mexican Issues will appear. This book has been delayed on account of various matters, chief of which was the discovery of the wholesale counterfeiting of recent overprints and the selling of same by a St. Louis dealer.

The health of the author became affected from too close application to business, and this also accounts in some measure for the delay.

This book is now in the hands of the printer and will positively be

READY JULY 31

To those who have already remitted 12c for a check list, we will send a Check List, which will be published after the book is issued. To those who have remitted the previously advertised price for this book we will send the book as soon as issued.

We, however, find it necessary to increase the price of this book and announce the new price as

75 CENTS POSTPAID

This we find necessary because this volume has run to much larger size than we had expected it to reach. The book will be 6x9 inches in size and will contain approximately 100 pages of solid reading on these issues. The book will be illustrated throughout with the best half tone cuts and other engravings.

This is an expensive undertaking and we want collectors to at least help bear the burden of the cost.

If you have not yet ordered a copy of this book, do so at once. The edition is limited to only 500 copies and these should not last long.

Any orders received at previously advertised price will not be filled but the money will be refunded at once.

Dealers, solicit your customers and place your order at once. The price of the book to dealers will be 50c per copy prepaid in lots of four or more copies.

C. A. (Watermark).—(See Crown C. A.)

CABANAS.—The name of one of the former presidents of Salvador, which is shown across a circle in the lower left hand corner of the stamps issued in that republic in 1887-9.

CABLED ANCHOR.—A watermark shown in all the stamps of the Cape of Good Hope issued since 1884 and also in many of the postal fiscal stamps of Great Britain. (See also Anchor.)

CABO.—An overprint found on many of the stamps of Nicaragua issued since 1904. These stamps are used at Cabo, in the province of Zelaya, and the reason given for the overprinting is that the currency in this district is on a silver basis worth 42c to the peso, while elsewhere in Nicaragua paper money worth only 25c to the peso is generally used.

CABOT ISSUE.—A special set of stamps issued in Newfoundland in 1897 with the dual object of commemorating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the island by Cabot, and the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria. Giovanni Cabot, better known in England as John Cabot, was born at Genoa in 1425. His dominant idea was to discover new lands across the sea, and having failed to receive support from the courts of Spain and Portugal he went to England in 1491. There he was more successful, and on March 5th, 1496, he was granted letters patent by Henry VII to take possession, on behalf of England, of any new lands he might discover. With his three sons Cabot sailed from Bristol in 1497 in a small vessel, the "Matthew," and on June 24th the coast of Newfoundland was sighted. Cabot returned to England with the news, and in the following year the intrepid explorer again set sail from Bristol with a small fleet of five ships, but of the fate of this expedition nothing was ever heard. Cabot's portrait and ship are shown on two of the stamps of the Newfoundland commemorative series.

CABO VERDE.—The Portuguese name for the Cape Verde Islands, which appears on all the stamps issued for that colony.

CABUL.—(or Kabul).—The capital of Afghanistan and the name by which the postage stamps of Afghanistan were at one time generally known.

CADIZ.—A Spanish province having an area of 2,834 square miles and a population of about half a million. After the revolution in Madrid in September, 1868, and the consequent flight of the Queen, a Provisional Government was formed which issued orders that all postage stamps were to be overprinted "Habilitado por la Nacion" before being sold to the public. The province of Cadiz used a special handstamp for this purpose which differs from that in general use throughout the rest of Spain only in the size of the letters of the inscription.

CALI.—A town in the province of Cauca, Colombia, having a population of over 16,000. A number of provisional stamps, set up from ordinary printer's type, were issued here in 1879.

CALIFORNIA CITY LETTER EXPRESS.—A local post of the United States established in San Francisco in 1862 with the object of delivering "Wedding Cards, Notices, Letters, etc." Apparently a fee of 10c was charged on every communication, no matter what its nature, and stamps of this value were issued for the collection of this fee.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

By W. WARD, Author of "Postage Stamps of the Levant," Etc.

Semi-unified Victorian Issues from 1883 to 1901.

The success of the lilac fugitive ink used in the printing of the one penny stamp for combined postal and revenue purposes, led the authorities to decide to issue what is now philatelically termed a unified series, that is, all values of a similar appearance (if not exactly the same design) and in a colour that would resist attempts to clean after being however slightly obliterated. Several colours of the new ink were tried and proofs were submitted by the printers in lilac, green, rose, and blue, all of which were passed as suitable.

The new series was made up of values from 1½ pence to 10 shillings. For the ½ penny the design of the previous issue was accepted and the penny lilac in use at the time of issue was considered suitable. For the £1 the then existing die for the telegraph stamp of that value was brought into use substituting, as in the £5 stamp for the word "Telegraphs" that of "Postage".

The whole series was ready for issue in 1883, and sheets overprinted "Specimen", perforated 12, were sent out for distribution among the post office departments of the world. Whether the printers, Messrs. de la Rue or the Government Department, Somerset House, perforated and overprinted these specimens is not known, but it is very likely that the latter department did the work as the firm mentioned never possessed a machine gauging 12, though possessing an old perforating machine gauging 12½ that had been used for many Colonial issues.

The new set contained one new value —that of half a crown or 2½ shillings. This was probably deemed of immediate use, for it made so early an appearance as July, 1883, whereas the other values were kept back on account of large stocks of the several previous issues, until the first of April of the following year, 1884. Owing to the size of the 2½, 5 and 10sh stamps the Anchor watermarked paper of the obsolete 5sh, 10sh and £1 stamps was used, but as the £1 value just about spaced three ordinary sized stamps, the Imperial Crown watermarked paper was used, each stamp thus securing three of the crowns.

About the middle of the year 1888 the printers obtained permission to use up a stock of the 1876-80 Orb watermarked paper (used for the 2½p stamps) for printing a supply of the £1. In this instance also, each stamp shows three watermarks.

As in the preceding issue of the large high values on the "naked" Anchor watermarked papers, a supply was printed that showed a distinct delicate blue tint to the paper. Faked copies, which have probably been boiled in water containing laundry blue, are smudgy and show small specks of blue matter that renders them a fraud fairly easy to detect. Owing to the fugitive nature of the ink, the green stamps quickly dissolve in water, and if left for some time assume a permanent pale apple green shade, whereas the colour of the issued stamp is a deep, slightly bluish green. The 9 penny, the 10sh in a full blue shade and the £1 watermarked Orbs are the scarcest values to obtain in fine condition. Registered cancellations on the used specimens add to their value.

The 5p value is known with a short line under the "d" representing pence instead of a full point, but this was removed from the plate before the issue became general.

The idea of several values in the same colour was far from a success owing to similarity of design as well as of colour, causing confusion to both postal officials and the public. It was very shortly decided to alter the issue. The printers were, therefore, instructed to submit new designs in 1886.

The following year being the 50th anniversary of the reign of Queen Victoria the authorities probably thought that they would be justified in "splashing" a little color about, and for the first time bicolored stamps made their appearance, January 1st, 1887. Three values, however, the 2½p, 3p and 6p, were printed in a single colour, but upon colored paper, and the ½p on white. In the 3p value the effect of the purple ink on yellow paper is very peculiar inasmuch as the yellow paper destroys the purple, and appears as though printed in brown. Until specimens printed by the same ink on white paper had been shown it was held by some "authorities" as "brown on yellow."

The values first issued were the ½, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 9 pence and one shilling. Two other values, however, made their appearance during the next few years, all of a kindred unified design, the 10p on Feb. 24th, 1890, and an entirely new value for a new parcel post rate, the 4½p in 1892.

In 1891, the £1 value was reprinted in green, but on the crown watermark paper.

Two minor varieties of the 4p and 4½p values occur. In the former the inside of the triangle of the figures "4" occur quite "albino" or blank, instead of the regular two or three wavy lines of shading. The 4½p value occurs with a

Three of the values, the 4p, 4½p and 10p, have the margins between the stamps filled in with horizontal and vertical lines of color of the framework of the stamp, horizontally and vertically, respectively.

The bicoloured effect of all values is pleasing, unless a little criticism may be permitted on the effect of the coloured papers, especially shades of the 3p which appear ghastly by artificial light. A proof exists of the latter in green on yellow paper, so that perhaps we must be thankful that we were spared the latter. A scarce variety of the 3p exists on deep orange paper.

The attention of the government was drawn by the Universal Postal Union to the fact that they were not complying with the U. P. U. colour regulations, and that the values equivalent of 1c-2c and 5c should be green, red, and blue, respectively. One value, the 2½p complied to some extent with this ruling, but only one value was changed, that of the ½p from vermilion to green. This colour was, however, confusing with the 1sh value, which was also of not unlike design and colour. The border of the 1sh was therefore changed to carmine.

The colours of both values are very fugitive, the ½p changing to blue through dampness alone.

DEATH OF MR. HAUSBURG.

Mr. C. J. Phillips of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., London, writes me under date of July 12th, informing me of the death the previous week, after a long illness, of Mr. Leslie L. R. Hausburg, one of Great Britain's most prominent collectors, who attended the New York Philatelic Exhibition in 1913 and was one of the keenest students of Philately. His loss and the recent death of Mr. M. P. Castle are surely a severe blow to British Philately.

I have also been informed of the death of another British philatelist, Mr. S. C. Barnett, a specialist in the stamps of Chile.

J. M. BARTELS.

JAMAICA SHILLING.

Many thanks for your interest in my odd 1 shilling Jamaica and for its return. Possibly I ought to accept without further question your idea that the color variety in the central part is merely a chemical change due to the susceptibility of the paper, but some way I do not feel quite satisfied on that point, and have been disappointed that you did not refer to the matter in the WEEKLY in order to call out opinions from those who have handled this value, and perhaps noted the difference in the central part. That it has been noted by at least one other than myself was proved by Mrs. Oughtred's quotation from a dealer, who said, as I have told you, that he knew of it, had seen it, and considered it a valuable error. I had two other 1sh white backs, put them to soak, and found no change to violet centres as a result. If you put a strong glass over this stamp of mine, as I did, you must surely have seen that the paper is not in any way stained, as it would have been had the colors run in soaking and also—most convincing of all—that the violet shade follows the medallion with perfect exactness. Had the paper possessed any susceptibility to change the shade of ink used in printing upon it, which is possible of course, it seems decidedly strange that the inclination should follow the exact line of the medallion centre, should be of uniform tint through the medallion, and yet should not show the slightest hint of the violet shade in any other portion of the entire stamp. That point is the one which perplexes me most, making me think that a public discussion of the puzzle might succeed in unearthing some news of interest. I am positive that this stamp has never been soaked, and that its oddity is in no way due to any private manipulation.

I do not recall how the Jamaica's are printed, but if from a key plate, then isn't it just possible that the central design may have been used on another plate printed in violet, and imperfectly cleaned before it was inserted in the plate for the 1sh Jamaica? Then when the whole was printed, the centre may have held just enough of the old violet ink to cause the hybrid. It is a guess, whose probability I have not looked up, but the thought occurred to me. I remember I once had a monogram printed in purple, and later ordered more done in silver. The latter supply showed on some sheets, traces of the purple, and when I complained, the printer said the die must have escaped proper cleaning. I do not understand the mysteries of a printing office, so offer these remarks only for what they are—or are not—worth.

Have you as yet found any explanation of my Iceland 3a with postmark of a crown over a posthorn, and lettered FLATY, all in purple? I am still curious to know the meaning thereof.

AMY L. SWIFT.

[Miss Swift's claim may have all foundation in fact. What have readers to say about the shilling white back? Also, Miss Swift wishes to know what significance the FLATY postmark on her Iceland stamp has. We are unable to tell.—EDITOR.]

POSTAGE ON MAIL FOR UNITED STATES EXPEDITIONARY FORCES.

WASHINGTON, July 14, 1917.

In order to prevent delay in dispatch and secure prompt delivery of letters, post cards and printed matter addressed to the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe, to which the domestic rates of postage apply (see Daily Bulletin of June 27, 1917), it is important that the postage be fully prepaid. To this end postmasters are requested to give the matter the widest possible publicity and advise patrons to hand in at the post office mail addressed to the expeditionary forces in order that it may be weighed, rated, and have the full amount of postage affixed before the sender leaves the office.

Unpaid letters from soldiers in the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe addressed for delivery in the United States or its possessions are to be rated with postage due at the single rate only to be collected on delivery as prescribed by Section 406, P. L. and R.

EDITORIAL.

Developments—The post office department has announced that "unpaid letters from soldiers in the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe addressed for delivery in the United States or its possessions are to be rated with postage due at the single rate only to be collected on delivery." Ordinarily, double the amount of the deficiency in postage is charged. The newspapers have told of the departure ordered by the postmaster general, allowing the despatch of unwrapped and unaddressed magazines prepaid at the rate of one cent each, for soldiers and sailors of the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe. This enterprise on the part of the postal authorities will be appreciated, it is needless to say. As will be seen by the governmental order, only such magazines as bear a printed formula as prescribed by the department may be sent under this regulation.

War—We have seen on a letter from the island of Corfu on which the postage to this country was paid by the regular French stamps overprinted (but not surcharged): "Postes Serbes." Our correspondent explains that the letter was sent through the Serbian post office in Corfu, whose stock of Serbian stamps was exhausted and that in consequence, French stamps were used. On the subject of the new Austrian stamps and other war issues, the Boston Globe of July 15, 1917, had a remarkable article which seems to be almost inspired and which is well worth copying, although one may look askant at the paragraph that closes the account.

Marked—The Indiana Stamp Company has shown us a two cent bank check, yellow, of the first issue, civil war period, which bears the words in large letters in purple ink, the words in four lines: "U. S. A.—7 CTS—REV." In addition the stamp has the cancellation in postmark form of a firm in New Orleans. Of course, an unsubstantiated marking of this kind proves nothing but we mention this curiosity on the very small chance that some supporting testimony may be found. The use of the stamp at New Orleans may furnish a clue in itself.

Navy—In a recent number of Sea Power, there was an illuminating article on the Confederate navy, compiled by a historian who had access to the data on the subject in the archives at Washington. The details as submitted, in effect were a tribute to the activities of the southern navy, which were more extensive than the uninformed person would suppose. It may be said that the maritime exploits of the south, except in several outstanding instances, are only vaguely in the minds of those who have had no occasion or inclination to attend closely to the naval history of the Confederacy. These observations are made to introduce our opinion to the effect that any postal indications of the navy department of the Confederate states is the rare exception. This is said in the light of our experience, which, however, may not be absolute proof of the statement. For nearly thirty years we have been regardful of the attractions of Confederate issues but only recently have we seen any reference to the Confederate navy department on postal forms. We have come into possession of two covers which bear the frank of the navy department and they may be described as follows: "An envelope with the printed inscription in the upper right half, in three lines: Confederate States of America—Navy Department —Official Business." The envelope has a ten cent, blue, 1863, in the upper left corner, which is canceled Richmond. The envelope is addressed: Mrs. C. C. Clay, Care of Govr. Hammond, Augusta, Geo. The second envelope is of official size and has the inscription, "C. S. Navy Department, Office of Ordnance and Hydrography," in two lines, upper right, and "Official Business," at upper left. The postmark, "Richmond, Apr. 11, 1862, Va." is in blue. There is no stamp on the envelope which is addressed to: "Asst. Suptdt, R. B. Wright, Naval Ordnance Works, Richmond, Va." The treasury, war, post office and navy departments had their official envelopes.

Branch—Some time ago we had the privilege of describing several covers that established the fact that there was an "Agency Post Office Dept., Trans-Miss.," at Marshall, Texas. At that time, these covers were in the possession of Mr. W. H. McDonald, who proved later that there is record in the annals of the Confederacy, of this branch which was established for several reasons, one of which was to provide a place of safety in case of emergency, and another was to facilitate the workings of the postal service in the southwest. An authoritative account of the origin and existence of the Marshall sub-station would be welcome; and some day, when a historian will delve into this and suggested subjects, surmise will be replaced by fact. Too, the express letter-carrying institutions that exchanged correspondence between the North and South after the declaration of war until prohibited by the authorities, will be represented by full records and by illustrated examples of these covers with their interesting markings. Some time ago we disposed of an express cover of the kind to Mr. John A. Klemann, and later Mr. Jacob S. Fox of Pottsville, Pa., submitted another cover in this class for examination. Now, when so much interest is being evinced in Confederate issues, we are hopeful that there will arise somewhere a gentleman with the means to indulge his Confederate specialty and with a knack for research who will cultivate this fruitful field. The actual stamps of the Confederacy have been given their meed of attention, and there remains only an unexplored border section replete with postalic quirks that are shown by franks and impressions rather than by the stamps themselves.

Knot—Says a subscriber: "You are always on the lookout for problems of philatelic conduct. How does this case strike you A friend who many times said when he saw me fussing with stamps that he had an old collection, finally produced it. He had an album bulging with old U. S., British Colonials, German States, etc., that was worth two hundred dollars at a fair estimate. My friend insists that I take the stamps as a gift, as 'they are no good to him.' I want the stamps, but am I justified in taking them for nothing?" Subscribe a round sum in his name to a war fund; and then, if conscience will not be still, subscribe a similar amount yourself.

Busy—Here it is mid-summer, and instead of the comparative calm that hovers customarily over our pursuit at this time, there is the whirr of the philatelic wheels still going round. We do not base our statement upon any evidences shown by our advertising columns, commercial patter or hearsay, but on the correspondence that we receive from readers, which is running close to old-time form. We often wish that we could induct the man who cannot reconcile himself to the thought that there is any substance to philately into the mysteries of the philatelic publisher's mail. If he could see the letters and interrogatories from interested readers, many of whom are men of affairs, the unbeliever would rub his eyes. We cannot always attend to this correspondence with the despatch and thoroughness that we should like, yet we answer such questions as we are able to or refer them to readers; and as for letters from friendly or otherwise correspondents, they yield their quota of "brain-ore" that is valuable. Our weekly budget usually carries a thought or so that we are glad to relay to readers.

Conventions—The conventions of the national organizations are scheduled for August, and if the attendance at the meeting of the Southern Philatelic Association at Minneapolis and that of the American Philatelic Society at Alexandria Bay, New York, could be in ratio with the feeling of interest in philately at present, they would be the biggest conventions on record. As it is, it is problematical just how well attended the conventions will be, but we have every assurance that the old guard will not fail this critical year. Mr. Wylie will attend the A. P. S. Convention, and Mr. Severn, the Minneapolis meeting, thus showing how propinquity often shapes our ends.

Interned—We have just seen a letter from one of the Germans interned by the Government at a camp near Atlanta, Ga. The envelope, bearing two one cent stamps, is postmarked Atlanta, Ga., in the usual way, and in the upper left corner is the name of the sender, "Prisoner of War," and number. On the reverse is the rubber stamped impression, "Censored."

THE DEATH OF FERRARY.

(This article taken from the New York Sun throws an interesting sidelight on the clipping reprinted recently from Stamp Collecting and corrects a wrong impression contained in the clipping. At the time of his death Ferrary was a citizen of Servia.—Ed.)

There has just passed away at Lausanne, Switzerland, at the age of 68, an old gentleman who used to be known as Emilio Ferrary, and who lived in the most quiet and unassuming manner. All that was known of him at Lausanne was that he had at one time been a professor of mathematics at one of the public schools of Paris. No one was aware that he possessed the most famous stamp collection in the world, which he had purchased from the late Lord Rothschild, nor that he had voluntarily renounced the succession to his father's altogether colossal fortune and to his dukedom of Galliera, created by Pope Gregory XVI in 1838.

To this day the cause of his differences with his father—of whom he was the only surviving child, his younger brother having died in infancy—has remained a mystery. Prof. Ferrary, as he preferred to be called, at an early age imbibed Socialist doctrines, and while he never paraded them or sought notoriety in connection therewith, yet he evidently did not consider that his creed was consistent with the possession of great wealth, and it is very probable that he became estranged from his father through his socialism.

He was born at Genoa, a city with which his family, the Ferraris, have been identified ever since the eleventh century, holding the offices of Doge and of Ambassador of the republic to the court of the Pope. The professor became a Frenchman, and it was as such that he taught at the Paris University, making his quarters, not in the superb Galliera Palace, in the Rue de Varennes, in the Faubourg St. Germain, nor yet in the palace which his mother had inherited from her De Brignole-Sale ancestors, but in very modest lodgings in the Quartier Latin. Later on he exchanged his French citizenship for that of Austria, and three or four years ago abandoned his Austrian nationality for that of Serbia. It was as a citizen of Serbia that he died at Lausanne, and owing to the fact that the greater portion of Serbia is now in the possession of the enemy and that his will was left in the care of a Serbian lawyer at Belgrade, there is likely to be some delay before any final disposition can be made of his great collection of stamps, of his valuable library, and of the money which his mother, who survived her husband for many years, insisted upon bequeathing to him from her own personal and private fortune and which had no connection whatever with his father's property. The professor never married.

STAMP THIEF CAPTURED.

By J. M. Bartels.

Numerous New York dailies have contained items concerning the capture of a sixteen year old boy who burglarized the offices of several stamp dealers in New York City during May and June. Previous notice of a burglary had been published by Felix Ciampolini whose loss was more severe than the others. It seems that in all something like $600 worth of stamps were stolen from five different places, including some early Mexican covers, a few German States, etc., from our firm. One day last week a boy named Feinberg sold to a 42d Street dealer a good sized miscellaneous parcel of stamps, receiving on account $150 and was to call for a balance due him several days later. Ciampolini was notified and identified many stamps which he had lost, also stamps which he had remembered seeing in the show-frames in the office of our firm. The following day the boy was arrested after sending a messenger for the balance of the money. He claims that he had a mania for stamps which he could not resist. He was employed by a law firm at 93 Nassau St., where he bore an excellent reputation and had been frequently trusted with sums of cash making deposits for the firm at a bank, having faithfully deposited $400 the day before his arrest. The burglaries were committed in three cases by forcing the lock of the office door after office hours and in one case by climbing through a transom. Four of the dealers robbed are located on Nassau Street and one on Fifth Avenue. The youthful burglar has made a full confession of the five robberies and is now held for the Grand Jury next week.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Daniel Y. Dodd, Wilmore, Ky., a shut-in, would be very pleased to be remembered with some offerings of stamps if any of our subscribers are disposed to send them. Mr. Dodd had infantile paralysis when he was two and one-half years old. He is now nineteen, and has never walked a step during his life. His stamp collection is his greatest comfort, and he will appreciate very much any donations that may be made him.

—While visiting Detroit, Elliott Perry of Westfield, N. J., had stolen from him certain United States stamps, both revenue and postage. Note the advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

—We are informed by S. M. Edwards, secretary of the Postal Card Society, that Mr. Guest's paper, The Collectors' Journal, has been selected as the official organ of the Society.

—G. A. Doyle.—We understand that "Album Weeds" is out of print. If some dealer has two or three copies that he will advertise, they would be sold with ease.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Geo. A. Hall, Kenneth Tallmadge, Herman W. Boers, Maitland Milliken and J. Saulnier.

—Charles H. Hermann advises us that he has been unable to secure any information concerning the whereabouts of Geo. O. Deitrich, formerly of Pasadena, Cal. He was reported as being located at San Bernardino, but a letter sent there was returned. He has some stamps Mr. Hermann would like to secure. His reference was S.P.A. 2012.

EUSTACE B. POWER.

By Chas. E. Severn.

Many of our readers will recognize the features of the managing director of Stanley Gibbons, Inc., but few will realize the heavy duty he assumes at this time. Six days after war with Germany was declared Mr. Power had his boat in the water, and ran up the pennant of the City of New York Police Department. In this capacity he patroled the waters of Upper New York day and night without let up. Now he has been transferred to a far more responsible position under the Department of Justice. Mr. Power is a well known yachtsman belonging to innumerable clubs and societies; and anyone knowing the dynamic force that drives this talented man knows that he is doing his bit and doing it well. We wish him all possible good luck in his activities and hope to see him safe, sound and sober with us in Chicago some day soon.

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. A. Yost submits for our inspection a plate variety of the current 2c stamp, perf. 10, and states: "I am sending you a stamp taken from sheet No. 8010, present issue, lower right hand pane, stamp No. 100, with initials 'J. W. G.' on the margin. The line through the left figure '2' appears on all these sheets very prominently."

The stamp submitted shows a heavy color line extending from the end of the left ribbon over the left figure "2" diagonally down through the "2" to the end of the foot of the numeral, and it was probably the result of some tool falling on the plate. The variety may also be found perf. 11.

The Eastern Stamp Co. submits a 6c stamp current issue, perf. 10, drawing our attention to a peculiarity about the shade and stating that they received it among thousands of other stamps. The face of the stamp has been colored bluish and this makes the orange color in which it is printed look very deep. The bluing of the paper has a tendency to make the color appear darker than it really is. The 1909 6c on bluish paper looks darker in shade than the ordinary 6c stamp of the same issue. But, unlike the bluish paper of 1909, the present stamp under discussion is only colored on the face. It may have been caused by some chemical action, and we have no other explanation for it.

Mr. C. A. Price submits a more interesting 6c stamp current type and states: "Herewith find a current issue 6c coil perforated stamp which I have never seen catalogued. . . . It was used by the state in sending out auto tags. I have several stamps of the same kind precancelled 'Charleston W. VA.' but have seen only one of the 6c coil perforation."

We have sent an inquiry to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and will publish the reply when received. However, we have our doubts that it is a coil stamp.

(1383)—Mr. Bartels supplements the previous lists of new envelopes as follows, and we thank him for the contribution:—

Issue 1915.

Denom.	Die.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Knife.

2c	C	9	Amber	20	61

2c	A	5	White	19	81
2c	B	5	Amber	20	99
2c	E	5	window White	19	87

Mrs. I. M. Allen writes as follows: "I have recently come into possession of an envelope which, to me, is quite a novelty. It is a No. 7, two cent government envelope, which bears this printed notice at the top:

DO NOT PUT IN U. S. MAIL.

Caution.—This envelope contains letters of transmittal covering papers in attached inclosure. Under Postal Regulations the Package may be forwarded by Railway Train Mail or Express to destination.

DO NOT SEPARATE THIS ENVELOPE FROM THE PACKAGE.

"It was sent to the Local Freight Agent, Barrington, Ill., from Southern Railway System, Chattanooga, Tenn. There is other printed matter on the envelope relative to railroad business. The stamp is privately cancelled in purple with 'W. T. White, Freight Claim Agent, Chattanooga, Tenn.' in three lines. The envelope is pasted to a plain one of larger size. What struck me as odd was the fact that it was necessary to use a stamped envelope when it could not be mailed."

We believe this subject has been previously covered in the WEEKLY, but we do not have the published matter at hand. However, we understand that the railways may send their own communications from one station on the road to another without these coming under the postal laws and regulations, but the interchange of mail matter between railways and (or) their subsidiary companies cannot be carried over the Mail Routes without coming under the Postal Laws, even though they are not handled by mail clerks. Therefore, such communications or mail matter is transmitted via the railroads under regulations provided by the postal laws and regulations, and this provides, we believe, that a government stamped envelope be used in such cases.

(1386)—Mr. Carl O. Swaney shows us the "Young Men's Business Clubs of America Lamar, Colo. August 29th-30th 1917" advertising cancellation, which has been in use at Lamar, Colo., for several months.

Confederate States.—Mr. Gerald S. Curtis writes: "It may be of interest to Confederate collectors who read your WEEKLY to know that in my searchings I have discovered a 5c green on cover, Scott's No. 200, of the general issues, dated 'Plaquemine, La. Sept. 8, 1861.' This antedates anything heretofore known by one month and eight days."

AUSTRIA.—(1384)—Our chronicle of provisional postage due stamps in the WEEKLY of July 7 is confirmed by illustrations of them which we have seen in Booleman's Confidentia-Circulaire, and this publication lists others in the same series. The stamps of the values of 24h, 36h, 42h and 54h, showing a portrait of the late Emperor Francis Joseph, have been overprinted "PORTO" and new value, a large asterisk covering the original value at the bottom. Our only wonder is, were these values ever issued as postage stamps without the overprint?

As we are not advised of the colors, the formal listing will await that information.

The same publication illustrates a new 15h postage stamp with a portrait of Emperor Karl I. The portrait is contained in an elipse-on-end, surrounded with the usual inscription which has appeared on Austrian stamps since 1908, from which scalloped rays extend into a rectangular formation the shape of the stamp, which is, we judge, the same size as preceding issue of the same value.

Adhesive.

15h rose-red.

The triangular Special Delivery stamps probably proved to be unhandy, as a new large oblong stamp has been issued for this purpose. The publication above referred to illustrates the new special delivery stamp. The central portion of the design is similar to the preceding triangular one, having a head of Mercury leaning forward and downward with a cloud as background. The inscription at the top is "K.K.OSTERREICHISCHE POST." Lightning streaks appear at the sides, the value being in large numerals "5" at either lower corner and the word "HELLER" between. We do not know the color of the new stamp, and the listing thereof awaits the information. It is probably green on yellow, like the preceding issue.

BELGIAN EAST AFRICA.—The stamps of Congo overprinted "Est Africain Allemand Ocuppation Belge" have been seen, says the Madrid Filatelico, with the cancellation "Malagarassi—T.F.—1917," which shows they have been used on wireless telegrams sent within the country, the charge for which is 25 centimes per word.

BOSNIA.—(1386)—Our surmise as to the special charity stamps mentioned in the Chronicle of last week is correct in one respect, and that is the 10h bistre and 15h carmine stamps have been overprinted. A week was set aside for the raising of funds for widows and orphans caused by the war and the stamps above mentioned were overprinted, "WITTWEN UND" reading up at the left, "WAISEN WOCHE" reading down at the right, and "1917" horizontally between, and sold for 12h and 17h respectively.

Charity Stamps.

10h bistre.
15h carmine.

CANADA.—(1380)—Mr. O. Kendall favors us with a newspaper clipping from Winnipeg. This is of such interest that we reprint it in its entirety:

"Ottawa, July 13.—The post office department is issuing at the present time a post card in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of confederation. The card used is the ordinary post card, with an inset containing information of the various provinces existing in 1867 and now. And also statistics informing in regard to the area, population, general development and industry of the country since 1867.

"The information supplied is of an interesting character, and illustrates the rapid growth of Canada in a marked way.

"The department has also in contemplation the issuing of a commemorative three cent stamp, to consist of an engraved reproduction of Harris E. Plinting's 'Fathers of Confederation.' This stamp is now in course of preparation and is expected to be issued on or about the first of August next."

CANAL ZONE.—(Taboga)—Mr. Frank E. Greene in Philatelic Gossip states that the government has taken over the Hotel Aspinwall on the Island of Taboga, where it has installed an internment camp. The island is situated about ten miles from Panama. About 100 prisoners were originally placed on the island, but about sixty have been taken to the United States. Mr. Greene states that the prisoners are allowed to send first class mail free and that this carries a notation: "Mailed by Interned Prisoner of War," or at least Mr. Greene is told that this is the proper wording. This notation is impressed in two lines with red ink. All the mail is censored and bears a three-line rubber stamp impression reading: "Opened by—U. S. Censor—....," the last line being for the censor's initials; this is enclosed in a double line rectangular frame. This is also impressed in red. Mr. Greene also states that he has been told that the first pieces of mail had the notations written by hand in red ink.

CHINA.—(1384)—Mr. Benjamin Cadbury has shown us the 2c, 4c and 5c postage due stamps printed at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Peking, China, which do not show "bent tack" as described for the ½c in the Chronicle of July 7, although the other characteristics as described for the Peking printings are apparent in these three values. So the "bent tack" feature will only act as a test for the ½c value, as far as we know. In the colorless space over the words "Postage Due" there is a Chinese character, the lower stroke at the left resembling a tack; on the ½c of the Peking printing the point of this tack extends over the "T" of postage, while on the 2c, 4c and 5c, shown us by Mr. Cadbury, the point of the tack only extends to the "A." We have not as yet seen the Peking printings of the 1c, 10c, 20c and 30c. For a description of the other characteristics of the Peking printings, our readers are referred to the Chronicle of July 7th.

GREECE.—(1385)—Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us the 1l of 1901 (Scott's No. 165) overprinted "K. P. Lepton 5" for use as a War Tax stamp. In sending us word of the same surcharge on a 1l stamp, which we mentioned in the Chronicle of June 16, Dr. H. J. Perry did not state which issue had been used for surcharging, and we took it for granted that the current 1l stamps had been used. We are compelled, therefore, to change the chronicle of these stamps and submit the list as follows:

War Tax Stamps.

5l on 1l reddish-brown (1901).
5l on 20l red-lilac (1901).

MESOPOTAMIA.—We translate the following from the Madrid Filatelico—"The title shows the name of the newest philatelic country. As a result of the occupation of Bagdad and the region of Yrak, the Anglo-Indian troops are in control of the larger part of Mesopotamia, and it is only to be considered natural, logical and indispensable that the immediate organization of an English postal service in a city as large as Bagdad, with a population of 200,000, was established, the English never losing an opportunity of this kind, as has been shown on other occasions, whether a transitory occupation or one of an indefinite period.

"The English have the intention of creating a principality (sultanate) of Mesopotamia, probably having already done so, and have named as Chief of the State the brother of the present Sultan of Egypt, Ahmed Fuad."

MEXICO.—(1384)—Coming to our rescue, as requested in our Chronicle of July 7, Mr. Herman Focke submits the current set of Mexican stamps, and we find the list as follows, the names following each value being those of the personages or other subjects portrayed on the stamps:

Rouletted 14.

1c mauve, Gen'l Ignacio Zaragoza.
2c blue-green, Ildefonso Vazquez.
3c brown, J. M. Pino Suarez.
4c rose-pink, Jesus Carranza.
5c ultramarine, (Maclovio Herrera).
10c blue, Francisco I. Madero.
20c claret, Dr. Belisario Dominguez.
30c gray-lilac, Aquiles Serdan.

Perforated 12.

1c mauve.
5c ultramarine.
10c blue.
40c purple, (Map of Mexico).
1p blue & black, Light House, Vera Cruz.
5p green & black, Post Office, Mexico City.

Mr. Focke states that the perforated 12, 1c, 5c and 10c were received by him during the early days of the issue of this type, and that they are not plentiful. We note that those coming from Mexico at the present time are rouletted, with the exception, of course, of the 40c, 1p and 5p.

MONTENEGRO.—(1385)—Our readers are requested to please transpose the third and fourth lines in our Montenegro chronicle of July 14 (1385).

PAPUA.—(1384)—Mr. Martin W. Hoose writes: "In a recent consignment of stamps I received the new 3d bi-colored Papua. The figure '3' in the lower right corner of this stamp has the upper ball the shape of an inverted acorn, with the point slightly curved to the right. The lower ball is normal. I do not know whether all stamps of this denomination are printed that way or not."

As the stamps are, we believe, lithographed, each stamp in the sheet may contain some means of locating its position in the sheet, that is, with or without some variation of design. We would be pleased to hear from some one who can supply the information whether all the 3d stamps have the variation mentioned by Mr. Hoose.

RUSSIA.—(Republic.)—The Revista Filatelica d'Italia publishes what it claims as exclusive news the fact that on the Romanoff issue of stamps, up to and including the 14k, the new government has overprinted the letters "U. P. P." and the date of the declaration of the Republic, all in Russian characters, within an octagonal frame. If this is correct, it records the first stamps issued by the new Russian Republic.

TUNIS.—Mr. Gerald Mongeon advises us that he has a copy of the 10c on 15c violet on pinkish, Scott's No. 46, with the surcharge so misplaced that it shows only three bars instead of four.

The good old reliable issues of our glorious country even if out of centre or heavily cancelled are surely preferable to the present day purposely made misspelt war errors, war speculative issues and to the "flapper and nut" war surcharge creations, all of which are a crime to Philately.

ANNUAL CONVENTION N. P. S.

Favored with Maine's most perfect weather and with the largest attendance of visitors in its history, the Annual Convention of the National Philatelic Society was opened in the State of Maine Room at the Falmouth Hotel, Portland, Thursday, July 19. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Chapman and Secretary Cummings of the Chamber of Commerce. Meanwhile the junior members of the local Branch, No. 7, had prepared automobile trips for the ladies of the party during the hours of the convention, and from the moment of arrival of the first contingent of twenty-nine on the day boat from Boston, headed by Treas. Wright and International Secretary Oscar Hill, until the departure of the boat Saturday night, every moment of the time not taken up by routine matters of the convention was occupied in carrying out the program of entertainment provided by the Portland members. Many old time local collectors added to the enjoyment of the occasion by their hospitality, and renewed their enthusiasm for stamp collecting. Perhaps the most enjoyable portion of the entertainment, which was substantially as reported in the WEEKLY, was a thirty-mile sail among the islands of beautiful Casco Bay in a specially chartered steam yacht. This was the "surprise" feature of the convention and was not announced until the night before, and the Friday morning session was adjourned for the occasion. The convention itself was a success in every feature, and the Stamp Auction held at the hotel Friday evening netted the largest sum ever realized at a convention for the benefit of the National Society. Following is a list of the newly elected officers as reported by the Committee on Credentials: Pres., E. H. Thompson of Maine; V. Pres., J. W. Taylor of Penn.; Sec.-Treas., A. M. Wright of Mass.; Int. Sec., Oscar Hill of Mass.; Directors, M. M. Herbert of N. Y., E. W. Bridge of Mass., and E. L. Weiss of N. Y. On the question of separating the two offices of Secretary and Treasurer, the vote was No 159, Yes 98.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

HIGH COST OF POSTAGE.

By Elliott Perry.

The enclosed table of postage rates to foreign countries was taken from a directory dated 1856 and probably held good until December 31, 1855, if not later. At the same time I ran across a newspaper note published within a day or two of Jan. 1, 1856, stating that on January 1, 1856, prepayment became obligatory. I assume that the rates given applied to both prepaid and unpaid mail and if so, they show why the 24c, 30c and 90c stamps were issued a few years later. The collecting of old U. S. on covers has become so popular that it is interesting to note the combinations of one, three, five, ten and twelve cent stamps that could be used to make up the various rates, even for single letters.

I have no information as to why the New York and Bremen route was cheaper than the Prussia closed mail. Perhaps the Bremen packets were slower. Some of the spelling has a quaint flavor and Dardanelles, Galipoli, Salonica, Trebizonde, etc., are on everybody's tongue nowadays, but how many philatelists could locate Ibraila, Mytzlem, Samsum, Tuloza or Varna offhand? Not guilty! And certainly I never before heard of Cesme or Altona.

1855—Postage 3c, except to California, Oregon and Washington Territories, which is 10c, and must be prepaid.

Pre-payment is also required for all foreign places except the following:—

30c—Austria, Baden, Bavaria, Bremen, Brunswick, Cuxhaven, Germany, Hamburgh, Hanover, Lubec, Levant, Lombardy, Mechlenburgh, Moldavia, Naples, Oldenburgh, Placentia, Prussia, Saxony, Schwerin, Strelitz, Venetia, Wurtemburg; 33c—Modena, Parma; 35c—Rome, Switzerland, Tuscany; 37c—Denmark, Ionian Islands, Poland, Russia; 38c—Alexandria, Hong Kong; 40c—Beyrout, Candia, Cesme, Constantinople, Dardanelles, Galatz, Galipoli, Ibraila, Lagnea, Mytzlem, Rhodes, Salonica, Samsum, Samaria, Tenedos, Trebizonde, Tuloza, Varna; 42c—Greece, Sweden; 48c—Norway.

The above must be directed "via Prussia closed mail."

The following may be sent unpaid if sent by New York and Bremen line:—

10c—Bremen; 13c—Oldenburgh; 15c—Austria, Bavaria, Brunswick, Hamburgh, Hanover, Lubec, Mechlenburgh, Scherm or Strelitz, Prussia, Saxe Allenburg, Saxony; 22c—Altona, Germany; 25c—Netherlands, Switzerland; 27c—Denmark, Schleswig; 29c—Poland, Russia; 30c—Alexandria, Corfu; 33c—Constantinople, Greece, Italy, Sweden; 37c—Norway.

THE 3c GREEN BOOKLET.

A handsome production!

Printed on heavy paper and fully illustrated all the way through.

Cover printed in green of the color of the stamp, of which an enlarged illustration in half-tone is shown. It's within the postal regulations.

Some ten blank pages, "Stamps and Notes," added to make the book right up to the minute.

A chart, folded in, with data. Poems by Field and Pember. Pr. 12c

STAMP COLLECTORS VICTIMS.

In their efforts to raise money among their enemies the Central Powers, particularly Austria-Hungary and Turkey, have resorted to the practice, long condemned by stamp collectors, of issuing postage stamps good for postage on only one day or limiting the issue.

As philatelists must have every stamp issued for postage to make their collections complete, the issuance of such stamps as described is nothing less than a holdup of the collectors throughout the world.

Hungary issued two stamps to celebrate the coronation of King Charles and Queen Zita, announcing that only 200,000 pairs would be printed and sold. It being calculated that there are 500,000 collectors in the world willing and able to pay as much as $5 for a stamp if there are only 500,000 issued, the opening of the sale of the coronation stamps resulted in riots.

"The sale was attended by riots, fist fights, torn clothes, the use of weapons by soldiers and police and incredible disorder," says the Scott Circular, a publication for collectors. "Speculation was rampant and as much as 80 kronen ($16.20) for a pair of the stamps is said to have been paid."

Collectors would have endured that had not the Hungarian Government issued another 280,000 pairs in two weeks and then 520,000 pairs a month later, making 1,000,000 pairs altogether.

Because of the number issued the price among collectors has receded to about 35 cents a pair and is expected to go lower because of the poor quality of the engraving, paper and printing.

That stamp issue was such a "success" that the Austrian Army occupying Montenegro has announced an issue of two postage stamps, good for postage on only one day, "to celebrate the anniversary of the occupation of Montenegro," and has sent a notice to all collecting agencies through the world, reading:

"Orders for these stamps should be sent by telegraph to the Division of Finances of the Imperial and Royal Military Government. Those who send large orders will be advised by telegraph of the quantity reserved for them in case the orders exceed the quantity provided. The orders will be filled after the receipt of the amount."

"Viewed from a distance this looks quite like an effort to raise the wind," comments the Scott Circular.

The Journal Philatelique de Berne, official publication of the Postal Union, announces that on March 1 "there was another outburst of surcharges on the seemingly inexhaustible stock of old issues of postage stamps. This latest batch of abominations is said to include about 130 different varieties. Further details are lacking, but we fancy most collectors will not care if they never are received."

As the great majority of collectors are English, French and American, it is believed the Central Powers have found a new way of assessing war costs upon their enemies.—Boston Globe.

STAMPS OF THE UNITED STATES.

By BILL BLOSS.

August and September, 1861 Issue.

In April, 1861, hostilities in the Civil War commenced, and as the Federal Government did not wish its stamps then in the hands of the seceded states to be used for the profit of those states, arrangements for a new series were immediately made.

As the United States government was unable to maintain post offices in the seceded states, a circular was issued to all postmasters in May, 1861, advising them that all mail from the seceded states was to be treated as unpaid matter and to be held for postage.

Several months were required before the plates for the new series of stamps could be made, and printings taken therefrom, but in August, the postmasters were instructed that the previous issue was no longer valid for postage, and were furnished with a stock of the new stamps. The public was notified through the press and elsewhere that six days' time would be allowed in which to exchange the stamps of the old issue for those of the new, and care was used to ascertain that none of the stamps from the post offices in the seceded states was exchanged.

The time of redemption was originally set for September 10th in certain of the Eastern States, while the Western States east of the Rockies were allowed until October 1st, and the States west of the Rockies were granted until November 1st. This delay was due to the fact that it was quite impossible to issue the new stamps to all of the offices before these dates. In a later order, the dates were extended to November 1st, December 1st, and January 1st, respectively.

By order of the Postmaster General of the Confederate States, Postmasters in those states were required to turn in their stocks of stamps and stamped paper to the United States Post Office at Washington, but owing to the strained relations due to the war, this order was not fully obeyed. However, a great many of the Southern offices did turn in their stocks for credit.

The majority of the stamps which were returned were destroyed, but it is known that sets were sold to stamp dealers; this accounts for the fact that certain values of the 1857 series are even now obtainable in unused condition at a comparatively low price.

Owing to the haste in which the stamps of the new series were prepared, the designs were in some instances not as satisfactory as they would have been if more time had been taken, and alterations were made which resulted in the two series known to collectors as the August and September issues.

Collectors who imagine they have found the rare August varieties are usually disappointed.

Inasmuch as most collectors are more or less familiar with the lower values of this issue, little attention will be paid to the general description, but the varieties will be taken up in detail.

One Cent.—Profile portrait of Franklin, looking to the right, in an ellipse. The words "U. S. Postage" appear at the top and the value "one cent" appears at the bottom. The numeral "1" appears in each of the upper corners, while the letters "U" and "S" appear in the lower left and right corners, respectively.

In the first or August type, the extreme upper left ornament, forming an arabesque, rests upon the line of the oval but does not penetrate it.

In the second or September type, this arabesque penetrates into the oval, and a heavy dash has been added beneath it.

Used copies of the 1 cent August type are unknown. The color differs considerably, as the August is indigo, while the September is found in blue, light blue, dark blue, ultramarine, and intermediate shades.

Three Cents.—Profile portrait of Washington, facing left, on oblong tablet of lathe-work, surrounded by a border of lathe-work of the same character, but lighter. The numeral "3" appears in each of the upper corners of the tablet, while the letters "U. S." are found in the lower corners. The inscription U. S. Postage appears at the top center in two lines, and the value "Three Cents" appears at the bottom in similar letters.

The difference in the three cent stamp is very marked. In the August type, the corners outside the tablet are unfinished and bear only a few trifling ornaments, while in the September type, the corners are more complete with elaborate ornaments which give the stamp a finished appearance and rectangular shape.

H. F. COLMAN. SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The color of the August stamp is brown red or lake, while that of the September type ranges from pink to dull red. Numerous shades of this latter stamp are known, owing to the quantity and number of printings made, this being the value most commonly used. Cancelled copies of the August stamp are practically unknown.

The pink stamp proves misleading to the amateur, as "near-pink" shades are not uncommon, and these are often foisted upon the unwary collector as being the genuine pink. Collectors should use care to ascertain the authenticity of the shade before purchasing the stamp, for perhaps more frauds have been perpetrated in connection with this stamp than any other United States variety. Suffice it to say, the genuine pink stamp is a real scarcity.

Five Cents.—Three-quarters full face portrait of Jefferson in ellipse, surrounded by lathe-work border bearing numerals "5" in top corners and initials "U. S." in lower corners, inscribed at top "U. S. Postage" in one line and value "five cents" in one line at bottom.

The September type differs from the August in the ornaments at the outer corners, as a small "leaflet" has been added in the September.

The color of the five cents is also a means of distinguishing it somewhat, as the August stamp was printed in orange brown while the September issue was printed in buff, mustard, and intermediate shades. However, the later printings were made in brown very similar to the August color.

Used copies of the five cent August are practically unknown.

Ten Cent.—Portrait of George Washington facing toward the left. The inscription "U. S. Postage" appears in a curved label above the portrait, and value "ten cents" in similar label at bottom. In the upper corners are the numerals 10 and in the lower corners the letters "U. S." Above the top label are five stars, while four stars are placed in a panel at each side of the portrait.

This value was the one most generally used of the August series, and it was by the study of the ten cent that the difference in these issues was discovered. The difference between the 10c stamps of the two issues is marked.

In the September issue, a heavy line of color has been added at the upper part of the stamp, separating the border bearing the five stars from the white line above the label bearing the inscription "U. S. Postage", and following the line of the curve. An outer line has also been added to the ornaments above the stars. These lines do not appear on the August type.

The August stamp is found in dark green only, while the September and later printings are in both yellow green and dark green.

Twelve Cents.—Portrait of George Washington, similar to the ten cent value mentioned above, in oval, framed by a white line, and bordered by a lathe-work design with serrated edge. The Arabic numerals "12" are inclined in the upper corners of the border, while the initials "U. S." are placed in the lower corners. The inscriptions "U. S. Postage" and "Twelve Cents" appear above and below the oval, respectively.

The difference in the types can be detected at a glance. In the August issue, the serrated corners appear unfinished, giving the stamp a rounded appearance, while in the September issue, small ovals and arabesques have been added to each corner, making the stamp practically rectangular.

The 12c value is extremely rare unused, and cancelled copies are practically unknown.

GREEK CHARITY STAMPS.

We chronicle upon the strength of information just at hand from Cleanthis Zonaras a set of Greek social charity stamps which was issued by the Royalist Government during the blockade of Greece by the Allies. The set consists of the regular issue surcharged K. P. LEPTON with figure of additional value, which is explained by Mr. Zonaras as follows:—

"The surcharge stands for the words 'Kinonikis (social) Pronias (charity)' while the figure of surcharge varies on the different stamps of the set. On the enclosed specimen it will be noted that lepton is written with omega, which is the plural of lepton in genitive, while the singular lepton is written with omecron."

Stamps used for parcels as well as for letters were overprinted, as per the following:—

For letters and printed matter:

1l to 5l with 1 lepton surcharge.
5l to 1dr with 5 lepton surcharge.

For parcels:

1l to 70l with 10 lepton surcharge.
70l to 2dr with 30 lepton surcharge.

SEEKS SHARE IN STAMP FIND.

(This clipping from a Philadelphia paper will be read with great interest. Sometime ago news of the find referred to was published in the WEEKLY and it will be remembered that one of the famous St. Louis bear stamps figured prominently in the great find. Clippings from Wm. E. Whyte, P. M. Wolsieffer and Geo. Clothier, Jr.—Ed.)

A story of the finding of a snug fortune in rare stamps, letters, old books and documents in a pile of waste paper removed from 307 and 309 Walnut St., five years ago, and of an attempt to deprive him of an equal share in the treasure, is told in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court today by Frank A. D'Miller, against Edward A. Hemingway.

Hemingway is in the paper stock business at 243-247 Elbow lane, this city, collecting waste paper and selling it to paper manufacturers. D'Miller was his manager.

Back in April, 1912, D'Miller was sorting paper in a mass of old books, letters and documents he had removed from the Walnut St. premises, when, according to his statement, he found the curios. The stamps alone are worth at least $100,000, according to the bill of D'Miller, and included the private issues of several cities in the 1840's before the Government took control of the mails. Among the most valuable of the stamps in the collection is one known as the "St. Louis bear stamp," an issue by the city of St. Louis.

Fifty-one old letters, to which were affixed more than 100 rare, old stamps, were found by D'Miller, according to the bill. Among them, besides the City of St. Louis stamp, was others known as "New York's," "Hale & Company's," "Franklin," "Blood's Despatch," and "American Eagle."

Having rescued the stamps, D'Miller claims he is entitled to an equal share in the treasure, but Hemingway, he charges, despite a mutual understanding to that effect, has assumed absolute ownership of the property.—Bulletin.

EDITORIAL.

Eliminated—We are enabled to furnish a bit of news that is likely to have some effect on the market price of the errors. It may be affirmed that the consignment of errors that was received at the Chicago post office was a huge one, whose number has been estimated variously. One lot of about two thousand sheets seems to have been shown to different collectors with the statement that the sheets would be returned to Washington. The presence of this batch of errors, to say nothing of others that were suspected to be on hand, had its disquieting effect on the value of the errors. This consequence was a natural one as there were cynics who averred that the errors would never be returned to Washington but that they would reach the hands of collectors in some labyrinthine way. All conjecture now gives way to fact and it is proved that the error sheets have become nullified so far as their philatelic value is concerned by the action of the Chicago officials, who have been selling the sheets that once included one or two errors, as the case may have been, over the counter; and judging by the number of the sheets with one or two stamps missing that have been handed out by the clerks at the different windows, there must have been an immense number of the errors received at Chicago, the city being a sort of postal station for a large territory adjacent to it. The patron who asked for a sheet of one hundred stamps at the Chicago office would be given a sheet of 98 stamps with the two errors removed; and two of the regulation stamps. Of course, the clerks were glad to work off the misfit sheets as it was a bother to look after them. The sheets with the errors removed have been seen and the collector who was considerate enough to get a parcel of the sheets, with their one or two stamps minus, found that the sheets were in demand as souvenirs by some of his friends.

Procedure—Now, by reason of Chicago's example we know that some thousands of the error sheets have been rendered unavailable as a market proposition, even though the stamps should never reach Washington. However, even to speculate in this way is innuendo that is indefensible, but granting that there should be some slip between Chicago and Washington, the errors are practically killed as philatelic desirables, as they are pasted on sheets of thick paper, one hundred errors to the sheet, for the sake of accounting. In this way, the errors return home, never again to depart, or to put it plainly, to meet their doom in a fiery furnace. It is alleged that Chicago would not have been a productive center of errors as it was for a short time, if the Chicago officers had read aright the notice sent from Washington recalling the "misprinted stamps." It was assumed that all the stamps in the sheet were of the five cent denomination and for some time, the search was conducted accordingly.

Minus—From Mr. A. H. Weber, we have received a contribution to error lore. He calls attention to an incomplete or broken G in Postage, No. 84 in the upper right pane, "whereas the error just above, No. 74 in the sheet, and also the single error, No. 18, in the single sheet are perfect." The top curved stroke of G is blotted out at its beginning and the minor defect is seen on all the sheets that have been shown us recently. We may add that there is a slight shadow or ink disturbance below the E of Postage on all the sheets, likewise.

Confirmation—In a letter from Mr. L. C. Hassler is the observation "To your answer to Mr. Elliott Perry stating that the seven cent Stanton on soft paper is not a special printing variety, I wish to add that the paper upon which the stamp in question is printed is similar to that which was used on the 1879 and the re-engraved issues of 1882-3. The paper used for the special printing evidently was made from a good quality of clean cotton rags, highly calendered. The paper of the 1879 and of the re-engraved issue looks very much like news or poorly calendered paper. A novice can easily detect the difference between the two papers. No, my stamp is not No. 169 in the catalogue."

Friend—One of our grand old subscribers is G. de Lachasse, Oakland, California, who year in and year out praises the WEEKLY and who with all our faults, loves us still. In one of his letters to us he says: "Should the price of subscription to the WEEKLY be raised, I will gladly hasten to send the increase." We may be permitted to speak on this prosaic question to which our attention is called occasionally during these parlous times. We have not referred to a condition that has been all too evident, the painfully increased cost of publishing, because it is our intention not to advance our rates if we can possibly help ourselves. We have had our fat years and a few lean ones will not cause us to "take it out of our readers." Mr. de Lachasse collects penalty cards and envelopes of the United States which he says are very interesting, as they "by a close study, may be divided into regular issues. The registry return card, for instance, shows no fewer than ten issues." In closing his letter, our correspondent says: "I hope Uncle Sam will end the war by a brilliant and dashing victory for liberty and democracy; and my heart follows our army with the feeling that none, more than a French veteran of the 1870-71 war—as I have the honor to be—can have."

Tub—On the hottest day of all, the real collector who had been "fanning" with his philatelic pals excused himself with a show of briskness and said that he was going home to play with his stamps. An incredulous jeer greeted his remark and the aforesaid collector said: "Sure, the hotter the day, the better I like to work with my collection. I sit in the bath-tub filled with water and put my albums on two bath-seats pushed together and as a precautionary measure, I stretch a netting under the seats. I spend hours in this way," added the man, who, whatever he is does not juggle the truth. A tale of stamp Love in a Tub.

Odds—We have seen other censored envelopes from German prisoners of war at Fort McPherson, Atlanta, Ga., that are to be described similarly as the one mentioned last week. The plea of Mr. L. Meister, who, in another column makes a stand for rearrangement, numerically, of the catalogue. We believe that Mr. Meister makes a telling, and what is something unusual in this advanced day, novel point, which we commend to the attention of the cataloguers of the coming edition. An aeroplane postage stamp for letters between Turin and Rome, Italy, has been made by surcharging the 25c, express delivery, in black, in three lines: Experimental Aerial Post—May 1917—Torino-Roma-Roma-Torino, in Italian, of course. In the August Red Cross Magazine is the reproduction in colors of a poster urging the French public to buy the French Red Cross stamps.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Newark Sunday Call of July 22 contained a very interesting article entitled "The World's Unrest Stirs Stamp Collectors." The article is a newsy write-up of recent issues, with their historical features, and is well written. We are indebted to Wm. L. Hamilton for clipping.

—The new 3c Canada stamp to be issued in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Dominion confederation will show a reproduction of H. E. Plinting's picture "Fathers of Confederation." E. Ebbels informs us that the stamp is in course of preparation and is expected to appear the first of August. Have we any Canadian subscribers who can favor us with a copy of the picture above referred to for illustration in the WEEKLY?

—Louis Lazos has been expelled from membership in the Mountain States Philatelic Society. No information as to Lazos' whereabouts can be obtained.

—Gilbert Hoffman calls our attention to a mistake in the Philatelic Dictionary under Bundi. It is there stated that the postage stamps for this state were discontinued in 1902. The copy was evidently prepared prior to the issue of the new set in 1915. Mr. Poole as well as the publishers of the WEEKLY will be grateful for assistance of this kind.

—"Will you kindly run the enclosed as an ad in your next issue? The stamps stolen from me were in an unopened registered envelope sent to me at Detroit by a correspondent and were in my possession only a few minutes. The letter was taken from my room while I was at supper and the envelope torn open and with all the contents missing was found in the waste paper in the hotel basement two days later. It seems that one of three or four people employed in the hotel must have got the stamps as no one else had any opportunity. All the stamps were my property. The police department has the case in charge but so far have not shown any results. Many of the rarer stamps were so marked that I could readily identify them and I sincerely hope I will have a chance to do so as the loss is a serious one for me."—ELLIOTT PERRY.

—Plainfield, N. J., has organized the Junior Philatelic Society, with Geo. C. Rockfellow as president and George Chandler secretary.

—W. H. Nicolas submits a cancellation in which is the following inscription:—"Received in package box collection." It was "made in Boston." This cancellation may have been noted from some other city.

—The issue of Stamp Collecting for June 30 was a number devoted to the United States in celebration of this country lining up with the Allies. It contained pictures of Messrs. Pack and Luff and was a very readable number.

—Two prominent Massachusetts philatelists are members of the state constitutional convention now in session at Boston. One is A. W. Batchelder, formerly manager of the New England Stamp Co., and the other Rev. John Luther Kilbon, formerly publisher of the Boston Stamp Book. Owing to his convention duties Mr. Batchelder will not be at Alexandria Bay. He will be greatly missed.

—We want a half dozen copies of Feb. 7 and Feb. 14, 1914, to complete files. We offer two foreign exchanges for each copy mailed to Beverly, Mass., in the original folds.

—The author of the Montenegro Red Cross Stamps, which appeared several months ago, has been arrested in Paris. It appears that he was the sole beneficiary. He did business under the name of Delandre, although his real name was Gaston Fontanille, sentenced previously on seven occasions for swindling committed under various names. He left prison in July, 1914. He is now returning there after having duped people for more than a million francs—it is said by French contemporaries.

—J. C. Jay, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, states that A. P. Myers, El Paso, Tex., has worked off on him two bad checks and wants to know if any one else is in trouble. Write Mr. Jay direct.

—We are advised by the manager of the Edgewood Stamp Co. that the office of the company will be closed from August 5 to 19, when the office force will indulge in a vacation. Mr. Hooghkirk expresses the hope that our subscribers will overlook any apparent inattention to orders sent them during that period.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wm. L. Hamilton, Warren C. Tudbury, Mark L. Friedeberg and M. H. Ganser.

—R. R. Eisendrath, publisher of the new Illinois Philatelist, announces that he will transfer to that publication all unexpired Stamp Shopper subscriptions notwithstanding the fact that the latter publication with all its obligations was sold to the Westchester Philatelist.

—The official convention program of the Southern Philatelic Association is at hand, and the committee having it in charge shows considerable enterprise. The convention will meet in the Twin Cities August 6-8 and convention headquarters will be at the Hotel Dyckman, Minneapolis.

PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

We desire information concerning the following items for Poole's "Philatelic Dictionary." We are about to make up the first form for printing and await such co-operation as may be extended by our readers. The items are as follows:

What is the literal translation of "Aangebragt . . . duiten" found on the Dutch Indies postage due stamps of 1845-6? Another stamp has the word "Koper" in place of "Duiten". What does it mean

What is the literal translation of the word "Armenwet" found on the Netherlands 1899-1910 set?

Give the literal translation of the inscription "Arvizkarosultaknak Kulon" found on the Hungary 1913 set.

We have several queries in connection with various express franks which we shall submit next week if the desired information does not materialize.

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—(1387)—Last week we had occasion to mention a 6c stamp submitted by Mr. Price, for which he entered a claim that it was a coil stamp that he had never seen before. The specimen submitted was imperforate at top and bottom and perforated 10 at the sides. It was also precancelled "Charleston, W. Va." We remarked that we had doubts as to its being a coil stamp. We now wish to prove that our doubts were correct. In the first place, the specimen submitted appeared to be cut with a knife or scissors at the bottom, the cut being not overly perfect as it would be if cut by a coiling machine, while the top was rough on the edge. Also, we have not had the experience of seeing a coil stamp with a printed precancel. We wrote to Mr. J. E. Ralph, asking what coil stamps had been issued by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and his reply confirms our doubt as to the stamp submitted by Mr. Price being from a coil.

As news of the foremost order, Mr. Ralph's letter to us discloses the fact that a coil stamp which has remained unknown and uncatalogued was issued in 1909, and we are therefore more than thankful to Mr. Price for opening a question which has disclosed such important news.

We give below the substance of Mr. Ralph's letter:

Bureau of Engraving and Printing,
Washington, D. C.,
July 24, 1917.

Mr. Percy McG. Mann,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 18th instant, requesting to be furnished with the following information, viz.:

1. Please give me a list of the denominations of postage stamps issued or about to be issued in coil form and whether they are horizontally or vertically coiled or both.

A. This Bureau has issued coil stamps of the following denominations, both vertically or sidewise, and horizontally or endwise, both perforated and unperforated: 1, 2, 4 and 5-cent; and 3-cent sidewise or vertically perforated, and horizontally or endwise unperforated.

2. Especially has the six-cent stamp been issued in coil form?

A. One coil of 6-cent ordinary, 500 stamps to the coil, sidewise perforated, was issued by this Bureau on order of May 7, 1909 for the Postmaster at New York, N. Y.

Respectfully,
(Signed) J. E. RALPH,
Director.

The last paragraph of Mr. Ralph's letter startled us. It discloses the fact that the 6c stamp of the 1908 issue, watermarked outline Roman capitals, perforated 12 vertically, imperforate horizontally, was issued in coil form. It will become Scott's No. 328b. Whether any of this coil of 500 6c stamps will be located by stamp collectors, we cannot at present state, nor whether it is secretly known by some collector or dealer who has not given the information to the philatelic public. However, we should think it should be one of the philatelic rarities of the United States.

Mr. Ralph's letter also discloses the fact that Scott's No. 325c was never issued by the Bureau. This is the 3c stamp coiled vertically with perforation 12 between each stamp, i. e. perf. horizontally. The only 3c coiled vertically that has been issued, as Mr. Ralph's letter states, is an imperforate coil. Probably some of these have been perforated privately, or, as this stamp was issued in imperforate sheets, it is probable that some vertical coils were privately made from these and privately perforated and that Scott's No. 325c was listed from these.

Mr. Ralph's letter does not mention the 10c coiled stamp, known as Scott's No. 330b, although these are comparatively plentiful and quite well known to the philatelic public.

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us a new envelope die of the current circular type. It has been submitted to Mr. J. M. Bartels, who returns it with the information that it is a new die and will be known as "Die G". The most noticeable aspect of the new die is, the inner circle at the left is very thin from a point opposite Washington's eye to the circle containing the left numeral "2", and this thinness is due to a break in the die, the rest of the circle being of normal width. The die can readily be determined by the above described peculiarity, and also by the fact that the left numeral "2" has no serif at the right end of its foot, the right numeral "2" having a serif. In "CENTS" the third stroke of the "N" is shorter than the first stroke and there is a dent in the top of the "E" at the left. In fact the letters of the entire inscription are quite irregular, the UEDSESOSGE being large and the NITTATPTA being small in "UNITED STATES POSTAGE".

Adhesive.
1909. 6c orange, imperf. x perf. 12, coil.

Envelope.
1917. 2c carmine, Die G on white.

Mr. C. P. DeKay submits for our inspection a specimen of the oval 1c green envelope stamp in which "UNITED" is minus the letter "U". On the envelope sent it requires a powerful glass to observe the least trace of the letter "U", and Mr. DeKay states that the small lot he secured shows variations in the printing. The letter sometimes shows a faint outline. The variety is an interesting one.

ABYSSINIA.—(1382)—The London Philatelist states that the ¼ and ½g stamps have the Commemorative overprint in violet, while the other four values have it in black.

Champion's Bulletin gives a list of the quantities of the Commemorative (though permanent) series with four line overprint as follows: ¼g, 14,250; ½g, 22,500; 4g, 45,000; 8g, 112,000 and 16g, 93,000, and states that the 2g was not surcharged. It is curious but the London Philatelist states that they received six stamps.

(1383)—Champion's Bulletin chronicles further values with the three line overprint and, as this list does not include the 1g or 2g the above mentioned quantities may refer to this issue, although our contemporary means the four line overprinted stamps, the list is now as follows:

Adhesives.
¼g blue-green.
½g rose.
4g green and carmine.
8g vermilion and dull green.
10g vermilion and carmine.

ALBANIA.—(1386)—Dr. Henry J. Perry writes us that he has had conversation with a very well educated Albanian and that this party tells him that the word for Albania is spelled differently by the Northern and Southern Albanians. In the North it is "SHQIPENIA" and in the South it is "SHQIPERIE". So, quoting Dr. Perry's letter, apparently the late issue has used one dialect and all the previous issues have used the other, "a very peculiar condition of affairs, to say the least."

It seems that Koritza is actually occupied by the French troops under the command of Colonel Descoins and that they have promoted a Republic of Koritza, or Albania, where stamps have been issued as described in our Chronicle of June 30 (these have already been superseded, as will be shown below), while the Italians in the Northwest have established a protectorate over that part of the country. Eventually, a complete autonomy for the entire country will probably be established.

The new issue is like the one chronicled in the June 30th edition, with the inscriptions changed to read "REPUBLIKA KORCE SHQIPETARE" and is chronicled by Champion's Bulletin. The perforation is 11½.

Adhesives.
1c dark brown and green.
2c carmine and green.
3c gray-green and green.
10c carmine and black.
50c violet and black.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—(1381)—Champion's Bulletin chronicles one of the new issue overprinted for the Ministry of War official use, and two older stamps with overprint for Ministry of Agriculture use, but as we have no record handy of the older stamps which have been thus overprinted, our chronicle will contain only the new issue.

5c blue on cream.
5c+5c blue (reply).

Letter Card.
5c claret (139x85 mm.), perf. DD.

BELGIAN EAST AFRICA.—(1386)—The Philatelic Journal of G. B. lists the 40c Congo stamp overprinted "URUNDI"—or as they have it "URANDI", which is it?

BRAZIL.—(1373)—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular states that the star on the flag in the Commemorative stamp recently issued, signifies the five States; the sun the new era of Liberty; and the red cross on a white ground, Fraternity. See also description in our issue of June 9th, under the heading of New Issue Notes.

CANADA.—(1387)—We thank Mr. O. Kendall for a copy of the Confederation Commemorative card mentioned in our Chronicle of last week. It is the regulation card with 2c stamp of the King George design, with the usual inscription in black, and in addition the follow-

CEYLON.—The London Philatelist publishes the following: "Dr. E. G. Frederick has shown us a used copy of the Five Cents on 24c, green, of 1885, but we were astonished to find that it is printed on the Crown CA watermarked paper. It is undoubtedly genuine, and a very interesting discovery. The normal stamp on the CC paper is by no means common used, and it is rare unused. Search for the green CA variety may meet with reward."

CHINA.—(Offices in Turkestan)—The Echo de la Timbrologie mentions a variety of the $1 with red surcharge in which the 2nd Chinese character is replaced with the 3rd and vice versa. Our contemporary does not know whether the variety occurs once or more in the sheet or with the entire sheet thus overprinted.

DANISH WEST INDIES—(1381)—Whitfield King & Co.'s List states that in their May issue they reported the loss of a parcel of stamps of the new Christian X. issue on its way to the West Indies, but a small stock was left behind in Denmark, and in consequence of the acquisition of the islands by the United States these stamps were not required and they have been put on sale at Copenhagen, and that they have no information as to number, but that they were quickly sold out. This firm secured 500 sets.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Two special delivery stamps are being prepared for this country, according to Champion's Bulletin. A 5c will be for special delivery letters within a city, while a 10c will be for the same purpose from one city to another within the country.

FRANCE.—The Echo de la Timbrologie has had submitted to it by M. Gionanetti three interesting varieties of the 1900 issue; one is the 1c with a double impression, one three mm. distant from the other; the second is the same value with impression of the 2c exactly placed over it; the third is the 30c with double impression of the numerals of value, so placed that they read "330" the second impression so placed that the "0" is on the first impressed "3".

(Offices in China).—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular states that Scott's No. 864c, 6c on 15c, has only lately been actually issued.

FRENCH MOROCCO.—A new postal card is reported by Alfred Smith & Son's Circular. It is of the usual type, same as adhesives, with, we believe, overprint of "Protectorat Francais" and Arabic wording.

Postal Card.
10c (on 10c) rose.

GREAT BRITAIN.—(Offices in the Levant)—In the recent issue at Salonika there was an error of the 3d in which the surcharge "Levant" was spelt "tnaveL", so we glean from L'Echo de la Timbrologie.

GREECE.—(1372)—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. are told unofficially that under the new regime, the recently issued Venezelist stamps may be surcharged.

Alfred Smith & Son's Circular publishes the following: "Writing on April 30th, a Salonika correspondent's letter was franked with ordinary (unsurcharged) Greek stamps, but he stated that the 5 and 10l of the new Provisional Government issue were already in circulation, that the 1 lepton and (sic) 1dr stamps would probably be issued in a few days and that the higher values would follow later."

(1387)—Champion's Bulletin gives a list of the War Tax stamps now in use, two values of which we have already chronicled. The 1l surcharge is given as "K. P. leptov 1" in three lines and our surmise that a new spelling of the currency was in vogue is evidently correct; the singular is "leptov" and the plural is "lepton" the "o" in this latter word being the short o, vice "lepton" (long o) and "lepta" respectively. All the surcharges are on the 1901 issue and the list now stands as follows, the numbers following the description being Scott's numbers which have been surcharged.

War Tax Stamps.
1l on 1l reddish-brown (165).
1l on 3l orange (167).
5l on 1l reddish-brown (165).
5l on 20l red-lilac (170).
10l on 30l dull violet (172).
30l on 30l dull violet (172).
1l on 80l blue fiscal stamp.

(1372)—Stamp Collecting mentions a variety of the 1l Venezelist issue, chronicled on April 14, in which the "ER" (EP) of "KIVERNISIS" is joined. This was offered in an advertisement by Mr. Stavridi, who stated that it occurred in the second printing and is the only variety in the sheet.

HONG KONG.—(1366)—The $5 stamp mentioned in our Chronicle of March 3rd has now been issued; it is on highly surfaced paper in deep black instead of gray-black. Mr. Roberts has shown it to The London Philatelist.

Adhesive.
$5 black on light-green.

HUNGARY.—(1381)—Mr. Eugene Klein shows us the commemorative postmark used in connection of the Coronation of King Charles IV, last December. It is contained within a plain circle, 27½ mm. in diameter, with "IV. Karoly Kiraly Koronazasa Napjan" conforming to the circle at the top; just below this is the Hungarian crown; then the date "1916 DEC 30" in a fancy tablet, below which is "BUDAPEST" curving upwards, and at the bottom "4.D" which probably stands for the time, i. e. four o'clock in the afternoon. The inscription is translated by Mr. Klein to read: "On the day of King Charles IV. Coronation."

ITALY.—(1383)—An aeroplane mail service is about to be undertaken between Sardinia and Italy and maintained permanently, and special stamps may be employed, and no doubt will, similar to those recently used for the service between Turin and Rome. On the other hand, a new aerial mail stamp was issued for the service undertaken June 28, between Naples and Palermo. A Special Delivery stamp of the value of 40c, something like the type of the 30c used for the same purpose, was overprinted:

IDROVOLANTE
NAPOLI—PALERMO—NAPOLI
25 CENT. 25

states the Echo de la Timbrologie.

Alfred Smith & Son's Circular states that 250,000 copies of the Turin-Rome aerial stamp were issued.

Aerial-Postage Stamp.
25c on 40c lilac.

(Offices in the Levant).—(1382)—Champion's Bulletin chronicles the 20c orange of the 1901 issue of Italy overprinted "Rodi", and we are now wondering if the recently issued stamp of that value but new type has been overprinted "Rodi" as we chronicled on the authority of another contemporary in our issue of June 23rd. We would like to see either or both stamps, if they exist.

KIONGA.—The Echo de la Timbrologie gives the quantities of the stamps issued for this colony last September, as follows: ½c on 100r, 20,641; 1c on 100r, 20,625; 2½c on 100r, 21,265; 5c on 100r, 20,625.

LIBERIA.—Champion's Bulletin chronicles new provisional stamps for this country. The 25c green of 1896 has been overprinted "FOUR CENTS" reading up, one word at either side, "1917" towards the top between, and large solid squares in either corner. And the 30c Official stamp of 1906 has been overprinted "FIVE CENTS" reading up, one word at either side, and "1917" towards the top, the centre being barred with two large numerals "1" in the form of a figure "11" lying down with the tops to the left.

Provisional Adhesive.
4c on 25c green.
Provisional Official.
5c on 30c dark brown.

LIECHTENSTEIN.—(1378)—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular gives the colors of the two new stamps chronicled in our issue of May 26th.

Adhesives.
2h violet.
15h red.

MARTINIQUE.—Le Timbre-Poste chronicles a 15c+5c Red Cross stamp for this colony, but as it does not state exactly what stamp has been thus surcharged, we withhold the listing of it until we have further information.

MEXICO.—(1387)—We have a most interesting letter from Mr. T. H. Vaughn, who shows us a complete series of the current Mexican stamps, the lower values rouletted, as given in the Chronicle last week, and the values 40c and up perforated. Mr. Vaughn writes: "These stamps are known officially as the new issue January 1st, 1917, and were authorized in Circular No. 79, dated Mexico, 27th November, 1916, issued by the 'Direccion General de Correos, Mexico—Almacen de Timbres' and signed by the present postmaster general Senor Cosme Hinojosa. In the above quoted circular they are officially described as follows: 1 cent lilac, bust of General Zaragosa; 2 cent green, General Ildefonso Vasquez; 3 cent sepia, Lic. Jose Maria Pino Suarez; 4c red, General Jesus Carranza; 5c light blue, General Maclovio Herrera; 10c dark blue, C. Francisco I. Madero; 20c pale crimson lake (guinda claro), Dr. Belisario Dominguez; 30c dark brown (café obscuro), C. Aquiles Serdan; 40c mauve (morado) Map of the Mexican Republic; $1.00 blue and black, Lighthouse Building, Vera Cruz, Ver.; $5.00 green and black, Postoffice Building, Mexico, D. F.

"Of the portraits on the stamps some are historically interesting. I do not know anything about the heroes who decorate the 1 and 2 cent stamps with their features. The bust on the 3c is that of José Maria Suarez, Vice-president with Francisco I. Madero, whose features are portrayed on the 10c, and who was killed with him in February, 1913. The Jesus Carranza on the 4c is brother of the present President of Mexico, Venustiano Carranza, and was killed during the present revolution on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The Belisario Dominguez on the 20c was a Senator during the Huerta regime and made a speech in the Mexican Senate denouncing Huerta. He was arrested and disappeared and is popularly supposed to have had his tongue torn out by the roots by Huerta's orders. Aquiles Serdan was one of the first revolutionists of the present turmoil and was shot in Puebla. He barricaded his house and resisted arrest and was shot down by the police when they rushed his house."

The colors of these stamps which we set forth last week are more nearly the proper description than that given in the official circular mentioned by Mr. Vaughn. The 30c described as dark brown in the circular is certainly away off the track, as those we have seen are gray-lilac or lilac-gray. The spellings of the names are on the stamps, exactly as given in the list last week; perhaps some of the z's are s's backwards.

MONTENEGRO. — (1385) — Le Timbre-Poste states that the author of the Montenegrin Red Cross stamps, which have proved to be a speculative private issue, has been arrested. Seven months condemned for swindling, Delandre, whose real name is Gaston Fontanille, swindled those who were foolish enough to buy the stamps, out of several thousand francs.

NETHERLAND.—(1375)—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular publishes the following, but as we have mislaid our copy of their publication containing the page 1 they refer to, we cannot figure out which postcards they refer to, except that their information must include all three of the divided face cards which we chronicled in our May 5th issue and another card as yet unchronicled by us:

"Each of the four postcards chronicled on page 1 is issued in two varieties, (a) with 'Aan' below the stamp and address-side divided; and (b) with 'Aan' below arms and bottom portion only of address-side divided."

REUNION.—M. Pavoille shows L'Echo de la Timbrologie a copy of the 15c on 20c, Scott's No. 33, with a line beneath the "15", thus —.

RUSSIA.—(1365)—Mr. H. S. Levy shows us Scott's No. 80 surcharged new value. The surcharge is "K.20K.", and is therefore different than the 10k on 7k, which shows the surcharge as "Kop. 10 Kop." The list of these provisional surcharges is as follows, the numbers following the stamps being Scott's surcharged:

Adhesives.
10k on 7k blue (78).
20k on 14k blue and rose (80).
10k on 7k brown (92).
a. Inverted surcharge.
b. Pair, one without surcharge.
20k on 14k blue-green (94).

(1385)—The stamps recently issued imperforate are the four lowest values of Scott's type A14, and it is said that they were issued in this condition owing to a break down of the perforating machine, but Mr. A. Scheindling writes to the London Philatelist that they are not errors or waste but common stamps, and were sold openly as such at various post offices, being issued imperforate on account of the overrush of work at the State Printing Office during the early days of the Republic when the 5k was thus turned out imperforate. Seeing that the post office department did not object to the imperforate stamps, the lower values were issued in that condition also. The authority states that the 5k was prepared for use by soldiers who had previously been allowed to send their letters free. The privilege being abused a resolution was brought up in the Duma to charge the soldiers 5k for their letters, but before the resolution became effective it was withdrawn by the Republican Government, and the stamps were left on the hands of the printers who issued them to the new government in an imperforate condition.

Mr. Scheindling also writes to our London contemporary that he has an entire sheet of the 10k on 7k brown Romanoff stamp with the surcharge inverted at the top, also some sheets where the surcharge is so misplaced that three copies in the sheet are entirely without surcharge. These varieties we add to our list above.

L'Echo de la Timbrologie states that the 5 rubles stamp is about to be issued on ordinary paper with the latticed varnish lines overprinted on the stamps, and the 10 rubles will probably follow, thus manufactured. Before these appear, however, we may have new Republic of Russia stamps.

Our list of the imperforate stamps recently issued should be as follows:

Adhesives. (Imperf.)
1k orange.
2k green.
3k red.
5k lilac-rose.

(Offices in China).—The London Philatelist lists on the authority of Mr. Scheindling values of the new CENTS and DOLLARS issue, which we have never mentioned in this Chronicle. The numbers following the stamps listed are those of Scott's surcharged:

Adhesives.
15c on 15k lilac and blue (81).
70c on 70k brown and orange (86).
1d on 1r brown and orange (87).
7d on 7r black and yellow (68).

SPAIN.—Alfred Smith & Son's Circular publishes the following: "We have a wrapper, presumably stamped to order. It bears a typographed stamp of 10c of the current type and above this is the number 'A.0064391' printed in the color of the stamp itself."

We have received this wrapper on a Spanish philatelic publication.

Wrapper.
10c rose on manila.

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO.—(1384)—Whitfield King & Co.'s List states that 240,000 each of the ½d and 1d War Tax stamps, chronicled in our issue of July 7th, were issued. This is the same quantity of each as the total of the earlier issue.

TURKEY.—The Philatelic Gazette lists on the authority of the U. P. U. distribution, new stamps, and we quote: "New and very fancy designs. 2 para, large oblong stamp, very ornate frame with oval picture of field gun in action. 20 para, large rectangular stamp, frame design of Mosque entrance, central picture of a monument. 1 piastre, medium size oblong stamp, very ornate frame with portrait of Sultan at right, central picture of map. 2 piastres, large oblong stamp, fancy design frame, central picture a harbor view. 25 piastres, large rectangular stamp, frame design of Mosque entrance, central picture of soldier and large shell, Turkish flag to left. The 2 and 20 paras and 2 piastres are surface-printed, the 1 and 25 piastres are engraved. No Watermark. Perforated 12½."

Adhesives.
2pa peacock-blue.
20pa bright rose.
1pi blue-violet.
2pi yellow-brown and blue-black.
25pi carmine on straw.

WURTEMBERG.—The Philatelic Gazette chronicles on the authority of the U. P. U. distribution a new postal card for the Local Traffic. It bears the inscription "Deutsches Reich."

Local Traffic Postal Card.
5½pf green (on buff?).

(1360)—The same publication gives the lists of recently issued Commemorative Official stamps, as noted in our Chronicle of January 20th, and as we have not submitted the colors, we now do so as follows, the stamps being on unwatermarked paper, perforated 14:

"Staatsmarke" Official Stamps.
2½pf gray.
7½pf orange.
10pf bright rose.
15pf yellow-brown.
20pf bright blue.
25pf black-brown.
30pf green.
40pf lilac-rose.
50pf red-brown.
1mk dull red-violet.

"Bezirksmarke" Official Stamps.
Perforated 14½x14.
2½pf gray.
7½pf red orange.
10pf bright rose.
15pf yellow-brown.
20pf bright blue.
25pf drab.
50pf red-brown.

George W. Linn's Collection of MEXICAN WAR STAMPS FOR SALE

Mr. Linn has just completed his book on the War Stamps of Mexico and we can now offer his collection of these issues for sale. Anyone familiar with the Mexican issues knows that Mr. Linn knows these stamps thoroughly and that a collection made by Mr. Linn will contain stamps that are properly classified and that are representative of the various issues. We have not yet gone over the lot thoroughly as to quantity and can only say that the collection contains several thousand stamps including used and unused copies, blocks, pairs, covers, and several sheets. In the White Sonora issues there are over 60 copies including covers and some plated strips, besides used pairs, etc. Of the Green Seal issue there are over 300 stamps including most of the varieties plated and many plated on covers. Of the later issues there is a fine showing of most all of them and when we come to the more recent issues there is probably as good or a better representation in this collection than can be shown in any other. Most all of them in single copies unused, also many used copies, besides most values in blocks unused and a nice showing of the proofs, trial colors and others.

Besides the stamps in the albums which are only mounted roughly in various albums, as the collection has been used as a reference and study collection and will need remounting by the purchaser, there are several hundred covers, some mounted in the albums but mostly arranged loose and these contain a very fine lot of stamps, in fact there are some very rare items on these covers as Mr. Linn has refused to sell anything in late covers and has a really exceptional lot of them.

This collection could be purchased advantageously by any collector who wishes to specialize these stamps. In fact at the price which we quote, any dealer could profit by breaking this collection. The collection is worth to any collector who is interested in these stamps, at least $1250. We want to turn it at once and are offering at an exceptional price of only $750. You could not duplicate the collection for much more than this amount and in fact there are quite a few items in the books that you would have much trouble in duplicating at any price.

If unknown to us you may send draft and the collection will be shipped you at once for examination. Parties who have been doing business with us may have this collection on approval for prompt acceptance or immediate return. Preference will be given however to the party remitting with order and we will refund your remittance if you are dissatisfied with the collection after receipt of same.

This is an extraordinary bargain for someone and the price is much below what anyone could quote you on a lot of stamps such as we offer.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

By W. WARD, Author of "Postage Stamps of the Levant," Etc.

Edwardian Series.

(I am indebted for information regarding the Edwardian issues to the lecture read by King George V when Prince of Wales at a meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, March 4, 1914.—Author's Note.)

The death of Queen Victoria, January 22, 1901, strangely enough the first month of the new century, made an apt period for the conclusion of the Victorian Era and over sixty years of national advance in science, art, government and —penny postage.

So early as the month following the great Queen's death, many rumors as to the change in the postage stamps were essayed.

For several centuries it has been a rule that the present monarch of Great Britain and Ireland should have his profile presented on the currency of the realm facing the opposite direction to his predecessor.

As example, Queen Victoria faced towards the left on the coinage, King Edward VII towards the right, and King George V towards the left.

The postage stamps of Queen Victoria faced towards the right, would therefore the postage stamps of Edward VII follow the precedent of the coinage? There was no precedent for stamps, and it was held at the time that postage stamps were practically currency.

The government contractors submitted four designs for the one penny stamps with the head of Edward VII looking to the right and another four of the same designs with the head facing the left.

These were submitted to Edward VII for his selection, and he chose the design which was eventually adopted, with the profile to the left.

So early as March 11, 1901, and in reply to that great champion of Penny Postage, the late Sir John Henniker Heaton, the Secretary to the Treasury in the House of Commons stated that stamps were already in preparation, but some months must elapse before they could be ready for the public use. In that reply the Secretary to the Treasury added that it was not proposed to alter the color of the 1p stamp from mauve to red. It was then pointed out that such a change was necessary to conform with the regulations of the Universal Postal Union.

No more was heard of the projected issue until the question was asked Mr. Ansten Chamberlain in the House of Commons, May 24, 1901, whether the Treasury had entrusted the designing of the new stamps to a foreign artist, and whether no British sculptor was competent for the work.

He replied that the King had selected a profile portrait of himself made the previous year by an Austrian sculptor domiciled in London, but that it was not inferred that no British Artist was competent for the work.

The artist referred to was an Austrian, Emil Fuchs, who probably got into hot water sometime afterwards on the discovery of a certain feature in his portrait of Edward VII, which I will refer to later.

A further question was asked June 7, 1901, as to whether the advice of the President of the Royal Academy or other distinguished artist had been consulted with regard to the new stamps.

The reply was in the negative and that the Postmaster General was the responsible official. He had consulted the views of the King, and that it did not appear necessary to seek further advice!

For Some High Brow to Answer

If there were 150,000 of the 5c error in all, and supposing ¼ of them were saved that gives us 37,500 errors and they sell at $8.00.

Of Scott's No. 388 originally priced 4c (but that figure long ago canceled) there were we believe 90,000, some of which were saved—let's say ¼ of them—that gives us 22,500 of these stamps.

We have some to Sell of this Number 388

Finely centered copies - $ .40
Blocks superbly centered - 2.00
" ordinary centering - 1.60

Figuring them on the same basis as the 5c error they ought to sell for $10.00.

H. F. COLMAN. SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The contractors prepared the design and border embodying the selected profile of the King, and he himself selected the final design, but commenting "head leaning too far forward" and signing "Appd (approved) E. R."

This famous essay is now in the collection of King George V, his second son.

It is believed that Queen Alexandra also suggested a slight reduction in the width of the wreath upholding the Monarch's portrait.

Some half dozen proofs of the 1p value were prepared in various shades of pink, lake and red, and two of mauve and purple on red paper, and the red was ultimately selected.

It was decided to issue the stamps for public sale January 1, 1902, but four values of a unified design, the ½p, 1p, 2½p and 6p were registered ready for use in 1901—the following being the dates of registration at Somerset House:

½p deep green, September 26, 1901.
1p scarlet red, October 16, 1901.
2½p deep blue, December 3, 1901.
6p deep purple, December 3, 1901.

In a post office circular of Christmas, 1901, Postmasters were ordered to make a requisition for the new stamps "not exceeding a fortnight's supply," but were specially urged to endeavor to dispose of the old stocks. Attention was also specially directed towards the color of the new 6p as likely to be confused with the then current 1 penny stamp.

Early in 1902, owing to the peculiar position of a postmark on a penny stamp, I detected a peculiar feature in the make-up of the King's portrait—that of a woman skilfully worked into the features.

I forwarded the stamp to King Edward's Private Secretary drawing his attention to the feature. He replied stating that he was commanded by the King to thank me for drawing his attention to the design in which he was much interested. The "lady" has since been often "discovered" by others, and will be found on every British and British Colonial stamp bearing the portrait of Edward VII, excepting of course those of Canada, Newfoundland, Australia and New Zealand since these were not designed by Fuchs.

The "lady" is seen as follows:—The eyebrow represents her hat, the eye her head, the shading of the nose and the shading of the cheek bone her arms apparently adjusting the hat, the white shading of the cheek her body, and the moustache the body draperies.

It would be interesting to know if this feature was executed with "malice aforethought."

For the other values of the series the old border designs were used slightly adapted to embody the Royal Crown above the King's portrait.

They made their appearance as required by the demand. One value was not considered necessary, the 4½p, though why it should be thought no longer of use is puzzling as a registered letter abroad required a 4½p stamp (2½p for postage, and 2p the British rate of registration).

In the four high values the check corner lettering was dropped as useless, and also thereby improving the appearance of the design.

The ½p stamp in its issued shade was not long in existence owing to its confusion in artificial light with the 2½p. I remember several times receiving cards and letters bearing 2½p stamps in place of the ½p.

The heavy use of the 4p value led to its being printed in one color in 1909 for economy's sake, and just previous to the death of Edward VII it was decided to likewise treat the 2p stamp in a similar manner. This latter was prepared but never issued, though a copy was used from a Strand, London, Post Office on a letter to the present King George.

Two days before the death of the great Royal Diplomat and founder of the "Entente Cordiale," an entirely new value made its appearance in the 7p.

By a strange and weird coincidence, the color was gray-black, a foreboding of the great loss Britain and France would experience before the week was out! Probably no British stamp was more in demand and more speculated in throughout the world than the 7d "mourning stamp." Many persons who were not stamp collectors imagined it would certainly become a rarity!

The paper for the British stamps for many years had been made by the firm of Turner & Co., of Chafford Mills, Lordcombe, near Tunbridge Wells, Kent, and was pulped from cuttings of Irish linen.

In the early years of Edward VII's reign several prosecutions had taken place, both in Britain and the Colonies, for fraud in cleaning cancellations. After trials to meet this attack upon the revenue, a paper possessing a chalky surface was selected, which prevented tampering at all with the stamp. The 1½p, 2p, 3p, 4p, 5p, 6p, 9p, 10p, 1 shilling and 2sh 6p values were printed on this "safety" paper, but before it was actually put in use reports were made by the Crown Agents of Straits Settlements and Hong Kong that many cases of cleaning the new "safety" paper had been detected in those colonies. In many cases the stamps were not tampered with at all by man, even though he happened to be the accessory before the act. It was discovered that the sun's rays would destroy such aniline colors as violet, etc. For obvious reasons and probably chiefly on account of the "soft" cancellations applied to stamps used on parcels, the chalky paper, for home use at any rate, was dropped as not satisfactory. It has also been said that the rubbing of the stamps against the pages of the post office stock books gave the appearance of having been tampered with.

The watermarks throughout were the Imperial Crown. All issues of British stamps are known with inverted watermarks, but during the present issue under remark, booklets of penny, and halfpenny and penny stamps were issued.

The get-up of these booklets caused half of the sheets to be printed upside down to the other half in order to allow for binding. Blocks up to six (three horizontally by two vertically) are therefore fairly common with the watermarks inverted.

The first booklet issued consisted of 24 penny stamps, and was sold at 2sh 0½p. The second contained 18 penny and 12 halfpenny for 2sh 0½p. As there was often a difficulty in balancing accounts because of the odd half-penny, a single ½p stamp impression was removed from each booklet—the space being filled in with a colored diagonal cross, thus the contents 18 penny and 11 halfpenny were included in the third booklet for sale at 2 shillings. It was then decided to make no charge for the booklets, as it was urged that the majority of people would purchase booklets for the cost of the stamps alone, thereby saving the time of the postal clerks by making one sale instead of a dozen or more sales of individual stamps. The fourth booklet was similar in composi-

In 1910, after several debates in the House of Commons it was decided for the first time for thirty years to put the expiring contracts for the postage stamp printing out for competitive tenders. For no fewer than fifty-five years had the firm of Messrs. de la Rue manufactured the surface printed issues of Great Britain and for thirty years held the monopoly.

Various great stamp making firms tendered, and the contract was let to the firm of Harrison & Son of London, at a great reduction on the old contract.

This firm, however, could not immediately take upon itself the task of setting down machinery to cope with the enormous quantity of stamps required by such a great commercial nation, so it was for a time decided to print the two-colored values and the 6p at the great government department, Somerset House, Strand, London.

The new contracting firm took over the plates, and part of the machinery of de la Rue's. Among the new machinery installed was a perforating machine that gauged 14½-15x14 in the comb. One of the stamps printed by this firm in aniline pink (1 penny) and perforated 14½-15x14 is extremely scarce. All the Harrison printings and all the Somerset House printings with the exception of a few 6p stamps are on ordinary paper.

They are fairly easy to detect from the earlier de la Rue printings on ordinary paper, by vividness of color, rough and blotchy impression. In the unused specimens the gum is very thin and streaky, and barely adhesive.

NUMERICAL CATALOGUE REARRANGEMENT.

By Rev. L. Meister, Aberdeen, Miss.

I believe you would render a great service to both collectors and dealers if you made a strong move toward revising the enumeration of stamps in the coming Scott's catalogue. The catalogue pretends to enumerate the stamps strictly chronologically, but the collector feeds his eyes rather on a nice arrangement, putting together what beiongs together. And the dealer has so much trouble when there is a constant interruption of the running numbers. I think if you would bring my suggestions before the philatelic public, there would be a general approval. I therefore enclose what would be my idea concerning some British Colonies.

Suggestions.

Antigua: No. 35 ought to take its place after No. 38.

Bahamas: Let the 20th Century begin with: No. 33, 1d Edw., etc.; No. 40, 1d pictorial, CC, etc.; No. 47, 6d Edw. multiple; No. 48, ½d Geo., etc.; No. 56, 1d pictorial C & CC (still in use); No. 57, 3d pictorial C & CC; No. 58, 5d pictorial C & CC; No. 59, 2sh pictorial C & CC.

Barbados: After No. 92 put No. 93, 2½; No. 94, 6d; No. 95, 8d, etc.

Br. Guiana: No. 154a ought to be 155, 1c gray green; No. 156, 2c lilac and rose, etc.; No. 161, 1c gray green; a green; No. 162, 2c; No. 163, 4c, etc. No. 173 hardly deserves a special number.

Cayman: No. 40, 1s green, etc.; No. 43, 5sh; No. 44, 10sh; No. 45, 3d surface; No. 46, 1sh surface; No. 47, 10sh surface.

Dominica: No. 42, 2sh; No. 43, 2sh 6d.

Grenada: No. 74, 1sh green mult.; No. 75, 2sh; No. 76, 5sh; No. 77, 1sh single; No. 78, 10sh single.

Jamaica will look much better if arranged as follows: No. 35, 2½ single; No. 36, 5d single; No. 37, 3 olive; No. 38, 4 orange-brown; No. 39, 6d orange; No. 40, 1sh brown; No. 41, 2sh red-brown; No. 42, ½ arms mult.; No. 43, 1d arms mult.; No. 44, 2½ arms mult.; No. 45, 5 arms mult.; No. 46, 6d arms mult.; No. 47, 5sh arms mult.; No. 48, ½ green (No. 50); No. 49, 1 scarlet; No. 50, 2½ ultra.; No. 51, 3d violet on yellow; No. 52, 4d black on yellow; No. 53, 4d red on yellow; No. 54, 6d violet, etc.

Montserrat: There is a ½d, as in case of 1c Br. Guiana, 1c Br. Honduras, Dominica and Trinidad, which was first issued in two green colors, one being in fugitive ink; afterwards it was printed in one solid ink. These stamps ought to be treated in the same way.

St. Kitts: No. 73, 2½ ultra. and black; No. 74, green; No. 75, 1d carmine, a scarlet; No. 76, 2d brown, etc.

St. Lucia: No. 43, 2d pictorial; No. 44, ½d Edw. single, etc. No. 74 to be placed after the 2d gray.

St. Vincent: No. 83, 6d, etc.

Trinidad: No. 91, ½d gray green; a ½ green; No. 92, 1d; No. 93, 2½; No. 94, 6d, etc.

Turks and Caicos: No. 31, 5d olive green; No. 32, 6d, etc.

EDITORIAL.

Abroad—We have seen letters from the American Expeditionary Force and find different postal impressions on them. The censor mark is in postmark form, with American eagle, surrounded by "Passed as Censored, A. E. F." One postmark reads: "Tresor et Postes," with number.

Bypaths—An interesting batch of covers has been received from Mr. C. F. Richards of New York City, the majority of which are addressed to Mr. Richards' grandfather, who was a York State farmer. A right vertical half of the two cent brown, 1870, is on an envelope that is addressed to Belden Richards, Brewsters, N. Y., and it has the legitimate appearance of the two cent brown, 1869, that was used halved on cover in several sections of the country, as evidently it was a drop letter. One cover, postmarked in red, "Sent,Feb.8,D.L.P. O." has the frank in the upper right corner in three lines, "Post Office Department—Return Letter Office—Free." A letter, 1887 date, with the two cent brown red, sent from Lenoir, N. C., to a firm in New York City, has on the left end of cover two impressions in black, "Paid 5" in frame with flattened corners, and "Lenoir,N.5.C.,Paid," as of the design of the Lenoir Confederate provisional envelope. We cannot say that these impressions are from the old dies revamped as in the case of the Autaguaville locals. Mr. Richards has a memento in the shape of a letter sent to him by Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer in 1887 bearing the label of the "Return Letter Association," Chicago, as a return card.

Cool—Here is a bit of coolness that is refreshing these torrid days. An approval selection was returned to a dealer who perceived at once that he had been victimized by a bungling piece of substitution. The dealer, easy-going as he was, could not wink at the brazen effrontery of the culprit, and so he demanded restitution. He received a remittance and a confession, the purloiner writing airily that he did not think that his changing of the stamps "made any material difference."

Thanks—A friendly subscriber extends a helping hand. He says: "I know that you perspire freely during the dog days but in several ways this may save a bead or two. A drop 'transpiration' fell on the immaculate front of a $2 white back Straits. I blotted it off, but where the sweat of my brow impinged on the stamp, the color is changed to a sickly blue. Some chemical reaction which shows that sweat has an acid effect."

* * *

Sad—Quoth a moralist: "If I had not been too precipitate I would have saved the price of a Palm Beach suit in buying my errors. If my wife learns of the debacle I shall soon be paying alimony. There is such a thing as being too dinged forehanded. Yet, though they played me false, I still love my little errors. No, you will not see me at the convention this year." Yes, one can crowd up too far. We remember how a man with a pot of money wanted our advice in 1899 on the advisability of buying up all the government reprinted set of newspaper stamps at five dollars each as a speculation. He had seen a pushing crowd a block long besieging the post office on the morning the sets were first offered for sale and argued that all the stamp and other folks were crazy for the sets. He took our advice not to deprive the poor collectors of the boon of annexing their beloved sets, and he has been happy ever since.

More—Asks a gent sarcastical: "Why don't you say something of those errors? Why ignore them so completely in your columns." That is all right, but if our ungentle reader had to eat errors, breathe them, sleep with them and hear nothing but talk of them from dozens of correspondents and verbal bombarders, he would want to get them out of his system. We have seen errors by the hundreds in an atmosphere surcharged with thousands of them, but we wish merely to remark that some of the chaps that sold "short" are beginning to wear a somewhat worried look. "Wait until the demand for the errors becomes international," adds a soft voice at our side. We may add that over thirty-five hundred errors were returned to Washington from the Chicago office; and that we have not seen the imperforate sheets of the errors which have been reported.

Marked—Here is a red impression of English origin on a letter sent from England to "Mr. J. Doggett, Lake Street, Chicago, Illinois," in 1858, and returned to the writer: Sent back to England—Without a reason—For non-delivery. The letter, nevertheless, bears the "Advertised" postmark of Chicago, as the explanation for the return of the letter.

Patriots—We have been greatly impressed by the letters from subscribers telling of their enlistment in the army or navy and from others who have been drafted. We should like to publish the names of those who for some time will be removed from their wonted philatelic activities and those who write us hereafter are requested to grant the desired permission.

* * *

Answer—For some time past we have commented occasionally on the singularly interesting and authoritative articles on stamp collecting in the more important newspapers of the country, and in some instances we have reproduced them as a sample of the philatelic stuff that we liked to see in the outside press. A friend now takes us into his confidence and we feel a glow of satisfaction upon learning of the intelligent procedure of a syndicate of dealers and others who we hope will gain the reward of their well-timed and admirably conceived enterprise. We shall have more to say on this subject, which is a big one, and the scribe, and in the meantime, we say, speed the work; and in words of one syllable, More push to his pen. We congratulate the purveyor of the articles, who is a man who knows his business and has a fine sense of what managing editors want; and we applaud the organization which has made possible the circulation of readable news of philatelic character in this effective way. A plan has finally been put in successful operation, for the time being at least, that should benefit all who are interested in stamp collecting.

Home—A philatelist who took a trip through some of the South American countries recently was hopeful that he could pick up some of the early issues for a song and realize on them profitably in this country. He now says that the next time his business calls him there he will buy up early issues of the South American countries here and sell them in the countries aforesaid and make a bit of money "on the side." This conclusion is a common one and is evidence that the stamps of a country are apt to be best regarded in that country.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

From the George W. Linn Company, Columbus, Ohio, we have received an early copy of "The War Stamps of Mexico," by George Ward Linn, an enthusiastic partizan of the issues in question; and we thank the publishers for the privilege of giving an early notice of the book, which has been awaited with interest. It is not necessary to introduce the writer, who from the first has been a consistent advocate of the revolutionary stamps of Mexico; and moreover, his studies of them were pursued from advantageous ground. His influence has always been exerted in favor of the genuine issues, and he was not slow to condemn the guerilla varieties. Mr. Linn does not excuse the irregular issues, but explains how they came to pass, and the effect of his frankness inclines the collector who has not seriously regarded the stamps to favor them as a whole. Mr. Linn attributes the spurious stamps to the turmoil of the times that gave rein to petty grafters who had their fleeting day as postal manipulators. Yet the fraudulent issues are easily segregated and placed in the black book by the collector who follows Mr. Linn's description.

"The War Stamps of Mexico," by George Ward Linn, is a book of about one hundred pages in heavy overhanging paper covers that turns the white light of publicity on the issues from first to last, and to our mind the sincerity of the author's findings is not to be questioned. While we cannot attempt a critical analysis of these issues, yet it is apparent that the majority of them have all postal legitimacy, and the sins of the black sheep should not be visited on the varieties that are beyond reproach. We remember how the first two issues, which have become scarce, were priced absurdly low for a time, a fact that would indicate that no individual profited through them or tried to do so. Mr. Linn has done a practical work in listing the stamps with enough descriptive matter to give the reader who would never dig out the facts for himself an understanding of the whole range of issues. The complexities that beset the ordinary collector in considering the stamps are reduced to the easiest factor, and a broad path has been made for easy traveling. With the book at hand one may collect the war stamps of Mexico with a feeling of assurance. Illustrations in liberal number abound, and the production is typographically splendid, a characteristic of this publishing house. The price of this excellent monograph is seventy-five cents; George Ward Linn Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

SIMPLIFIED UNITED STATES.

By HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

Ever since I began collecting used blocks, the question of what I should include and what I should neglect in United States stamps has been a real annoyance and has greatly detracted from the pleasure of collecting the stamps of our own country. The recent alterations in the perforation of the current issue has brought the matter to a head, and I have decided that if I am to enjoy my United States blocks at all, I must have a simplified list of the different stamps Uncle Sam has issued. Of course those who specialize in United States, and even general collectors of single stamps, want to gather all the varieties that can be distinguished, and grilles, papers and perforations are matters of real importance to them. But those of us who collect used pairs, strips or blocks, or stamps on the original cover, must have a list of the actually different stamps that have been used. In the belief that such a list will be welcomed by many, I offer the following, which I have worked out for my own use.

Obviously the one problem in making such a list is to fix on a standard which shall be simple, easily understood and capable of being consistently applied. Since stamps (at least in the United States) are issued primarily for the use of the general public, the ability of that public to distinguish the different kinds, without magnifying glass or millimeter scale, seems to me a natural standard to use. Obviously then, varieties of perforation and of paper, watermarks, grilles and even secret marks, must be left out of account. The treatment to accord imperforate stamps is more doubtful, and I may be accused of inconsistency here, but it seems to me the stamps in use from 1851 to 1857 are on a different footing from those which have been issued since 1860. All imperforate stamps of a later date are simply issued in an incomplete condition, have not been intentionally sold at post offices to the general public, and are really only minor varieties of stamps current at the same time in a perforated condition. As for the matter of color, I collect only the single fundamental color, regardless of shades. Of course we shall all collect shades more or less extensively, according to our tastes; when we see a stamp which looks to us a different color from the one we have, we shall probably keep it, but except in a list for specialists or in a critical study of some one issue, it seems to me unwise to try and list such shades.

Here, then, is my list, for those to whom such a list will be of service. It includes only stamps issued to prepay actual transportation of mail matter.

PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

We desire information concerning the following items for Poole's "Philatelic Dictionary." We are about to make up the first form for printing and await such co-operation as may be extended by our readers. The items are as follows:

What is the literal translation of "Aangebragt . . . duiten" found on the Dutch Indies postage due stamps of 1845-6? Another stamp has the word "Koper" in place of "Duiten". What does it mean?

What is the literal translation of the word "Armenwet" found on the Netherlands 1899-1910 set?

Give the literal translation of the inscription "Arvizkarosultaknak Kulon" found on the Hungary 1913 set.

—The C. P. S. of Detroit held its annual outing July 29. A car for Toledo was chartered, with refreshments served at Walbridge Park. Thirty-four members of the Society, their families, and a few friends comprised the party. A visit was made by some of the party to the office of the Quaker Stamp Co., per invitation, which was much enjoyed.

We have not been able to locate a good map of our latest acquisition, the D. W. I. If any subscriber can favor us, we shall be pleased to acknowledge the courtesy. We want to make a line cut for use in our forthcoming book.

—A party comprising C. W. Kissinger, president of the Southern Philatelic Association, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wallis, Indianapolis, Ind., motored through Chicago on the way to the convention at Minneapolis. The trip was made in Mr. Wallis' car, Mr. Kissinger having been the guest. Mr. Wallis, who is to hold an auction sale at the S. P. A. convention informs us that he has leased a store in Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, which in its entirety is given over to the stamp business of his company.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—(1376)—We are greatly indebted to Mr. Maitland Milliken for submitting a copy of the new small Lincoln postal card which was erroneously chronicled, as the card of 1911 (sic) re-issued, in our issue of May 12th. The card is of an entirely new design and should have been chronicled as such. A good portrait head of Lincoln without background is surrounded by an elliptically shaped frame, containing "U. S. POSTAL CARD" in colorless letters on a solid ground, mounted on a fancy base containing "1 CENT 1" in colorless letters on a solid ground, a colorless ribbon below the head containing "LINCOLN" in small type in color, is the design of the "stamp." The inscription is contained in an outline tablet, with corners curved inward, at the left, and reads: "THIS SIDE OF CARD FOR ADDRESS", without period.

Sometime last year the Third Assistant Postmaster General had notices sent to postmasters advising them that some of the current postal cards would be issued printed on an inferior quality of card, and that such cards were to pass as regularly issued ones and were not to be taken as imitations. We haven't the notice handy, although we recall seeing it, so our words are not the actual words of the Third Assistant P. M. G. Mr. Maitland Milliken submits a copy of this "inferior production" and draws attention to the fact that we have not chronicled it, although it was mentioned in Mr. Severn's editorial of January 20th, 1917.

The card is rough white instead of smooth cream, and the green ink appears dull and dark, although the design is as current postal card, ordinary, on cream.

Postal Cards.

1c dark green on white (140x83 mm.)
1c green on cream (128x77 mm.).

It may be remarked here that the last Lincoln postal card small size, was issued in green on cream in 1913; this had a portrait head of Lincoln on a solid color background, with sprays of laurel at either side of the stamp; it superseded the red Lincoln card of the same design issued in 1911.

Mr. H. M. Kaisinger shows us a cover from the U. S. S. New Jersey, which has been censored. The censor mark is in blue and consists of "PASSED BY CENSOR." with a large star under it at the left and a line to the right of the star, for censor's name or initial.

Confederate States.—(1387)—Prof. Jas. Lewis Howe, of the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., writes as follows: "I should judge there must be some mistake about the cancellation of the C. S. A. 5c green on cover, described in your No. 1387 by Mr. Gerald S. Curtis as postmarked 'Plaquemine, La., Sept. 8, 1861'. As the stamp was not issued till October 16 in Richmond, the capital of the Confederacy, where it was printed, it hardly seems probable that a copy could have been used in Louisiana more than a month earlier. At all events a more detailed description of the cancellation, etc., would be interesting. Errors in postmark dates are by no means unknown."

AUSTRALIA.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News publishes the following from their correspondent, Mr. Howard Davis:

"Several of the Georgian Reply Letter-Cards are being used up for ordinary. The word 'Reply' is obliterated with a double rule line in red. No other kinds are at present on sale at the G. P. O., Melbourne, and these will be speedily used up.

"War Savings Stamps have been issued in two values, 6d blue and 2sh 6d brown, showing portrait of King George."

We publish the last paragraph for reference purposes only. The provisional postal cards we cannot formally chronicle until we know just what cards have been treated as mentioned above.

AUSTRIA.—(1387)—Locher's Catalogue lists the 20h with head of Emperor Charles I, complementary to the 15h we chronicled on July 28th. From the same source we learn that the 2h Special Delivery stamp has also been issued in the new type as described for the 5h in our Chronicle of July 28th, and we learn the colors of both of these, so formally list them below. Likewise the new catalogue states that unissued values of Emperor Francis Joseph types were surcharged for Postage Dues, as mentioned in our Chronicle for July 7th, and as we now learn their colors we list them below.

Adhesive.

20h dark green.

Special Delivery.

2h brown-red on yellow.
5h green on yellow.

Postage Dues.

10 on 24h blue.
15 on 36h violet.
20 on 54h orange.
50 on 42h brown.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—Ewen's Weekly Stamp News chronicles a new printing of the 1d, which is now scarlet instead of bright red, and is on thin paper, with white gum, and with the watermark transparent.

Adhesive.

1d scarlet.

CANADA.—(1383)—Mr. Benjamin Cadbury shows us the "Alberta Winter Fair Calgary Dec. 11-14-1917" cancellation used in Calgary, Alberta, July 19, 1917.

We are greatly indebted to Mr. Maitland Milliken for a list of the varieties of King George Postal Cards, and are publishing it hereunder. The varieties are known to Mr. Milliken and it is possible that there are other varieties not known to him, which he would be pleased to know of, so we give his address: 404 Foster Bldg., Denver, Colo.

All cards are of cream texture unless otherwise stated.

Advertising Chat

—Don't lose your grip!

—I was walking down the street and I ran up against a big crowd, listening to a colored man selling boot polish. Of course I rubber-necked and in the meantime dropped my grip on the sidewalk. When I got back to mother earth my grip was gone and I awoke from my dream as I was racing around trying to find it. The dream has its moral.

—Julius Segelken used adlet space last season and commencing this week will take displayed space. We presume there are others who will do the same thing.

—Our "3 in 1" contract is a winner.

—It is none too early to think about the fall trade. Get your stock in shape, go through every price list available, get some special bargain offers and go out after customers.

—We have had a bit to say about our "3 in 1" contract. It's a flexible rate based on space used, ½, 1 or 2 inches. You pay $1.25, $2 or $3.60 week by week, depending on space used. It's the cheapest advertising of its kind in the world.

—Even though you think of taking out a half inch contract, the "3 in 1" is better as it includes the former. Some times you will be glad you had the chance to use an inch space.

—We now have no line rate.

—When you come back as an advertiser, it's a question of space based on multiples of a half inch.

—Already Isaiah Rudy and the Maxwell Stamp Co. have taken up the new contract and others are on the way. It's a winner. You pay for what you use and get a lower rate the more you use.

—What did you think of last week's paper? It looked pretty good to us. No summer dullness in the contents of that number.

—THE MANAGING EDITOR.

The same contemporary published: "We are indebted to Mr. George Symonds for a complete bottom row of the 2c+1Tc plate A31 from the lower right pane. This strip originally bore the inscription 'Ottawa No. A31' in the usual position under stamps Nos. 2, 3, 4, and under No. 9 the inscription '937M'. These inscriptions have been obliterated by an engine turned design running under stamps 2 to 10, the space below No. 1 being left plain and the plate number only 'A31' being then again added here close to the left edge of the sheet."

CANAL ZONE.—(1382)—Mr. Frank E. Greene in his correspondence to The Stamp Trade writes:

"In my letter of May 28th, I advised that the U. S. official seals were being used in the Zone Post Offices and my surmise that an error might have been made in filling the last order is not the correct dope.

"It appears that the last order which amounted to 5000 seals (received on the Isthmus August 29, 1915) were U. S. seals and it is stated that a 'sample' from the previous lot accompanied the order. Granting that this is correct, the previous lot which amounted to 4000 seals and which was received February 10, 1915, must have been of the U. S. variety, also. Figuring on this dope 6000 seals must have been used before it was noted that Zone seals were not being used. At the present time, there are something like 2500 on hand for issue besides those in the post offices.

"I had noticed what seemed to be an unusual number of U. S. seals during the past ten months or so but concluded that they had been applied in the States. It wasn't until about a month ago when I saw some seals on a local letter, that I had any idea that U. S. seals were being used on the Zone. Investigation at the local post office disclosed the fact that the stock on hand were U. S.

"It is now proposed to have a quantity of seals printed locally and if the facilities at the printing plant are sufficient to turn out the job, we may expect a new lot of seals about the middle of July. The proposed design will contain a seal of the Canal Zone, 13 mm. in diameter in the center and extending horizontally on either side in a band 6 or 7 mm. wide containing the words 'Officially Sealed', the first word to the left of and the other word to the right of the seal. In the upper part, will appear the words 'Bureau of Posts' and in the lower part, the words 'The Panama Canal'. It is thought that the size

We note Scott's list the 1c of the 1910 postage series as bistre-brown; the copy on Mr. Heintze's letter to us is sepia. It may not be amiss at this time to state that Costa Rican stamps of the 1910 series were on yellowish-white wove paper, and in 1913 or 1914 these stamps came printed on the bluish-white wove paper used by the American Bank Note Co. for the stamps of Cuba, Canal Zone, Chile and other South and Central American countries whose stamps are printed by the American B. N. Co.

FIJI.—(1381)—Ewen's Weekly states that they have received a new shade of the ½d printed from plate No. 5.

Adhesive.

½d deep blue-green.

FRANCE.—(1383)—According to Mr. W. T. Wilson, the 1c and 20c French stamps have appeared on the "G. C." granite paper. The list now includes, we believe, all values up to and including the 50c, with the possible exception of the 4c, 25c and 45c.

GERMAN EMPIRE.—We see in the Madrid Filatelico that the German Red Cross Committee in the United States prepared 1000 post cards with photographs of the submarine Deutschland. These represented the large merchant submarine in German waters, and were to be sold by Captain Koenig for the benefit of the Red Cross. The cards were divided equally between Captain Koenig and Captain E. Hecker (of the Bremen ?), and Captain Koenig was to autograph them, but, owing to the amount of time it would take, a facsimile of his signature was printed on them.

We would like to know if this post card was ever issued here in the United States.

The Philatelic Magazine publishes the following:

"The Neue Freie Presse of Vienna, publishes the following letter:—'To the rarest and most sought after War stamps belong those of the Submarine Postal Service. About 300 stamps were surcharged 'Bremen I. T. B.' and actually postmarked, but unfortunately the plan fell through. America broke off relations with Germany, and all the 300 parcels, letters and cards had to be returned to their respective consignees. The sister submarine, 'Deutschland,' had stamps surcharged 'D. O. B.' The writer of the letter naively concludes: 'These stamps are most rare, owing to the fact that the Submarine Postal Service appears to have been temporarily suspended'."

GREAT BRITAIN.—We reprint the following from Stamp Collecting: "An unusual species of minor variety is brought to our notice by Mr. W. Ward, in the shape of a mint copy of one of our current 1d stamps with a hole in the paper, the gum having left a film over (under) the hole, with the result that part of the design is printed on to the film of the gum. This raises the entire question of the modus operandi of printing the stamps of our own country, the details of the process having been universally understood to be—first, the actual printing, then the gumming, then perforating. It now seems that all this is to be upset, and that we must now regard it as a fact that the stamps are printed on paper already gummed.

The same publication states: "The current ½d stamp appears to have been recently issued on thick calendered paper in a marked shade of pale green."

(Offices in Morocco)—British stamps of 1sh and 2sh 6d have been overprinted "Morocco Agencies" and are chronicled by Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, the first was issued June 7, and the latter was issued May 29, 1917. Two colors of the 2sh 6d are listed by our contemporary, one deep chestnut and the other a paler shade of chestnut-brown, the overprint on the latter is not quite as thick as on the former.

Adhesives.

2sh 6d deep chestnut.
2sh 6d chestnut-brown.

GREECE.—(1388)—We are indebted to Mr. Eugene Klein for a first sight of another value, complementary, to the War Tax stamps chronicled last week. This time the 10l Revenue stamp of 1914 has been utilized for the purpose of receiving the surcharge "K. P. Lepton 1" in three lines of violet-red ink (this ink looks like a mixture of the violet and red stamping-pad inks, which have caused a dull color).

GUATEMALA.—Mr. A. O. Tittmann sends us copies of the 6, 10, 12½c and 1p, Scott's types A31, A32, A38 and A36 and writes: "As far as I know the fact that Guatemala recently received from England a new supply of stamps has already been reported, but nothing was said about a change in the shades and the fact that some of the values were re-engraved. The centerpieces of all but the 12½c have been re-engraved. Especially is this noticeable with the 1p stamp, the new printing of which has much deeper shaded clouds, slightly differently shaped. The same is true of the 10c, where the sky lines have been deepened and extended to the right. The 6c now has a more bluish-green and more olive color; the 10c has changed from a brown-orange to bright yellow-orange; the brown of the 1p stamp is likewise a new shade. Slight changes can also be observed on the other values. The 1c and 2c values have been discontinued."

In considering the above, it must be remembered that the current types have been in use in Guatemala, with the exception of a few values, since 1902, a period of fifteen years. They were originally produced by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., London, the printers of the current stamps. During that period there have been many printings, we know, and this is evidenced by the many shades of all values which the collector can easily obtain. The color of the 12½c was changed some time ago from a deep ultramarine to a deep blue, and the stamp of this value submitted by Mr. Tittmann is of the latter shade. However, the centers of the newly received 10c and 1p are quite different than earlier printings, as the designs seem to be stronger and fill the centers more. It can probably be surmised that a number of plates were used in fifteen years, made from an original die, but transferred light or strong as the case might be. The 10c is in brighter colors, while the 1p is yellowish-brown and lamp-black in place of the old reddish-brown and bluish-black. The new printing of the 6c is bistre and light blue-green instead of olive-yellow and green.

Adhesives.

6c bistre and light blue-green.
10c orange and deep blue.
12½c deep blue and black.

picture of the Parliament House at Budapest, and the lower values only are of the "reaper" design, the values being as stated in our Chronicle of June 16th. The same work is our authority for listing a new charity stamp of the value of 40f with a supplementary charge of 2f.

Charity Postage.

ITALY.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly chronicles a War Loan Stamp, being the 50c mauve, ordinary postage, overprinted "PRESTITO NAZIONALE 1917". This is not a postage stamp and would, probably, come under the list of "Savings" stamps, so we only mention it for reference.

JAMAICA. — (1381) — Ewen's Weekly Stamp News for June 16 listed some of the varieties to be found in the recent 8-pt. WAR STAMP overprint on the ½d and 1½d values. We will list only those which have not already been specifically mentioned in this Chronicle.

½d, Small "G" instead of period; Italic "P"; "WAP" instead of "WAR"; Old Roman type "P"; Solid triangle for "A" in "STAMP"; Narrow base "S"; Split "M".

1½d, Italic "P"; Thick "MP" with minute period; Old Roman type "P"; Broken "A" like an inverted "V" in "STAMP"; Narrow base "S".

By "Narrow base 'S'," we suppose an inverted "S" is meant.

JAPAN.—(Offices in China)—(1384)—Mr. Hugh M. Clark writes: "I am wondering if the Japanese Offices in China is not a repetition of something that occurred about a year ago as our books show that we have had both of these stamps in stock. The occasion I refer to was when the regular Japanese set watermark paper appeared. A correspondent of ours supplied us with the full set and about two months later the same man wrote to MEKEEL'S saying that the five and ten yen had not appeared."

Mr. Clark, who is manager of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., refers to our quotation of a portion of a letter from Mr. Siddall, published in our Chronicle of July 7. It is a well known fact that many stamps are issued by the home governments before they are actually placed on sale in the offices for which they were intended. An instance of this kind was mentioned last week under France—Offices in China.

MACAO.—(1384)—The following clipping from the North China Daily News kindly supplied by Mr. Theodore Siddall, should set at rest all rumors that Japan has purchased Macao:

"In 1840 the British merchants, driven out of Canton, took refuge on the rocky island of Hong Kong. Since those days Macau has not figured very prominently in Far Eastern history. The Germans have spread a rumor that the Japanese have offered to purchase it, and perhaps the Chinese themselves might, for purely sentimental reasons, offer a sum of money so that it would revert to China. It does not seem to have any commercial possibilities for the harbor silts up quickly. It is said no ocean-going steamer can venture within three miles of Macau, and the cost of deepening the passage would be very great. It might be worth while if there were no Hong Kong. Macau had its chance. But it is not likely to have another opportunity to be a center of commerce. It is just a place of dreams; a pleasant, sunny little corner of the earth for those who like to pass most of their lives basking in the sunshine. Nobody worries much as to what will be in the future; it is the past that seems to grip Macau."

MEXICO.—Mr. Charles F. Schell writes that he has a copy of the current 2c with what appears to be a perforation 14½ on one side (the left) and rouletted on the other three. We noted this ourselves sometime ago and upon examining the roulette saw that it was a zig-zag something like the roulette of the current Greek stamps, and when the stamps are separated projecting points of paper remain along the edge and this resembles a roughly perforated edge. The perforated stamps of this issue are, we believe, perforated 12 only, unless other varieties exist, which we have not seen.

L'Echo de la Timbrologie publishes a little article about the varieties of the 1915 issue of Mexico (known as the "famous men" series) and we will summarize it as follows:

It has been quite well known that the rouletted and perforated stamps of this series appeared to be printed from different lithographic stones, and we now find our contemporary lists these differences as follows:

1. Rouletted. Impression very fine; the stamps are 24 mm. in height.
2. Same issue with additional perforation 11½. Our contemporary has only seen the 10c ultramarine.
3. Same printing, but perforated 11½.
4. The stamps are only 23 mm. in height. There are a number of retouches, notably on the 10c, the lapel of the coat to the left curves inward toward the white shirt front, while the preceding design showed a straight lapel. (The lapel toward the left of the stamp is meant.) The perforation is 12.

Scott's Nos. 455 to 466 are referred to.

MONTENEGRO.—(German Occupation)—(1381)—In our issue of June 16th we chronicled two stamps of Bosnia overprinted "Montenegro", giving Scott's Circular as our authority. Locher's Catalogue lists the K. K. Feldpost stamps overprinted: "K. u. K. Militarverwaltung Montenegro". These stamps were for use only on the First of March and, as the catalogue prices them at $4.00 for the pair, we surmise that they are the right stamps and that our previous chronicle was an error. Please correct the list to read:

Adhesives.

10h light blue.
15h carmine.

NETHERLAND. — Locher's Catalogue lists a new type of stamp for the use of soldiers interned in the prisoners' camps. The one issued in 1914 was green, without any indication of value; the new is of another type, dark brown and bistre. We know nought of the design.

Franchise Postage.

(No value indicated) dark brown & bistre.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS. — Ewen's Weekly chronicles a new shade of the ½d Australian stamp overprinted "N. W. PACIFIC ISLANDS." The new color is yellow-green instead of blue-green. All three varieties of the arrangement of the "SS" occur.

Adhesive.

½d yellow-green.

PERU. — The Semanario Filatelico chronicles a change of color of the 5c (type of 1909) from violet to purple. We make a guess that this was done for the same reason that we mention an instance in our Costa Rica chronicle of this week. The 5c violet as listed in Scott's No. 180, is on yellowish white paper. This was issued in 1909. In 1913 or 1914, the entire series began to come on the bluish-white paper then put into use by the American Bank Note Co., and the 5c on the new paper is in purple. Some day we may go to the trouble to make up lists of these South and Central American and West Indies stamps on the yellowish paper and the bluish-white paper. Or, maybe, some specialist in these stamps will favor us with a correct list. Off-hand, as far as Peru is concerned, we know of the Postage Due stamps, Nos. 340 to 343, on both papers, also we can register a guess that Scott's No. 476 (Official stamp) is on yellowish paper and No. 479, which is listed under the proper date (1914) is on bluish-white paper, and if one cares to go a little further he may find that Nos. 477 and 478 come on both papers.

RHODESIA.—Stamp Collecting was the first paper to reach us chronicling the new 1½d orange-brown stamp in the current type King George in naval uniform. It was issued in May of this year, has no watermark, and is perforated 14.

Adhesive.

1½d orange-brown.

Ewen's Weekly Stamp News states that it was intended to issue the new value on May 18th, but that it was not actually placed in use until May 25th. An increase in the postage rates made the new value necessary. They are printed in oblong sheets of 240, divided into panes of sixty, 10x6. The color is, states our contemporary, citrine (brown-ochre or khaki shade), and the stamps are printed on medium white unwatermarked paper.

RUSSIA.—Whitfield King & Co.'s List for June, which for some reason or other failed to reach us, contained the following: "A correspondent at Petrograd has telegraphed us that on March 4 (this is probably an error, and should be May 4) certain values of the Romanoff stamps were issued overprinted with the Russian arms, and other values surcharged 'Picture Republican Gazette', and that the whole issue was sold out in two days. The descriptions within the limits of a telegram are necessarily vague, but we will give further particulars as soon as we receive specimens of the stamps. They are offered to us at prices from 5sh to 20sh each, but we refrain from buying any at these prices until we get fuller information."

The surcharge may be a private one for the Gazette as otherwise it would certainly be an oddity as a national issue.

Scott's Circular publishes the following: "Mr. J. B. Leavy writes us: 'The other day a young chap was in to see me who had just returned from Russia, was there during the revolt. He informed me that the stamps that were current when he left Russia were Scott's Nos. 73 to 87 and 88 to 104, all with the arms or portrait obliterated by three heavy horizontal bars'."

(Offices in China.)—(1388)—Mr. Theodore Siddall advises us that the new Russian China set is now all in use, and includes all values of the Russian stamps surcharged, with the exception of the 7k, which is obsolete in Russia and the 10r, which has been an obsolete value in Russian offices in China for about two years.

SAMOA.—(1382)—The West-End Philatelist chronicles the following varieties of the surcharged German Colonial stamps:

Comma after "I" in "G. R. I."

½d on 3pf brown.
½d on 5pf green.
2½d on 20pf blue.
3d on 25pf orange and black on yellow.

Double surcharge.

½d on 3pf brown.
½d on 5pf green.
1d on 10pf carmine.
2½d on 20pf orange and black on yellow.
2½d on 20pf blue.
3d on 25pf orange and black on yellow.

SIAM.—(1370)—Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., advises us that the London printings of the baht values are now in issue, but that his Siamese correspondent did not send them to him, stating that there was no difference between them and those printed by the Government Printing Office, Vienna. They must be, indeed, identical to not be considered as a new issue by Siamese specialists. However, Mr. Ward has requested his correspondent to forward them to him, and when they arrive, a close comparison between those printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., London, and those printed in Vienna, may disclose some variations by which the two printings may be identified.

Mr. Ward tells us the values include 1, 2, 3, 5, 10 and 20 baht.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles new shades of the 1c and 3c, which were issued in booklet form on Dec. 11th, 1916. The booklets sell for $1.00 (Malay) and contain twelve 4c stamps, sixteen 3c and four 1c. They are printed on medium paper with white gum, watermark opaque.

Adhesives.

1c blue-green.
3c scarlet.

BEFORE THE PONY EXPRESS.

A long-delayed recognition has at last come to heroic pioneers who carried the mails to California for ten years before the famous "Pony Express" was established. Everyone knows the romantic story of the "Pony Express," but by a curious irony of fate, the world had forgotten until now, predecessors, who for a decade faced every danger of nature and of hostile Indians to carry the mails across the plains and mountains to California. This forgotten history has been recovered through documents sent to the California historical survey commission at its headquarters at the University of California, by H. Chorpenning McGee of Berkeley.

Discovery has been made by Owen C. Coy, secretary of the commission through examination of these documents, that as early as April 25, 1851, nearly ten years before the "Pony Express" was started, the United States contracted with George Chorpenning and Absolom Woodward to pay $14,000 a year to have the mail carried once each month between Salt Lake and Sacramento. The contractors agreed to make the 910-mile journey in not more than 30 days. The original route was along the regular emigrant road through Placerville, crossing the Sierras at Carson's canyon, then following along the Carson and Humboldt rivers and around the northern end of Great Salt Lake. In the first journey across the mountains, it took at times a whole day to make two miles through the snow. Before the end of the year Woodward was killed by Indians near Great Salt Lake.

STAGE LINE BEGINS.

Winter proved the northern route impracticable, so, after an unsatisfactory trial, of the Feather river route, Chorpenning changed the winter route so that the mails went from Salt Lake to San Pedro and thence on a Panama mail steamer to San Francisco. In 1858, the quantity of mail to be carried increased so much—and also the government remuneration—that Chorpenning was able to run a stage line of four-horse coaches along the mail route. A new route was discovered south of Great Salt Lake, which shortened the journey a hundred miles.

The very idea of the "Pony Express" was anticipated by Major Chorpenning, for in December, 1858, when the President's message was about to be issued, Chorpenning placed a fresh horse at each mail station from Salt Lake to California, and Sacramento read President Buchanan's second annual message only 17 days after it had been delivered to congress. This was two years before Russell & Co. established the famous "Pony Express."

Californians who read a Chicago newspaper only three days old, or who look out over the desert from a dining car table, little realize the dangers and difficulties of these long-forgotten pioneer mail contractors. During the ten years Major Chorpenning was engaged in this service, says Mr. Coy, he lost at the hands of the Indians, nearly 300 head of horses and mules and many coaches, wagons and station buildings, and 16 of his brave messengers were slain by the Indians.—Clipping.

SOUTHERN PHILATELIC ASSOCIATION.

CONVENTION AT MINNEAPOLIS, AUGUST 6-7-8, 1917.

On Tuesday morning, August 6th, the convention was called to order by the President, Clifford Washington Kissinger, in the convention hall of the Hotel Dyckman, in the presence of about seventy-five delegates and visitors. Mr. J. E. Guest of Minneapolis, on behalf of the philatelists of the Twin Cities, expressed his pleasure in being privileged to greet so many friends and members. The formal welcome was extended by Mayor Van Lear, whose address was not without philatelic allusion. The mayor's pleasant sentiments were responded to by Mr. Severn and President Kissinger. In the absence of the secretary, C. V. Webb, Mr. Wallis served as secretary pro tem. The reports of officers were of interest to the members and we make room for the annual address of the president:

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 2, 1917.

To the Members of the Southern Philatelic Association in Convention Assembled, greetings:

It is indeed a great honor and pleasure to again be assembled with the members of the S. P. A., notwithstanding the evil spirit which has made the Government possessed by it and executing its abhorrent and bloody bidding, an abomination in the sight of God and men. We have met in pursuance of a high purpose, a purpose which at this time is one and the same wherever, throughout this great Universe,—that to determine the great value and necessity of the postage stamp which carries the language of men and women in writing all over this world. In these times it is the purpose of this great Nation to fight and to bear and dare, and the message that the postage stamp carries is filled with hope which falls upon darkness of our people and helps make life tolerable. They are the things of humanity, liberty, justice and mercy, for which the best men amongst all the nations, including the German nation, have fought and bled these many generations past, which were the ideals of Luther, Goethe, Schiller, Kant and a host of others who had made the name of Germany great and beloved until fanatical Prussianism, run amuck, came to make its deeds a by-word and a hissing. This appalling conflict divides the soul and conscience of the world and we must let the Postage Stamp carry the thoughts of equally as good men as those of the past ages, to gain our one purpose in life, and that is to bring this war to a successful conclusion. We have men plenty, and since, "It is not for glory, or for riches, or for honor that we fight, but for liberty alone, which no good man loses but with his life," let we people assembled here who can not give life for our country send messages of good will and cheer to our S. P. A. members at the front, that we want to help them make the world safe for democracy. At this time I want to extend my personal regard and respect as well as in my official capacity, that of the entire Society to our boys at the front and to say that we at home will help the President to win this most just and righteous war, into which, God knows, we have not lightly entered.

Notwithstanding the horrible war and the abnormal conditions that are now prevailing, I am pleased to report that the S. P. A. has increased its membership. At the Washington convention the members adopted the slogan "2,000 members for a greater S. P. A.," but unfortunately could not live up to it. However, the increase is sufficiently interesting and attractive to again renew the slogan and see whether it can not be reached in another year.

During the past year I have appointed state vice-presidents and in two or three other countries, and I trust they have not only accepted this appointment as an honor but one filled with great opportunities if personal attention and time is given to it. These appointments were made not only to benefit the Society at large but to benefit all those who were sufficiently interested to take hold of it and work. I have made the city vice-president appointments, but up to this time was not able to have them published in the Philatelic West.

I want to make particular mention of the splendid report of the Secretary. As usual the membership has increased over last year and I am sure we are all greatly indebted to our Secretary and a few other active members for the wonderful work they have done during the past year. In fact, too much credit can not be given to all the officers. I desire to personally honor them all with public mention for their courtesy and consideration during the past year, in fact every one belonging to this great society has been willing at all times to cheerfully render any service for the good of the Society, if called upon.

Mr. Collector, send me your want list.

H. F. COLMAN. SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Philatelic library is one of the most important factors in the history of the S. P. A., for without the history and knowledge of the value of the stamps a collector would surely be at a loss. I am sure Mr. Wm. R. Ricketts, librarian, would be glad to have you take advantage of the library, either in using the books already there or by adding to any of the literature, for I know that many of the members would not then be misled in the exchanging or purchasing of stamps.

In conclusion I want to again thank you all for your hearty co-operation in this work of the S. P. A. during the past year and extend to you my best wishes for a most pleasant, none the less profitable, convening, and trust that we may all meet next year with again as many members as are present here, and to be able to report a membership of 2,000. Whoever the new officers may be for the coming year I ask that you give them your earnest support and co-operation. We are all in the Society for one cause and one can only be profitable in their particular line with the assistance of every member, for we can only become smooth and bright as the stones by rubbing together, and truly we have men plenty, brains plenty and money plenty to carry on this great work and be known as the "biggest stamp society in the world."

Again wishing you unbounded success for the coming year and hoping to meet you at future conventions, I am,

Fraternally yours,
C. W. KISSINGER, President.

Later, the various committees were appointed and the convention was soon in working order. We shall summarize the transactions of the body; it may be added that everything proceeded expeditiously.

The questions of national charter and life memberships were discussed and committees previously appointed were continued in force with instructions to report at the next convention. If a national charter is sought, it would seem advisable to change the name of the organization to remove the sectional limitation, even though it exists in name only; and on the point of change of name there is a division of opinion.

For the seat of the next convention, the names of various cities were placed in nomination, the chief contenders being Philadelphia (or Atlantic City), Niagara Falls and New Orleans. After due oratorical consideration, the balloting proceeded with Niagara Falls an easy winner. The date was ordered fixed so as not to conflict with that of the American Philatelic Society.

The anticipations that there would be a fight over the selection of the official journal were realized. The report of the committee left the choice to the convention and the storm clouds soon broke and flooded the meeting charges of plot and counter-plot. The rivals of the Stamp Herald attacked the system by which a preponderance of proxy votes was in the hands of those friendly to that paper. Mr. Wallis was the sponsor of the Stamp Herald and Mr. Guest was the spokesman of the opposition. The vote showed that the Stamp Herald of Indianapolis was the victor, with Philatelic Gossip and Collectors' Journal in the running. The offer of the publisher of the Stamp Herald seemed the most favorable, as its terms embraced a rate of twenty-five cents to those members who subscribed and the publication of the Year Book without charge to the association.

The constitution was changed so that members in the service of the United States and its allies were exempted from payment of dues during the period of the war. In this connection it is to be said that a resolution was passed in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parker, Treasury Department, Regina, Saskatchewan, who lost a son at the Somme and have three sons and seven uncles and nephews fighting with the British forces. A resolution also was passed commendatory of Burt McCann of Minneapolis, the bedridden philatelist who was so much interested in the convention but who, of course, could not attend the sessions. It is to be said here that many of the delegates called at Mr. McCann's at his home, much to that gentleman's satisfaction.

At the request of the librarian, Wm. R. Ricketts, the office of assistant librarian was created. An important change was made whereby the members each year will vote directly for the choice of official journal. The names of the aspirants will be placed on the ballot with a résumé of the terms offered in each case. It should be added that the Philatelic West was not entered in the contest this year by Mr. Brodstone.

It is understood that Mr. Webb, the secretary, will resign his position this month because of the growth of his private business interests.

The proxy representation at the convention was about 700 and the old officers were elected, except that Mr. Beardslee was chosen vice-presdent and H. K. Bowen, international secretary.

Before adjournment, the customary resolutions of thanks were passed and the convention closed triumphantly after a beautiful eulogy of philately and its followers by Mr Harry S. Swenson of Minneapolis, an orator of brilliant parts who is best remembered by his philatelic activities as a philatelic publisher about twenty-one years ago.

The collectors of the Twin Cities and nearby places attended the convention by the dozens and the following is an incomplete list, no doubt, of those who came from a distance: C. W. Kissinger, Reading, Pa., President; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wallis, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parker, Regina, Saskatchewan; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Vanderpoel, Grand View, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Flerlage, Cincinnati; Miss Mabelle M. Lutz, Easton, Pa.; Dr. H. A. Davis, Colorado Springs, Col.; G. A. Martin, Washington, D. C.; L. T. Brodstone, Superior, Neb.; Otto Arco, "Anywhere", H. S. Powell, Storm Lake, Ia.; H. K. Bowen, Fort Dodge, Ia.; John J. Lechky, Iowa City, Ia.; John G. Bassler, Madison, Wis.; Elmer Toepelman, Madison, Wis.; and from Minnesota, Rev. Francis L. Palmer, Stillwater; Victor W. Rotnem, Mabel; A. A. Quevli, Windom; Wm. H. Mackie, Bovey; Roy W. Billings, Windom and others.

Socially, the promises of the program were carried out to the letter. The stamp bourse, the auction sale and the convention photo were on the schedule and the trip to Wildwood, a lake resort, Wednesday afternoon, had its climax in the evening at the banquet, where Mr. Swenson acted as toastmaster. The trolley trips were pleasant and the boat trip around Lake Minnetonka on Thursday afternoon was particularly enjoyable.

EDITORIAL.

Thrice—For the third time in what may be accounted a generation, twenty-one years, the city of Minneapolis has entertained a stamp convention of a national philatelic organization and thrice has the progressive city, which on the philatelic map is represented by a large circle to properly bespeak its importance, acquitted itself creditably. In 1896 the American Philatelic Society and the Philatelic Sons of America met at Lake Minnetonka as guests of the Minneapolis collectors; and in 1905, history repeated itself as to the senior society. Now, in 1917, the Southern Philatelic Association, which during the past four years has made giant strides to the front held its annual meeting in Minneapolis. The presence of not a few of the Twin Cities veterans of the first and second conventions was worthy of remark and to some of the visitors, who, likewise had a clean attendance record, was significant. It was the third Minneapolis convention for Messrs. Aldrich, Brodstone, Kissinger and Severn, of the visitors. The renewing of old acquaintances was one of the most satisfying privileges of the convention. Further, the Twin Cities faithful were a bulwark of strength in many respects and their presence was a distinct addition to the interest of the convention.

Regenerated — Of the Minneapolis band, Mr. H. S. Swenson, the brilliant philatelic publisher, twenty years ago, of the Philatelic News-Letter, was a luminary who dazzled and delighted all of the visitors. True, Mr. Swenson's interest in stamps has been quiescent for some years, a good many in fact, as his candidacy for congress, not to mention other distractions, took his mind for the time being, from his first love. However, when Mr. Swenson found himself among stamp friends, old and new, a surge of latent philatelic affection impelled him to start his collection anew. We mention this to show what ends the philatelic convention may serve in the city in which it is held in fanning the wee flame that never is quite quenched, into a blaze; and to pay a deserved tribute to Mr. Swenson whose experienced hands grasped the tiller firmly when the convention boat showed any tendency to wobble on its course. Mr. Swenson's remarks in adjourning the convention were a master-piece of laudation of philately and made a deep impression.

Action—No legislation was transacted that was of national importance but the sessions were of engrossing interest, partly because of the differences of opinion that arose in selecting the official journal from the three papers that competed for preferment. The Stamp Herald was chosen; it was entrenched by too many proxies to be dislodged but its offer, nevertheless, was most favorable to the association, as it carried with it the stipulation that the Year Book would be published free of charge to the society. It was the report of the committee on official journal that touched the match to the fire-works and for a time, verbal pyrotechnics, not to mention a bomb or two, kept the delegates in a delightful state of apprehension. The generals in the wordy war in due course recovered their equanimity and shook hands over the chasm that yawned once or twice. The lady reporter on one of the Minneapolis papers enjoyed herself particularly at this session and her story did not ignore the "battle" it is needless to say.

Stamps—One phase of the convention cannot be commended too highly and that was the stamp activity that was apparent, due mainly to the "Brouse," as the program had it. The Bourse was held on the evening of the first day of the convention; many a fine collection was shown and there were scarce and interesting pieces in profusion. The instructions of the program to buy, sell and exchange were honored and the result was a proper stamp atmosphere, even though commercialism was not rampant. Hereafter, it will be demanded that an evening be assigned in the convention program for the bourse. It has been complained that the stamp convention does not provide the opportunity for barter and sale dear to the collecting heart as between the business and social sessions there is no time for stamp diversion of the kind. Provision must be made for stamp interchange and exhibition at conventions from now on.

Hosts—As was expected, the Minneapolis and St. Paul collectors proved hosts who left nothing undone to ensure the pleasure and the comfort of visitors. Under Mr. Guest's direction, the social numbers of the program were given without a hitch and they were varied enough in kind to please all. The convention photo turned out very well, even though it will not be needed to keep the joys of the 1917 convention of the Southern Philatelic Association in memory. The representation of Twin Cities collectors at the convention was a strong one, naturally, and the attendance from out-of-town was larger than some anticipated. The present time is not exactly propitious for pleasure jaunts and the attendance at all kinds of conventions is suffering. Under the circumstances, the convention, numerically, was a decided success.

First—An argument that arose outside of the convention and which excited much interest was on the question of the date of the first collector and the first dealer in this country. The questions were referred to us finally and we answered that according to our best recollection, 1859 or earlier is claimed to be the date of the birth of the first collector in this country while Mr. E. A. Holton of Boston seems to have been the first dealer here, as he embarked in the stamp business in 1861.

Album—An old album was shown us by Mr. E. P. Capen, Minneapolis, the title page of which reads: "Boston Stamp Album for the Postage Stamps of All Nations. Boston: William H. Hill, Jr. & Co., 30 & 32 Cornhill." The album was "Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1866." This album which was given to Mr. Capen by his mother is an example of an early American edition but was published three years after the Appleton album was offered in 1863. We understand that a stamp album had been published in Baltimore before 1866 but our informant does not remember the style of the album or the name of its publishers.

Big—The catalogue of the Worthington auction sale to be held by J. C. Morgenthau & Company is a reflection of the richness of the great collection and incidentally is a graphic illustration of the solidity of philately as measured in dollars and cents. The dissenting non-philatelist marvels at the prices singly and in the aggregate, according to catalogue and other quotations.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A STAMP TRAGEDY.

By CLEANTHIS ZONARAS.

Inclosed please find a specimen of a Turkish stamp issued in 1914 and bearing an Armenian inscription which caused the death of the engraver who made the design.

In 1914 the Turkish government appointed an Armenian engraver to make the designs of the pictorial series issued in that year. The engraver, who was anxious to see the use of the Armenian language on stamps of a country recognized by the Postal Union, selected the 10 paras stamp of this series and just below "POSTES OTTOMANES" engraved with very small and caligraphic letters the Armenian inscription "Datchgagan Garavarutiun" (Turkish Postage). When placed under a microscope the Armenian letters stand out boldly.

This stamp being uniformly printed in green presents a handsome appearance. The vignette gives a pretty view of the lighthouse of Fanar Baghtche, a suburb of Constantinople inhabitated by Armenians. In the upper part is the Turkish inscription, "Devleti Osmaniye Postalari" (Ottoman Empire Postage) and below is "Postes Ottomanes" and just beneath this in a line of characters resembling ornaments, is the Armenian inscription "Datchgagan Garavarutiun." In the upper and lower right corners are the Turkish numerals 10. In the upper left corner is the "Toughra," the Turkish Imperial emblem bearing the name of the Sultan and in the lower right corner is the Latin numeral 10. In the lower right part of the picture is the Turkish inscription "Fanar Baghtche," the name of the suburb and below this is "Paras," while in the lower left is the Turkish inscription "Para."

This is the only stamp in the world bearing inscription with Armenian characters.

The Armenian inscription on this stamp passed unheeded for a year and a half until a post office clerk discovered that the supposed line of ornaments was in reality a line of Armenian characters and reported it to the Turkish government. The government considered the action of the Armenian engraver as a sacrilege and as an act of rebellion against the Turkish Empire. The man was arrested immediately and sent into Asia Minor where he met with a horrible death from the tortures inflicted upon him by the Turks. In the same year more than 800,000 Armenians, mostly women and children, were butchered by the Turks and Kurds with an unspeakable savagery only because a few Armenian rebels joined the Russian army and were fighting against Turkey for their liberty and freedom.

CHAPTER XXV.—How Used.

1871-75 Proprietary Stamps.

About 1891 R. S. Hatcher, a philatelic writer said—"The scarce dollar values of the green 1871, U. S., proprietary stamps were used chiefly by wholesale importers of West India bay rum, although a large number of them was used by the Philadelphia proprietary medicine firm of Starkey & Palen." (See Inquiry Dept. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for Jan. 3, 1901.) The present writer might add that he does not recall having seen any of the $1 or $5 stamps with the Starkey & Palen cancellation. Many of the $5 Proprietaries in existence have four or five tack holes—one in each corner and sometimes another one in the middle—and these copies are believed to have been taken from kegs of bay rum.

For even more conclusive proof the reader is referred to an extract from the Laws and Regulations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Series 7, No. 10, (Oct. 1, 1878—note the date), where it states, "Articles that are patent or proprietary and therefore subject to the stamp tax, and all perfumeries and cosmetic articles, when sold in what are termed bulk packages, are equally liable to the stamp tax as when sold in retail packages, and the value of the stamp or stamps to be affixed must correspond with the price charged for a single package with its contents. This decision specially applies to imported bay rum and cologne waters which are held to be cosmetic articles, and to bitters claimed to be medicinal, when sold in kegs, half barrels, barrels, etc. Dealers may retail directly from such bulk packages which have been properly stamped by the manufacturer or importer, drawing from the same in quantities to suit their customers, without any additional stamping, but the stamps attached to such bulk packages will only protect the original article contained therein, and only protect that so long as it is kept within such stamped package. If bulk packages are broken and their contents drawn off into smaller vessels, thereby ceasing to be identified with the stamped packages in which they were put up by the manufacturer or sold by the importer, such contents become liable to seizure if stamps are not affixed to the articles thus sold or offered or exposed for sale."

The import tax on bay rum was continued in force after July 1, 1883, but no record appears of the use of the high value proprietaries after that date except a few 50c and $1.00 stamps in the fiscal year 1884. The Act of March 3, 1883, also continued the tax on essential oil of bay leaves, or bay rum essence or oil after July 1, 1883, but changed the rate to $2.50 per pound.

The writer has heard of the use of high value proprietaries on opium but considers it rather doubtful. The special "Series of 1879" customs opium stamps for imported opium were used at the rate of 140,000 to 550,000 per year until 1888 and at this rate the dollar proprietaries would have been all used up long before 1879. Another point is that most of the three high value proprietaries were not used before 1879, but afterward. About 1879 the number issued each year increased greatly. The 50c jumped from an average of 600 per year to some 6,000, the $1 from 500 to 700 and the $5 from 60 to about 300 per year. In 1882, nearly 10,000 of the 50c and over 1,000 of the $1 appear to have been issued.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for June 16, 1906, published the following in the revenue department edited by Charles A. Nast, the well-known writer on U. S. revenues—"Some three years ago the collecting world was startled by a story published in a trade journal at St. Louis that there had been a big find of the $5 Proprietary stamps . . . I am now in a position to state on the authority of the party interested that the number found was 8 of the $1.00 Proprietary and 37 of the $5.00 value. These have all been disposed of, one by one, and no panic has occurred. As there have been so many conflicting stories regarding the whole transaction, I am permitted to give here the first authentic account of the affair from the pen of Geo. W. Ross of Brooklyn, N. Y."

"In the first place the stamps were sent to my father in the latter part of 1902, by a gentleman in England. Their value not being known they were sent through the ordinary mail. . . Within a few months my father died, since which time I have handled the remainder. In reference to the history of the stamps, I may tell you that they were removed from certain tins containing Lacto-peptine, a drug received from the United States during the period (1879) when stamp duty was required on all medicines."

Lacto-peptine was sold by the New York Pharmacal Association, whose four cent private die stamp used from 1877 to 1883 is familiar to all collectors of the private die stamps. A tin of this preparation selling for $125 at retail would require a $5 stamp under the proprietary schedule. The above is conclusive proof of the regular use of these stamps after 1875 and of their availability for paying the tax on medicines manufactured in the United States.

The rarity of these high values is easily explained. Most of them were destroyed. Occasionally a few were saved as curiosities or were rescued by the comparatively few phlatelists who appreciated the beauty of U. S. revenues forty years ago.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Issues of 1871-75, Oddities.

Although the 2c orange and black documentary with medallion inverted is not rare, especially on chameleon paper, none of the other inverts are common In the blue and black series the 50c invert is the commonest. This stamp and the $1 value are most often found cancelled with a triangular hole punched through them and these punched stamps came from the custom house in New York city. The $1 blue and black unpunched is about as rare as the $1 black and green, and is about ten times as rare as when punched.

The number of inverted 15c brown, 25c blue, $2.50 claret and 4c proprietary known to be in existence is estimated to be about half a dozen, or less, of each. Few, indeed, of the stamps philately ranks as practically unobtainable are as rare as these U. S. revenues and they may truly be called "the rarest of the rare." There is not the slightest ground for suspicion of their character. All the inverts were perfectly legitimate issues—real errors of printing issued only by accident. The 15c brown and black was not known to exist at all until more than twenty-five years after it was issued.

The 1c, 2c and 3c proprietary are known inverted on both chameleon and green paper and the fact that they and the 2c orange documentary exist on green paper proves that inverts were printed as late as October, 1874. By comparing the dates of issue of the various stamps it will be apparent a sheet of inverts must have slipped out now and then over a period of three or four years. Very few unused copies of the scarcer inverts are known.

The 25c and 50c blue and black are occasionally seen with a sewing machine perforation instead of the regular perf. 12. The $1.50 blue and black and the 3c green and black proprietary also exist with this unofficial perf. and are very rare. It is believed all these stamps came from sheets that were issued imperforate by accident and were privately "perforated" by a sewing machine. The needle of the machine punched a row of holes between the stamps but did not cut away any of the paper. It is a true "pin perf." The perforation is seldom regular even on the same side of the same stamp but most frequently gauges from 8 to 12 and rarely cuts into the design. The margins around the designs are nearly always so large the perf. could not have been faked and only an occasional specimen appears to be of doubtful genuineness.

No used imperf. or part perf. pairs or blocks of the 1871-75 issues have been found and the only unused item seen by the writer was an imperf. block of 2c orange and black documentary, without gum, on what seemed to be the regular silk fibre chameleon paper. There is nothing to show this block is anything but printer's waste.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding varieties and new issues gratefully received. Address PERCY McG. MANN, 720 Liberty Bldg., Broad and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—(1388)—With reference to the 6c coil stamp chronicled week before last, we have an interesting letter from Mr. J. M. Bartels, which we reproduce as follows:

"I have read on page 258 of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY what you have to say in regard to the coiled 6c stamp and note that you have actually included it in your chronicle, though you have never seen this stamp. This I consider a dangerous procedure, in fact this stamp should not be chronicled as none of them are in existence today. The whole story of this coil was known at the time and, as I recall it, it runs as follows:

"When the first announcements were made concerning the issue of stamps in coils, perforated one way only, a dealer in this city was led to believe that this would mean pairs and strips which would be imperforate on the attached side and perforated at the other, thus providing for instance, horizontal pairs and strips imperforated vertically but perforated horizontally. With this in view he ordered through the local Postmaster a coil of 6c stamps, but upon finding that they were not perforated the way he desired them he returned them to the Postmaster who sent them back to Washington. For a while this coil was placed in the stock of the Washington Postmaster and, I dare say, could have been bought by anyone who felt inclined to put up the $30 required. At that time no one realized the value or coming philatelic importance of coils, and I was shortly afterwards informed that the 6c stamp had been returned to the stamp division for destruction and I am sure that none were saved.

"Feeling that you will be interested in this story, especially as you have chronicled something that does not exist, I think that the facts concerning this coil should be made public."

We quite agree with Mr. Bartels, and we are only too pleased to publish the story regarding a stamp that was prepared for use, but never issued, and thank him for the information. Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., and Mr. W. C. Webb communicate the same information also.

ABYSSINIA. — (1388) — Mr. Frank Clark Cosby shows us the 2g blue stamp with the four line black Commemorative overprint, which was duly chronicled in our issue of June 23rd, and our remarks given in the Chronicle of August 4th, because Champion's Bulletin did not publish the quantity issued of this stamp, are irrelevant, the stamp before us proving its existence. The list of these is as given in our June 23rd Chronicle, while the list given in our issue of August 4th, is of the three line Commemorative overprint.

ALBANIA.—Mr. Gerald Mongeon submits three sets of stamps which he states he purchased in Paris several years ago. The stamps are not listed in any catalogue and we would be glad to receive any information that would throw light on them as to what they are.

1. Three stamps, all of the same design and same color, gray on yellow paper, perforated 12, 20 paras, 1 piastre and 2 piastres, all overprinted with a large "T" in pink. The design shows a soldier in a panel at the left with the date "1914" beneath, the right ⅔ of the stamp shows a picture of some port, presumably Albanian, with "SHQIPENIA" above and the value "20 PARAS 20" (or, as the case might be, 1 or 2 piastres) below.

2. Five stamps, all of the same design, white paper, perforated 11, 5 paras yellow, 10p gray-black, 20p red, 40p dark blue and 80p violet. The design is very simple, consisting of a double line frame, upright oblong, containing a crown and "ALBANIE" at top, an heraldic ship in the center and the value below.

3. Five stamps, same as preceding, but imperforate and overprinted a large "T" in blue.

AUSTRIA.—(1389)—The Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift chronicles the 25h and 30h in the new Emperor Karl I. type.

Adhesives.

30h violet.

BRITISH GUIANA. — The Postage Stamp publishes the following:—

"The following was published in the colony on April 5, 1917:

'STAMP TAX.

The latter ordinance has been amended as under:—

In view of the local conditions consequent upon the present war, there shall be raised, levied, collected and paid for the public use of the Colony a special War Tax equal and in addition to the existing rates of postage, to be prepaid by affixing postage stamps to the requisite amount, on all letters posted in the colony for delivery outside the same, and on all printed matter and post cards posted in the colony for delivery within or without the same, provided that the minimum rate of postage on all letters and post cards to be delivered within the colony shall be two cents on every such letter or post card.

This ordinance shall remain in force for the duration of the present war and no longer.'

"Mr. A. D. Ferguson writes: 'It is loosely worded but what is actually imposed is a tax on postage out of the colony of double the usual postage rate, except for parcels. The postage on matter in the colony is not increased, but the 1c rate is suspended. The Government do not intend surcharging stamps for the extra War Tax.'"

BRITISH HONDURAS. — (1384) — The British Guiana Philatelic Journal states: "The second printing of the 1c stamp, bluish green shade with the moiré overprint consisted of 203,880 stamps. Of these 177,480 were overprinted 'WAR,' leaving only 16,400 of the issue without surcharge."

CHINA.—(1387)—Mr. Benjamin Cadbury shows us the 10c Peking printed postage due stamp and it is like the 2, 4 and 5c described in our Chronicle of July 28th. We have still to see the 1, 20 and 30c.

GREAT BRITAIN. — Stamp Collecting publishes the following: "Mr. H. C. V. Adams has shown the British Philatelist an unused pair of the (lately current) One Pound, in which the value in each stamp is doubly printed. The 'doubling' is no doubt owing to a movement of the paper, between the operations of being placed on the plate and being run through the press, but it is interesting."

GUATEMALA.—Mr. Edwin W. Fuss sends us a copy of a new provisional issued in this country. It consists of the 1c green and claret surcharged "DOS CENTAVOS" in two lines of Roman type. Mr. Fuss' correspondent informs him that the stamp was issued owing to a shortage of the 2c adhesive, that the issue is a small one, that letters and newspapers must be brought to P. O. to have stamp attached by clerk, that this procedure is to prevent dealers from buying the whole stock, and that the surcharge is printed in sheets of 100. Mr. Fuss states that so far he has not seen any errors of surcharge.

If, as we were led to understand by word from Mr. A. O. Tittmann, published last week, the 1c and 2c have been discontinued, is it not probable that the 1c were surcharged 2c to use up stock on hand? But why surcharge them 2c, if this value is discontinued? Perhaps only the 1c has been discontinued. Or—we await further, definite information.

Provisional Adhesive.

"DOS CENTAVOS" (2c) on 1c grn. & claret.

HONG KONG.—(1388)—The $5 stamp chronicled in our issue of August 4th, should have been listed as red and green on green and not black on green. Correction:

Adhesive.

$5 red and green on light green.

HUNGARY.—(1389)—The design of the new Charity stamp chronicled last week, pictures the Hungarian eagle with wings outstretched, perched on a large sword, on a mountain peak. It is typical of War, but its actual meaning we are not aware of. It looks more like a cartoon, being symbolical rather than actual. We see the stamp illustrated in Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift.

JAMAICA. — (1381) — Messrs. Taylor Bros. have shown Stamp Collecting a variety of the first setting 1½d War Stamp, small type, on which the overprint consists of "WA" only, while the word has been completed by a hand-stamped letter "R" "in ink," in rough imitation of the font of type used by the printer.

The same publication mentions a variety of the 1½d War Stamp, large type, in which the right end of the top stroke of the "T" in "STAMP" is missing.

MEXICO.—Mr. Horace E. Jones shows us a copy of the current 1c showing a distinct double transfer of the design. The entire lower portion of the design is double and is especially noticeable in the imprint at the bottom, which consists of the words: "Oficina Imp. de Hacienda-Mexico". The "double trans-

ARTHUR ABBOTT, 1001 Wash. St., Boston, Mass.

Nauru.—(1381)—We have an interesting letter from Whitfield King & Co., which straightens out the remarks in the last few chronicles of this country, see issues of April 7, June 16 and June 30. Our correspondent, quoted in the issue of June 16, must have referred to our chronicle of April 7, in which it is stated on the authority of an English contemporary: "N. W. Pacific Islands (stamps) are said to be obsolete, having been superseded by the series issued from Nauru." This Chronicle appeared before the present editor of this department had affairs in charge, and we believe our English contemporary meant that the N. W. Pacific Islands stamps were obsolete in Nauru—not entirely obsolete. Seeing this, our correspondent meant to convey the information that the stamps were still in use in the N. W. Pacific Islands. Taking the facts as set before us, we have confused the issues, and thus our remarks at the end of our Chronicle of June 30 are irrelevant.

Whitfield King & Co., write as follows, and we thank them for their interest:

"The paragraph under 'Nauru' in Mekeel's Weekly of June 16th is rather amusing. Why should your correspondent expect to receive letters from Rabaul franked with Nauru stamps? He might as well expect letters from New York with Mexican stamps, or from London with French stamps. Nauru is an island situated about 30 miles south of the Equator and is under the civil administration of the High Commissioner of the Western Pacific at Suva, Fiji. Nauru postage stamps are available only at Nauru. Rabaul is the capital of late German New Guinea (New Britain, New Ireland, the Admiralty Islands, etc.) which together with the Northern Solomon Islands of Buka and Bougainville are under the military administration of the Commonwealth of Australia and in these places the only postage stamps available are those of Australia overprinted 'N. W. Pacific Islands.'"

Norway.—Stamp Collecting chronicles a new value in the current, re-engraved, type, issued (received from the printers June 26th and distributed to post offices June 27th) June 27th. This stamp replaces, according to our contemporary's authority, Mr. Henrik Dethloff, the 30 ore stamp for parcel postage, the rate being raised from 30 ore to 40 ore, from 50 ore to 65 ore, and 75 ore to 90 ore, going into effect on July 1st.

On July 1st, the local postage rate was withdrawn, and a local letter will have to be franked with a 10 ore stamp; the 5 ore stamp will only be used for supplementing purposes.

The new stamp is watermarked a posthorn and is perforated 14½x13½.

Adhesive.

40 ore gray-green.

Roumania.—(1375)—There is much interesting information contained in an article in The West-End Philatelist and we take the liberty of copying the following from that publication:

"Roumanian Relief Stamps.

"Reverting to the article published in our issue No. 151, of September last, we are now informed by the same valued correspondent, that the 'grayish paper' used in June and July, 1916, for the green 5 bani stamp (head of King Charles I.), and subsequently for the 'Weaver' type stamps, was very soon superseded by white paper, which latter is still in use, so that the stamps issued on the grayish tinted paper are already rare.

The complete list of these stamps can therefore be summarized as follows:—

5b green (Head of King Charles).
5b green on grayish (same design).
5b black (Weaver).
5b black on grayish (Weaver).
10b rose (Head of King Charles).
10b dull claret on grayish (Weaver).
10b dull claret (Weaver).

All these seven varieties are known perforated as follows:—

13½, comb machine, and 11½, 13½, and compound 11½x13½ and 13½x11½, ordinary.

The aforesaid five perforations were likewise made use of for the 5 and 10 bani 'Unpaid Letter' stamps of the 'Relief Stamps' (Timbru de Ajutor) class.

The 50 bani, orange on white, Head of the late King, surcharged as above mentioned, was never used for postage, but merely as a tax on the berth-tickets of the sleeping cars of the 'International Sleeping Car and Great European Express Trains Company' of Brussels, for the Roumanian lines."

To reach a more definite understanding of the above, we quote below the article referred to by our esteemed contemporary, which appeared in their edition of September last:

"A correspondent supplies us with the following information:—

We have seen a new Roumanian Relief stamp, issued August 1, 1916, the design of which recalls the Roumanian Charity stamps of 1906 (second set), showing the late Queen Elizabeth (Carmen Sylva) weaving.

In the new Relief stamp we see a Roumanian peasant woman, in the national costume of that country, working the customary handloom. Above is the name 'Romania', and below, the wording, 'Timbru de Ajutor' (relief stamp). In the lower left corner is the value: 5 Bani.

5 Bani, black on grayish paper, perf. 13½.

A small quantity of the former Relief stamp (1914), viz., the typographed '5 Bani', green on white, of 1908, surcharged 'Timbru de Ajutor' in black, was (during the months of June and July, 1916), printed on the said 'grayish tinted paper' intended for the above chronicled new stamp. We have seen a copy of such temporary stamp, and now add to the list:

5 Bani, green on grayish, surcharged 'Timbru de Ajutor' in black, perforated 13½, comb-machine.

Our informant has seen this stamp perforated 13½, just like the new stamp (not comb-machine)."

NOTICE.

Washington, Aug. 8, 1917.

Personal attention of all postmasters is called to the vital importance of complete and correct addressing of mail intended for officers and enlisted men in the Army and Navy.

To insure adequate and satisfactory service for the National Army and National Guard Cantonments in the United States and for their mobilization and training camps the Department has authorized the establishment at each of these camps or cantonments of a military branch of the nearest large post office. The official names of these branches have heretofore been published, or will be published as they are established from time to time. To facilitate the work of the military branch post offices it is of vital importance that all mail for officers and men in the camps or cantonments be addressed in as perfect manner as possible.

The name of the addressee should be written legibly and in full; his official title should precede the name, and his location should be given in detail. The following is suggested as the best form of address:

Private William K. Jones,
Company C, 1st Regiment,
Pennsylvania National Guard,
Camp Mead, Maryland.

J. C. Koons,
First Asst. P. M. Gen.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XVI.

The King Christian X Issue.

On the death of his father, King Frederick VIII, King Christian X ascended the throne of Denmark in 1912, but no change was made in the stamps of the Danish West Indies until 1915, although the mother country had issued stamps bearing the new ruler's portrait as early as 1913. With the exception of the central portrait the new stamps are similar to those of the 1908 series. The portrait of King Christian is shown in profile looking to the right. Only the 5b and 25b values were sent to the islands in 1915 though all denominations were distributed through the Postal Union in the usual way and on the evidence of these "specimen" sets the stamps were listed in most of the catalogues. In one case at least they were also priced though, of course, the publishers had none for sale! A few weeks before the transfer of the islands to the United States a small quantity of the 10b, 15b, 20b, 30b, 40b, and 50b, were sent to the West Indies and divided among the offices at St. Thomas and St. Croix. A few new issue dealers who had deposits at St. Thomas against the arrival of the new stamps received from two to five sets each while the small balance was placed on sale to the general public. Each applicant was restricted to the purchase of not more than two complete sets and when it was known that the stamps were on sale the post offices were besieged and in less than two hours all the stamps had been sold. Owing to the smallness of the supply received there was much speculation as to the worth of these stamps and in a very short while sets were changing hands at fancy prices ranging all the way up to $25.

A small stock of the stamps were retained in Denmark and these were eventually placed on sale at Copenhagen. How many were in this lot and who were invited to bid for them I have been unable to discover, but as we go to press Danish dealers and speculators were asking from $1.50 to $2.00 per set for them wholesale. The actual value of the stamps is, therefore, problematical but used specimens antedating the transfer of the islands to the United States Government are probably quite scarce. In 1913 the Crown which had served as the watermarked device for all the stamps of Denmark, Danish West Indies and Iceland issued prior to that date was superseded in favor of a design of multiple crosses, and the new series for the Indies described above were printed on this new paper. The perforation gauges 13½x14½.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Finis!

The end of the Danish West Indies as a dependency of Denmark and as a stamp issuing country dates from March 31st, 1917, when the islands were formally transferred to the United States and were changed in name to the "Virgin Islands of the United States." The actual transfer took place on the three islands simultaneously at four o'clock in the afternoon The official ceremonies commenced when Commander Pollock landed from the cruiser Hancock under a salute of 15 guns and proceeded to the officers' barracks at St. Thomas, where the transfer protocol was signed. The Danish Governor then proclaimed the transfer and the Danish flag was lowered amid salutes and the singing of the Danish national anthem. Commander Pollock proclaimed the cession and the American flag was hoisted, accompanied by salutes and the singing of the American anthem. There were no demonstrations but many in the crowd wept during the profound and impressive silence which followed the hoisting of the Stars and Stripes.

On the same day the ceremonies at Washington incidental to the transfer of the Danish West Indies to the United States took place in the famous diplomatic room at the State Department. Secretary McAdoo handed the draft for $25,000,000 to Secretary Lansing who in turn handed it to the Danish Minister. Immediately after the warrant had been signed and delivered, Minister Brun notified his government to turn the islands over to the American naval officer in St. Thomas.

It is an historical irony that these islands should pass into the hands of this government formally at this time in view of the known wishes of Germany that the United States should not obtain possession of them and the fact that the Berlin government is generally understood to have been responsible for the rejection by one branch of the Danish Parliament some years ago of a treaty which would have transferred them to the United States for $3,000,000 instead of the present purchase price of $25,000,000.

THE VALUE OF CANADIAN POSTAGE STAMPS HAVING THE WORDS "WAR TAX" PRINTED UPON THEM.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6, 1917.

The postal administration of Canada has informed this Department that the value of the 1-cent and 2-cent Canadian postage stamps having the words "war tax" printed upon them is equal to the face value of said stamps plus the 1-cent war tax. Consequently, articles prepaid in full by means of the above-mentioned 1-cent and 2-cent stamps, respectively, having the words "war tax" printed upon them should not be charged with postage due on delivery.

Postmasters and other postal officials will please take due notice of the foregoing. Postmasters also must cause any article which is tendered for mailing at their offices obviously with the intention to evade the higher postage rate applicable to it in Canada to be refused unless fully prepaid at said higher Canadian rate.

Second Ass't P. M. Gen.

THE A. P. S. AT ALEXANDRIA BAY.

By Dr. Holland A. Davis, Secretary.

The A. P. S. Convention assembled in the Convention Hall, Tuesday, August 14, 1917, at ten o'clock A. M., President C. A. Howes presiding.

After the report of the Committee on Credentials the President read his annual report which was received and placed on file. A copy will be furnished the Weekly for its use.

Then followed the reports of the Vice Presidents, the Secretary, Dr. H. A. Davis, the Treasurer, C. F. Heyerman, and other officials and committees.

Telegrams and letters of greeting were read from F. H. Burt, Carroll Chase, Wm. C. Stone, Gen. C. A. Coolidge, Wm. E. Ault, the New York Stamp Society, Clifford Kissenger, E. T. Wallis and Erwin L. Fischer.

Reports were received from the various Branch Societies and these communications were referred to the proper committees. President Howes announced the entertainment program for the afternoon and the first session of the convention adjourned.

The second session was held 10 a. m., Wednesday, President Howes in the chair. President Howes announced that Joseph B. Leavy, in charge of the Government collection at the United States National Museum, Washington, would read a paper describing the United States collection.

Mr. Leavy's paper was timely and full of interesting facts. An interesting discussion followed this paper.

On motion of Alvin Good, Mr. Leavy's paper will be published in an early number of the American Philatelist, other than the yearbook, in order that it might receive the attention it merits.

On motion of Mr. Wolsieffer the Society extended an unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Leavy and to the United States Government in deputizing their representative to deliver the paper.

President Howes announced the following committees:—

Finance: Alvin Good, P. M. Wolsieffer, H. F. Dunkhorst.

Library: H. H. Elliott, H. T. Painter, Dr. T. H. Tubman.

Sales Dept.: Jos. B. Leavy, J. C. Miller, Aug. Ballman.

Branch Societies: F. Michael, R. B. House, J. A. Galbraith.

Resolutions: C. C. Silvester, J. C. Hoffstetter, C. I. Lott.

Next Convention: J. W. Stowell, H. J. Larsen.

By-Laws: President Howes, J. W. Scott, H. H. Wilson, H. A. Davis, C. F. Heyerman.

Immediately after adjournment the members and their guests assembled on the river bank for a group photograph.

The third session of the Convention was held at 10 a. m., Thursday, August 16, President Howes in the chair. The secretary read a telegram of greeting from Carl Koslosky.

A motion offered by Mr. Michael was carried providing for the printing of a "Join the American Philatelic Society" card and sending a copy to the branch societies, with a circular letter, requesting proper display.

The report of the Finance Committee was read by the chairman, Mr. Good, and adopted.

The report of the Library Committee was read by the chairman, Mr. Elliott, and adopted.

It was recommended that $100 be appropriated for the upkeep of the Society and the recommendation was adopted.

The Convention voted to refer the investigation of the offer of Mr. Dorpat's Library, to the assistant librarian, Mr. Daum, he to report to the Board of Directors for their final decision.

The report on the Sales Dept. was read by Mr. Leavy, chairman. The report recommended that the practice of including damaged stamps in books be continued provided such stamps be noted as damaged; also that junior members be admitted to all privileges of sales circuits. Recommendations adopted.

The report of Committee on Branch Societies was read by the chairman, Mr. Michael, and accepted.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions was read by Mr. Hoffstetter. Upon recommendation of the Committee, the Society ordered that a sum of $1000 of the surplus funds of the Society be invested in the next Liberty bond loan, also that members of the A. P. S. engaged in active military service of the United States or its allies should have dues rebated during the period of the war.

Here's a fellow who says:—

"Your new Album for U. S. is a dandy."

Another chap writes:—

"I'm tickled to death with the album."

Another lady writes:—

"Your Album fills every need."

And so forth.

Now why don't you write and get particulars and illustrations of this movable leaf, permanent Album?

It was voted that files of the American Philatelist be held for such members until the close of the war.

Voted also that a sum of $250 be appropriated as an entertainment fund for the next convention if needed.

The report of the Committee on Next Convention, chairman, Mr. Larsen, recommended that the choice of a convention city for 1918 be confined to the middle west, the site to be selected by the Board of Presidents. It was so voted.

The report of the Committee on By-Laws was read by President Howes. The recommendation was adopted that the following amendment be made to Art. X, Sec. 4, by adding to the first paragraph of this article and section the words "or be eligible to hold the offices of President, Secretary or member of the Governing Board."

A motion was made providing for a Life Membership to be instituted, the fee to be $20.00. The proposition was referred to the next convention, and in the meantime applications would be received subject to confirmation in the order received.

A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers for their services.

The outgoing president, C. A. Howes, expressed his appreciation of the support by his assistants and the membership at large.

John W. Scott, the newly elected president, thanked the Association for the honor conferred.

The thanks of the Association were tendered to Mr. Kellet, secretary of the Board of Trade, and to all others who had assisted in providing for the Association.

P. M. Wolsieffer, acting on behalf of Mr. W. C. (Sine Die) Stone, moved the adjournment of the Convention.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to Herman W. Boers for a war cover of more than ordinary interest. The letter was mailed on the S. S. "Mongolia" and addressed to a business house in Detroit. There is written in the upper corner the inscription "In Active Service. Stamps Unavailable. England." The Liverpool cancellation reads as follows:—"Paquebot—Posted at Sea—Received 28 Jy 17—Liverpool." Without doubt various interesting covers will be produced in coming months.

—We have received from Geo. A. Hall of Winnipeg a picture of the "Fathers of the Confederation," from which we shall have a halftone made. We are also indebted to W. J. E. Wyllie, of Kamloops, Can., for a similar courtesy.

—Elmer F. Smith of Pontoosuc, Ill., can get no replies to letters sent K. D. Lindsay, D. D. S., 760 S. Main St., Akron, O. If any other dealers are similarly situated write Mr. Smith.

—The new Illinois Philatelist has purchased the subscription list and good-will of the Philatelic Sun, of Lynn, Mass. The value of the purchase is enhanced by the fact that the Sun had second class rates. H. J. Schmidt is now associated with R. R. Eisendrath in the publishing of the Illinois paper.

—During the S. P. A. convention at Minneapolis, C. E. Severn, C. W. Kissinger and Dr. H. A. Davis called on Burt McCann one evening and spent a couple of hours. Mr. McCann sending us in a couple new subscriptions expresses his appreciation of the courtesy extended.

—Anyone having a claim against J. A. Yunker, 649 S. Jackson St., Louisville, Ky., is requested to send the same to the Inspector in Charge, P. O., Louisville, Ky. Correspondence having a bearing on claims will be welcome.

—J. B. Ouellet informs us that the new Canada 3c Confederation stamp will shortly be ready, in accordance with an official communication received from Ottawa.

—Fernald Hutchins, a long time member of the Boston Philatelic Society, has gone into the Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburg, N. Y.

—All our Aeroplane Mail leaflets have been sold to A. H. Pike of Buffalo, N. Y., with the exception of ten held for our subscribers' needs. The leaflet will soon be dropped from our published list and anyone interested should write us.

—We want a half dozen copies of Feb. 7 and Feb. 14, 1914, to complete files. We offer two foreign exchanges for each copy mailed to Beverly, Mass., in the original folds.

—In a recent letter from C. Whitfield King of the firm of Whitfield King & Co., Ipswich, England, mention was made of the war and the news item will be of interest to our wide circle of readers. It will also be noted that Mr. King's son, who has been actively engaged in the stamp business for a number of years is in the service. We quote as follows:—

"I am much obliged for your kind enquiries and am glad to say that none of the recent air-raids have touched Ipswich, but the last one on Sunday the 22nd inst. did some damage at Felixstowe, twelve miles from Ipswich. I motored over the same morning with some wounded soldiers from a local hospital and found two houses had been blown up and eleven persons killed and twenty-six injured but no damage of any military importance was done. My son is at present attached to a wireless telegraph station at one of the naval bases and is quite well and contented, but naturally he will be glad when the war is over and can get back to business. I shall be only too thankful to get his help again."

—Attention is called to the advertisement of the Zema Co., elsewhere in this issue. Its manager, Mr. Brown, has entered the service.

—"I just received word this morning that Dr. S. J. Caswell of Rockford, Ill., who was at one time a member of the A. P. S. (No. 1665) passed away Aug. 2nd. I have never met Mr Caswell personally, but have had business relations with him for many years, and always found him strictly honest and prompt in his dealings, and one with whom it was a pleasure to do business with. He was a collector of entires as well as adhesives."—D. T. EATON.

We are always glad to call the attention of our readers to anything which we believe will prove of real and practical use to them; and therefore illustrate herewith a little hand embosser now being successfully marketed.

The embosser is light and durable, made entirely of steel, heavily nickel plated and with ordinary care should last a life time. Made in several sizes, the smallest may readily be carried in the pocket, while the largest is especially adapted for firms and corporations. It is also made for notaries, commissioner of deeds, corporate seals and for check protector; it is very simple in construction and easily operated by anyone.

The embosser is furnished with a cold steel die of initial, name and address; monogram; or complete business card or heading. With this unique outfit costing only from 50c to $4.00 each (complete for immediate use) according to size and design, the professional or business man may emboss all his stationery as required giving it a marked dignity and distinctiveness. Or it may be applied to private or social stationery indicating the good taste and refinement of the user.

Impression sheets showing various designs and prices, will be promptly sent on request to any inquiries addressed to O. A. Michel, P. O. Box 293, Newark, N. J.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

STAMPS OF THE UNITED STATES.

By BILL BLOSS.

August and September, 1861 Issue.

Twenty-four Cents.—Portrait of George Washington, facing to the right, the smallest in the series. Bordering the panel containing the portrait is a hexagonal lathe-work design, bearing the inscriptions "U. S. Postage" and "Twenty-four Cents" respectively at top and bottom. Five small stars appear outside the border at each side, while three larger stars are placed at the top center. In the upper corners, the Arabic numerals "24" appear in ornamented ellipses, while a large star in the lower left corner bears the letter "U" and a similar star in the right corner the letter "S".

No plate differences are known to exist in the twenty-four cent stamp of the two printings, and the August issue is only distinguishable by the color, which is a bright violet, distinctly different from the later printings, which range from red lilac to slate and steel blue.

Thirty Cents.—Profile portrait of Benjamin Franklin, looking toward the left, in circle framed by white line. A label above the circle bears the usual inscription "U. S. Postage" and a similar label below bears the value "thirty cents." The Arabic numerals "30" are inclined in each corner in an ellipse, and the letters "U." and "S." appear in the lower left and right corner respectively.

Like the twenty-four cent, no plate varieties of the thirty cent value are known, and the August printing is distinguished by the red-orange color.

Ninety Cents.—Portrait of George Washington in military uniform, facing three-quarters front looking toward the left, in oval, surrounded by a white line, bordered by an oval frame, bearing inscription of value "ninety cents" at bottom and numerals "90" at upper sides. Across the top is a ribbon bearing the inscription "U. S. Postage" while the letters "U" and "S" appear in the lower corners. At the extreme top center an angle is formed by two lines.

In the September issue a strong line of color has been added to the apex of the angle, and small dashes have been added to the white space between the lines forming the angle.

A change in postal rates in 1863 created the need of a two cent stamp, and this value was issued for the first time. This stamp, which is familiar to nearly every collector, bears a full-face portrait of Andrew Jackson, filling practically the entire stamp. The usual inscriptions and numerals of value appear. This stamp was issued in full black.

Bisects of the 2c were made in certain small towns to cover a shortage of one cent stamps, but these are very scarce, and to be authentic, must of course be on original cover with cancellation covering the cut.

Several distinct double transfers and minor plate varieties may be found on this stamp.

New printings of the various values were of course made in the period from 1861 to 1867, resulting in numerous shades. The five cent value was changed to red-brown and later to brown and black-brown instead of buff, as originally issued.

A new value was needed in 1866 to cover the registration fee of 15c and accordingly, a stamp of this denomination bearing a portrait of Abraham Lincoln, with usual inscriptions, was issued. The color ranges from full black to gray black.

Grilled Stamps.

During the years 1860-67 attention was devoted to means of preventing the removal of cancellations from stamps. The cancelling sometimes was done by pen and ink, and it was possible to remove the cancellation in cases. Numerous ways of overcoming this evil were devised, and some were experimented with, such as the chemical papers requiring acid cancellation, or turning in color when acid was used for cleaning; the cutter, which impressed a small hole in the stamp as well as cancelling it with ink; and other schemes.

The most important of these patents was granted to Charles F. Steel for a device, known as a grill, which was impressed into the stamps at time of manufacture, so that the paper fibre was broken and would absorb the cancelling ink. This device, with modifications, was used on all stamps printed during the period of 1867 (May or August) to 1870 inclusive.

The grill consisted of a rectangle composed of rows of small points and was impressed into the stamps by passing a roller bearing the grill over the paper, under pressure. The points on the grill were built in pyramid shape, and two varieties known as "points up" and "points down" were made, according to the side of the paper with which the roller came in contact. In the early grills, the entire stamp was covered. The 3c, 5c, and 30c are known thus, and are quite rare, (the 3c being the commonest of the values).

The grill was altered to a size measuring 18x15 mm. and the 3c value issued thus. A further reduction in size to 13x 16 mm. was made, and was used on the 3c. The grill was again reduced to 12x14 mm., and used on the 2c and 3c. Later, it was again reduced to 11x13 mm. and used on the 1c, 2c, 3c, 10c, 12c and 15c. This grill was in use for quite a period.

A final reduction to 9x13 mm. was made, and all values of the series were issued, grilled in this size. This is the most common of the grills. Collectors experience considerable difficulty with the grills for the reason that they are extremely difficult to measure, as the stamps were put under pressure which flattened out the grill somewhat. Poor impressions of the roller are also responsible for the trouble in measuring grills, and often lead to the appearance of sizes differing from the above measurements.

Various oddities of grilling exist, such as double, triple, and marginal grills.

THE MEANING OF "ARMENWET."

It is interesting to note that we have had no fewer than three "correct" translations of the word "armenwet" recently requested for Dictionary use. They are as follows:—(1) "Poor law"; (2) "Affairs of the poor"; (3) "Revenue for the poor."

Who shall decide when the linguists disagree?

AUCTION QUOTATIONS.

We wish that we had room to publish from time to time auction quotations, but our limitations in the matter of space render it impossible so to do. We have several serials that claim space week by week, our Chronicle under Mr. Mann's editorship is becoming a strong feature of our publication, which with the ordinary matter that comes our way makes it impossible to attempt using auction quotations. We realize that there is an element of news here that some of our subscribers would appreciate, and regret that it is impossible for us to make auction quotations a feature of our publication.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Latest—Our Washington correspondent, who in the past has kept us informed on the momentous questions of the day, in their philatelic relations, advises us that the revenue bill will soon become law and that in the variety of its taxes, it will make an impression on the philatelic as well as the public mind. The report that the error sheets are being sent out from Washington is not opposed by our correspondent who thinks, however, that any sheets of errors that were sent to offices recently were despatched unwittingly, from certain deductions that he has made. Even so, we cannot deny, on the basis of this information, the statement that has been made that the error sheets recently have been received by offices from Washington. The following tale of woe has been received and we admit that the case is one to excite the indignation of the victim. The firm by which the complainant is employed receives a huge mail, particularly from the states comprising the error belt and he has been searching industriously for used errors. He has not found the error but he avers that the misprints are removed by the postal clerks or someone in the service before the letters are delivered. He makes an exhibit of stampless envelopes that bears out his contention. The stamps that were on the certain envelopes did not fall off, it can be seen with half an eye; they were taken off.

Press—The American Philatelic Service whose beneficent activities in spreading the gospel of philately in the newspaper press we lauded in a recent issue is proceeding on its triumphant way. The latest publication to accept its interesting pabulum is the Evening Telegram of New York City, which, in its issue of August 9th, 1917, gave prominence to an illustrated article, "Stamps of Warring Nations Barred to Collectors Here by Allied Control of the Sea." This syndicate material is of a superior philatelic grade and again, we bubble over with commendations of the dealers and any others who by their financial contributions make this progressive step possible. We assert without fear or denial that the fruits of this campaign will be felt by all philately in a few months; and it is not an idle surmise to say that a greater percentage of profit will accrue to all interested in financial philately through this broad gauge newspaper publicity.

Memory—"I seem to have a fond recollection of once having answered one of your exchange notices in Harpers' Young People about 1882, when you offered 'pretty picture cards' for certain U. S. departmental stamps, comparatively common then. Am I right?" asks a reader whose letter-head impresses us. Yes, we "exchanged" somewhat frequently through the medium of that revered weekly, now in the publishing heaven where all good journals go, but how, in the name of all that mystifies, does this very busy man remember any such trivial affair of his boyish days. By our unbounded generosity in giving him more than he bargained for, in that deal of years agone? We know that we did offer "pretty picture cards" in our exchanges; and at any rate our correspondent may go to the head of the memory class.

Revived—"If you will revive the old-fashioned collector series, I shall start the second episode with: What has become of the old-fashioned collector who counted that day lost when he did not swipe a stamp or two each time he looked at my collection?" writes a willing worker. We remember this o. f. c., who, it should have been added, took the precaution of blotting or otherwise maltreating the purloined stamps before he placed them in his album, so that the owner could not identify the specimens.

Sprightly—We pause to give ear to a vivacious reader: "I know that you are tired, Mr. Editor, and that is why I am writing you to tell that I am about to originate the colorful school of philately. I am collecting only blue and yellow stamps, after our college colors. A pretty sentiment, is't not?" Thanks, heart'sease, for small favors, but you know that the man who announced that he collected black stamps only has long been on the boards.

Wise—"The heathen Chinee, a la Bret Harte, may be peculiar but if he is, there are a good many of us who, likewise, are. I admit that I patronize a China boy laundry (notice to what length I go to avoid the use of 'Chink') but since I was driven from the ancestral home with its twenty-eight servants,—but why harrow your feelings? I asked the laundryman if he had any Chinese stamps, thinking that possibly I might bum a good stamp or two from him. He winked at me and disappeared, returning from the back room with an English album, which cheap though it was, contained above a thousand stamps, mostly Asiatic; and moreover all of the stamps were hinged. Sad to say, that exert all my persuasive powers as I would, I could not cajole Chew into giving me or selling me for a few cents each the half dozen or more stamps that he had that were worth a dollar or so apiece. Are there Chinese collectors and dealers?" The foregoing recital, clever though it is, shows that the narrator, experienced in many ways, does not appreciate the universality of philately. There are Chinese dealers and they are to be found usually outside of China, selling stamps in their shops. There are Chinese collectors, of course, but the number of them is small, no doubt. We believe that no philatelic journal has been published in China but for that matter, it was only comparatively recently that Japan has had a philatelic press.

Rest—We have referred to the publishing heaven and we are afraid that the philatelic papers are somewhat obnoxious to their neighbors, not because of misbehavior but for the reason that there are so many of them that they are a "veritable crush." In his catalogue, the Earl of Crawford lists, speaking roughly, about 1200 stamp papers that through 1906 were published in the United States alone. During the past eleven years here, perhaps several hundred papers additionally have come and gone and thus, this country has been the more or less reluctant sponsor of nearly 1500 stamp journals, from first to last; and of this grand total, but three or four of those published in 1906 survive. The mortality records are headed by the stamp papers.

Precanceled—Several months ago, a correspondent asked about the earliest precanceled stamps. The first precanceled stamps were of the three cent, 1851 issue, used by Wells, Fargo & Co., in their letter-forwarding capacity. Mr. Henry B. Phillips is our authority for the statement. The one cent of the 1870-79 issues, is known in several varieties of precancellation and the one cent blue of 1887 is generally regarded as the first stamp in precanceled albums. Our correspondent wants to know if there is a recent catalogue of precanceled stamps.

Gone—A reader in Rockford, Illinois, Mr. R. H. Mower, informs us of the death in that city of Dr. S. J. Caswell, Rockford, Illinois, on August 2nd, 1917. Mr. Caswell, who was a doctor of medicine for many years, was a member of different local and national philatelic societies and as one of the oldest collectors in point of philatelic affiliation had many a tale to tell of the pioneer days and dealers. Dr. Caswell was an ardent collector who always had a particular regard for our revenue stamps. We deplore the taking away of a friend of many years' standing and of the loss to philately of one of its earliest and staunchest adherents.

France—We are pleased to receive another card from Dr. Carroll Chase who for a long time now has been doing excellent work in the hospital service in France. He writes: "I am now stationed in old Orleans and am still in the French army. However, I'm content as my work is interesting and I have little time to get blue. I never lose my interest in stamps although I see nothing but current issues. Best regards." The address of Dr. Carroll Chase, our foremost regulator of the first three issues of the United States, is: "Medecin Aide Major, Hospital Militaire, No. 49, Orleans, Loiret, France."

SEEN AT THE CONVENTION.

By FRED MICHAEL.

President Howes called the A. P. S. convention to order with twenty-two members and sixteen visitors present. To me, one of the most distinctive features of the gathering as we were called to order, was the absence of many of the old-timers. How could we hold a convention without Deats, Batchelder, Stone and Wylie?

With the ladies busy knitting for our soldier boys or taking delightful trips over the beautiful waters, we the members gathered in the local "movie" house and President Howes stood bravely up with the white curtain for a background as he rapped for order.

The reports of the officers were read and greeted with hearty applause. How our membership increased in spite of the war and how the Society has prospered in other directions I shall leave to Secretary Davis and his associates to inform you.

In the evening the men-folks gathered in groups in the parlor for discussion and the swapping of stamps and experiences. To me this was the most interesting feature of the convention. Needless to say, the 5c error and the war issues proved the most popular topics of conversation.

On Wednesday we had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Leavy, who was sent to the convention by the Museum officials, and his paper will appear in the American Philatelist. A discussion followed, and it was developed that the U. S. Government welcomed contributions to its collection and that in connection with it Uncle Sam had a counterfeit collection. It was suggested that collectors and dealers should turn their contributions over to Mr. Leavy and Mr. Wolsieffer started the ball rolling by making the first donation. Mr. Leavy also brought out the fact that the postal authorities would frown on any further commemorative issues.

In the afternoon we sought enjoyment on the St. Lawrence River and in swift motor boats with their trails of foam we were carried into many wondrous places, around rocky picture islands, some pine clad, some but flower gardens, others no more than beautiful mansions apparently floating on the water. Then the dusk. The islands are lighted up, the stars twinkle, the black pines are silhouetted against the sky, and we are silenced, entranced by the beauty of this fairyland. Thus we close the day.

As the gavel is about to fall closing the convention, and as I see around me my fellow philatelists, I am convinced that these conventions do a vast amount of good for philately, cementing friendships and inspiring the confidence that can only come with the knowledge that there are other men working for the same goal as ourselves. We should cheerfully and freely assist each other, and our first step in so doing is to join the American Philatelic Society and aid it wherever we can.

THE STAMP DEALER AND HIS STOCK.

Getting Business.

(This chapter is taken from the book by Bill Bloss and gives one a fair idea of the contents of this book. It sells for 10c. Mr. Bloss has had a wide experience as a dealer and his views will prove of great value to anyone who thinks of establishing a stamp business. This article will be a timely one, in view of the fact that a new season's business is opening.—Ed.)

In every industry that depends upon selling goods, the selling end is the most important, and is the division that receives the most attention from the executive in charge. No matter how profitably the merchant buys his stock, or prepares it for sale, if his methods of drawing sales are at fault, his business will suffer. Since it is the sales department that brings in the money, it is highly important that that branch of the business be the most perfect in the whole organization.

The work of the Sales Department may be divided into two classes:

Getting the Business.

Service, or Keeping the Business.

Publicity is the recognized business builder in all lines. There are many ways of gaining publicity, but all tend to influence sales. A concern may have a good or bad reputation, according to its merits, and since this reputation is publicity in a certain sense, it is necessary that the good name of the house be maintained. In these days of competition, every concern must and service or fall by the wayside. The concern that can deliver the goods the way the people want them and is not afraid to back their product to the limit will gain a reputation that is the best possible advertising.

I have paid considerable attention to the advertising feature of modern business, and believe I can offer a few hints to the new dealer, (possibly one or two to some of the old fellows, as not a few seem to know little of this most important end of their business). Let us imagine that we are in charge of a stamp business, and are "after the customers." We have an advantage over the real dealer, inasmuch as we can do anything we please. We are unlimited in our stock—of imagination.

Advertising begins farther back than the columns of the paper, or the circular letter. It begins when the first stock is purchased.

Let Us Cite Two Examples:

Anderson has ideas on advertising and decides to feature a certain line of stamps, say the stamps of America. Accordingly, he designs two series of books. One series is by countries, the other is sold at large discounts to work off the "culls" and stamps out of his line, or surplus stock. He wishes to feature the first as "Anderson's American Approvals," accordingly he buys his stock with the intention of making the finest possible series of American approvals. The picked copies he lays aside for his first class series, and the others he discards for sale through the cheaper books. Whenever he buys a lot, he considers the salability through his books, and the advertising possibilities of the lot. He intends to make a name for his series, and to help his advertising, he designs a unique campaign featuring

"Anderson's American Approvals."

This method will help him, inasmuch as it attracts attention, and keeps his name before the public.

Jones also intends to put out a series of approvals. He has little advertising ability, and cannot see the advantage of buying stock to feature any one line. Accordingly, he prepares a very ordinary set of books, including good, bad, and passable stamps in his books. He uses ordinary stock approval books, rubber stamps his name on the cover, and on his stationery, and does not adopt a trade name. He advertises as follows:

50% DISCOUNT APPROVALS.
from a large collection. 50 stamps free to every applicant who encloses 2c for postage.
H. E. Jones, Noplace, Iowa.

He offers not a thing to attract the collector's attention. His display, instead of featuring a name that the collectors can place his books by, announces that he has to offer just the same thing that some several hundred others are selling. His books themselves do not create any additional interest to the collector. His stock may be fine, but it is so carelessly prepared that the buyer is dissatisfied, and as a result, will certainly neglect to recommend H. E. Jones to his collecting friends. This, while it may not hurt Jones' reputation, will do nothing to increase his business.

A grocer may start business in a small town. His shop may be commonplace and his apples wormy, yet he will do business until competition comes along. Then he will either wake up, or close up. Competition is lively in the stamp business, and the successful dealer or close up his shop. Business will not come to any dealer without attraction. Certain Eastern dealers do not advertise. Very well. But don't they advertise? True, you never see their name in print, but ask a New York collector where he can get such and such a stamp in fine condition. You have tried every dealer without success. He will tell you to go to the — Company, that their stock is very large and their service unexcelled. They have been doing business for forty years and carry a very large and fine lot of stamps. They never advertise, because they have the best possible advertising, a name for efficiency in supplying wants and service in handling orders. They may not know it, but every satisfied customer is an indirect advertisement. Therefore, they advertise.

Must Keep Abreast of the Times

Every dealer must attract attention in some way to himself, and put individuality into his business. Colman, of Washington, has won fame because he is known as the "Headquarters for U. S. & Colonies," "P. M." was well-known for his "Large Selections," Stanley Gibbons have gained note as "The People with the Goods," etc. Suppose that all of these dealers advertised "50% approvals." Would they draw trade from one another? Not in ten thousand years, unless each had something better than his rival. No buyer is going to patronize a dealer unless he believes he will do better there than elsewhere. If you want success in advertising, feature some line of your business and begin to advertise from the beginning. Of course, a good salesman can sell anything, but it is far easier to sell something good. Also, the people come back for more, and it is continued buying that spells profit, seldom the first or second order. Before you start to sell, prepare your goods in some attractive manner that can be featured.

Put Yourself Back of Your Product,

It is not necessary to have a large stock, nor even a fine stock. Personally, I have a very small stock, yet I am selling with satisfactory results to patrons of the big dealers. Every dealer can offer something attractive to the public. It may be "1c approvals" of cheap stamps, or "Simplified Selections" for the beginner, or "Big Books" for the busy buyer, or "Square-deal Packets," according to the circumstances of the dealer.

It would be useless to outline unique methods in these columns, as a certain amount of originality must enter into every sales plan. Later, some of the schemes that have been successful and unsuccessful in advertising stamp business will be discussed, and we will continue the adventures of Anderson and Jones in the stamp business, and will show how they wrote good and bad copy. Let it be understood that the two examples named are truly fictitious and do not apply to any dealer, but the names are used merely to strengthen the copy.

Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents. Numbers in parentheses indicate the previous issue of the WEEKLY in which information germane to the subject was published.

UNITED STATES.—(1390)—Referring to the 6c coil (?) stamp submitted by Mr. C. A. Price and mentioned by us in the Chronicle of July 28th, we now hear again from Mr. Price and will publish his communications because they confirm our doubts that the stamp submitted was a coil stamp. Mr. Price's letter is as follows:

"I noticed in last week's news that you were correct in doubting the stamp I sent you for inspection. I have since taken the matter up with one of the commissioners at Charleston, W. Va., and am enclosing his reply, which you will note that they can throw no light on the subject."

The commissioner's letter to Mr. Price is as follows:

"Replying to your favor of the 26th relative to a 6c cancelled stamp and as to whether or not it was a coil of stamps from which this one was taken. I am writing to say we have no record of using anything but the regular sheets issued by the Charleston Post Office. The perforations must have been misleading in some way or were not perfectly cut, otherwise it would have shown that it was from the regular sheet.

(Signed) T. S. SCANLON, Sec.-Treas.,
State Road Commission."

We venture to guess that the sheets of precancelled stamps as used were cut apart with scissors, into horizontal rows for convenience in handling and attaching to envelopes, and that the perforations were cut off either the top or bottom edge.

Mr. D. T. Sanders writes and states that he has an unwatermarked 2c carmine stamp of the current type which he has measured up on the perforation gauge and finds that it will neither fit the 10 nor 9½ but measures 9¾ on the millimeter scale. There are only three ways of accounting for this measurement:

1. An inaccurate millimeter scale.
2. A privately perforated stamp.
3. That it comes from a sheet end which was last to go under the perforating wheels. In this case a slight pull by the operating machine may possibly cause a slight extra distance to occur between the perforating needles.

The perforated 10 stamps are very accurate, there being exactly 10 holes in the two centimeters, whereas the current perforated 11 stamps measure more exactly 10⅞.

We have given the above without seeing the item referred to, and this is the last time we will take cognizance of such matters unless they are submitted and postage enclosed for return.

Mr. T. J. Eppes submits two envelope stamps of 1907 superseded design, upright ellipse, one in carmine and the other in a dull wishy-washy rose shade, and asks if one of them isn't in an odd color. He also asks if they are still printing this design.

There are so many types and colors (shades and tints) of these stamps that it is a hard matter to enumerate them. However, we believe that for private return card envelopes, only the new design is used, while for some of the Post Office return card envelopes, some of the old design dies are still being used. However vague this information might be and if not accurate it makes little difference, as the dull rose shade comes on some of the earlier printings.

(1387)—Mr. T. J. Eppes shows us the "Illinois Centennial Celebration 1918" cancellation used in Springfield, Ill.

(1389)—Mr. Earl Harlow has described in a letter the cancellation and censor mark mentioned by Mr. Severn in his editorial of August 11th. The cancellation is "TRESOR ET POSTES" within a circle, with date. This is the French Military Service Post Office—or Field Post Office—cancellation, issued under the Ministry of the Treasury and Posts, and the actual translation of the inscription is "Treasure and Mails." This cancellation is in general use with the French field post offices, and is probably provisionally used by the United States Mail Agency in France, awaiting the Agency cancelling devices. Mr. Harlow had received a U. S. postal card with this cancellation, which also had the censor mark as described by Mr. Severn, an American eagle surrounded by "A. E. F. PASSED AS CENSORED —A.15.", in a circle, impressed in violet ink. The card was also "O.K'd" with a name, probably the censor.

We have received a letter from a navy officer on a U. S. S., the stamp on the envelope cancelled with four irregular bars about two inches long and each bar ⅛ of an inch thick, impressed in light blue ink. The censor mark in the same color ink is a double line oval, the outer line thicker than the inner, with "PASSED BY" at top, "CENSOR" at bottom, and the date across the middle, within the oval. This is initialed with the censor's initials.

ABYSSINIA.—(1388)—Champion's Bulletin lists the 2g blue with three line commemorative overprint, bringing the sets of four line and three line overprinted stamps to equal denominations.

The same publication chronicles provisional values surcharged on the three line overprint commemorative stamps; the surcharges consisting of large numerals.

ANTIGUA.—(1378)—The Colonial Journal for July, states "A supply of the ½d green 'Arms' design overprinted 'War Stamp' in red has been shipped." This confirms our mention of such a stamp in our Chronicle of May 26th.

CANADA.—(1388)—Mr. Geo. A. Hall sends us a clipping from a Canadian newspaper, which, although we cannot give credit to the original publisher, will bear re-printing here:

"Too much printing on cards.

"A correspondent calls attention to the fact that on the last issue of Dominion postcards (2c) the left half front of the card is taken up with statistics of Canada. The correspondent claims that this space belongs to the person who bought the card, and he is deprived of it, or to put it in another way, the postmaster general, without asking consent of parliament, has practically raised the price of postage on cards."

(1389)—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred very graciously adds to the list of plates as published in the Chronicle of August 11:

2c plates A103 to A106 inclusive.
5c plate 10.
20c plate 3.
1c (postage) War Tax plates A9 and A10.
2c (postage) War Tax plates A4, A7 and A8.
2c+1Tc (War Tax) plates A13 (red), A1 and A2 compound perf. (red), and A1, A2, A15, A16, A23, A27, A28, A33 to A46 inclusive (brown) A31 to A34, A37 to A43 inclusive with engine turned burele on margin (brown).

Mrs. Oughtred also states that examination of sheets of the ordinary 1c postage stamps at the Montreal Post Office disclosed the barest traces of plate numbers, not a letter or figure being legible.

(1389)—Mr. Harry G. Ream shows us the "Brockville Fair and Horse Show 1917 Aug. 20-23" advertising cancellation, from Brockville, Ontario.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—The Colonial Journal, for July, states: "A supply of 1½d war stamps has been ordered, and as no 1½d duty plate is in existence it has been decided to produce these stamps by overprinting the 2½d duty with the new value 1½d and the words 'War Stamp' in black. The 2½d stamps required for this purpose will be taken from a new supply of 2½d stamps which is in course of printing."

CEYLON.—The Colonial Journal states: "The 20 rupee postage and revenue stamps have been supplied from plate No. 5."

CHILE—(1385)—Mr. Benjamin Cadbury has shown us the 10c current adhesive in much deeper colors, dark blue and deep black in place of the earlier blue and gray-black (or blue-black).

Adhesive.

10c dark blue and deep black.

In our Chronicle of April 28th we mentioned three different shades of the current 2c. It is easy to perceive that the Dujardin printing presses are going to turn out many shades; two shades of the 5c having been mentioned in these columns, but we have actually seen four shades of this value.

Mr. Benjamin Cadbury is the first to show us a provisional envelope used from Chile, but we have no information as to when it was issued. It consists of the 2c green on bluish of 1911, portrait of Montt, surcharged:

10
DIEZ CENTAVOS

in black. The numerals being over the numerals "2" and the "Diez Centavos" being below the bottom of the stamp.

DOMINICA.—(1384)—The Rev. L. Meister informs us that Dominica is without war stamps, at least, for the present.

Advertising Chat

BREAKING UP HOUSEKEEPING.
(From the St. Cloud, Minn., Times.)
For sale cheap—1 carpet loom, 1 letter press, 1 set auto headlight deflectors, 1 kerosene oil heater, single harness and bride. Hubert Hansen.

—There is something wrong about this advt. and while one is trying to find out what is wrong the goods remain unsold. Does Mr. Hansen really want to dispose of a fractious wife, or is it a bridle he has for sale? It makes some difference, surely.

—When you write your advertisement take just as much pains as though you were talking to a man and trying to get his business. Some advertising copy comes to this office in such shape that out of sheer pity we typewrite it for the printer. It's a wonder Mr. Jewett makes so few mistakes in translating into English the copy that reaches him.

—These remarks do not apply to Mr. Sledd's copy. Note his big advt. this week. His copy was meat and drink to the compositor even as his offerings of stamps will be to the stamp man. This is Mr. Sledd's season-opener and we hope he will be with us frequently.

—Mr. Michael gives us a glimpse this week of his command of the English language. A later word from him is postmarked Montreal. If his ride around the islands at Alexandria could inspire such superb prose, I wonder what the swirling rapids of the St. Lawrence would produce. He is some word artist.

—"The Charm of Stamp Collecting," only 25c for 50. Use them day by day. Do something for your hobby.

—We have no line rate on advertising now. We sell ½ in., 1 in., or multiples as per advt. elsewhere.

—If unable to take out a money order for the amount of your subscription, remit in stamps of the 4c, 6c, 8c, 20c or 30c denominations. Make a note of this.

—Our "Three in One" Contract has been well advertised in our columns and we know it will be a favorite this season. Week by week we shall introduce the advertisers who make use of our latest proposal in advertising.

—September is here.

The 1c, 2c and 3c have the overprint similar to the 1913 large "OFICIAL" and the 4c has the overprint in type similar to the 1886 "OFICIAL."

FANNING ISLAND.—Mr. Robert V. Walton has received the current stamps of New Zealand franking mail from Fanning Island, and writes to us: "On Aug. 6th I received three covers from Fanning Island, all posted with the New Zealand stamps. As you may know, this island was included within the boundaries of the Gilbert & Ellice Islands, on Jan. 27th, 1916, but evidently the post office has not yet been transferred from the hands of the New Zealand authorities to those of the Gilbert & Ellice Islds."

We have no authority to quote regarding the above, so we put the matter up to our readers, who may be able to explain.

FINLAND.—(1384)—Whitfield King & Co.'s List publishes the following: "The Finnish Senate has now approved of new postage stamps which will be available both for inland and foreign correspondence. The design will consist of the Finnish arms in an oval, with wavy border inscription 'SUOMI' above, 'FINLAND' below, with values in corners. There will be ten denominations as follows: 2½ penni, gray; 5p green; 10p red; 20p yellow; 25p dark blue; 40p lilac; 50p olive-green; 1 mark brown; 5m violet; and 10m dark gray. On the three higher values the central design will be in gray. It is not known when the new stamps will be ready for issue."

FRENCH MOROCCO.—Champion's Bulletin chronicles a new Red Cross stamp for the French Bureaux in Morocco. The stamp of 1911, without "Protectorat Francais" has been utilized, and has been surcharged with the "+5" (small Paris) in red.

Red Cross Stamp.

+5c on 10c bright dark red.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA.—(British Occupation.)—(1378)—The Colonial Journal for July publishes the following: "Overprinted G. E. A. on East Africa Protectorate postage and revenue stamps, a supply of all duties has been despatched. The overprint is in block type of small size for the cent duties and wider, bold block type with square periods for the rupee values. The overprint is in red on the one cent, 50 cent, and one rupee, and in black on all other duties. The stamps are all printed from plates numbered 1."

The stamps referred to that have been overprinted are those of East Africa and Uganda Protectorates. The values and colors, we believe, are:

GREECE.—(1389)—Further denominations of the War Tax stamps have been put to use and a list in Champion's Bulletin is added to what we have already chronicled to make the following list to date:

War Tax Stamps.

1l on 1l red-brown.	1l on 80l blue fiscal.
1l on 3l orange.	5l on 10l blue fis.(R).

The "K. P." on the stamps stands for "Kinonikis (social) Pronias (charity)."

HEDJAZ.—(1380)—The London Philatelist chronicles a new value added to the current set, having received a sheet of fifty from the Survey of Egypt.

Adhesive. Rouletted.

2½ pale magenta.

Mr. Eugene Klein shows us postage due stamps issued for the Kingdom of Hedjaz. They are upright rectangular stamps of Arabesque design divided into three parts, the center panel being almost square and twice the size of top and bottom panels. The general appearance of the designs is the same for all values but differ in minor details. The panel at top contains (in Arabic) "BAREED HEDJAZI" (Hedjaz Mail) and the one at the bottom contains (also in Arabic) "MUSTAHHIK" (Due), the center panels contain (in native Arabic) large numerals, on the 20 paras with "twenty" and "paras" respectively above and below the numeral, and on the 1 piastre and 2 piastres, "one" and "piastre" and "two" and "piastres" at the left and right of the numerals respectively. They are on unwatermarked coarse weave, though smooth surface, paper, rouletted in zigzag lines.

Postage Dues.

1pi blue.
2pi light magenta.

ITALY.—(Post Offices in the Levant)—(1388)—Mr. Frank Clark Cosby writes: "I have the 20c Italy, orange, overprinted 'Rodi'. It is on the new 20c same as Scott's type Italy A39—not on the No. 80, type A35, which I note you list also as having been issued."

This was properly chronicled on June 23rd. We would like to see the stamp mentioned in the Chronicle of August 4, the 1901 20c overprinted "Rodi", we having mentioned it on the authority of our French contemporary, Champion's Bulletin.

Champion's Bulletin chronicles the Italian 20c stamp of 1916 overprinted with the names of the several islands in the Aegean Sea occupied by Italy:

Adhesives.

20c orange, Calimno.	20c orange, Nisiros.
20c orange, Caso.	20c orange, Patmos.
20c orange, Cos.	20c orange, Piscopi.

20c orange, Lipso.	20c or'ge, Stampalia.

JAMAICA.—(1390)—(Our sub-title should have referred to 1389 instead of 1381 last week.) Ewen's Weekly Stamp News for July 28th, publishes lists of varieties found on panes of the ½d, 1½d and 3d War Stamps with two line large type overprint. These varieties are in addition to those previously mentioned by our contemporary. They are: ½d. Period after W—"W.AR". Period after T—"ST.AMP." Period after A—"STA.MP." Smaller "A" and block type "R". "M" without serifs. Block type "P". Thick "P" and small raised period.

1½d. Smaller "A" and block type "R". "M" without serifs. Block type "P". Thick "P" and small raised period.

3d. Italic "P". Old Roman type "P". Stop after W—"W.AR". Stop after T—"ST.AMP." Stop after A—"STA.MP." Smaller "A" and block type "R". "M" without serifs. Block type "P". Thick "P" and small raised period. Extra large period.

LIBERIA.—(1388)—Further provisionals are chronicled by Champion's Bulletin:

Provisional Adhesives.

10c on 50c green and black (No. 110).

Provisional Official.

1c on 2c crimson and brown (No. 310).

The 10c on 50c adhesive and the 1c on 2c official come with six different types of surcharge.

LIECHTENSTEIN.—(1388)—Please correct our Chronicle of August 4th to read:

Adhesives.

15h red.

PANAMA.—(1385)—We are in receipt of a communication from Mr. Frank E. Greene which clears up the question put in our Chronicle of July 14th, referring to the misplaced 'A.R." overprint. Mr. Greene writes: "Concerning your exception as to the description of the shifted surcharge of the Panama 'A.R.' stamp as printed in 'The Stamp Trade' and reprinted in the WEEKLY of July 14th, I have to acknowledge that I made a mistake. I have no excuses to offer. The words: 'as does the last vertical row' should not have appeared for the last vertical row is identical with all of the vertical rows except the first which is correctly described."

REUNION.—A new 15c has been issued, (Scott's type A19), according to Champion's Bulletin.

15c black and ultramarine.

RHODESIA.—The London Philatelist publishes the following: "Mr. F. H. Ansell has sent us a photo of a vertical pair of the 3sh stamps of 1896-7. The top stamp is perforated at top and both sides, but the bottom stamp is entirely imperf. The whole of the bottom row of the sheet apparently escaped perforation.

RUSSIA.—Champion's Bulletin chronicles Republican provisionals as being issued, consisting of various denominations of the 1913 Romanoff series, the small currency series, and the recently surcharged new value series, overprinted with crossed swords superimposed by a liberty cap. The sword hilts are at the top. At the left, top, and right, be-

ST. VINCENT.—(1382)—The Rev. L. Meister informs us of the receipt of a new printing of the 1d, London print, one line, War Stamps. Our correspondent states that the color is darker and the overprint a trifle thicker, otherwise the same.

SALVADOR.—A new series of stamps is now in use here and copies have been shown to us by Mr. F. P. Hand and the Pitman Stamp Co. The picture of a large building appears in the center, with the frames differing in each instance. "Correos El Salvador" appears at top and the value at the bottom, with the numerals of value at the sides, either at top, middle side, lower side, or lower corners. They are finely engraved, American Bank Note Co. style, are printed on unwatermarked white (bluish-white) wove paper, and are perforated 12. The values are:

(1386)—The Pitman Stamp Co. confirms our surmise that there is a regular postage set also an official set with overprint "S", as we remarked in our Chronicle of July 21st. The postage set was Chronicled by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. last November, and the Official series was chronicled by us in these columns on June 23rd.

SIERRA LEONE.—The Colonial Journal states: "The ½d and 4d postage and revenue stamps have been printed from plate No. 5."

SOMALILAND.—A new 1a thin buff International Post Card has been prepared for this Protectorate, according to The Colonial Journal.

Postal Card.

1a red on thin buff.

SPANISH MOROCCO.—Mail from a correspondent in Melilla, Spanish Morocco, is franked with ordinary unoverprinted Spanish stamps, so why the overprinted stamps are issued, except for sale to collectors, we do not know.

VIRGIN ISLANDS.—(British.)—A supply of the 1d stamps printed from plate 5 has been sent to this Colony, states The Colonial Journal.

A. P. S. OFFICERS' REPORTS.

At every convention there are many reports presented that are formal in nature and have nothing of special importance in them. We are, however, indebted to Dr. H. A. Davis, secretary of the American Philatelic Society, for the privilege of examining several of the more important reports submitted at Alexandria Bay.

The report of the President will no doubt be published in its entirety in our issue of Sept. 1.

The report of the Board of Vice Presidents was quite brief. There were eight expulsions from membership during the past year and two applications were rejected. Claims were allowed against the insurance fund amounting to $15.79. The committee reported the gratifying fact that judgment had been recovered against a former member for the loss of books belonging to the sales department. It also took the ground that a member receiving a selection of stamps must return the same "by a channel as safe as that through which he received it." The Board urged that any member making sales of stamps for other persons, whether by auction or private sale, should not put the proceeds with their own funds but treat the obligation to the owner as "in the nature of a trust fund."

The report of the Secretary, Dr. Davis, showed a total membership of 1609, a gain of 60 over the previous year. 225 new members were admitted and to P. M. Wolsieffer belongs the honor of proposing 15. An interesting section of the Secretary's report is the statement that $47.50 expended for advertising in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY was productive of 188 replies, from which 44 new members were received. No other paper used produced such good results.

The report of the Treasurer, C. F. Heyerman, showed an excellent condition of the finances. The credit balances in the five different accounts and funds totalled nearly $8,000.00, and deducting the debit balance on account of the publishing of the American Philatelist, there was a net balance of $6,502.16. Some money.

The editor of the American Philatelist, Wm. E. Ault, presented a very interesting report. It is quite lengthy and we do not have the space to publish it in full. Credit is given to those members who have helped from the literary standpoint. Editor Ault regrets that "dealers do not make as much use of our advertising columns as we should like" but this is a regret that is voiced by all philatelic publishers. Mr. Ault has done a good work during his editorship of the publication, and an energetic effort is to be made to secure second class rates.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

OTHER BOOKS AND OTHER MEN.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

"Ef 'twant so fur f'om th' base o' supplies, we might reap the reward uv eternal vigilance," said Jimmy O'. as he flopped into the hammock, after throwing his Stetson upon the ground beside him.

"Now look at that!" and he held up to my gaze an item in the WEEKLY, setting forth the joy it would give a friendly collector "back East" to bestow his files of the American Journal of Philately upon some club, society, or indivdiual, for the asking.

"Now me—I see it—an' I sure lose."

Jimmy looked funereal.

"Did you write?" I asked, solicitously.

"W'at, me? Nope. But I bet you did. An' if you did, you sure was lef' at th' post."

"Yes, Jimmy, I wrote. But I wasn't even left at the post,—I never left the paddock, which is worse."

Whereupon I tossed the irrepressible Jimmy a letter which I had received a few days before from the owner of the afore-mentioned magazines. It read as follows:

"While you were not quite the eleven-hundredth applicant for the old Journals, you were just too late to get them, for which I am very sorry, as I think Jimmy O'. and his pard would have much enjoyed looking them over."

The letter was signed with the name of the big-hearted man who had given of his riches.

Jimmy read the letter through twice. Then he handed it back, and began to roll a cigarette. Once enflame, he began:

"That sure is a right proper letter. I'm glad he said that about me an' Eddy. He appreciates—he sure does. You see, out here, people back there think we're a lot o' barbarians wit'out any feelin's an' not carin' a whop fer things t' read. W'y, fren' o' mine, I've been so plum hongry fer readin' I c'd a'most be grateful fer even an auction list—an' that's sayin' a lot. W'y one time, I hadn't seen even a paper in nigh two months, w'en, one mornin' early, there rolls inter my han's—bein' borne on a nice Arizony sandstorm breeze—a pretty ratty copy uv a Chicago paper called the Interior, Presbyterian, I take it—preforeordestination an' all that. Well, I jest sat there an' read it through twice, 'vertisements an' all. It had a poem in it, too,—great stuff. Listen."

And then, to my amazement, Jimmy O'. sloughed his every-day language, and began to recite Browning's "Over the seas our galleys went"—to the end. He read the verses sympathetically and appreciatively,—read them with understanding and full knowledge of their subtler meanings. At the end he paused, with a dreamy look. Presently he resumed:

"Well, I read that there paper over an' over fer four days an' I c'd recite it f'om beginnin' t' end. But that there poem—oh, yes! an' this one, too—"

Here Jimmy swung into the immortal cadences of Keats's sonnet, "On First Looking into Chapman's Homer."

"Well, as I was sayin', I wore that there paper out. Then I got back to town an' sat aroun' fer a hull week, jest readin'. Gee! I sure read up that time.

"And then—and then—" Jimmy O.' spoke shamedly, rapidly, with no trace of his habitual carelessness of speech: and your other books, and allowed me "You came, with your philatelic library full access to them. Good God!—I say it reverently—there is an unappeasable hunger of the soul totally eclipsing hunger of the body—the yearning a book lover has for a volume he knows he never can possess."

Jimmy O'. fell silent once more. It was ten minutes before he looked up, with his twisted smile, and resumed:

"Couple years ago a man come to Willow an' opened w'at 'e called a stationary shop. It was a dandy shop—nice stock o' things—some books, too. I bought stuff there—an' the boys. Well, he went on fer a while, doin' pretty well—played poker some—good player, too. Then he los' money—business an' cyards didn't 'gree. Went broke. Say, frien' o' mine, I've played cyards fer money, but w'en I see w'at it done t' that chap I quits right there. The las' thing I bought off'n him was a book. I got it here—an', by heck! I'll give it t' yuh."

Jimmy disappeared long enough to search out a little volume, which he had carefully wrapped in a bit of canvas, and placed it in my hands.

I opened it. It was the abridged edition of the English Oppen album, the covers in royal purple and gold, the letterpress in brown ink The name it bore on a fly-leaf was that of a boyhood chum. And this was his son,—this waster of life—this card-player who had fled, leaving a dishonored name! In my soul I was glad neither his father nor his mother had survived him.

I turned the leaves. Canada! There were one or two stamps which I recognized as part of my own boyhood collection, back in the '70's; a triangular Cape; some Switzerland; and so the pages to the end, disclosing memory upon memory. I sat holding the precious volume until my brimming eyes dimmed the pages. After a little, I looked up to thank Jimmy O'. for his gift,—a precious legacy. But he was gone, nor did I see him again for many, many days.

U. S. REVENUE STAMPS.

DOCUMENTARY AND PROPRIETARY.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

CHAPTER XXVII.

General Remarks—Issues 1875-83.

The general issues of the civil war revenues may be divided conveniently into three groups. Two of these groups comprise the documentaries and proprietaries engraved and printed by Butler & Carpenter, and later by Joseph R. Carpenter, in Philadelphia, of which the first group is the first issue and the second group includes the stamps issued from September 1, 1871, to the expiration of Mr. Carpenter's contract August 31, 1875, and a few proprietaries printed by Mr. Carpenter but issued from the Bureau of Internal Revenue after August, 1875. The third group takes in the issues during the succeeding eight years until all the documentary and proprietary taxes were abolished July 1, 1883, and may also be divided into three parts, that is, stamps printed by the National Bank Note Co., by the American Bank Note Co., and last, by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It is, however, so difficult to distinguish the American Bank Note Co. stamps that usually only two printings of this third group are considered—(1) those stamps on unwatermarked green tinted paper containing silk fibres, all of which were printed by the National Bank Note Co. and—(2) those on watermarked green paper without silk fibres, the majority of which were printed by the Bureau at Washington.

In a write up of the Boston Revenue Book in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for January 3, 1901, over the signatures of Messrs. Toppan, Deats and Holland, they state that the book was largely compiled from records of Butler & Carpenter, Joseph R. Carpenter, The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and the American Bank Note Company, but in the book itself there is not the slightest reference to printings by the American Bank Note Company, and this company is not even mentioned. Fortunately there is available ample proof this company printed both general issues and private die stamps, although most of its product never has been identified.

From September 1, 1875, to early in 1879 the National Bank Note Co., of New York, held the contract for printing all the adhesive documentary and proprietary stamps and when this company was consolidated with the Continental Bank Note Co., and the old American Bank Note Co., about February 1, 1879, the consolidated concern, known since as the American Bank Note Co., succeeded to this contract and continued to supply the stamps for nearly two years until the Bureau of Engraving and Printing took over the work in October, 1880.

When the National Co., obtained the contract in 1875 it prepared new designs to replace the stamps then in use—one 2c stamp for the bank check tax and six stamps from 1c to 6c for the tax on proprietary articles, but no higher value proprietaries were prepared because there was then a large supply and very little demand for the green and black second issue 10c, 50c, $1 and $5 stamps on hand. The plates of the new stamps bore the National Company's imprint and, in general, were used successively by the American Co., and by the Bureau, new ones being made from the same transfers as required. New plates made later by the Bureau bore the Bureau imprint, but those which the Bureau used but did not make have the National Company's imprint crossed out and "Bu E & P" with initials engraved on the margins. The writer has not seen any of these documentary or general proprietary stamps with the American Company's imprint, either plain or scratched by the Bureau engravers, but has seen the American Company's imprint on some of the private die stamps first issued during 1879-80, and is inclined to believe the American Company's imprint was placed only on plates made by this company from original dies and transfer rolls also engraved by it.

This is one reason why it is almost impossible to distinguish any of the American Bank Note Co. stamps from the Bureau printings, or from the National printings on watermarked paper. Another reason is the difficulty of obtaining definite information from dated Cancellations dated months and even years before the stamps on which they are found could have been issued are met with and, of course, many stamps were not used until a long time after they were issued.

Chapter XXVIII.

Paper, Issues 1875-83.

So far as is known, all the paper with silk fibres was made by Willcox at Glen Mills, Pa., and continued to be used after 1874 and until 1878. The Henry A. Clark match stamp is found only on silk fibre white paper and was first issued in November, 1877, which shows the silk paper was still in use at that time. According to the Boston Book (page 130) eleven boxes of "Private Die Stamp Paper, New Paper," (watermarked) was received by the National Bank Note Co. between November 26, 1876, and August 27, 1877, and yet it is at least doubtful if any watermarked paper was used for either private die stamps or general issues before January, 1878, when the 4c Centaur Co. medicine stamp, known to exist only on watermarked paper, was first issued.

The following extracts from the annual reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, which are the first pertinent references to paper contracts after 1871, do not seem to agree with the statements in the Boston Book regarding pink and watermarked paper, but throw considerable light upon the subject:—

Report of June 30, 1877.—"The stock of stamps printed and in the hands of the bank-note companies of New York was during the months of September and October last (1876) brought to the Treasury Department in Washington, from which place they are now issued to collectors (of internal revenue). Advertisement has recently been made for proposals for paper to be used in printing internal revenue stamps, and it is believed a large saving will be effected in the cost of paper. I estimate that with reduced cost by printing at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing to save over $68,000 per year."

Report of June 30, 1878.—"In response to the advertisement referred to in my last report, bids were received from a number of the most prominent paper manufacturers of the country for furnishing paper for internal revenue stamps, and the lowest bid, which was made by Messrs. S. D. Warren & Co. of Boston, Mass., was accepted. The prices paid under the contract are 10½c per pound for vegetable sized paper and 11½c per pound for animal sized paper, about nine-tenths of the quantity used being of the former kind. The price paid under the previous contract was 20c per pound, and the annual saving effected by this change amounts to nearly $25,000.

The paper furnished is distinctive in color and is watermarked with the letters "U S I R" in such a way that each square inch of every sheet bears some portion of the watermark. The paper is manufactured under the supervision of an agent, who with a suitable guard is stationed at the mill. The paper is counted, boxed and shipped to the Secretary of the Treasury, who issues the same to the Bureau of Engraving & Printing. No change has been made during the year in the contracts for the manufacture of paper or for the printing of such stamps as are not printed by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing of this department.

The stamps issued by this office are engraved and printed in the highest style of the art of bank-note engraving and printing, and it is a matter of congratulation that successful counterfeiting thereof has not been accomplished. Stamps for documentary and proprietary articles continue to be printed by the National Bank Note Co. of New York, stamps for checks, drafts or orders by the Graphic Co. of New York, and stamps for foil tobacco wrappers by Mr. John J. Crooke of New York. The stamps furnished have been satisfactory and it is believed that the rates paid are as low as can be obtained."

This part of the report for 1878 reads as though no change had been made during the year ending June 30, 1878, in the contracts or paper for documentary and proprietary stamps printed by the National Bank Note Co., but this meaning evidently is not the correct one. Later reports indicate the animal sized paper was used exclusively for check and proprietary stamps, and there is plenty of proof the National Bank Note Co. began to use the watermarked paper before June 30, 1878. None of the private die stamps first issued after January 1, 1878, are known to exist on the silk paper.

The Warren contract went into effect December 14, 1877; the first orders for green, white and magenta paper were all dated December 21, 1877, and the first shipments were made in January, 1878. During that month white and green paper and the entire order of magenta paper 345,000 sheets (except 14,000 sheets delivered in February)— was shipped. The white paper was for "Private Die Stamps," measured 13 x 16½ inches, and at first weighed 18 pounds per thousand sheets. Later the weight was increased to 20 pounds. The green paper was for "Documentary & General Proprietary Stamps," measured 12½ x 16 inches, and weighed 22 pounds. The magenta paper was for "Special Tax Stamps," measured 15 x 15½ inches, and weighed 33 pounds. It cost 1¼c per pound extra.

This magenta paper is not known to have been used for general documentary or proprietary stamps, but apparently it is the "pink" paper that was used quite extensively for a short time for some of the private die revenues. That it was intended to be used for special tax stamps may explain why it was not watermarked. Green tinted paper having been in use for years and white not being what would be considered a distinctive color, it is rather difficult to decide which paper the commissioner had in mind as being "distinctive in color and watermarked."

S. D. Warren & Co. continued to supply the revenue paper for nearly four years. On September 9, 1882, the contract was awarded to the Fairchild Paper Co., also of Boston, and the latter concern held it until 1885, when it passed to Alexander Balfour of Philadelphia, who commenced manufacturing stamp paper July 20, 1885. Thus 80% to 90% of all the watermarked stamps were printed on the Warren paper, while the Fairchild paper was in use on documentary and proprietary stamps less than ten months and the Balfour paper not at all. The watermarked paper is mostly rather thick, soft wove. The green paper varies considerably in tint, even on unused stamps, sometimes being quite bluish.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XIX.

A Few Statistics.

We have already mentioned the fact that the entire issue of the first 3 cents imperforate stamp consisted of 500,000 (5,000 sheets) while of the 3 and 4 cents perforated 250,000 of each were sent to the West Indies. Although the 4 cents value had but a short life it is presumed the entire supply was exhausted, for there are no records of any remainders.

So far as the stamps of the 1873 type are concerned the official figures make no distinctions between the two sorts of paper or perforation or the two types in the case of the 5 cents denomination. During the period extending from the date of issue of the several values until 1900 the following quantities are said to have been printed and despatched to the Danish West Indies:—

1 cent,	1,000,000	10 cents,	1,400,000
3 cents,	1,400,000	12 cents,	301,000
4 cents,	350,000	14 cents,	100,000
5 cents,	1,100,000	50 cents,	150,000
7 cents,	350,000

Although the above are said to be based on figures extracted from official records we feel that they can hardly be relied on in all cases. Either some error has been made in transcribing the quantities from the official records or mistakes have been made in the records themselves otherwise the 4 cents and 50 cents should both be quite rare stamps. From the above, too, again presuming the figures to be accurate, must be deducted the 3c, 7c, 10c and 50c which were used in the production of various provisionals.

The figures for the 14 cents are probably correct, but we do not think too much reliance can be placed on any of the others.

We can find no information relating to the quantities issued of either of the provisionals of 1887 or 1895, while as regards varieties issued after that date we know that at least one supply of 325 sheets (32,500 stamps) of the large type 2 cents on 3 cents surcharge of 1902 were sent to the Colony from Copenhagen. Of the 8 cents on 10 cents Mr. Hanciau says there were 107,500 (1,075 sheets), but these figures probably include the surcharge of both types.

Finally, we find that of the discreditable "5 bit" surcharges of 1905 the following were printed:—

5 bit on 4 cents, 124,800
5 bit on 5 cents, 56,400
5 bit on 8 cents, 68,700

We have already shown that exactly 22,000 of each were disposed of and that the balance were destroyed in 1906.

At the time these stamps were destroyed all other obsolete Danish West Indian stamps were also burnt, as shown by the following extract from the Monthly Journal for January, 1907:—

"On 15th November the Colonial Office at Copenhagen burnt the whole stock existing of Danish West Indian stamps—adhesives, envelopes, postcards, and unpaid letter stamps with value in cents. The destruction took place in the presence of a number of officials from the Board of Finance and General Post Office. The following quantities of stamps were destroyed by fire in the Royal Institute of Destruction at Frederiksberg, near Copenhagen:—

574 sheets 4c (57,400 stamps) Perf. 12½, 13.
1,511 sheets 5c (151,100 stamps) Perf. 12½, 13.
692 sheets 7c (69,200 stamps) Perf. 14x13½.
440 sheets 8c (44,000 stamps) Perf. 12½, 13.
338 sheets 10c (33,800 stamps) Perf. 12½.
782 sheets 12c (78,200 stamps) 14x13½.
486 sheets 50c (48,600 stamps) 14x13½.

Further, about 8,000 envelopes and 30,000 postcards.

Of unpaid letter stamps the following were destroyed:—

138 sheets of 4 cents (13,800 stamps).
297 sheets of 6 cents (29,700 stamps).
172 sheets of 10 cents (17,200 stamps).

EDITORIAL.

Sale—The sale of the Worthington stamps at auction by J. C. Morgenthau & Co., New York City, was the event of the philatelic off-season; and the occasion proved to be one that was in keeping with its importance. The attendance was a representative one and was attracted from near and far. We have been told that the enthusiasm shown was sincere and that the prices that were obtained were satisfactory. For an August sale, it will stand on a pinnacle. Once again the amazing vitality and elasticity of the stamp market comes in for admiration. The many rare and other stamps making up the Worthington holdings have been absorbed by the market as easily as a blotter encompasses an ink-drop. For that matter we have never heard any rash predictions as to a saturation point in the stamp market. Colonel Edward Green, the son of Hetty Green, whose marriage was celebrated several months ago, timed his honeymoon, according to the newspapers, so as to be at the Worthington sale, where he is reported to have purchased ten thousand dollars' worth or so of good old United States, the gem of the lot being the thirty cents, 1869, with flags inverted, for which well over a thousand dollars was paid.

Revised—It was not made clear in our remarks about the errors that had been sent out from Washington until a comparatively recent period that the error sheets were included in the stamp supplies already packed for shipment. In other words, the stamps were not unpacked or unstapled after they were ready for sending out. This explanation is made to correct any impression that intentionally the error sheets are being sent to offices.

* * *

Shrinkage—We have been shown some examples of paper shrinkage in earlier U. S. issues that while interesting do not prove anything of importance. When the design loans itself to the shrinkage, the effect is somewhat startling. We quote: "In the 1870 to 1890 period, the paper cut seems to have been the other way, so that the normal shrinkage came up and down the stamp (the stitch watermark, where seen in this period, came up and down the stamp) and except in a very few cases the designs are about normal."

* * *

How—Our idea of the highest crag of fore-handedness is found in the course of a continued story that is being syndicated in some of the newspapers: "'It's a special delivery letter, also registered,' he explained. . . . But I was wildly excited. As Dicky handed the letter to her, I thought that I caught sight of a foreign stamp, and the conviction seized upon me that the letter was from my father in South America." We assume that any special delivery stamp was one of our U. S. specials, which the traveler took the precaution to include in his kit; but then, the authoress speaks of "a foreign stamp" on the envelope which must have paid the regular postage, the registry fee and the special delivery tax. What do you make of it, Old Grill?

* * *

Mix—In an auction catalogue, we find a lot described: "2883a, close on 5 sides, large margin on the other, sold as is." Of course we understand how 5 was used instead of 3. A stamp paper describes a collector as a great "society philatelist," thereby showing that there is an upper ten and class distinctions in our little world. A budding writer reveals a striking strain of originality in a stamp story by finding the Brattleboro stamp on a cover that contained a receipt for a subscription to the Brattleboro Vermonter, a weekly publication of the times. The moral, which strikes between the eyes, is pay your subscription.

Where—"What has become of the old-fashioned collector, the vest-pocket philatelist of yesteryear" asks a sub (on second thought, subscriber) who is not referring to the Vest Pocket Philatelist, once published by Dr. H. A. Davis, but to the care-free collector who came to your home a-trading, after school, and who removed his stamps from his vest-pocket, all neatly folded into little squares. This o. f. c. is probably discussing in some sequestered nook, the Blaine and Cleveland campaign with the old-fashioned dealer who used to assert that he did not care to handle unused stamps to any great extent because they could not compare in collectibility to used ones.

Consequence—Our remarks last week about the correspondent who asked if we "exchanged" through Harper's Young People in 1882 or thereabouts is to be credited with making the first contribution to a fund of reminiscence that has its interest. Another reader arises to say that in 1882, as he remembers, he was a patron of the exchange column of that weekly of fond memory and that one of his correspondents of those golden days was Ellis Butler Parker of Muscatine, Iowa. We do not need to say that thirty-five years afterwards Ellis Parker Butler, Flushing, New York, is America's favorite humorist. That he still retains his affection for stamps is patent from his membership in the American Philatelic Society. Further, our memorialist says that in those days he patronized a dealer who achieved the eminence of advertising in Harper's Young People; and he adds that no other dealer could vie with this one in the neatness and attractions of his approval selections. The dealer in question was none other than E. R. Ackerman of Plainfield, New Jersey, who as Senator Ackerman, is known universally as an irreproachable philatelist and one of the truly elect of collectors.

Question—We get our new issues by the easy chair route and no longer try to make our own importations by the somewhat uncertain aid of foreign correspondents. Consequently, when we receive an inquiry such as the subjoined, we submit it to the routine sources of information, such as the local post office folks, etc., and these failing us, we can depend usually on our readers for a solution of a problem. A reader asks: "Can you give me a little information on a subject that I am uncertain on? Please tell me what stamps are used in the Caroline Islands. I have heard that the stamps used are the North West Pacific Island, but no one seems to tell from first knowledge. Some say that the British Australian forces are garrisoned in the Caroline Islands, and others say the Japanese. If you can give me this information I will greatly appreciate it, although I dislike to 'worry' anyone with a small matter (to them)." We trust that the quest of our correspondent will not be bootless. We read some time ago that Japanese stamps were used from these islands when the Japanese soldiers were holding the islands. In 1915 we reprinted from the Australian Stamp Journal of June, 1915, a "philatelic map of western Pacific" which showed that the Caroline Islands, from Yap to Kusaie, stretched over one thousand miles and averaged about three thousand miles distance from Sydney, New South Wales.

DUTCH INDIES "POSTAGE DUES."

Henry A. Meyer of Evansville, Ind., writing us in connection with the translation of the inscription on the early postage due stamps of the Dutch Indies, questions the standing of the labels from a philatelic standpoint. It will be remembered that Mr. Poole discussing Type D 1 thus referred to it:—"A plain label said to have been used as a postage due stamp." Mr. Meyer says:—

"The fact that some uncertainty exists together with the fact that the Dutch Indies issued no regular postage stamps till nearly 20 years later, causes me to advance the theory that these are not postage due stamps at all as we understand that term today. For of what use could postage due stamps be when there are no postage stamps to be lacking on the letter? Because there were spaces to be filled out, I am of the opinion that these labels served much the same purpose as a "Collect" tag on express packages today, the first one for collecting the charges, the second for collecting the value of the shipment. That was quite a modern arrangement for such early stages of postal service, but it must be remembered that even at that time Batavia was a progressive city, and the theory of the existence of such a service in 1845 is by no means preposterous."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Fernald Hutchins, for a long time an active member of the Boston Philatelic Society and an earnest philatelist, has gone to the officers' training camp at Plattsburg.

—The Franklin Stamp Co. of Philadelphia may well feel proud of the work it is doing in connection with the great war. T. Carlton Henry of the firm was awarded a captaincy at the recent officers' training camp at Fort Niagara, while Henry C. Gibson, another member of the firm is now serving with an American ambulance unit somewhere in France.

—The $50,000 St. Joseph Cathedral, the fine parish home and the Powell Stamp Co.'s assembling plant were burnt to the ground August 13, at Liebenthal, Kansas. The many millions of assorted postage stamps were saved as they are housed in three immense vaults. Several hundred of the better grade collections that were being assembled were destroyed along with valuable miscellaneous parcels from all parts of the world. The entire stock of Seebecks and foreign revenues were burnt. A small parcel containing 2,500 rare stamps were packed and ready for the morning mail and the loss of that package is the one that is most keenly felt as it contained rare stamps only. The stock destroyed constituted but a small part of the Company's holdings and orders will be filled in the usual good time with but few exceptions.

—The ad of H. Trenka, 803 Park Ave., West New York, New Jersey, is reprinted this week with correct address. In No. 1390 address was given as New York.

THE A. P. S. CONVENTION.

By C. A. Howes.

The Thirty-second Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society is now "history." In the absence of any invitation from a "local" society to be their guests, a preference was expressed at last year's Convention in Boston to meet at Alexandria Bay, New York, among the "Thousand Islands." And a lovely spot it proved to be for "conventioners," but the attendance of A. P. S. members was certainly disappointing, there being but twenty-two out of our sixteen hundred who registered. These, with sixteen "guests," made a total of but forty-eight—one of the smallest conventions ever held. The attendance of members has been smaller on but one occasion, the organizing convention held in New York City in 1886, when twenty-one members were present. At Niagara Falls in 1892 and at Clayton, N. Y., in 1903, there were twenty-three members registered, but in the past twelve years the number has not previously fallen below seventy.

What the cause of this lack of enthusiasm or interest may have been is not wholly apparent to the writer, for he knows of many who professed their intention of being present but who utterly failed to put in an appearance at the appointed time and place. But for the benefit of those who did not come it must be said that they missed not only a harmonious convention, but a good time and fine vacation trip with weather that left nothing to be desired. The entertainment features had necessarily to be arranged for by "long distance" but proved thoroughly enjoyable though rearranged somewhat according to conditions on the spot.

The first session on Tuesday, August 14th, was occupied almost wholly with the usual reports of officers and committees for the past year. These showed the generally healthy condition and smooth working of the machinery of the Society. The campaign for 2000 members resulted in a total membership on August 15th of 1607, a good advance toward the goal. This result is largely due to the energy put into the work by Secretary Davis, and also the incentive of the prizes offered for new members by several who were good enough to thus "do their bit."

The afternoon was occupied by a three hour "ramble" through the "Thousand Islands" in a couple of motor boats, with a visit to the "Boldt Castle." The beauty of the region is perhaps best seen by motor boat trip, as the islands can be closely approached and many channels navigated that are closed to larger vessels.

The evening was reserved for a "Bourse" at the hotel, the Marsden House, where those who desired could buy, sell or exchange the treasures they had brought along with them and swap stories of more or less philatelic flavor. Some of the ladies improved the evening at the "movies."

The second day's session was comparatively short, as there was little left over from the previous day. The Standing Committees were appointed and most of them met for their deliberations at the close of the business session.

The official photograph was taken at noon on a point of land with a view toward the river, and turned out a very creditable piece of work.

The afternoon was given up to "individual preference," some going fishing, some motoring and some taking more of the beautiful boat trips among the islands. In the evening it had been intended to take the "searchlight" trip on the large steamer, but as this was illumination night for the residents of the Islands, it was decided that the motor boats would give us a nearer and more enjoyable view and two hours were spent in going the rounds of the "fairyland"—a most delightful experience.

The last day saw business concluded in good season. Mr. Jos. B. Leavy had been delegated by the National Museum to present a paper on the U. S. Government Collection, which was much enjoyed. The Standing Committees presented their reports and recommendations, which were acted upon, and then President-elect John W. Scott was called to the chair by President Howes, and made a short address to the meeting. Our old friend, "Sine Die Stone," was unable to be present, but delegated his prerogative to our old friend, "P. M." Wolsieffer—and the convention was over.

The last afternoon had been set aside for an automobile ride to Ogdensburg, but the small number to go necessitated a change and most of the party took the "50 mile ramble" on the steamer "Ramona," another delightful sail. The evening was spent in a card party at the hotel, progressive euchre being the game.

The three days were all bright, sunny, comfortable and filled with work and pleasure. There were 425 proxies available, but there was no occasion for their use. All was harmonious and happy and those who did not come should be envious of those who did.

THE MOST IMPORTANT INDIVIDUAL PIECE

in the famous Collection of Indian stamps formed by the late Sir D. P. Masson was the celebrated

Half Sheet of ½a Red (9½ arches)

Scott's No. 1

Having acquired this I offer as follows:—

½a red (Scott's No. 1, Cat. $50) Unused Single, $ 35.00
Unused Pair, 70.00
Unused Block of 4, 140.00

(Price for corner block of 4 showing corner ornament on application.)

The above are offered with my guarantee and signed!

The above ½a red is undoubtedly the most famous and interesting Indian stamp, occupying a position somewhat analogous to the Great Britain 1d black V. R.

This historic rarity should be in every Indian collection.

BAHAMAS.—(1384-86)—We take much pleasure in reprinting the following lengthy article from our esteemed London contemporary, Ewen's Weekly Stamp News:

"We have considered it advisable to withhold certain facts and figures relating to the 5d Special Delivery stamp, until the second or new issue has been definitely decided.

"The first issue now obsolete, as most of our readers are doubtless aware, was made by overprint on the remainder stock of the 5d, 1903 issue, printed on the old make of Crown CC watermarked paper. It was intended, we believe, that the latest printing of the 5d, in color changed to violet and gray, should be used for the new issue Special Delivery. Certain despatches of the overprinted Cr. CC issue were lost in sunken mails, and it was resolved the new issue should be printed in the old color.

"The original despatch of the Cr. CC issue, sent in Dec., 1915, from Nassau to Ottawa, consisted of 600 stamps only." (This has already been given in the Chronicle.) "From there supplies were made to three other offices appointed for use. The stamps were not sold over the counter, but affixed to envelopes by the clerk in charge upon presentation. Only envelopes despatched from Toronto and Montreal are in evidence bearing the stamps, but possibly some few may have been sent from Ottawa and another office. The Special Delivery stamp was not cancelled in Canada, but postmarked upon arrival in Nassau.

"All the stamps of the first consignment were of the plate 1 printing. It appears in this original supply one sheet was incorrectly printed, the last vertical row having escaped the overprint. A correspondent reports having secured from Toronto a horizontal pair, the first stamp with overprint and the second without.

"Upon our representations and advice, the restriction against sale to the public was abolished, and on Jan. 27th, 1917, the balance of stock on the Cr. CC paper, to the total of 6000 stamps, was issued." (These words tend to confirm our remarks of July 7th, when we stated that we believed the 600 and 6000 were all a continuous printing.) "This re-issue consisted mostly of sheets from plate 2, and only a few from the earlier plate 1 printing.

"Our records of the printings carry us a while back. Of the first printing of the 5d plate 1, in Jan., 1903, there were 188 sheets of 60. The next despatch to the Colony in June, 1903, contained a few of plate 1, the bulk being plate 2, in all, 207 sheets. The third delivery, made in Nov., 1903, consisted of 102 sheets, from plate 2." (We total these to 29,820 stamps; taking 6600 Special Delivery from this total, there remains a balance of 23,220 of the 5d ordinary postage.)

"There are distinctive shade differences of color. Apparently there were two or three separate printings made from plate 2. Sheets of all remained on hand, and were appropriated for the 'Special Delivery' overprint in 1915, there being at that time otherwise practically no use for the 5d value.

"The different shades are noted to be as follows:

"Printed from Plate 1.
5d red-orange and deep black.
"Printed from Plate 2.
5d orange and gray-black.
5d yellow-orange and gray-black.
5d intense-orange and gray-black.
5d orange and deep black.

"Of the overprinted issue, the corner pieces with plate 1 are rarities. In shades, the yellow-orange and intense-orange are very scarce.

"A setting of thirty pieces was made for the local overprint; a sheet of sixty stamps being completed by two operations. Though care was attempted to have the overprinting even, pairs and blocks from a few sheets are obtainable showing the overprint, as between the 6th and 7th vertical rows, out of alignment.

"In the setting, a slight deviation occurred in positioning the letters, with the result that some stamps show the 'V' of 'DELIVERY' precisely under the 'C' of 'SPECIAL', but on others spaced more to the left the 'V' appears beneath the letters 'EC', etc.

"Ordinarily the overprint is spaced near about two-fifths down on the stamps, but we found two sheets, one each of plate 1 and plate 2 showing the overprint across the top of the stamps.

"Amongst our purchases we secured a few blocks showing the overprint double. Two different correspondents also have each reported a sheet with double overprint. Presumably these are so printed only on certain rows, either on the left or right divisions of thirty, and not the entire sheet of sixty as with double occurring throughout is inferred." (Mr. Eugene Klein previously informed us of the existence of one sheet with double overprint. Mr. Klein had a half sheet of thirty, his correspondent informing him of the existence of one sheet. The two correspondents mentioned by Ewen's Weekly probably each had a half sheet, making the one sheet known.)

"Of the total issue, 6600 stamps, it is stated about one-third of quantity, contained in various despatches, was lost by a sunken mail. Of the balance approximately 2800 were received in this country, and 1200 in America and other places abroad." (This is interesting indeed. According to the figures given by our contemporary, 2200 were lost by sunken mails, 2800 were received in England, and 1200 received in America, total 6200, leaving only 400 for actual Special Delivery use from the several post offices in Canada.) "This appears to be the reason why an order was placed for a new printing in old colors, but the one insurmountable point of difference is that such new printing could only be made on the Mult. Cr. CA. watermarked paper, since none of the old Cr. CC. paper remained in existence.

"From the first we were of opinion that the original Cr. CC. locally overprinted issue could only be a very limited number, and would prove to be a comparatively scarce item in the War Issues. With the loss that occurred, and the several important shade varieties in the issue, the number available is restricted and value must considerably enhance.

"The Colonial Journal now announces —'A requisition for 5d 'Queen's Staircase' design, printed in the old color, orange and black, but on CA multiple white paper, and overprinted 'Special Delivery' in small block type in black ink, is in course of execution.'

"Our supply of this new issue on mult. Cr. CA. paper was delivered on Monday last. Instead of being a near match in color to either of the 1903 printings it is totally different, the frame design being in dull brown-orange. This issue is similarly in sheets of sixty, 12x5, printed from plate 2 on thick white mult. Cr. CA. paper. The overprint in black is in small block capital letters positioned as below the center of the stamps, and made in one operation over the sheets of sixty.

"A prominent variety, dropped 'D' in 'DELIVERY' is found once in each sheet. There also occurs thin 'I' in 'SPECIAL', and long limb 'L' in 'DELIVERY' which in some cases joins the next letter 'I' forming 'U'.

"In this issue grayish hair lines are noticed running across the designs in a number of the stamps.

"Revised Chronicle.

"Thin Paper. Wmk. Cr. CC. Perf. 14.
"Local overprint in black, in two lines.

(Although mentioned in the text, our contemporary leaves the variety "pair, one without overprint" out of their list.)

"July, 1917. New Issue. Design as above.
"Thick Paper. Wmk. Mult. Cr. CA. Perf. 14.
"London overprint in black, in two lines.
5d brown-orange and gray, plate 2.
Varieties.

b. Thin 'I' in 'SPECIAL'.
c. Long 'L' in 'DELIVERY'."

The parenthetically enclosed remarks throughout the above reprint, are by the Chronicle Editor. They were placed there for reference, in their proper places so our readers wouldn't have to refer back to the places and find the references if our remarks were placed hereunder.

Our surmise in a previous chronicle, that the so-called two printings of 600 and 6000 of the earlier type overprint, were one and the same printing may bear out. The colors are confusing, and we still believe the earliest printings were in light orange and gray-black and that they will prove to be the commoner of the lot.

Our contemporary made a mistake in the text, and we have no doubt "overprint in 1915" should have been "overprint in 1916."

It is remarkable that our contemporary did not investigate the perforations of the CC and CA printings, the former being 14 and the latter being 14½, as given in our Chronicle of July 21.

We also feel convinced that the overprinting was done on each of the sixty stamps in the sheet at one operation and not by two operations as stated by our contemporary. We refer to all printings.

Advertising Chat

—September is here!

—The time is ripe for your advertising campaign to begin. If you have been taking a bit of a vaca. get busy now with your stamp stock.

—The WEEKLY has taken no vacation. Every issue during July and August has reflected a gratifying activity. No doubt the numerous war issues and the 5c error have stimulated business.

—Note this week the important announcement of W. T. Wilson. His offer from the famous collection of Sir D. P. Masson is of unusual interest. The stamp in question is a most interesting one and may well be called a "historic rarity." Mr. Wilson informs us that he has acquired superb collections of Holland and Belgium, particulars of which will be furnished our readers later on.

—A new "three-in-one" contract has been signed by Mrs. A. A. Anderson of Cotton Plant, Miss. Mrs. Anderson used adlets all through last season and will be with us regularly this season in our displayed columns. Who will be the next?

—Are you doing anything to improve the market value of your collection? If not there is a screw loose somewhere. Our subscription forms will help you while helping us. Send for a supply and use them in your correspondence. They are good for dealer and collector.

—We want a half dozen copies of Feb. 7 and Feb. 14, 1914, to complete files. We offer two foreign exchanges for each copy mailed to Beverly, Mass., in the original folds.

—We shall not tire of sounding the merits of our "three-in-one" contract. You use during the month just the space you want, whether one-half, one, or two or more inches, and space is charged up on the basis of the amount used. One-half inch costs $1.25, one inch $2 and two or more inches at the rate of $1.80 per inch. There is no cheaper stamp advertising in the world. We now have no line rate.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

CHAPTER XXI.

British Stamps Used at St. Thomas.

In our introductory notes we stated that for many years St. Thomas was the headquarters of the British Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's service between Europe and America and no specialised collection of Danish West Indian stamps can be considered historically or philatelically complete unless it contains at least a representative assortment of the various British stamps used at the post office established there. These stamps were used from the early part of 1860 to the latter part of 1877 and can, of course, only be distinguished from the similar stamps used in the British Islands by the cancellations. Two types of obliterating marks were used, one being flat oval and the other upright oval in shape. Both were formed of thick parallel lines of uneven length containing the number assigned to this office—"C51." In connection with the upright oval mark a circular date-stamp containing the name "ST. THOMAS" was used, and this is occasionally found on the stamps as a cancellation. Messrs. Nissen and Bernstein, who have done such excellent work in compiling a list of all the known varieties of British stamps used abroad, give the following list known to have been used at St. Thomas:—

½d (Scott's type A25) plates 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 12.

HOLLAND'S NEW STAMP TAXES.

A new law providing for stamps on legal, official and commercial documents took effect in the Netherlands the 1st day of June, 1917, Frank W. Mahin, consul at Amsterdam, reports to the Department of Commerce. There are general increases over the former stamp duties, in some cases 100 per cent, but the old rate of 5 Dutch cents (2 American cents) on a receipted bill for an amount above 10 florins ($4.02) is unchanged. In some other instances the old rate remains. Legal papers must bear a stamp of 30, 50 or 100 Dutch cents (12, 20 or 40 American), according to the size of the document. In general, a sheet of foolscap size must carry a 50-cent stamp. Under the old law it bore a 25-cent stamp. A copy of a document bears a 25-cent stamp, if it is evident that the required stamp was on the original.

A life insurance policy must have a florin (40 American cents) stamp; illness insurance, half a florin. Other insurance pays 5 cents (2 American) per 1,000 florins, with certain excentions. There is no stamp tax on burglary insurance, nor on certain kinds of insurance of the person. The insured in all cases must pay for the stamp.

The minimum stamp tax is 5 Dutch cents (2 American). Increases are by 5 Dutch cents each up to a tax of 25 cents, when the increases are 25 cents each up to 5 florins ($2.01), above which the increases are 50 cents each.

CONTROL OF THE SOUTH SEA ISLANDS.

(In the current number of the Colonial Journal is an interesting article dealing with the present division of the administrative control of the South Sea Islands. It is of sufficient interest to warrant reprinting. The magazine itself is one of unusual interest, dealing as it does with the commercial possibilities of the English Colonies. There is a note in the current number to the effect that the edition is printed on paper made from East African elephant grass. The paper is of excellent texture. The article referred to is herewith reproduced.—Ed.)

Viewed broadly the division of administrative control of the South Sea Islands is as follows:—

(a) Late German New Guinea (New Britain, New Ireland, the Admiralty Islands, etc.), together with the Northern Solomon Islands of Buka and Bougainville, are at present under the military administration of the Commonwealth.

(b) The Island of Nauru, situated about 30 miles south of the Equator, has been temporarily brought under the civil administration of the High Commissioner at Suva.

(c) The British Solomon Islands form a protectorate under the jurisdiction of the High Commissioner.

(d) Late German Samoa is at present under the military occupation of New Zealand.

(e) The Gilbert, Ellice and Union groups, including Ocean Island, Fanning, Washington and Christmas Islands, have been formed into a separate Imperial colony, but continue, for the time being, under the jurisdiction of the High Commissioner.

(f) The colony of Fiji is under an Imperial Governor, with whose office is combined that of High Commissioner for the Imperial Pacific possessions. The appointments are, however, separate and distinct. The ordinances of Fiji do not apply to the scattered groups under the jurisdiction of the High Commissioner. The great distances, combined with inadequate communication, render extremely difficult the task of central administration from Suva, which is far removed from the trade centre of the Pacific. Before the war, despatches from Ocean Island were often received in Downing Street, via the Trans-Siberian Railway, before copies, posted simultaneously, had reached Suva.

(g) Tonga is a British Protectorate, and is represented by an Agent, who is also responsible to the High Commissioner at Suva.

(h) The Cook group, and also the Kermadec Islands, are under the civil administration of New Zealand.

(i) Lord Howe Island is a part of New South Wales, and Norfolk Island is administered as a territory of the Commonwealth.

(j) A number of smaller groups and islands, such as the Phœnix, Santa Cruz, Banks, etc., are nominally under the jurisdiction of the High Commissioner of the Western Pacific.

(k) The New Hebrides are administered by the Anglo-French Condominium.

North of the Equator there are the Marianne, Caroline, and Marshall Islands, which are in the occupation of the military or naval forces of our Japanese ally.

(l) The important islands of New Caledonia and Tahiti, and some other islands, belong to our allies, the French.

HOW IT IS DONE.

The following is a copy of the letter sent out by the editor of the American Philatelic Service, 519 Fifth St., Brooklyn, N. Y., and is self-explanatory.

"To The Managing Editor.
Dear Sir:

A leading philatelist in the United States estimates that there are in this country approximately 500,000 collectors of postage stamps. You are offered an opportunity, through the American Philatelic Service, to supply a free monthly philatelic feature to those of your readers who are among this half-million collectors.

In considering this opportunity, bear in mind that philately is not exclusively a hobby of children. Of the half-million collectors in the United States, upwards of 150,000 are adults—men and women. Philately is the avocation of many prominent persons in the country. George H. Worthington, of Cleveland, railroad director, possesses one of the world's largest collections, worth $1,000,000. Ernest R. Ackerman, former State Senator of New Jersey, has a collection valued at $600,000; Charles Lathrop Pack, of Lakewood, N J., noted forestry expert and a former president of the American Conservation Association, has a collection worth $600,000. These are estimated figures. Others who may be mentioned among America's "stamp fiends" are Joseph T. Lozier, of the Lozier automobile manufacturers, New York City; Thomas E. Steinway, of the Steinway piano manufacturing firm, Philadelphia; Brigadier-General Harry Hill Bandholtz, former chief of the Philippines Constabulary and former commanding officer at the citizens' military training camp at Plattsburgh; J. H. Towne of the Yale and Towne Lock manufacturing firm of Bridgeport, Conn.; Enrico Caruso, opera singer; Charles E. Hatfield, of Boston, former chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee; and J. C. Morgenthau, brother of Henry Morgenthau, former United States Ambassador to Turkey.

These are only a few. Philately draws from every walk of life. The United States army probably is the profession best represented, and some of the highest officers in this government service are collectors.

It is obvious, then, that every American newspaper has philatelists among its readers. If you desire to make use of the American Philatelic Service no other publication of any kind in your city will receive it. The news will be similarly published, on the first Saturday or Sunday of each month, in cities throughout the country, but with your city reserved exclusively for your paper.

The editor of the American Philatelic Service is an experienced writer of philatelic news. He is a man who has been, and now is, furnishing one of the largest weekly publications in the United States with this news, as well as one of the juvenile monthlies. He is acquainted with philatelists and philatelic dealers of note in New York City. He has access to one of the best philatelic libraries in the country. He has his finger constantly on the touch of world philately. Briefly, he is qualified to write intelligently, interestingly, informatively, of the topics to be dealt with in the Service. What he writes will not be rehash from the philatelic journals but will be timely stamp news and largely of a character which the philatelic trade papers themselves will feel compelled to copy because of its freshness and originality.

It may surprise persons who are not engaged in stamp collecting to know that the war in Europe has been directly responsible for the output of approximately Two Thousand new varieties of Occupation, Provisional, Charity, War Tax, Revenue, Currency, Military and other stamps, issued by both belligerent and neutral countries. Seizure of ocean colonies, raising of Red Cross funds, invasions of European terrain by hostile armies, levying of tariffs, shortage of coins of small denominations, depreciation of the rates of exchange, scarcity of aniline dyes, increase of postal rates —these are only a few of the reasons for new war stamps.

The American Philatelic Service will consist of at least one full newspaper column—running from 1,100 upward to 1,800 words. This will contain news of war philately and of interesting new issues not the fruits of war, together with other stamp news of value to philatelists. The Service will aim to be INFORMATIVE, and to be so interesting that it will attract readers not necessarily active philatelists.

Frankly, Mr. Managing Editor, this is an experiment to learn whether philately can find a resting space in the American press. We are not selling anything but are trying to give away an interesting feature; our purpose is to boom philately, but inspection of our manuscript will prove that we are advertising no one, as stamp companies are not mentioned. And in these times of increased cost of newsprint paper, when publications hesitate to tie themselves up in feature Contracts, here is offered free a novel feature for which no contract is required. Say that you desire it and will use it if you can, and we will send it forward. You may wish to use part, if not all, of the manuscript. The enclosed column, for release on the date indicated, will give you an idea of what constitutes our service.

Remember, it will cost you nothing! Try it! Give it a good location, with an attractive title such as "The Stamp Collectors' Corner" or "With the Stamp Fiends." If the Service appeals to you after the publication of the enclosed, notify us (stamped envelope also enclosed) and we will thereafter send you a column for release once a month.

Mr. Managing Editor, please give this subject your immediate and careful consideration!

Yours truly,
AMERICAN PHILATELIC SERVICE.

TURKEY'S STAMP MONEY.

A deputy in a generally docile parliament demanded one day why the government couldn't issue 1-cent paper. The minister of finance gravely replied that it was not practicable, but that something would be done to ameliorate the situation.

That "something" was the issue as currency of a certain 1-cent postage stamp which had never been put on the market. Paper was pasted on the back to get rid of the sticky surface and stiffen the stamps. They were then put in the hands of the Constantinople public in the following chary manner. To cross the Golden Horn on the famous Stamboul bridge, a male pedestrian, unless he be in uniform, or is lame, halt or blind, must pay toll of a cent. Women also must pay, though some veiled Mohammedans of the old school just bustle by and that's an end of it! Well, at the bridge you could buy up to 4 cents' worth of these 1-cent postage stamps at a time and as you only had to give up one stamp to cross the bridge, you might, if you crossed often enough, get a supply of them.

That was the situation three months ago. Just what is the present condition of the postage stamps it would be hard to say. One thing is certain. To save their wear and tear there is not a particle of metal money in circulation in Constantinople today. Germany and Austria long ago resorted to iron money for the lowest denominations, but proud Turkey has never stooped to that.

Turkey has officially ordered her people to be careful how they handle the paper money and see that it is not torn, for once torn it is not good and cannot be redeemed. The Red Crescent, the Turkish equivalent of the Red Cross has seized the opportunity of selling folders to hold paper money without creasing it. And so perhaps Turkey from a monetary point of view will hold out as long as circumstances may require. But all the paper money is tricked by Germany. And that is why an inhabitant of Turkey would rather own a rug worth 20 pounds than have a hundred pounds of Turkish paper stowed away.—Boston Herald.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

By W. WARD, Author of "Postage Stamps of the Levant," Etc.

Georgian Issues.

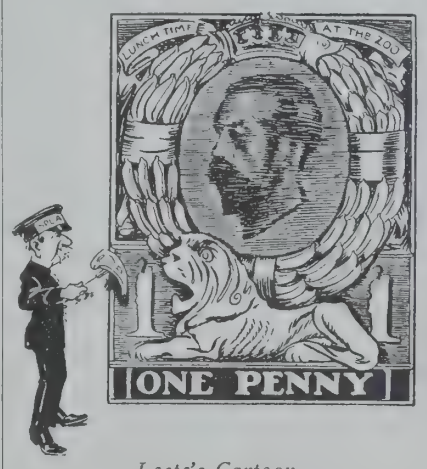
As with the Edwardian issues, the proposed designs for the Georgian stamps were submitted to the new monarch. Several of them were either drawn or alterations suggested by the King himself. The first two values to appear were the ½p and 1p, but they could scarcely be called a success and suffered much derision from the cartoonists of the day. The penny stamp suffered most on account of the emaciated appearance of the British lion. The newspapers in their editorial treatment were exceedingly savage and the following from John Bull is typical of the newspaper comment:—

"Barring those at the foot of the Nelson candlestick in Trafalgar Square, there never was such a lion as that on the stamp. The artist must have gone to a pet spaniel for its body, and to a spring chicken for its soul."

Under the title "The New Stamp", a contributor to the Evening News wrote as follows on June 28, 1911:—

Who is this whose face I see
On this garish penny stamp?
Is it someone known to me?
Much I wonder as I damp
The adhesive that I better
May affix it to my letter.

Is it Mr. Samuel,
P. M. G., who saves the cash?
As I do not know him well
I declare it would be rash
To proclaim this blurry gent meant
For his counterfeit presentment.



Is it Asquith, Haldane, Grey,
Or, more probably, John Burns?
Really, now, I couldn't say,
I decide on all by turns,
But as each one is selected
He is just as soon rejected.

What! You say it is the King?
Do not talk such stuff, I beg.
No, I tell you, no such thing.
Don't you try to pull my leg,
For I saw King George quite lately
And he can't have changed so greatly!

One famous caricature by the well known cartoonist-humorist, Alfred Leete, will ever rank as a philatelic souvenir as good as any "take-off" of the Mulready envelopes. It represented the penny stamp with a keeper from the Zoo, handing a sirloin of beef on a fork to the lion, whilst the wreath represented bunches of bananas.

The half-penny value had an allegorical design of Dolphius, symbolical of the maritime nation and the sailor monarch.

Although a monarchy, Britain is a democratic country, else those two first Georgian stamps would have caused many prosecutions for "lèse majesté."

Leete's Cartoon.

In six months' time King George, according to his portrait on the stamps, had visited his tonsorial artist and had a "trim up," whilst the lion had evidently benefited from Mr. Alfred Leete's feed, and likewise looked sleek. The redrawn type was, however, short lived and new designs made their appearance with the head larger and in profile, the Zoological department left out, and the wreath smaller, consisting now of laurel leaves on the left and oak leaves to the right. This design was used for the 1p and 2½p values.

The ½p "dolphin" design was redrawn with the head in profile instead of "three-quarters." This type was used for the ½p and 1½p values. For the 2p, 3p and 4p values a design not unlike the first penny, but without the lion, was employed, substituting the laurel leaves on the right for oak leaves—a national symbol.

The 5p, 6p, 7p and 8p were of similar design, but had at the sides the supposed

CO-OPERATIVE EXCHANGE
1496 BEDFORD AVE., BROOKLYN, N. Y.

K. Wm. Gruelick, Lafayette, Ind., secured lots from our August 11 auction sale to the value of $124.50. The lots were forwarded only to be returned with the statement that he could not pay for the same. We offered him sixty days time but our letters have been ignored. He is S. P. A. 2750. We are thus put to a great deal of needless expense as they must go in another sale.

I am breaking up a very fine collection of U. S. stamps, U. S. Revenue stamps, Proofs, Essays and Foreign stamps, which I recently purchased.

I bought this collection from a collector who was in this game for 40 years, and there is some very desirable material in same.

You will have a chance to fill some vacant spaces now at reasonable prices.

H. F. COLMAN. SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

sceptre of Jupiter given to Neptune, whilst the 9p, 10p and 1sh bear the usual laurel wreath and the emblems of England (rose), Scotland (thistle) and Ireland (shamrock) in each lower corner. For some reason, and spoiling the symmetrical aspect from a philatelic point of view, the 8p value is printed on colored paper. The King's profile was specially drawn by Bertram McKinnell.

Several changes were in order as regards watermarks, and whilst first appearing complex, are fairly easy to arrange. Both types of the ½p and 1p were issued on the old "crown" paper. Then a new watermark of the Royal Cypher repeated was used. Two watermarks, or one and a portion of a second, would appear on each stamp. Then the cypher watermark was made multiple several portions covering the whole of the stamp.

Of the first two stamps two dies were used in their manufacture and can be distinguished as follows: In the first ½p, in die I the upper scales of the right hand dolphin form a triangle, whereas in die II the top scale is broken.

In the 1p value the second line of the shading of the right hand ribbon from the crown is long in die I, but in die II consists of several short lines.

The 6p is printed in fugitive ink on chalky paper, for extra protection against fraud as a value used extensively for revenue and legal duties. This applies also to the previous issue.

Nearly all values have been printed at both Messrs. Harrison & Son's works and Somerset House, but the printings are indistinguishable without control on margins. It was decided that the high values of the new reign should be engraved as more fitting to their dignity than surface printing.

This work did not come within the class of printing executed by the contractors, so a fresh tender was put out, and secured by Messrs. Waterlow Bros. and Layton, London, an entirely different firm from the better philatelically known firm of Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., London.

The design is effective and a fine example of line-engraving. The medallion bearing the King's profile to the upper left swung from festoons of laurel wreaths, Britannia (evidently) urging three horses with her trident whilst bearing a shield representing the Union Jack.

A special paper bearing the Royal Cypher in enlarged form was made, and the stamps were perforated 11x12.

Postage Due Stamps.

For the first time, though the first nation to use adhesive postage stamps, Great Britain in 1914 issued postage due stamps, and then only 5 values, one of which, the 1sh only, remained in use a short period.

Postage Due Stamps—Wmk. "Repeated" Cypher. Perf. 14½-15x14.

No separate postage stamps have ever been issued for Ireland by the Government or Nationalist, Sinn Fein or Ulster political parties. The labels issued by the Sinn Fein and Ulster parties were never issued for postal purposes, but like the American Red Cross Christmas labels sold to help their respective funds and were sold at ¼p (½ cent) each. They have no more philatelic value other than souvenirs of political opinions. No special Red Cross, Military or Naval issue or surcharge has been made during the great European upheaval.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

To the Members of the Philatelic Press Club and Literature Society, Greeting:

Whereas, Much dissatisfaction has been expressed regarding the name of this organization; and

Whereas, It has been deemed advisable that there should be in this country an Academy of Philatelic Literature, in which membership should be conferred as a reward of merit to those who have distinguished themselves in the field of Philatelic Literature; and

Whereas, The Philatelic Press Club and Literature Society has acted in this capacity during the last year and a half;

Be it Resolved: that the name of this organization shall henceforth be The American Academy of Philatelic Literature, its members being known as Fellows of the American Academy of Philatelic Literature.

Adopted by the Board of Trustees this twentieth day of August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, at Boston, Mass.

GOOD WHOLESALE MATERIAL

Is not only difficult to obtain, at the present time, but is seldom offered at public auction at your own price. This is especially true of certain lines of stamps that are cut off because the supply comes from Europe or the warring nations. Many of this class will be included in our coming auction sales. We are disposing of three different dealer's stocks, and the sales are being prepared. All these sales will also contain in part, single stamps of interest to collectors. If you do not receive our auction catalogs regularly send us your name and address, and "GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

THE WORTHINGTON SALE.

(The sale of the Worthington collection in New York August 21-23 attracted a good deal of attention upon the part of the New York papers. The fact that Col. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, purchased over $13,000 worth of stamps was a choice morsel for the newspaper writers. Two clippings from the New York Times show not only the public interest taken in the Morgenthau sale, but also acquaint our readers with some of the prices realized.—Ed.)

Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, who recently returned to New York from his honeymoon trip, spent over $13,000 for some of the rarest specimens of United States postage stamps at the sale of the celebrated George H. Worthington collection. The prices went far beyond expectations, and even the more ordinary specimens brought more than the regulation catalogue prices. Ten lots brought $1,000 or more each.

The keenest competition centred in the very rare inverted centres of some of the 1860 two-colored issue. One of these, the 15-cent brown and blue, unused, brought the highest price of the sale, $4,100. It was purchased by the Nassau Stamp Company for a private collector. The 30-cent, blue and carmine, perfectly centred, was obtained by the same buyer for $3,550. The 24-cent, green and violet, said to be the only known unused copy with the inverted centre brought $2,850.

Colonel Green, who was an unsuccessful bidder for these rarities, got a lightly canceled copy of the inverted 30 cent stamp for $1,500. This was the highest price he paid for a single stamp, although he bought several well above $100 each. Another heavy buyer was Henry Duveen, who has one of the famous collections in the world. Among his large purchases were the 5 cent brick red, a block of four unused, 1857, for $910; the 30 cent orange, 1867, with grill covering the entire stamp, for $655, and the 1 cent, grilled 13 by 16 mm., for $250.

The sale of the first part of the George H. Worthington collection of postage stamps closed last night at the Murray Hill Hotel. The total amount realized in the three days of the sale was $120,000. Of this, $87,000 was received for the United States stamps, which brought the highest individual prices.

The high price features yesterday were the early Rumanian stamps, some of which have never been sold before in this country at public sale. E. M. Sperling, a New York collector, paid $1,625 for a copy of the 81 para blue on wove paper of the Moldavia issue of 1854. It was one of the gems of the collection.

This was the highest price of the day. Two others brought more than $600 apiece, 108 para, 1854, blue on rose, $630, and a 5 para, black, with a blue date cancellation, 1858, $610. A 27 para Moldavia, 1854, lightly cancelled, 1854, brought $440, and a 54 para on green paper of the same issue, $260.

An unusual Russian stamp used on the original envelope from Petrograd to Vienna, 1902 issue, sold for $151. It was a 14 kopek stamp with the center inverted. An error stamp, 3½r of Finland, 1891, brought $251.
